reckless attempt in the last seven or eight, or three months of a biennium to get rid of the money so that they will come back before us to get ever-increasing appropriations.

The department heads did it when we were in power and they are doing it now since you are in power. This is just a small check-rein on the spending power of the executive. We are not depriving them of a dime but we certainly do not want any unnecessary squandering of money.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is just another case of looking a problem in the face and then running away like a race horse to get away from the problem.

This House could undoubtedly have created a budget commission of the Members of this House and Senate, and they could have made the budget secretary the executive officer of that commission. Perhaps then they could have taken charge of the budget and set up shop, but again you are delegating to a group, which you cannot endow with a power, revision of the budget that this House has sanctioned, the revision of the appropriations.

You talked about a general purpose budget, which was the kind of a budget you were going to bring in, a detailed budget, and you talked very properly about a watchdog committee. I was for it. You are going to have, I suppose, a watch-dog committee, and who is it going to report to? To the Members of this House who have gone back to Podunk, who have adjourned sine die and who are wholly without power

In order to let this act function you would have to change the whole administrative code. The lawyers on your side know it. This is just so much hot air, it does not mean a thing. The Members on this side of the House can view it with perfect equanimity.

This measure, like the preceding one, the Governor will veto, if he has a brain in his head. Again I am sorry that it will have to be vetoed, because I would like to have the Supreme Court, for once, instill a little sense of legality into the proceedings which the majority party during this session has so freely indulged in.

On the question recurring.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Boroughs.
The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 547, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the election of judges of the Supreme Court

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. TOMPKINS.
The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.
Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman explain to the House the reason for this resolution to amend the Constitution?

Mr. TOMPKINS. This amendment provides that all judges of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at large as provided in Section 2 of this article. Section 2 of Article 5 reads, "The Supreme Court shall consist of seven judges who shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at large." The article then designates the length of their term of office and so forth.

This Constitutional amendment is designed to overcome an Attorney General's Opinion No. 179 handed down on July 30, 1935. It is rather a lengthy opinion but the conclusion as submitted on the question was that, "Therefore we are of the opinion that a political party may nominate only one candidate for the office of justice of the Supreme Court where two vacancies in said office are to be filled at the same election." In other words, it removes that particular ruling and places it in a position where the justices are elected at large and they are not confined to one particular political party for each candidate.

Mr. READINGER. And the gentleman says that this resolution would eliminate the situation where if there are two vacancies, one must be filled by a member of one political party and the other by a member of another political party?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is right.
Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman think that is bad?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That particular situation is not in conformity with the manner in which we elect all of the other judges in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. READINGER. Was this section of the Constitution sought to be amended kept the same since it was written in 1874?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not quite get the last part of that, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Has the section of the Constitution which is sought to be amended ever been changed since it was written in 1874?

Mr. TOMPKINS. There is nothing in the Manual I have before me to so indicate.

Mr. READINGER. You mean that it has remained the same since it was originally written?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is right.
Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the Republican party of Pennsylvania is fast becoming a minority party, I think the gentleman is arguing against his own party's principles and best interests. I do not know whether a situation will ever arise again where there are two vacancies in the same election for elections of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. But if it should happen again in the near future, I am very much afraid that he would find his own party in the minority and very anxious to have this part of the Constitution in force.

I see no reason why, after all of these years, we should change the basic law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It happens very rarely, and if it should happen in the future, as I say, the gentleman might very well get a Republican party member as one of the Supreme Court justices, whereas he would not otherwise. I say he should not be arguing against the interests of his own party. I think we should all join hands and defeat this resolution.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I certainly appreciate the concern of the gentleman for the Republican party, but I think maybe we can stand on our own feet. From a historical standpoint it might be of interest to him to know that since the adoption of the Constitution of 1874 up until the time of the writing of this opinion in 1935, it had happened on four different occasions, and since that time it has happened on three different occasions. So, therefore, it is not something that just occurred within the last couple years but has occurred on numerous occasions since the adoption of the Constitution, and we feel the justices of the Supreme Court should be placed upon the same par with the other judges in the state of Pennsylvania, as long as we have our present system of electing and selecting judges.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the pending bill affect Section 16, Article V of the Constitution?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is correct. That is what this bill amends.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does it specifically repeal Section 16?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Effectively so, yes.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, you know I am beginning to love these Democrats, even His Excellency the Governor, because of the enemies they are making.

Mr. BUCHANAN. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking in favor of this Constitutional amendment which will eliminate the principle of minority representation on the Supreme Court.

In justification of that opinion, I want to refer to the Federal government. In the Federal government we do not provide for compulsory minority representation in the legislative branch, the executive branch or the judicial branch of that government. It is not necessary because, in that branch the President appoints the judges and usually we have a change in the control of that office at least every 20 years which provides for minority representation.

Now let's look at the State government. We do not provide for compulsory minority representation in the General Assembly, in the executive branch of the government, in the judicial branch and we do not provide for minority representation in the justices of the peace, aldermen, the common pleas court, nor the superior court, which was created by a legislative act of the General Assembly. We do provide for minority representation in the magistrates courts of Philadelphia. I believe this provision of the Constitution should be repealed. In Pennsylvania, neither party predominates such as we have in some southern states. So, actually, we do have minority representation in the judicial branch of the state government.

In states where one party predominates, such as, the Democratic party predominates in some of the southern states, they provide for majority representation by requiring that a candidate shall receive a majority of the votes cast in the primary election. If he does not receive a majority of those votes, then they have a run-off primary between the two highest candidates. Of course, we know that is not necessary in Pennsylvania because neither party is predominant to that extent. So I believe the people of Pennsylvania should be able to select the members of the Supreme Court without this limitation on their power.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Buchanan a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Buchanan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCHANAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman say that the magistrates in Philadelphia are elected from one party, that there is no minority provision?

Mr. BUCHANAN. The magistrate court of Philadelphia provides that two-thirds shall be from the majority party and one-third from the minority party.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you. I thought you said that there was not that provision.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Indiana alluded to the Federal system and said there was no provision there for minority representation. I would merely like to add that judging from the decisions that have recently emanated from the court, especially that one today with respect to the Smith Act, wherein they reversed a decision on the Communists who were convicted, I think it would be a good idea for us to have some minority representation.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Indiana one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCHANAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Indiana know about the representation on the United States Civil Service Commission?

Mr. BUCHANAN. Yes.

Mr. TOLL. Is there minority representation in the United States Civil Service Commission?

Mr. BUCHANAN. There is, but I was referring to the chief officials in the executive branch of the Federal government.

Mr. TOLL. Oh, I thought you were indicating that in the Federal government they did not have any such thing as minority representation.

Mr. BUCHANAN. I was referring to the chief officials in the executive branch.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, referred to the magistrates court of Philadelphia. That is one county out of 67 that provides for minority representation. The other 66 counties of the state do not provide for minority representation in their county courts.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 724, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" authorizing alienation of real property in connection with leases for school buildings projects changing requirements for construction contracts providing additional means of financing school building projects and for reimbursement by the Commonwealth in connection therewith and on account of short term obligations for school buildings and improvements.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I have permission to interrogate the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOSCRIP. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Bradford very briefly give us an outline of what Senate Bill 724 does for the school districts, regarding the money they need, the borrowing power, and so forth?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, as I undersntand Senate Bill 724, it deals almost entirely with the mechanics of borrowing money. In other words, the law remains the same as it is until the boards of school directors get down to the point where they want to borrow money. Then this bill gives them several avenues that they may use which they do not have presently available. To put it bluntly, it lets them shop around. It provides for short term lending; it makes possible lending under their own general obligation bonds; it would give them access, perhaps, to an insurance company or a union welfare fund. Thus they are not generally restricted to the State School Building Authority or to the bonding fiscal agent through a local authority. It would appear that it is designed to, in a sense, ratify some procedures that have been done, to clarify the disposition of interests in real estate that they may own, and give them a chance to shop around in a tight money market.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman agree that this would give the chool boards the right to find a place to secure their money at a competitive interest rate by being able to borrow in many other avenues, which they cannot do at the present time?

Mr. MOSCRIP. I would agree to that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Would the gentleman also agree that, in his opinion, there is nothing in Senate Bill 724 that would be detrimental to any school district but, on the other hand, give it financial opportunity to complete projects, which they do not have at the present time in any existing law?

Mr. MOSCRIP. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. In my opinion, it gives them other avenues of borrowing money with the safeguards of departmental approval and other such features as now exist in the law.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

To the various Members who have questioned some of the items dealing with the Welfare Fund Insurance items in the bill, I feel that you now have your explanation which can assure you that there is absolutely nothing in Senate Bill 724 concerning the source from which it can secure money for these projects that would hurt any school district in Pennsylvania. I say, to those Members who questioned this, I would sincerely recommend that they vote favorably on the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, within the last few days, I have been receiving many letters from the people in my Senatorial District, in which they say they are amazed to learn that their Senator voted to legalize horse racing and also co-sponsored a bill which would allow the desecration of the Sabbath Day in the city of Philadelphia. I am writing to those people and telling them that they are certainly being guided by information which is not correct.

I understand that Reverend Forney has communicated with the people in my District and has advised them that I have done those two things. I can understand why they are amazed, because my record in the past, as far as voting on legislation is concerned, has been to keep holy the Sabbath Day and to do all the things which are necessary and requisite, as far as legislation is concerned, to accomplish that purpose. Up until this Session, I have voted against any referendum concerning horse racing.

Mr. President, I want to tell Reverend Forney that this is the first time he has ever communicated with the people in my District to congratulate me upon my past record. I understand that Reverend Forney only wrote to the Districts where he was unhappy over the Senator's actions. He did not take time to write to any of the people in the Senatorial Districts in which the Senator, who voted according to his wishes, resided, and I understand that Reverend Forney, further, did not take time to congratulate the Senators, who individually, voted according to the way he wanted them to on horse racing.

Mr. President, I have written to my people and I told them that this bill did not legalize horse racing. I told them that the only thing this bill did was to establish some type of poll in order for the people to advise their representatives, in Harrisburg, as to whether they would prefer legislation for horse racing or whether they would not like to have such legislation, and it was not binding on anyone. It was merely a way for us to feel the public pulse to see whether we were representing the majority or the minority on this very important question as it affects Pennsylvania. As everyone knows, we are surrounded by States which have horse racing. It is certainly time for the representatives of Pennsylvania to decide whether or not the people, generally, would like to have this form of sport in Pennsylvania.

As far as the co-sponsoring of a bill which would allow the people of Philadelphia to desecrate the Sabbath Day is concerned, that is definitely a falsehood and cut out of the whole cloth, as far as Reverend Forney is concerned.

I would say to Reverend Forney that, under the present setup in Philadelphia, under Mayor Dilworth, he has advised his police officers, and those who have the duty of enforcing the laws of the State of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia, to literally and figuratively thumb their noses at the Blue Laws of the State of Pennsylvania and not to enforce them. I am not criticizing Mayor Dilworth for that, but I am merely pointing out that this is the present situation.

Therefore, Mr. President, the only thing this bill would do would be to allow the people of Philadelphia to have some type of referendum, through their City Council, as to whether or not they were in favor of doing away with the Blue Laws as they affected Philadelphia.

I understand that Reverend Forney has exhibited Governor Leader at the recent Conference of Churches, here in Harrisburg, as being a white knight on a white charger and being full of courage and so forth, and being the man in Pennsylvania who heads up the moral forces. This was due to the fact that Governor Leader had indicated to us, when the bill to have the referendum on horse racing appeared before us, that he would veto it.

I would suggest to Reverend Forney that he write another letter to the people in my District and tell them that the law, as he sees it, in Philadelphia, is now being violated as it affects the Sabbath laws. According to Reverend Forney's version, the Sabbath Day is being desecrated now in Philadelphia.

I would also call on Reverend Forney to get in touch with that white knight on the white charger, Governor Leader, and tell him that if he does not like the way the laws are being enforced in Philadelphia, then he should insist upon the enforcement of all the laws in Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia. If Mayor Dilworth does not enforce the laws, then Governor Leader should call upon his Attorney General, who is the king enforcement officer in the State of Pennsylvania, and see to it that the Attorney General enforces the laws of the State of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia. When he does that and displays this courage, which Reverend Forney seems to think he has, then I would say that Governor Leader is doing his job. In the meantime, I would suggest to Reverend Forney that he not maliciously make a lot of sneak attacks on me through his letters to the people in my District, and give them a lot of false information as to what their Senator is doing down here.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was going to suggest to Senator Mahany that he might get back into the good graces of Reverend Forney if he lets him know that if the tracks are voted in Pennsylvania some day, we will let him enter that white charger of his in a state race.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, last Sunday, the Philadelphia Inquirer ran a column written by John M. Cummings. His columns are always interesting, entertaining and enlightening. The heading of this column is: "One Man Smothered Racing Referendum." As I read down through the column, I was sure that I would read where it was Governor Leader who smothered the referendum bill. However, as I read further, I found that it read as follows:

"Let's get around now to the bill in question. it passed the Senate by a margin of one vote because the Democratic contingent had sense enough to respond to the will of the people. Sent to the House it was referred to the Law and order Committee. There it was smothered by Rep. Harry A. Naugle, one of two Republican member from Somerset county, which has a population of 81,813.

"Mr. Naugle refused to permit his own committee to vote on the measure. Rep. Marion Munley, of Lackawanna, a member of the committee, would gladly have reported it to the floor of the House if it could be pried away from Naugle.

"Here, then, was one man, making our Republican form of government look like something lugged in from Soviet Russia. Representative government!"

"As was stated here on another occasion there was nothing in the measure which committed the Legislature one way or the other. It was not intended to set up a referendum to legalize racing with pari-mutuel betting in the State.

"Its one and only purpose was to determine how the people feel about a sport which is legal in every State touching on Pennsylvania. New York State alone gets more than $90,000,000 in revenue from this one source."

Mr. President, it is amazing to think that one man, over in the House, could smother this bill. He would not even allow his own committeewoman nor anyone else in the House to vote on the bill; neither would he permit anyone back home to vote on it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first, I will go along with the entry of Governor Leader on his white charger if they also put in, as an entry with Governor Leader, Senator Joe Barr on his donkey.

In answer to Senator McGinnis, and to one who is a friend of all of us, John Cummings, I would like to state that perhaps there is one man who is holding up the referendum on horse racing in the State of Pennsylvania. However, it is not the Representative from Perry County in the House. If anyone is to be blamed, it should be Governor Leader. The philosophy which seems to be rampant over in the House Leadership, as far as this is concerned, is that they were warned, as were all warned, that Governor Leader would veto this legislation when it reached his desk. The House and Senate Members felt that Governor Leader was going to use his veto for political power and for political prestige. In an effort to obtain the votes of the Republicans throughout Pennsylvania who do not like the horse racing referendum legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I feel quite sure that if Governor Leader had, at least, taken a neutral stand until the legislation reached his desk, the House, no doubt, would have passed the legislation and we would have given Governor Leader an opportunity to either veto it or sign it. If you want to lay all this blame on one fellow, I would suggest that you look over to the far end of the Capitol and see what Governor Leader did in order to put this legislation down the drain.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I heartily agree with the Majority Leader in reference to the position in which Reverend Forney placed him in his Senatorial District. However, I feel that a wrong impression should not be given here. I think Senator Mahany did not mean it the way he said it.

We do not want the rest of the counties in Pennsylvania to think that Philadelphia is a den of iniquity on Sundays. It is far from that. Our Mayor, realistically, has viewed the problem and he has permitted certain professional sports and concerts to be held on Sunday. He feels these are for the welfare of the people of Philadelphia. Therefore, I do not think it is necessary to bring the Attorney General, the State Police or any other law enforcement agency into Philadelphia. Our police department is doing a wonderful job. We are just being released from the social bondage which we have been in for so many years in Philadelphia on Sundays.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to add an addendum to what Senator Donolow has just stated. Unless the mayor of the city of Philadelphia takes a realistic point of view, which we have not been able to get the gentlemen up here to do, and unless some relief is obtained for the city of Philadelphia, it will no longer remain the third largest city in the United States. It will lose its place as far as being a place for people to gather who have social entertainment on their minds.

As a matter of fact, Mr. President, on Sundays, in Philadelphia, most of the restaurant owners leave the city and go over to New Jersey, which is a very short drive. They spend their money and time over there, along with the rest of the people. All this revenue is being lost to the city of Philadelphia and, if this continues for any length of time, eventually, Philadelphia will sink down to being one of the small towns that you find throughout the State of Pennsylvania. It will be similar to the small towns where, when you ride through on a Sunday, you cannot see or hear anyone and in about two seconds you are out of the town and did not even realize you were there.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, last night, in discussing House Bill No. 183, the Senators from various areas in the State raised some objection to the number of teaching units and what they were costing their districts.

I would just like to point out that my home community of Ford City, which is a rural area, has in its public schools eighty-nine teaching units. I am merely talking about a small area. If we added our parochial students, we would have thirty-two more teaching units, which would give us a total of 121 teaching units. However, we are only being reimbursed for eighty-nine because the parochial students are not counted in the school population.

The valuation per teaching unit, as it now stands, is $303,680. I am sorry; I am in error. I want to reverse that.

At the present time, our evaluation behind each teaching unit is $416,000. If we were to include the parochial students, our valuation would drop to $303,000.

This means a difference of $187,137 that my little school district of Ford City would receive in additional subsidy, if the parochial students were counted in the school population.

Getting back to Ford City again, Mr. President, this community, which has a population of 5,600 has 475 parochial students. However, we have a union school district. In the community of Ford City, there are only about 325 public school students. You can see that there are more parochial elementary students than there are elementary students who go to the public schools. Those people, and the taxpayers in general, are being penalized because the parochial schools maintain their own schools and pay their own teachers. They pay the taxes to keep up our public schools, but are penalized to the extent of $187,137 each year. If those children were counted in the school population, the Ford City Union School District would receive almost an additional $200,000.

During this last May assessment, or when we set up our budget—I happen to be a member of our school board—we in Ford City, raised our real estate tax three and one-half mills. We hear talk about three-quarters of a mill which is going to be assessed in Pittsburgh. However, we in Ford City, in the union school district, are going to pay three and one-half more mills on our real estate property tax as a result of the mandates we have made here in the General Assembly. Next year, when we have a building program, we probably will have to raise our millage again by four mills because we were forced into a school union or a jointure. We had a choice, but we put it up to the people and we now have a school union. We have to build a cafeteria to accommodate these children. We have to build additional buildings to take care of the township children. Without any mandates, we are going to have to raise our millage another four mills.

Pittsburgh is not the only city which suffers, but it is all the people throughout the Commonwealth. As long as we are going to mandate teachers' salaries and as long as we are going to tell school districts that they must merge, that they must form unions or jointures or consolidations, we are going to have this trouble.

Two or three years ago, the little community of Ford City received the minimum subsidy which was $1,000. We had so much wealth behind every teaching unit that we did not even earn that $1,000. However, because the $1,000 was the minimum, we received it. We were required to merge into a union school district and we took in poorer school districts. We are now going into a building program and our subsidy is up to $4,470 a year. That $4,470 comes from the pot here in Pennsylvania. As I said, just a few years ago, we were only receiving $1,000 per teaching unit. Our taxes were much lower. However, if we are going to do these things here in Harrisburg, such as mandate these salaries, then we will have to expect to suffer a little bit at home.

Mr. President, if I may, I would like to point out one more thing regarding the parochial schools. The folks who send their children to parochial schools have to move out into the country where there is space in which to build homes. There is not a lot in Ford City on which you can build a home. Consequently, the school is in Ford City. In order for these young families to build homes, they have to move out to the suburbs. Buses go by and these parochial school children stand there and the bus operators are not allowed to pick them up.

There is a theory that it is unconstitutional to give these people aid. I do not think it is any more unconstitutional to transport these children to a school than it is to give them a health or dental examination, for which the State pays through the Department of Health, as is now being provided under Senate Bill No. 118 or as we did under the old Act.

I co-sponsored a bill, I believe with Senator Dent, Senator Mallery and others, allowing for arrangements to be made between the parochial schools and the public schools, whereby these children would not be bypassed. At least, if the bus is half empty they could be picked up, and we should even make arrangements to pay for it. The bill did not say that the State should pick up the tab, however.

I am sorry that the bill died in committee. I do not think it is a religious issue at all. I think it is just common sense that these people who pick up the tab, who pay for the maintenance of their children in the parochial schools, plus paying the taxes to maintain our public schools, are certainly entitled to the consideration of at least permitting their directors to sit down with the directors of the public school system and work out some sort of an arrangement whereby these children could be picked up and taken to school. No religion is taught in a bus, and I cannot see where this idea of unconstitutionality comes in.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am glad that Senator Pechan took up this particular subject for a few minutes.

I honestly believe that the time has come when we must review the entire subsidy program in Pennsylvania. I know it has been studied, restudied, half-studied and fully studied for years. However, there has never been any thinking along the lines of changing the base of the subsidy grant. The only equitable thing we can do—and I believe it is a case of equity—is to set up the basis for subsidies on the number of children of school age in a community. The method we are now following creates the worst kind of an injustice. We have a great number of not only Catholics but Lutherans, of whom I have knowledge, who have their own parochial schools. Yet, the parents of these children, and in the main they are the poorer people, have to pay all the school taxes which everybody else pays in the community, plus paying all the taxes and charges for sending their children to their own schools. That alone is bad enough. We cannot do anything about that. We do not want to do anything about that. We believe they should pay their school taxes, whether they send their children to school or not. If you did not have a law of that kind, you would have the bachelors and everybody else asking to be exempted. However, when it comes to creating a penalty because you have parochial schools in your community, then you have reached the height of injustice. Any community which has a great number of parochial schools in it finds itself receiving a lower subsidy than a community which has no parochial schools, and yet they have a lesser number of children of school age in that community.

As Senator Pechan so clearly demonstrated, there are many communities in this State where, because of the settlements being made up of the new nationalities and a certain religious bent, the people in those communities are forced to pay a higher real estate tax to keep schools open than they are paying in other communities next door, which do not have the free schools for the so-called children of parochial parents.

Somewhere along the line, I believe that could be attacked in the courts. I believe it is a dishonest interpretation of the so-called restriction against aid to religious institutions. The Constitution says that you cannot give any State-moneys or help to a religious institution. However, the Constitution also says that you have the right of freedom of choice in your religion. Therefore, you should not be penalized because you happen to be a member of a certain religion.

We have gone on for years and years, penalizing those who take care of their own children in their own schools. We are making them pay a higher tax bill for schools which they do not use. It is also a penalty upon the non-Catholics in that community who have to pay a higher tax because of the fact that they have parochial schools in that community. By no stretch of the imagination should such a law be on the books.

I want to say right here and now that if I were the Governor of this State, I would veto House Bill No. 183 as quickly as it got to my desk. All we are doing in this bill is adding to the injustice. Some say, "Well, we are helping some districts." However, you are further penalizing the districts which have parochial schools. Just because it does some good in one field and creates more harm in another, does not in any way justify that the bill should be signed.

I know the Governor is faced with the situation where the $31,000,000 which belongs to the school districts is carried in that bill. However, that $31,000,000 can be put into the General Appropriation Bill. It can be written into House Bill No. 1700 and the school districts will not suffer.

Either we pass a resolution in this Senate to have a study of this particular matter, or I will continue talking about it as long as I have breath in me. The time has come to wipe out this injustice.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in my District, there is an institution of which all Pennsylvanians are very proud. Annually, each Senator designates from his District a young woman, of promising talent, who wants to receive higher education in art at the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, in Philadelphia. I can safely say that all Pennsylvanians should be proud of this great institution where teachers of art are being trained.

The problem which presented itself, in recent times, was the fact that the dormitories of this institution were not located in the proper neighborhood. Young ladies from all over the State, from Warren County down to York County and from Beaver County to Wayne County, come there and live there. A new, resplendent dormitory is now going to be dedicated in the fall of this year.

In view of the fact that the Legislature will not be in Session at that time, Mr. President, and because the authorities of the Institute would like to have an official delegation present at the time of the dedication, I am offering the following resolution, on behalf of Senator Yosko and myself, directing that the President pro-tempore of the Senate appoint three Senators to be present at the time when this building is dedicated.

SENATE RESOLUTION

ACKNOWLEDGING THE GREAT CONTRIBUTION MADE BY THE MOORE INSTITUTE TO THE CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. STIEFEL and YOSKO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 18, 1957.

Whereas, Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, as a professional institution of higher education, exclusively for women, has had for the last 113 years its major objective: Education in the fine and applied arts, offering to women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, profitable, interesting, varied and enriched careers in art education and the professional arts; and

Whereas, The Institute having outgrown its present facilities is now engaged in a building program which will match its internal development, and supply better accommodation for its students; and

Whereas, in September, 1955, construction was begun on a three million dollar building program which, when completed will be the most unique School of its kind in the entire country. Its location will be on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway in Philadelphia, where it will take its rightful place among this historic city's cultural institutions. Its neighbors will be the Franklin Institute, the Academy of Natural Sciences, the Free Library of Philadelphia, and the Rodin Museum; and

Whereas, the buildings themselves will be a living symbol of modern architecture with the emphasis placed on the needs of the students and the community which it will continue to serve. The Institute will be the first construction in the Commonwealth to be built exclusively with the needs of the artist-designer student in mind; and

Whereas, in offering to its students the best possible and the most modern physical advantage, the Institute's objective will be to better prepare them for the industries into which they will proceed; and

Whereas, construction of the new Residence Hall and Cafeteria is now nearing completion, and students entering the Institute for the 1957-1958 term will live in this building; and

Whereas, immediately following its completion the old residence houses will be razed to make way for the erection of the art school building, which is expected to be completed in the Spring of 1959; and

Whereas, a formal opening and dedication of the new dormitory and cafeteria is planned for Sunday, September 15, 1957; and

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved: That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acknowledge the great contribution made by the Moore Institute to the cultural development of the Commonwealth, and particularly affording to the young women of Pennsylvania the opportunity for education in the fine and applied arts as well as a practical education, instruction and moral care to properly equip them to earn their livelihood and directs that a Committee of three Senators be appointed by the President pro tempore to officially attend the ceremonies in connection with the formal opening and dedication of the new dormitories and cafeteria.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, lines 3 to 13 by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof: "Section 402. [Examination of Returns; Settlement of Tax credits] Mode and Time of Assessment.—(a) Underpayment of Tax. As soon as practicable after any return is filed, the department shall examine it and, if the return shows a greater tax due than the amount of the remittance sent with such return, the department shall forthwith [settle] assess the difference. Such difference shall be paid to the department within ten days after notice of its [settlement] assessment. If so paid, there shall be no interest or penalty. If not so paid, there shall be added to such amount [five] three per centum thereof and, in addition, interest at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month for each month, or fraction thereof, from the date of such notice to the date of payment. [No taxpayer shall have any right of appeal from such a settlement.]

“(b) Understatement of Tax. If the department determines that any return or returns of any taxpayer understates the amount of tax due, the Department shall [settle] assess the proper amount and shall determine the difference between the amount of tax shown in the return and the amount [settled] assessed, such difference being hereafter sometimes referred to as the “deficiency.” Such deficiency shall be paid to the department within [ninety] thirty days after a notice of the [settlement] assessment thereof shall be mailed to the taxpayer by the department. Unless notice of an intention to file a petition for a [resettlement or to appear and to be heard, as herein provided] reassessment shall be given within [ninety] thirty days after notice of the [settlement] assessment of such deficiency be mailed to the taxpayer, there shall be added to the amount of the deficiency, five per centum thereof, and in addition, interest at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month for each month, or fraction thereof, from the date of such notice to the date of payment. If any understatement in any of such returns is false or fraudulent, with intent to evade the tax, the deficiency resulting from such understatement shall be doubled and, in addition thereto, an additional one-half of one per centum of such doubled deficiency shall be added for each such month, or fraction of a month, from the date the tax was originally due to the date of payment.

“(e) Overstatement of Tax. If the amount of the tax, as [settled] ascertained by the department, shall be less than the amount already paid by the taxpayer, the department shall so notify the taxpayer and the amount so overpaid may be taken by such taxpayer as a credit on the tax shown as due in any subsequent return or returns filed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

“Section 403. Estimated [Settlements] Assessments.— (a) If any person believed by the department to be liable for tax under the provisions of this act shall have failed to file a return in accordance with, and within the time prescribed by, this act, and, if the department shall deem it more conducive to the public interest because of the supposed smallness of the tax, or for any other reason, not to proceed to compel the exhibition of the accounts of such person, it may make an estimated [settlement] assessment of the probable amount of tax owing by such persons; but, in every such case, the department shall add to such estimated [settlement] assessment a penalty of ten per centum thereof, and the department shall proceed to collect such estimated tax and penalty as in other cases if the amount is not paid when due.

“(b) The estimated [settlement] assessment thus determined, together with the penalty of ten per centum specified above and interest at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month, or fractional part thereof, until paid, shall be due and payable ten days after notice of such [settlement] assessment shall have been mailed by the department to the person against whom the estimated [settlement] assessment has been made.

Section 404. Limitation of [Settlement] Assessment (a) Any [settlement] assessment or estimated [settlement] assessment shall be made by the department within [five] three years of the date when the annual return required by this act should have been filed as prescribed in this act, whether the date originally prescribed, or pursuant to any extension of the time for filing such return, duly granted by the department, and not after. Any such [settlement] assessment or estimated [settlement] assessment may be made at any time during such period, notwithstanding that the department may have made one or more previous [settlements] assessments or estimated [settlement] assessments, or both, against the taxpayer for the year in question or for any part of such year. In any such case, no credit shall be given for any penalty previously [settled] assessed or paid.

“(b) If the taxpayer shall have died, any taxes, interest and penalties due under this act for years prior to his death, or for the year of his death, and whether based on original [settlements] assessments, additional or estimated [settlements] assessments or otherwise, may be presented by the department at audit of his estate in the orphans' court, and such court shall give full effect to the priorities and equitable interest given to the Commonwealth by this act.

“Section 405. [Resettlement] Reassessment; Review; Appeal. (a) Any taxpayer against whom [a settlement] an assessment or estimated [settlement] assessment is made may petition the department for a [resettlement] reassessment. Notice of an intention to file such a petition, [or to appear and be heard] shall be given to the department prior to the time the [settlement] assessment or estimated [settlement] assessment becomes due and payable. The department shall hold such hearings, as may be necessary for the purpose, at such times and places as it may determine, and each taxpayer who has duly notified the department of an intention to file a petition for [resettlement, or to appear and be heard] reassessment shall be notified by the department of the time when, and the place where, such hearing in his case will be held. A petition for [resettlement] reassessment, if filed, shall set forth, explicitly and in detail, the grounds upon which the taxpayer claims that the [settlement] assessment or estimated [settlement] assessment is erroneous or unlawful, in whole or in part, and shall be accompanied by an affidavit, under oath or affirmation, certifying to the facts stated in the petition. [If no petition for resettlement has been filed with the department, but the taxpayer has given notice of an intention to appear and be heard, the taxpayer may appear at the hearing, and present his petition orally, in which event, all statements of fact at the hearing shall be made under oath or affirmation]

“(b) Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the department of the action taken on any petition for [resettlement] reassessment filed with it, the person against whom such [settlement] assessment was made may, by petition, request the board of finance and revenue to review such action. Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reason on which the petition relies, or shall incorporate by reference the petition for [resettlement] reassessment in which the reasons are stated. The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true. The board of finance and revenue shall act finally in disposing of petitions filed with it within six months after they have been received. In the event of the failure of the board to dispose of any petition within six months, the action taken by the department upon the petition for [resettlement] reassessment shall be sustained. The board of finance and revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for [resettlement] reassessment or it may [resettle] reassess the tax due on such basis as it deems according to law and equity. The board shall give notice of its action by mail to the department and to the petitioner.

"(c) Any person or the Commonwealth aggrieved by the decision of the board of finance and revenue, or by the board's failure to act upon a petition for review within six months, may, within sixty days, appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the board or from the decision of the department, as the case may be, in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for appeals in the case of tax settlements."

HOUSE BILL No. 1210 CALLED UP

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I call up, from page 16 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1210, Printer's No. 554, for the purpose of offering amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1210, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" further regulating magistrates' reports and further prescribing enforcement provisions and clarifying provisions relating to sending of notices by mail.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Mahany and myself, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 2, line 12 of the title, by inserting after the quotation mark: "restricting the provisions relating to the limitations on size of certain vehicles and"; Amend the bill, page 2, by inserting between the enacting clause and line 1: "Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 902 Act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) known as "The Vehicle Code" amended June 6, 1957 (Act No. 137) is amended to read:

"Section 902. Size of Vehicles and Loads (a) No vehicles except motor buses motor omnibuses and fire department equipment street sweepers and snow plows shall exceed a total maximum width including any load thereon of ninety-six (96) inches except that the limitations as to size of vehicle stated in this act shall not apply to vehicles loaded with hay or straw [peas, beans or corn] in bulk [or farm machinery owned by farmers or farm equipment dealers when such vehicles are operated on highways other than the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Vehicles loaded with farm machinery shall not exceed a total maximum width including load of one hundred ten (110) inches].

L. 905) known as" in line 1 and "The Vehicle Code" in line 2, and inserting: "of the act"; Amend Section 2, page 6, line 10, by striking out "2" and inserting: "3"; Amend Section 3, page 8, line 4, by striking out "3" and inserting: "4"; Amend the bill, page 9, by inserting after line 6: "Section 5. This act shall take effect immediately".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the reason for these amendments is because some weeks ago we passed a bill which would extend the width of loads to be carried on the highways in excess of ninety-six inches, when the loads were composed of peas and beans, as I remember it. We all thought we were doing something for the farmers and, perhaps, we were. The Governor signed this bill into law. However, after this we found that if we extended the loads beyond the ninety-six inch limitation, we would be cutting ourselves off from Federal-aid funds under the Federal Highways Program. The Act of Congress provides that no State shall extend any load limit beyond ninety-six inches after July 1, 1956.

Therefore, Mr. President, the purpose of these amendments is to get us back on first base again in order that we will not be cut off from funds under the Federal Highway Program.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

HOUSE BILL No. 1476 CALLED UP

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw my amendments at this time.

And the question recurring,

"Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "State Professional Employes Act."

In any such adjudication of suspension or dismissal, the secretary shall be the agency and the professional employe shall be a party and the rights, duties, powers and procedures, including the rights and procedures of appeal provided for in that law shall apply."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to advise the Members on both sides that these amendments restore the bill to the mangled form in which it was when it came from the House. As such, I believe they make it an unworkable and an impossible bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would urge my colleagues to vote "no" on the amendments. I certainly wish to be recorded as voting "no."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

HOUSE BILL No. 1430 CALLED UP

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I call up, from page 17 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1430, Printer's No. 869.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1430, entitled:

An Act enlarging the rights and powers of married women as to property and contracts and repealing certain provisions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "contracts": "regulating antenuptial contracts"; Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 3 by inserting after "2" where it appears the first time: "At any time before marriage the parties may make a written contract providing that after marriage is solemnized the whole or any designated part of the real or personal property of which either party may be seized or possessed at the time of marriage shall remain or become the property of the husband or wife according to the terms of the contract. The contract shall be acknowledged before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments to deeds and it shall not be subject to attack by either party their heirs or personal representatives.

"Section 3. A schedule of the property intended to be affected containing a sufficiently clear description thereof to enable a creditor of the husband or wife to distinguish it from other property shall be annexed to the contract and the contract and schedule shall either before the marriage or within ninety days thereafter be recorded in the recorder of deeds for the county or district where the husband resides at the time of the record or if he is not a resident of this Commonwealth then in the recorder of deeds for the county or district where the wife resides at the time of the record if it is made before marriage or where she last resided if made after the marriage. If the contract is not so recorded it shall be void except as between the parties thereto and their heirs and personal representatives. It shall also be recorded in the registry of deeds for every county or district where there is land to which it relates.

"Section 4."; Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 10 by striking out "3" and inserting in lieu thereof: "5"; Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 16 by striking out "4" and inserting in lieu thereof: "6".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, House Bill No. 1430 is long overdue because it gives certain emancipatory rights to women, to own property in their own right without need of signature by their husbands, which is truly generous. However, I must submit that there is a corollary to this right which is being vested to them. This is the right of any person to enter into a prenuptial agreement with his future spouse.

For this reason, Mr. President, I have offered these amendments which add provisions pertaining to prenuptial agreements without disclosures. This is also long overdue. With so many gold diggers in existence, many of them believe in the principle, "Whatever is mine is mine and whatever is yours is mine." I want to cure this situation and, accordingly, I offered these amendments to House Bill No. 1430.

Mr. MAHANEY. Mr. President, the intention of this legislation is to give married women the same property rights as married men now have. The amendments which are being offered by Senator Stiefel change the intent of this legislation by adding some new feature to it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to these amendments.

MOTION TO ADOPT AMENDMENTS

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, of course, I move for the adoption of my amendments. However, this is one time when I am not asking for a roll call because I do not want any repercussions from home. Therefore, the vote should be taken in any way so that no one is on record. So far as I am concerned, I vote "aye."

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Barr,	Harney,	McMenamin,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE FINANCING OF PUBLIC SCHOOL PROGRAMS IN THE VARIOUS DISTRICTS THROUGHOUT THE STATE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Whereas, Legislation now before the General Assembly provides for differential increases in state subsidies to differently circumstanced school districts; and

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 468, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 5, 1947 (P. L. 458) entitled as amended "Parking Authority Law" changing powers of parking authorities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this bill permits parking authorities to lease the lower level floors of the Authority to other people for the purpose of sale of gasline, rendering emergency repairs, car wash and lubrication. The purpose of the bill is to give the parking authorities the opportunity, right within their own premises, to render better service to the people who come to store their cars.

This bill has been on the Calendar for several days. I found out from my friends on the other side that they felt, as written, it would create undue competition with private business. We do not think so but, to satisfy them, we are offering amendments to remove all doubt of unfair competition with private business.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Dent, Senator Stevenson, Senator Mallery and myself, I now ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Senate Bill No. 468, Printer's No. 362, page 3, line 13 by inserting after the word lease: "to the highest responsible bidder";

Amend line 14, by striking out after the word "for": "Commercial use including";

Amend line 16, by striking out after the word "of": "any commodity of trade or commerce or any service including the sale of";

Amend line 18, by striking out the word "including" and inserting in lieu thereof: "rendering."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR CHARLES R. MALLERY

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if there is one thing I have learned over a period of years in association with my fellow Senators it is that the old maxim which was first espoused by Lord Coke, and which is carved in stone in the University of Pennsylvania Law School, that "The known certainty of the law is the safety of all," then I must be very grateful to one of my colleagues for bringing this maxim to my attention. I refer to my good friend and colleague, Senator Mallery, who has the honor of celebrating his thirty-ninth birthday today.

I would, therefore, Mr. President, ask my colleagues to join with me in celebrating the birthday today of another man, a man learned in politics who was also born, like Senator Taylor and Senator Watkins, under the sign of the politician, the sign of Gemini.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might observe that the majority of the Senators are thirty-nine years of age.

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. PECHAN, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1169, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 18, 1951 (P. L. 1010) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1195, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) entitled "Second Class County Code" authorizing expenditures and appropriations for benefit of hospitals receiving money from State appropriations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, those of us from Allegheny County intend to vote "no" on this bill. Even though it is a "may" bill, we feel it is unconstitutional and that it is uncalled for. We have our own county hospital that we maintain to take care of the aged and indigent.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Barr, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1712), page 3, lines 9 to 13, by striking out all of said lines; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1712), page 3, line 14, by striking out "such"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1712), page 3, line 14, by inserting after "employee": "who retired prior to September 1, 1953 and who is"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1712), page 3, lines 15, 16 and 17, by striking out "nor more" in line 15, and all of lines 16 and 17".

On the question,

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1289, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) entitled "Second Class County Code" changing technical provisions with respect to plans required to be submitted to the County Planning Commission.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, the County Commissioners of Allegheny County have taken a position in opposition to the passage of House Bill No. 1289.

We feel that we have a very fine County Planning Commission and to permit any deviation from the law, as it now stands, would break down the entire plan for county planning which we now have. Not only would it affect our county, but I know that many of the counties, represented by many of you gentlemen of the Senate, will be very badly affected by this exception.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask the Members of the Senate to vote "no" on this bill.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

Mr. PECHAN, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1398, Printer's No. 560, on third reading, go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1428, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) entitled "The Fiscal Code" providing for the collection of money by the Department of Welfare in mental institutions and State medical and surgical hospitals under its jurisdiction.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I think this is a bad bill. I say that because when the Pennsylvania State Government, like all other State Governments, was organized, one department was set up as a collection agency for the collection of taxes, fees and all other moneys that are due the Commonwealth.

In Pennsylvania, the Department of Revenue was set up for that purpose. There is a Bureau in the Department of Revenue, known as the Bureau of Institutional Collections. That bureau is charged with the responsibility of collecting the fees and other sums of money which are due from the various institutions in Pennsylvania. That bureau was recently organized. From data that I have been able to get, and from the person who I know heads this bureau, who happens to come from my county, I can say, in all sincerity, that it is operating efficiently and has increased its collections.

To prove that point, Mr. President, let me point out that when you make a comparison of the collections between the biennium of 1953-1955 with the biennium of 1955-1957, the increased collections amount to $6,915,281.72. I think that is commendable.

I understand this bill was drafted because of some sort of statement which was made down at the budget hearing by Secretary Shapiro. He was supposed to have said that he could increase the collections at the mental institutions and at the medical-surgical hospitals. I doubt that very much. However, the bad feature of transferring these collections to the Department of Welfare is the fact that you are going to eliminate one very important factor, and that is an auditing factor by one agency against another. This Bureau of Institutional Collections, at the present time, has auditors at each one of our State-owned institutions. They check admissions and make other audits of the activities of the people who run the institutions. Mr. President, if we eliminate that function, I think we will be making a big mistake and, as a result, the collections will decrease rather than increase.

In addition to that, the Department of Welfare will have to set up a new staff. Under the bill, if you will read it, the department will have to set up costly records, it will have to buy equipment, it will have to buy materials and supplies, and it will have to set up an extra book-keeping system which will just add to the cost of collection. I do not believe anyone in this Chamber wants that to happen. In my opinion, Mr. President, I think the collection of these funds should remain where it is, in the Department of Revenue, in the Bureau of Institutional Collections.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I ask the Members of the Senate to vote against this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, in reply to the gentleman from Northampton, I would like to say that the bill was introduced as a result of the Secretary of Welfare's statement, when he made the remark that he could, if he were given the power to collect the moneys in the institutions, bring in at least $10,000,000 more than was presently being collected by the Department of Revenue.

For that reason, Mr. President, this bill was presented. We hope Secretary Shapiro can live up to his promises. If he does, the institutions, in addition to receiving the appropriations that are in the appropriation bill, will receive for their own use any moneys that are collected over a certain percentage, as you know.

Again, I want to say that the Secretary of Welfare, Mr. Shapiro, made a statement at this conference that if he were given the power to collect the moneys in these institutions, he could collect at least $10,000,000 or more.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I rise to answer Senator Pechan, which I would not have done if he had not named the amount which Secretary Shapiro said he was going to collect in excess of what is being collected.

I do not know where Secretary Shapiro made that statement, but he certainly did not make it at the hearing before the Joint Appropriations Committee. I know that because I was there. He was asked a question and the question was, "Did Secretary Shapiro think he could increase the collections at the State mental institutions and the medical-surgical hospitals?" Based on the way he answered the question, I think it was just snap judgment. However, he did not name $10,000,000 or any other sum. I doubt whether he could do a better job than is being done now.

Mr. President, I think the Department of Welfare has sufficient functions to take care of in caring for the sick and the needy. I do not believe this added function should be saddled on the Secretary of Welfare or the Department of Welfare.

It is strange that they take Secretary Shapiro's word on this particular phase, and yet when he comes in and asks for money and says that he needs money to finance some of the activities and some of the programs in his department, they disbelieve him, turn him down, eliminate some of the projects which he has in his department entirely and reduce the budget requests on others.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I, too, rise to oppose the passage of this legislation. In my opinion, I think it is going to result in an additional cost upon the operations of the Commonwealth. Since we have a great problem in regard to funds, I believe there will be additional expenditures involved as far as this particular piece of legislation is concerned.

I might also say to the Majority that we now have on the Calendar several bills which will actually eliminate the Department of Welfare. It seems to me that this function would be placed under the Department of Public Assistance, if such legislation passes.

Here we have legislation whereby we will appoint fiscal agents to all our State-aided institutions. The fiscal agents will collect the money and, in return, if you will notice on line 18, page 6, of the bill they will then transmit all moneys collected by them to the Department of Revenue for payment into the General Fund and shall furnish the Department with an operating statement. It appears to me this is just an endless circle. It is a waste of money, as has been said on this floor.

It seems to me that the Majority Party may presume to take the recommendations of the Secretary of Welfare in this particular case. As a matter of fact, I attended most of those hearings and I never heard Secretary Shapiro make that statement. Even if he did, that is definitely beside the point. I believe we departmentalize government to the point where we do have some sort of semblance of efficiency.

Mr. President, the passing of this legislation is gilding the lily, because I feel sure they are going to try to eliminate the Department of Welfare before this Session is over, and that those functions will be divided between the Department of Health and the Department of Public Assistance. Therefore, this legislation should not be necessary.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, in addition to what has been said, I might state our experience in the city of Philadelphia. We have numerous welfare institutions. They have tried collecting their money and they have neglected their work of taking care of the needy. Our Department of Collections does take care of this and does a very efficient job. I know that the present administration of the Department of Revenue has collected considerably more money and has been increasing its collections all the time.

I can see no reason at all why we wish to disturb a system which has been progressively showing increased efficiency. I hope that we vote this bill down.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I understand that this legislation arises out of a statement made by the Secretary of Welfare at the Appropriation Committee Hearings. I would certainly be surprised if the Members of the Senate, at this stage, would base legislation on an opinion expressed by the Secretary of Welfare.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may we be at ease?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1466, Printer's No. 890, on third reading, go over in its order.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time, which would raise the appropriation from $25,000 to $50,000.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 11, page 4, line 12 by striking out "twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000)" and inserting: "fifty thousand dollars ($50,000)."

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I wish to inform the Members of the Senate that this bill is opposed by the Cemetery Association of Pennsylvania as being a most unworkable piece of legislation for the job which they propose to do.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, all I have to say is that we certainly have a record to prove how the Republicans killed this bill.

I think this is a good piece of legislation. We have lots of amendments here. It is a worthy piece of legislation. However, it seems to me there is no consideration given.

HOUSE BILL No. 1721 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from page 22 of today's Second Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1721, Printer's No. 937, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1721, Printer's No. 937, on second reading, now go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it is my impression that most of the people who have observed the Legislature's performance in Harrisburg this Session have one criticism which seems to me to have some merit, and that is that most of the major legislative proposals this Session, those that have some importance to the welfare and happiness of the people of the Commonwealth, have been largely ignored, have been largely side-stepped and largely avoided.

We passed a fair amount of legislation this Session, from the standpoint of quantity, but my attention has been called to the fact that much of it is extremely small in nature, much of it is highly routine and much of it, indeed, is totally unnecessary legislation. I will not go into that, but this can be documented. We had some major proposals at this Session of the Legislature but these major proposals, in the main, have been shelved.

Now the bill we are about to send to its destruction, it seems to me, is one of the rather important bills of this Session, and one certainly deserving of being brought to a final passage vote to decide whether or not we should have this legislation.

I would like to object to this bill going over in its order just as a matter of making a point of the fact that we have either avoided or side-stepped many of the important pieces of legislation. This piece of legislation which might have made a real contribution or, at any rate, which dealt with a large problem, a large issue in the public minds, should have had a recorded vote.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in order.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1721, Printer's No. 937, on second reading, go over in its order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Pechan, is it your understanding that tomorrow is the last day of this Legislative Session?

Mr. PECHAN. I am not sure, but I am hopeful.

Mr. DENT. Well, can you tell me why we are putting this bill over in order on second reading?

Mr. PECHAN. I understand that some people have amendments to this bill, and that this bill, in the shape it is now in, is not in shape to be passed finally.

Mr. DENT. Thank you.

Mr. President, I do not often oppose a motion to have a bill passed over in order, but here we are again at that age-old crisis.

Earlier, in the beginning of this Session, a bill was introduced which called for the so-called registration and examination of welfare funds simply because of the fact that there happened to be, in the daily newspapers, a very vivid story going on about a labor leader who was enmeshed in his own wrongdoings with so-called welfare funds, and a great clamor went up that something had to be done about it. On first impulse, a great many of the labor leaders throughout the Commonwealth, in various localities, immediately opposed this legislation. However, after being talked to by their leaders in the State, they were made to realize that a good, healthy examination would not hurt anybody. So after first being bludgeoned all over the State for being opposed to this legislation, when at no time did they openly come out for it or advocate the defeat of it, the labor organization swung solidly behind this inspired legislation. However, it has been true, since time immemorial, that if the labor unions are for legislation, somehow or other the employers have to be against it, and just as soon as labor swung behind this legislation, the employers started to look for cover because they now feel there must be something in this legislation that is not quite where you can see it. There is something hidden in here, there is something sinister, because they are now against this legislation solidly. I believe every Member of the Senate should be compelled to vote on this legislation on final passage in order that we may know whether or not they are for the registration of welfare funds.

We have been accused, many of us, of being too close to labor; that we would never force them into any kind of a position where it would appear they were being registered. They know, too, that they have certain obligations to the citizenry as well as to their own organization. Apparently, the labor leaders all over this State welcome this legislation. Who is trying to kill it and why? These questions we will ask later. We expect to call the bill up for action after we come back from dinner.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to remind the gentleman that the bill was introduced, I imagine, rather hurriedly on the last day that bills were allowed to be introduced in the House. It came over from the House yesterday and was reported out immediately by the Rules Committee. I am sure, as a member of the Rules Committee, that I did not get to see the bill. I did not have the time. After we did look at it closely, many of us thought it needed a doctor, it needed help, it needed remedial amendments, and that is the reason for my motion that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wonder if Senator Pechan is sure they are going to study the bill. Is that what the Doctor is going to do or is he going to practice dentistry on it and pull its teeth?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to call attention to the fact that Senator Pechan had already moved that the bill go over in order and the motion was seconded by Senator Mahany.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, can this bill be called up any time after it goes over in order by a motion from the floor?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would state that a bill can be called up by unanimous consent.

Mr. DENT. It can be called up. What is the rule?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is the understanding of the Chair that a bill can only be called up by unanimous consent after it is once passed over in order, unless it goes over temporarily. Senator Pechan asked that the bill go over in order temporarily one time, and then he called it up and made a motion that it be passed over in order.

At the present time, the question before the Senate is whether or not to adopt the motion made by Senator Pechan, and seconded by Senator Mahany, to pass this bill over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think this is too small a matter on which to spend a lot of the time of the Senate. Inasmuch as Senator Dent is helping us to work out solutions to many problems, if he wants this bill to go over temporarily and tonight give an opportunity for some of the Senators to move for recommittal, then that will be all right with me. I am not going to press for any permanent disposal of this bill in the closing minutes of this Session of the Legislature. If Senator Dent wants this bill to go over temporarily until tonight, so that he and I might discuss it further, well then that will be a satisfactory arrangement to me.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion that House Bill No. 1721 go over in its order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1721 go over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE BILL No. 1723 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from page 22 of today's Second Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1723, Printer's No. 979, which went over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1723, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania further regulating membership of and appointment to the Board of Pardons and prescribing powers and duties regarding fines and forfeitures represses commutations of sentence and pardon.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. PECHAN, on behalf of Mr. FLEMING, offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, (Sec. 9) page 2, line 10 by striking out six and inserting in lieu thereof: "eight"; Amend Section 1, (Sec. 9) page 2, line 10 by inserting after the word Governor the following: "however, that the initial appointment shall be for the term hereinafter provided."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE BILL No. 1014 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call up, from page 13 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1014, Printer's No. 894, which went over in its order, temporarily.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1014, entitled:

An Act fixing the time for levying taxes and water rates and making appropriations in cities of the second class and imposing duties on the mayor council and heads of departments in such cities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have rather been waiting for this moment to show again how foolish the opposition is when they are now in a new fiscal year and have, as yet, not provided a budget for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This bill, Mr. President, directs the city of Pittsburgh to levy, assess and appropriate by general ordinance all taxes, water rents or rates needed for its budget for the fiscal year beginning January 1, not later, than the fifteenth day of October of the preceding year. Special appropriations, of course, are only to be made in the case of emergency.

By including in Section 1 of the bill the legislative intent, the bill makes this procedure mandatory. In fact, it provides that if the appropriation is not made by October 15, notwithstanding valid reasons for such a delay, the tax rate would continue the same as the tax rate for the preceding calendar year.

Now would it not just be ducky if we had a bill like this regulating the government of Pennsylvania? We are sitting here seeing the majority side of the House and Senate, who have not as yet performed their duty in providing a budget for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when we are in the new biennium, asking that a budget be passed and delivered on October 15, before the ensuing year, in the city of Pittsburgh.

Section 2 of the bill provides that department heads must submit their appropriation requests not later than August 1 for the moneys necessary to operate the departments for the next ensuing calendar year. We believe this point to be, perhaps, the strongest argument against the adoption of this bill for the reason that too many unforeseen factors could interfere between the time the bill goes into effect and the following January 1, due to the length of time involved.

The city tax rates are determined in accordance with the total assessed valuation of city properties, which is submitted to the city by the County Assessor's office in accordance with the Act of June 15, 1939. This certified assessment, of course, has never been received by the city of Pittsburgh prior to the month of December of the year preceding the calendar year for which the budget is being determined.

As you know, we do not have a City Board of Assessors. We have a County Board of Assessors who do the assessing and they give their figures to the city of Pittsburgh. You are asking them to have this done by October 15, when we cannot demand of the county government to have these assessments in our hands by October 15. The board has never delivered the assessments to the city previous to December and it will not be done in future year unless you want to pass some other act amending the Second Class County Code, providing that the county commissioners must have the assessments in the hands of the city controller previous to October 15.

Section 3 of this bill repeals the Charter Act of 1901, its supplements and amendments, in so far as they are inconsistent with the Act. We believe this provision will cause a great deal of confusion in the administration of the fiscal affairs of the city of Pittsburgh and may make it impossible to conduct the administrative affairs legally. We assign, therefore, the following reasons:

The Act of 1901 provides for a triennial valuation of taxable properties in cities of the second class for purposes of municipal taxation, and as amended by the Act of June 15, 1939, P. L. 346,—an Act introduced in the Legislature, I understand, by Senator B. B. McGinnis—and the Act of May 26, 1943, P. L. 627, Section 1, which abolished the Department of Assessors in cities of the second class, provides that taxation in the city of Pittsburgh shall be levied and assessed on real estate and personal property as contained in the assessment records of the county tax assessors.

Under House Bill No. 1014, the city is directed to levy and assess annually, and is without a Department of Assessors to make such assessments. This bill should be returned to committee and never again be allowed to see the light of day.

Mr. President, the person who concocted this bill, either knowingly or unknowingly, has provided a bill which, if passed and signed into law, would prevent the city of Pittsburgh from operating. I would say to you if you pass this bill and if the Governor signs it into law, the city of Pittsburgh will have to close business in 1958. You are trying to tell the city of Pittsburgh that it must have its tax set by October 15, when it does not have assessors and the assessors from the county have never given the assessment to the city controller before January in any one year.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, who seems to be following this bill on the other side.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Fleming, can you tell me how the city of Pittsburgh can set its taxation rate by October 15 when the county assessors do not give the tax duplicate to the city controller until December?

Mr. FLEMING. It is my undersanding, Senator, that they would set it on the assesments in their possession at the time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, they have none.

Mr. FLEMING. They would have it for the preceding year

Mr. BARR. Do you mean to tell me some people would be taxed and others would not be taxed? Is that what you are trying to say?

Mr. FLEMING. No, I do not think that would be correct at all. The rate would be set, not the assessment. As I understand the bill, sponsored by Representative Goldstein, it provides that the rate of taxation shall be set not only on real estate, but on all taxes by the fifteenth day of October.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman a further question? How can you set the tax rate if you do not know the assessment?

Mr. FLEMING. You set it on whatever is in your possession, what ever is in the possession of the taxing body.

Mr. BARR. Do you mean you would set your tax rate for 1958 on what was given to you in December 1956?

Mr. FLEMING. I would presume that would be the way you would do it; yes, sir. I would presume that the council, in sitting down to figure their budget, would know how much they had received in the last year. They would tentatively set that up as a figure and then either—I was going to say increase, but I do not think I will—lower it or raise it, as the case may be and add that with all the other taxes.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, let us just take the State as an example. The gentleman does not want to answer my question because he knows very well you cannot levy on assessments you do not have and you cannot give a temporary tax rate either. Once the tax rate is assessed, that is the law.

Senator, do you think we should run the next biennium on the figures we had in our possession at the end of the 1953-1955 biennium?

Mr. FLEMING. No, but I would say that we could certainly run it on the tax that was going to come in during the 1955-1957 biennium. We could use those figures as estimates of expected revenues. Only on the basis of experience, can we project ourselves into the future.

Mr. BARR. You know in the city of Pittsburgh they cannot reopen their budget at any time, under a Supreme Court ruling. Did you know that?

Mr. FLEMING. I will accept that.

Mr. BARR. Then if they set over $1,200,000,000 in December of 1958, and the year before the tax duplicate was only $1,000,000,000, what would happen to that other $200,000,000?

Mr. FLEMING. Where are we, in the city of Pittsburgh or in the Commonwealth?

Mr. BARR. In the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. FLEMING. We do not take in that much money, do we? Did you say $1,000,000,000? What did you say, $1,000,000 or $1,000,000,000?

Mr. BARR. I am talking about the tax duplicate.

Mr. FLEMING. The tax duplicate; now you have got me at sea Senator. You will have to repeat your question.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think I care to ask the gentleman any more questions because of the fact that this is just a political turkey.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is the Chair to understand, Senator Barr, that you no longer desire to interrogate the gentleman?

Mr. BARR. No, I do not. Thank you, Mr. Fleming.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it appears at this time of the Session there are always a few turkeys out regarding the city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny. I just want to tell the gentlemen on the other side that it has not worked because each time that Dave Lawrence has run for Mayor, he has won by a large majority. I think we should take this bill and use it as one of the campaign documents in the election this year.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, how is Senator Propert recorded as voting?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, certainly there is some kind of decency. The gentleman knows full well that Senator Propert and Senator Kessler are over attending the Conference Committee meeting on the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there is no Conference Committee operating.

Mr. LANE. How is Senator Wolfe recorded as voting? He is excused; we will take his vote. How about Senator Propert?

Mr. FLEMING. Senator Propert and Senator Kessler, as I understand, are with the Democratic Floor Leader of the House. Senator Taylor just came from the meeting.

Mr. LANE. Senator Dent just made the statement that there is no Conference Committee working now.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I know I am out of order, but I understand that George Bloom is running the whole thing over there.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, under the circumstances, there is nothing we can do except request a recess of five minutes.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, there is nothing before the Senate but the calling of the roll.

REQUEST FOR VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. BARR. There is nothing in order but the calling of the roll, and I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made for verification of the roll.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, how am I recorded as voting on this bill?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Crawford is recorder as voting "aye."

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Crawford will be so recorded.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will be so recorded.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to ask how the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Schmidt, is recorded as voting.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk informs the Chair that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Schmidt, is recorded as voting "no."

There is nothing before the Senate at the present time but a request for verification of the roll. The Clerk will call the affirmative roll.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, not hearing my name called, I would like to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lancaster will be so recorded.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, not hearing my name called, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Montgomery will be so recorded.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, was the gentleman from Montgomery and the gentleman from Lancaster on the floor of the Senate when their names were called?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair is unable to answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent. The gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Propert, will have to speak for himself in that regard.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I am on the floor of the Senate and the roll call has not been announced as yet.

REQUEST FOR VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the roll, of course, need not be verified. We will withdraw our request. However, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will be so recorded.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

I want to tell you gentlemen on the other side that the Rules of the Senate will be strictly enforced until the close of this Session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote, to keep up with Senator Dent, from "no" to "aye" and also to serve notice on Senator Barr that any violation of the Rules of the Senate has been for your benefit, Senator Barr. We have allowed you to vote Senator McCreesh and Senator DiSilvestro from the very start of this Session. If you want to get dirty because Mr. Truman is coming into town, and you are trying to be in keeping with his kind of tactics, we are going to keep right up with you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Crawford will be so recorded. It is the understanding of the Chair that the request for a verification of the roll has been withdrawn. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman that the courtesy he has given to our Senators, because of illness, has also been given to their Members. Whether or not Senator McCreesh or Senator DiSilvestro were voted, it made no difference on any final vote in the Senate. We are in the minority and, therefore, you could vote all of us at any time without affecting a roll call of importance.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I want to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford and inquire whether I ever asked him to vote Senator McCreesh or Senator DiSilvestro.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to state that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, is out of order at this time. There is nothing before the Senate but the announcement of the roll call.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE REMARKS

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, how about Senator Mahany's remarks? I move that they be expunged from the record.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, will wait until after the roll call is announced, we will—

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, how about his remarks?

Mr. MAHANY. Why not wait until after the roll call?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. After the roll call is announced, Senator Barr, the Chair will—

Mr. BARR. Just a moment. His remarks are going out or mine are going in. Which way are you going to take it?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Barr, the Chair feels you are out of order at the present time. There is nothing before this Body except the announcement of the roll call.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, was Senator Mahany out of order?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is no question about it that Senator Mahany was out of order at the time he made his remarks, because there was nothing before the Senate except the announcement of the roll call.

Mr. BARR. Does the Chair so rule?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair so rules.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, then I move that Senator Mahany's remarks be expunged from the record.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Barr was out of order, too, and I did not raise a point of order. If Senator Barr will just be patient and allow the roll call to be announced, he can expunge all he wants.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, you ruled on my point of order, and I insist his remarks be expunged from the record. If he wants to put them in afterward, I will be here and will be glad to listen to them. Then I will answer him.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Again, the Chair rules that the motion, as put by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, is out of order at this time and there is nothing before the Senate except the announcement of the roll call.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Mahany, can you tell me of any time during this Session when I asked for Senator McCreesh or Senator DiSilvestro to be voted?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know that you did. However, it was understood that you wanted them to be voted or you would have asked for a leave of absence for them.

Mr. BARR. What was your statement of a few moments ago? Did you say that I asked that they be voted?

Mr. MAHANY. No, I did not. I will have the record read back to you.

Mr. BARR. I would like to have it read back.

Mr. MAHANY. All right.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in the gentleman's remarks he said, "any violation has been for you," addressing his remarks to me. I think the gentleman has since stated he did not remember of my asking to vote these people. Am I correct in that, Senator Mahany?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I meant "you" as being collective, meaning you Democrats and not you, individually. I still repeat, Senator, if you did not want these two Senators voted, you should have asked for a leave of absence for them last January when their absences began. We were trying to be decent with you, and I am trying to end this Session being decent. However, I can see these night Sessions are interfering with that desire. Maybe we had better cut down a little on the time for dinner.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I can understand that it would be far better if we did not go to dinner, because Mr. Bloom brings his ax up here while we are out for dinner. I wonder if there is any way we can get Senator Kessler and Senator Propert off the committee, and put Mr. Bloom on. It appears that Senator Kessler and Senator Propert have nothing to say. Is there anything in the rules, stating that we could put the Republican State Chairman on the Conference Committee?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Barr, you have had conferences with Mr. Bloom. I would suggest you take it up with him at that time instead of bothering us here on the floor with your remarks.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PROPERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I would like to announce, for the record, that Senator Kessler and I were at the Conference Committee Meeting on House Bill No. 1700. As far as Senator Barr's remarks are concerned, let me say that when we left the room, Representative Readinger was still there.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Propert.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PROPERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Propert, did you reach an agreement?

Mr. PROPERT. We probably could have if we had not been called out.

Mr. DENT. I suggest that you be excused from the floor and go right back and reach that agreement. The whole State will be happy to know it.

HOUSE BILL No. 1722 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call up, from page 20 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1722, Printer's No. 913, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1722, entitled:

An Act imposing a tax on real estate for public school purposes in school districts of the first Class A for current expenses.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, will you state to the Senate the intent of this bill?

Mr. MAHANY. I understand the intent of this bill is to allow the taxing officials, the school board, to raise the millage in the city of Pittsburgh three-quarters of a mill, Senator.

Mr. DENT. How does that fit in, would you tell us, with the Republican policy of no new taxes?

Mr. MAHANY. It has nothing to do with the Republican policy of no new taxes, Senator. That is on a State level. The only reason we have to provide the millage for the city of Pittsburgh is because the school board there is not an elective body as it is in Titusville, Pennsylvania, or in your town of Jeannette. If they were elected, we would not have to go through this rigmarole of setting the tax rate for them. Certainly if the school board of the city of Jeannette or of the city of Titusville decide to raise their millage, and they have had to do so year after year in order to keep up with the rising costs of public education, it has nothing to do with the State of Pennsylvania or our actions, Senator.

Mr. DENT. Senator, were you a Member of the Senate when it was necessary to have these same moneys in the city of Pittsburgh to run their school system at the time there was a Republican House, a Republican Senate and a Republican Governor, and instead of passing the bill as you are now doing to a Democratic Governor, you refused to do so and allowed the people of Pittsburgh to put it on the ballot to decide whether they wanted the tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I was a Member at that time; yes, Senator.

Mr. DENT. Will you hold this bill until we get a referendum on it so that the people can decide, the same as you did when we had a Republican Governor?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, evidently they did decide at that particular time and, as I remember it, they voted it down. Evidently, they did not want to be taxed. We are now allowing them to put on this tax.

Mr. DENT. In other words, the people decided they did not want it, and now you are going to say to them, "You are going to take it whether you want it or you do not want it."

Mr. MAHANY. This is up to the school board, Senator, as I understand it.

Mr. DENT. Was it not up to the school board then, Senator?

Mr. MAHANY. No, they had a limitation at that time beyond which they could not go.

Mr. DENT. Is that not the case now?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right.

Mr. DENT. What is the difference then?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, Senator—

Mr. DENT. They had a limitation then and they have a limitation now. Why do you not give it to the people and let them decide?

Mr. MAHANY. We are increasing the limitation. Senator, I do not know why you, coming from Jeannette, and I, coming from Titusville, should get involved in these things. However, we seem to get involved. The school district in Pittsburgh needs more money to run their schools and we are going to give them the authority to raise the taxes to raise the money.

Mr. DENT. I might remind you, Senator, that although I come from Jeannette, Pennsylvania, and you come from Titusville, for some foolish reason the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania says we have to legislate for the entire State, which happens to include Pittsburgh, although from the way the legislation is being handled around here, you would think Pittsburgh were a stepbrother to the rest of the sisters of the State of Pennsylvania. However, you might look at your bill. Following the title, in Section 1, you say that you shall levy a tax. You do not leave it up to the school board. You direct the school board to levy a three-quarters of a mill tax upon the people of the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. MAHANY. Do you have any more questions, Senator?

Mr. DENT. I just wondered if you changed your mind about allowing the school board to write the tax?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right. The school board shall levy the tax, but we have to set it because they are not elected officials. Therefore, it becomes necessary for us to direct the amount of tax which the school board levies there, as well as the tax the school board of the city of Philadelphia levies. I was a bit wrong. I thought we gave them some discretion and evidently we do give them discretion, according to Senator Fleming, to allow them to raise the tax not more than three-quarters of a mill. In other words, they do not need to raise it the whole three-quarters of a mill; they can raise it a fraction of the three-quarters if they so desire.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly. That makes it very nice for them. They can go up to three-quarters of a mill if they must. However, I might suggest that in 1953 the school board was also appointed. There is no difference whatsoever in the situation except in the make-up of the State Legislature and the Administrative offices.

At that time, fearing repercussions politically, the then Republican Administration artfully dodged the issue. Now having a Democratic Governor, they will sail right into the picture and say, "You must put on this tax." Is this tax not one that is only necessary because of the penalty being imposed upon the people of the city of Pittsburgh because they happen to have, within their midst, a great number of private schools, for which they are deprived of the necessary moneys to operate their public schools?

It seems this is the most ridiculous formula which was ever formulated by any group or any body of elected persons, when they set up a situation whereby a community which sends all of its school children to public schools receives a higher subsidy than a community which takes care of a great number of its children in private schools, without any cost to the taxpayers. Those who have less children going to public schools receive less money from the State than those who have more children, although the total number of children attending school might be greater in that community which has less going to public school. That is the reason this bill should be voted down. The time has long since past when we can allow this existing condition to continue in Pennsylvania. We should not aggravate it. We should defeat this bill because then the city of Pittsburgh would rightfully go to court, or it should go to court, and demand for its children the same subsidies given in every other school district in the State of Pennsylvania, based upon its wealth according to the number of children in that community.

I want to say to you that we have reached I think in this last night—and I am very sorry, too, that it has come; I am just as sorry as the gentleman from Titusville that it has happened to develop into this kind of a situation—the point when we have outside influences exerting their pressures upon this Legislature to a greater extent than ever before in the history of this State. Certainly then the elected personnel of the Legislature cannot act in the free movement demanded by representative government.

I say to you that I know the consequences may be visited upon all of us, as they should be, for acting the way we are compelled to act by the pressures which are being applied by those who have no right, in this Legislature or in the Halls of the Senate or the House of Representatives, exerting personal privilege influence.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know what the gentleman from Westmoreland is talking about when he mentions pressure. I have not been pressured by anyone. Perhaps someone over here has been pressured. Maybe the Senator from Westmoreland has been trying to pressure someone over here; I do not know. I am wondering whether the Senator from Westmoreland is bleeding as hard for my constituents in Armstrong County or my little town of Ford City, where we have to raise our millage three mills without coming to the Legislature, as he is bleeding because we are giving the school board of the city of Pittsburgh three-quarters of a mill for something they have asked for. They are decent enough to want to pay their own bill; they want to pay part of their bill.

During the 1953 Session and the 1955 Session, we took $750,000 from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania budget, money which my district could get, his district could get and money which every other citizen's district could get, and gave it to Allegheny County because they said they needed it. We gave it to them in 1953 and we gave it to them in 1955.

I want to say this to you, Mr. President, and I am sorry I am speaking a bit loud. Let me get down to earth. It just raises my ire. Smile at me, Bill, and maybe I will cool down a little more.

I have been on the school board for twenty-eight years. I believe in the philosophy which the Senator from Westmoreland was talking about. In my town we have parochial schools. We have more parochial students than we have public school students and certainly we are penalized. However, I do not know why the city of Pittsburgh cannot pay part of its bill just as we have to in my county or in my town.

I want to tell you, Mr. President, of an experience I had as a school board member in Ford City. We gave Pittsburgh $750,000 last year so they could outbid us for some of our good teachers because they gave them bigger salaries than we could afford to give them in Ford City.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I would first like to inform the gentleman from Armstrong that the so-called give-away to Pittsburgh in the 1953 Session, for his information, was given because certain Republican Members of the House refused to vote for the machinery tax exemption bill for the sixty-six counties unless the city of Pittsburgh's school board would be given that $750,000. That was not altruistic on the part of the Republican Members of the House in the 1953 Session, as the gentleman from Armstrong full well knows.

Mr. President, the marvelous speech made by the Minority Leader is something to which we should have listened. He has presented this issue as he sees it, and as probably most of us on this side of the aisle see it. However, we must be practical.

I am from Pittsburgh and I cannot see my school district being short of funds. We, in Pittsburgh, do not look upon the equalization with Philadelphia, which we have been asking for in the past and have been receiving, as a handout or as a give-away, as some people refer to it. We feel that Pittsburgh has been discriminated against and we say it in full sincerity because we, in Pittsburgh, have contributed far beyond what we receive in return. We know we should, but we feel we have not been given a fair return in so far as the subsidy is concerned. We have to come here every two years and ask for it.

Last Session there was a bill passed in the House which would have made that permanent. It was introduced in the House and when it came over here, it was finally cut down to a one-year return for the school board of Pittsburgh. That is all we got during the last Session. We came back and we asked for it again. It should be placed on a permanent basis, but we get nowhere. I want to tell you that the people of Pittsburgh,—and this is not Republican or Democratic—the members of our Parent-Teacher Associations, the civic groups, our chamber of commerce, all of them feel that Pittsburgh is being discriminated against and we highly resent it. Inasmuch as we do not receive any recognition, I find myself in the position where I am compelled to vote for House Bill No. 1722.

I ask all of my colleagues here this evening to support this bill.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I am not particularly eager to get involved in a debate on this bill. However, I get disturbed, as the gentlemen of the Senate well know, when we hear this cry repeatedly about discrimination. There just has not been any such thing as discrimination regarding the Pittsburgh appropriations.

The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Schmidt, talks about equalization and parity with Philadelphia. The reason Pittsburgh does not get as much per teaching unit in State subsidies as Philadelphia is because Pittsburgh, with its own wealth, has 2,500 units of pupils to help pay for. The city of Philadelphia, with its own wealth, has 8,300 units of pupils to help pay for. Naturally, that means Philadelphia's capacity to support each unit is less than Pittsburgh's capacity. To say that Pittsburgh should have as much as Philadelphia, simply as a basis of equalization, is no more fair than for me to say that the Tamaqua School District should get as much as York because York gets more and Tamaqua would like to have more.

Now the $750,000 was not done out of justice and it was not done to achieve equalization. It was done because Pittsburgh tried to conceive some way by which they could grab off some more money to tide them over. Senator Walker was here at that time, and he and other Pittsburgh city Senators wanted to help the Pittsburgh School District. They finally came up with the device of saying they should get the same amount per unit as Philadelphia receives. We were guaranteed that it would only be temporary, Senator; that as soon as they would have a chance to vote to increase their taxes back in Pittsburgh, that would stop. Therefore, we passed it for one biennium, with the assurance and the understanding that that was to be the finis. The referendum was taken and lost in Pittsburgh. Why is not for me to determine, but it happened. Pittsburgh came back and wanted it for a second biennium. I, primarily, was responsible for the fact that they were allowed to have it for half a biennium and not the whole biennium, because none of us ever intended that the idea should get abroad that this was to be permanent help. It was not so intended.

The basis on which the State subsidies are determined is set up by the State Tax Equalization Board. I would suggest to the Senators from Pittsburgh, if they mean what they say, that there is discrimination, that there is unfairness and there is not equality, that you refuse to vote for the appropriation for the State Tax Equalization Board in order to get rid of it and get some other agency to determine how these subsidies shall be made.

As we stand right now, politics or no politics, Pittsburgh does not have the necessary money to properly run their schools and they want the privilege of having another three-quarters of a mill tax at home in order to do it.

I would say for Pittsburgh, as I would say for Tamaqua or any other school district, let us give them an opportunity to provide the kind of schools they would like their children to have. That is why I am for this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think, to use the words of Senator Tallman, it comes in poor grace for Senator Wagner to get up and make the speech that he did, because everyone in the Senate knows that Schuylkill County gets more money back per person, per head, than any other county in the State. If we took the same attitude as you ask us to take on the State Tax Equalization Board, then you should take the same attitude on distressed school districts. You know, Senator Wagner, that is a handout, and your county gets more money from the distressed school district fund than all of the other counties put together.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SARRAF. Senator, this bill provides for three-quarter mill tax. How much revenue will that bring in to the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I do not know. It is not my bill. It is not a Senate Bill, it is a House Bill, sponsored by a gentleman from Pittsburgh.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, perhaps the Senator from Allegheny County, Senator Fleming, can let me know approximately how much money this bill will provide for the city of Pittsburgh.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is it the understanding of the Chair, Doctor Sarraf, that you are finished with your interrogation of Senator Wagner?

Mr. SARRAF. I am, Mr. President. I want to have that question answered, however.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I would like to know approximately, at this millage, how much money the school board of Pittsburgh will receive, to be utilized for school purposes.

Mr. FLEMING. If they use the whole three-quarters of a mill, it is my understanding that it will bring in about $750,000.

Mr. SARRAF. Thank you very kindly, Senator.

Mr. President, I have noticed in the past eight years that apparently Pittsburgh has to come to Harrisburg repeatedly. My fear is that Pittsburgh and the school board is going to return again if House Bill No. 183 is passed. House Bill No. 183 is only for two years. I do not know who devised this plan. It seems to be a good plan. It still, in a measure, helps Pittsburgh, but not nearly as much as other sections of the State.

I am from Pittsburgh. I am a taxpayer there. As you know, we raised the millage two years ago. In this bill, we are raising it again. I am sure this is going to continue. I am fearful that in a few years, if this does continue and it is not studied, we may have to revert to a different type of board. I hope that never arises again because we had experience with an elected board.

I know this bill is going to pass. However, I do think, in the future, this should be studied. Much of this talking should be left out, and some action should be taken definitely to care for the schools in Pittsburgh and to care for the taxpayers in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. WAGNER. I hope, Mr. President, this will be my final word on this tonight, but I would like to pursue the derision Senator Barr cast at at the Schuylkill County School Districts.

Mr. President, when a school district collects all the taxes it has available, properly manages its school system and is still short of money and can prove that shortage is legitimate, it comes to Harrisburg for aid. That money comes out of what we call the appropriation for distressed school districts. There have been occasions when Schuylkill County School Districts have gotten four, eight, ten or twelve thousand dollars in times of distress. When the Pittsburgh School District was distressed in a similar fashion, they did not call themselves a distressed school district, they said they had been cheated out of parity with Philadelphia. Therefore, they came down and took, for three years, $750,000 per year.

I challenge Senator Barr to show where Schuylkill County has ever received anywhere near, over many years, the amount of relief which Pittsburgh has received for its schools in these last three, short years.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest that all of us recognize the hour is late and some of us are not as strong as we were twenty years ago.

I might say to Senator Wagner that I would not add anything to the debate, or in any way have him rise again, because I recognize, from long association with Senator Wagner, that he is a sincere man. I know that he has not been well, and I do not think anyone on this side wants to add to his illness any more than nature itself has compelled it to be added to. However, in all fairness, when the time comes, and the right time will come, I will be glad to review the situation in Schuylkill County as I know it to be. I will be glad to take up the assessments by parcel as they compare to the assessments by parcel in Allegheny County. I will be glad to review the history of the distressed school district law. I will be glad to take into consideration the need in Allegheny County and what causes that need, but this is no time for it.

We know that at this hour many of us get frayed edges. Therefore, in the best interest of all of us and the people of Pennsylvania, let us get to the vote. We know exactly what it will be.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE BILL No. 1091 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from page 13 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1091, Printer's No. 692, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1091, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) entitled "Local Health Administration Law" limiting the powers of the county departments of health and conferring powers on the Department of Agriculture.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to talk about House Bill No. 1091 and House Bill No. 1092 at the same time. They are companion bills.

Every now and then, over a lifetime of activity, a man with great imagination might invent something of great importance. Again, over years of service, when a problem has been before a group in which one has participated for many years, a man may come up with an original idea. It is no particular credit to that person that he comes up with that idea, nor should he seek any honors or credit for so doing.

When he takes that idea to the people who are interested in the problem and finds that he has reached a solution and it seems to have the support of the people who are faced with the problem, he then takes that same idea and has it drafted into an act. However, before putting it into the Legislature, he calls upon the representative, or the so-called representative, of the organized group which is affected by that legislation. He gives him this legislation and says to him, "Would you look this over and go before your group and ask them how they feel about this?" Then he never hears from the individual again. He, therefore, talks to other Senators who know the problem. In this case, Senator Derk and Senator Madigan, particularly, who are especially trained in the field with which this legislation deals. They support the legislation.

The bill was introduced by the author of the legislation and it died in committee. Then, lo and behold, as we face the last days of the Session, suddenly there appears on the Calendar the very legislation which was the original idea or original thought of the individual who introduced the bill in the first place, co-sponsored by others. Again, he looks at the sponsors and he finds that the chief sponsor is a Representative from the Legislative District of the representative who represents the farm organizations which are particularly interested in the bill. When he talks with the Representative who introduced the legislation, he receives the usual answer that you get from that particular Representative from Lancaster County, and that is a nice, big grin.

Mr. President, I am going to vote for this legislation, and I am going to ask the Senators to vote for it because it is good legislation. It is taking care of a situation that has vexed the farmers of this State since the first municipal inspection law was passed in the Milk Control Act of this State. It does something which should have been done years ago, but no one had ever found the answer to it. By accident somehow, and by diligent search and question, I found the answer. I put it into law. Then I called Mr. McSparran, who represents the farm organizations. Out of courtesy, I said, "Would you take a look at this legislation?" All of a sudden, Mr. McSparran's representative has the bills on the Calendar in the Senate.

I do not mind when a Senator steals my bills because that is common. I do not mind when a House Member buries my bills and introduces one of his own of like character. However, I do not like it when a man who is supposed to represent the farmers in this State, for the good of the farmers, will deliberately steal the legislation, turn it over to his own Representative for the paltry, mean credit which might go to that Representative. He can have the credit, he can have the accolades, he can have the honors and the crowns. The only thing I want is that the farmers get fair play and decent administration in the inspection of milk. That was the original intent of the law. That is what these bills do.

Senate Bill No. 441, in the Senate Committee, would have done exactly the same thing. It was introduced on March 25, 1957. These bills were suddenly born, long after the original child was conceived, on April 7, 1957, and here they are before you.

Therefore, I say to you, vote for the Dent bills under Lancaster County Norman Wood's sponsorship.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I intend to vote for these bills. These bills are approved by the Department of Agriculture, by the Pennsylvania Grange and they are the tillers of the soil. They inspect the cows, the barns and the milk all over this State. It is the only inspection for about ninety per cent of the people of Pennsylvania.

In Pittsburgh, we have a good Health Department but it, too, wants to go out and annoy the farmers again. They go to the farmers around western Pennsylvania, make another inspection and compel those farmers to endure two inspections, when one is sufficient.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I do not want to consume too much time, but I must say a few words against these two bills.

As you know, my home county is Allegheny County. It has the largest public health unit in the entire Nation. It was formed under the Local Health Administration Law of 1951, and started operation last January 1, 1957. It now offers public health service of the highest caliber to well over 1,000,000 people.

The Allegheny County Health Department operates under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Health, which is composed of three outstanding physicians and two highly respected businessmen. These regulations are then approved by the county commissioners and duly advertised in accordance with law. The Local Health Administration Law presents a carefully drawn scheme for dealing with the public health problems which menace the well-being of the people in this twentieth century. The formation of county health units has been hailed as a giant step forward in preventative medicine.

Mr. President, in matters of public health, I believe most sincerely that we must accept the judgment of public health physicians. I am opposed to House Bill No. 1091 and House Bill No. 1092 because it seems obvious to me that laymen, in a department which is miles away, are certainly not as qualified to pass judgment in matters of public health as the local physicians.

If the State Legislature believes it is necessary to have a State agency certify a rule and regulation promulgated by the Local Health Department, then certainly that State agency should be the State Department of Health.

House Bill No. 1092, if passed, would weaken the provisions of a local health department rule and regulation requiring the pasteurization of milk sold for human consumption. There are approximately 10,000 farms producing milk for sale in Allegheny County. Only forty of these farms located in Allegheny County sell raw, unpasteurized milk. Fifteen of these farms are not even licensed by the State Department of Agriculture.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask the Members of the Senate, on both sides, to cast their votes against these two bills.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, due to the many hours which have been spent by some of us in trying to reconcile the differences of both sides on the question of the budget and revenue, I have not had a chance to talk to Senator Sarraf, from Allegheny County.

These bills do not interfere, in any way whatsoever, with Allegheny County's Public Health Department. All these bills do is establish the right of the Department of Agriculture, under the law, to set up maximum standards and maximum specifications. Any municipal health unit may inspect to its heart's content. However, we want to stop them from creating inspection requirements beyond those set by the State.

There are too many farmers who try to create on their farms, conditions to suit the inspectors of the State. They then find that along comes a city inspector who demands regulations and specifications which are contrary to those that the State demands. The farmers find themselves on the horns of the proverbial dilemma. The farmers cannot satisfy both the State and the city inspectors.

All we are trying to do is to establish a set of maximum standards to guarantee the well-being of the people, and the welfare of the farmer. Therefore, you may inspect all you want from the city of Pittsburgh, but you just cannot arbitrarily rule out a farmer because you create, for that particular farmer, one set of regulations and another set of regulations for another farmer a mile down the road. We are merely trying to establish some semblance of order and justice in this great milk producing State.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, we in Allegheny County are very proud of our county health setup. Under the law, as it now reads, the State sets minimum requirements. That has always been the State law. The State has set minimum requirements. Prior to the county health setup, any municipality had the right to set standards which would be higher than those set by the State. In other words, you could not go below the State's standards but yet we, in every municipality, were privileged to raise our standards. We, in Pittsburgh,—and this is a carry-over of our county setup—have established standards which we consider much higher than the State demands. We, in Allegheny County, want to maintain that high standard of health.

One of the best examples of our ability to cope with the situation was the recent outbreak of typhoid in Lancaster County. Where did the help come from when Lancaster County found itself in that epidemic? It came from Allegheny County. We had set up a mobile unit, under our county health plan, which was able to go down into Lancaster County and solve that situation.

Mr. President, we are not asking to be below the health standards. If we were doing that, I would say, "Yes, pass this bill." However, we want the right to say, "We, in Allegheny County, want the right to maintain standards that are such as will protect the health and safety of the residents of Allegheny County far above the standards set by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." We fear that if this law is passed, you are not only going to break down our efforts to increase the standards, but the same thing will be done throughout the State.

Therefore, Mr. President, we ask that the Senate vote down these bills.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I just want to make one observation.

Doctor Alexander used to come here and fight for the Pittsburgh Milk Inspection Department. At the same time, there was the State Department. However, we maintained the highest department in milk inspection. In Allegheny County, we insist that we are going to continue to maintain a high inspection department by local physicians. That is imperative and important.

In my opinion, this is the raw milk bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE BILL No. 1721 CALLED UP

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 22 of today's Second Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1721, Printer's No. 937, which went over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1721, entitled:

An Act relating to employe welfare and pension benefit plans providing for the registration reporting and disclosure of such plans for the administration of the act by the Insurance Commissioner and creating an Advisory Council

The first, second, third, fourth and fifth sections were read and agreed to.

The sixth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 6, page 9, line 13, by striking out "or service."

Amend Section 6, page 9, line 13, by inserting after "organization" required by law to be approved, authorized or examined by the Insurance Commissioner.

Amend Section 6, page 9, lines 13 to 20, by striking out "in" in line 13 and all of lines 14 to 20.

Amend Section 6, page 10, lines 1 to 17, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof: "not be required."

Amend Section 6, page 12, lines 6 to 11, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 6, page 12, line 12, by striking out "(3)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(2)."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments for the purpose of reading the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in offering these amendments, I would like to further request that if the amendments are adopted, the bill go over in its order as amended.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell the Members of the Senate just what your amendments do?

Mr. WADE. Yes, the exclusion provided for in the amendments is to exclude all the employee benefit that are now under the supervision of the Insurance Department, or are trusted by the trust companies of Pennsylvania or National Banks with trust powers.

Mr. DENT. Do you have any idea how many of these welfare funds are under the supervision of one or the other of the three categories you named?

Mr. WADE. I could not give the exact number. However, my estimate of the number of plans would be that a majority or, perhaps, about sixty per cent of these plans now require approval, or are under the supervision of the Insurance Department or the banks or trust companies of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Thank you.

Mr. President, I think it will be proven on the floor of the Senate this evening that this amendment wipes out the heart of the whole bill. The very fund which was raided, according to the newspapers, by the individual who lately has been in the public eye, was also under the supervision of an insurance company. That, however, does not cover the problem. The problem is the registration of such funds, inspection of such funds and reports to the individuals who are covered by such funds. That is the crux of this situation.

What you are doing here is exempting the companies' funds that are handled by an insurance company, only in so far as the insurable feature of the fund is concerned. However, in so far as the administration of the fund is concerned, that is not under the supervision of any of the categories mentioned by Senator Wade. The only thing which is done by one of the three agencies is sort of a custodial care of the income of the funds, but has nothing to do with the disbursements.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would suggest that these amendments make this bill absolutely useless in the effort to guarantee to the employees, justice for the moneys they put into the welfare funds.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there appeared in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, dated today, June 18, an article written by Drew Pearson, in his column known as the "Washington Merry-Go-Round."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to have some order. I think the Members on the other side would like to hear this article read before they vote on these amendments.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there appeared an article in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin which pertains to this very problem. I would like to read the article to the gentlemen on the other side. After they hear it, I do not know how they will be able to vote to do anything except pass this bill and enact it into law in order to see that this type of thing does not continue. The article reads as follows:

"AFL-CIO president George Meany told only half the story when he accused General Electric of mishandling its workers welfare fund." I am quoting this from the Drew Pearson column. "Company spokesman John Callahan admitted in a sworn statement that General Electric pockets as much as $6.5 million a year in dividends from the welfare fund. Yet half the money was contributed by the employees, who get no dividends.

"Incidentally, General Electric turns over its entire insurance business to Metropolitan Life Insurance without consulting the workers or calling for bids. GE chairman Philip Reed, who handles all the company's finances, also happens to be a director of Metropolitan Life."

Mr. President, I am sure my good friend from Cumberland County, Senator Wade, who is very active in the insurance business, can understand the full import of what this means. I am also certain that my friend from Cumberland County realizes that the amendments he has presented to us here this evening, if adopted, would absolutely make this bill null and void.

The gentleman from the other side, who usually provides us with a great deal of information, Senator Pechan, told us this afternoon that the purpose in having this bill go over in order was so that it would not be enacted into law. If I am misquoting him, I am sure he will correct me. He said, "The purpose was to pull the teeth out of this bill." When that did not become possible, Senator Wade then presented these amendments which would do the same thing. Adding insult to injury, Senator Wade asked that the bill go over in order. Therefore, even if the amendments were adopted, this bill never could be enacted into law.

I think it is also rather significant that some of the faces which we have not seen around here, the people who usually bring us a great deal of information and who were present here during the time the exemptions to the sales tax were added, are back here again today and are active in working on this bill. I think they have already received what they came for earlier in the Session. I think it ill behooves them to be here at this moment to sort of ask for another bite of the apple.

I think there is nothing wrong in having these funds properly administered, properly looked after and made a matter of public record. I think, also, if people are mishandling these funds, whether they be management, union, labor or anybody else, they should be brought to the attention of the proper people in authority and proper action should be taken against them. If these people are afraid of this type of activity, I think that is all the more reason to enact this type of legislation. I think it is for us, sitting here as the board of directors of this State, of this large corporation, to see that people who handle other people's funds, whether they be working people or in positions of management, be properly overseen and properly made to adhere to the law.

Mr. President, I think Senator Wade may not realize the full import of his amendments. I think if he has an opportunity to think about them, he will not ask us to approve them, nor will he force them upon us in this bill in the hope of destroying this type of legislation.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I very much appreciate the remarks made by the gentleman on the other side. I submit to the Senate that these amendments are offered to prevent a duplication in government which is one of the things we all talk about so much. I am told that the Insurance Department of the State of New York had to increase the appropriation some $200,000 in order to carry out functions something similar to what this bill would provide.

Secondly, Mr. President, I might say that the insurance companies of the United States, some several hundred of them, now carry policies on over 104,000,000 people in the United States. It has been years, under our present laws in Pennsylvania, since we had a failure of any insurance company. Those compies are conducted on a very high level. Many millions of Americans depend on them for the storage of their retirement funds, and their records are excellent. The insurance companies have not been criticized. They have handled their business in a most up-to-date way. More and more companies, which are anxious to provide employee benefits for their employees, go to insurance companies to handle the funds for them. In my judgment, it is a very proper procedure for them to follow. There are, however, some benefit funds set up outside of insurance companies, and those companies might properly have regulation or approval of the Insurance Department or Banking Department.

If the amendments are adopted, and I sincerely hope they are, they would exclude this duplication in government, and also provide a safety factor to which the employee is entitled. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues, on both sides of the aisle, to support the amendments. Let us take a look at the bill, as amended.

I admit it is one of those things which came to us very late in the Session. It is one of those things which should be carefully studied because we want to promote—I am sure this statement goes for both sides of the Senate—thrift on the part of our citizens and the tendency to provide for themselves, through an independent agency, sufficient funds in order for them to enjoy the sunset years of their lives.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Conceding that everything you said is true, will you advise me whether, if we agree to the amendments and the bill goes over in order, it will be possible for this bill to pass and become law?

Mr. WADE. If my information is correct,—and I may not be up on my information—no final date has been set yet for adjournment. I would not see why the bill could not be deliberative considered, studied and finally approved.

Mr. WEINER. From your best estimate of when this Senate may adjourn, do you still think this bill will pass and become law if we do what you are asking us to do?

Mr. WADE. My hope was for a very early adjournment. As I understand it, the House has not agreed to the final adjournment resolution and, therefore, no definite date has been set by both bodies.

Mr. WEINER. I wish to thank you, Senator Wade, for those kind answers.

Mr. President, I am getting out of the realm of double talk. I believe the adjournment date that has been talked about, which is common knowledge and which we can take notice of, is that it is the hope and desire to conclude our business here tomorrow.

Senator Wade well knows, if he would answer the question honestly and straightforwardly, that this bill could not become law if we did what he wants us to do with it. I think Senator Wade should, at least, be as honest as Senator Pechan was and say that the desire is to kill this type of legislation.

I would also like to point out to Senator Wade that when he quoted the New York situation, he forgot to mention that there was a separate unit set up to handle just this type of problem. Such provision is not included in this legislation. It is not even being asked for in this type of legislation. It would not cost the State one single penny. It could be administered under the regular acts which we now have. This bill supplements our regular insurance setup to take care of this type of a situation, to place these funds, which come into the hands of corporations, in safe hands and to see that they are used for the purpose for which they are designated.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know whether Senator Weiner was in the hall of the Senate when I spoke about House Bill No. 1721, or whether he was given this information secondhand or whether he is deliberately trying to tell a falsehood. When there was talk about "pulling the teeth," it was not Senator Pechan who said that. It was your Minority Leader of the Senate, Senator Dent, who said it. I made the statement that the bill was introduced in the House on the last day on which bills could be introduced. I said that I was a Member of the Rules Committee and the bill was reported out of the Rules Committee, and I had not seen nor had a chance to study the bill. The reason that I asked for the bill to go over in order was because I thought it needed some doctoring.

I think that a bill which is as important as this one certainly needs some studying. I do not want Senator Weiner to put into my mouth words that he is saying. If he will look into the record, he will find that I made no reference to "pulling the teeth out of the bill" or of killing the bill. I said that it needed some studying and I meant it.

I want Senator Weiner to know that if I intend to kill a bill, I will ask to recommit it to committee for further study. By that I do not mean that all bills which are recommitted to committee are killed. We do study them, as you know. However, if I am going to take the teeth out of a bill, believe me, I will take the roots and all. I will not leave any fragment there.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will have to say, preliminarily, that I disagree with Senator Pechan in so far as I think sometimes a long lunch hour is healthful. I notice that the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, even at this late hour, is still pretty full spirited.

I do not think I have ever told the gentleman a falsehood of any type. I do not think he can ever point to the record and say that I have done so. However, I think if he wants to rectify his previous action, the only thing he has to do is vote against Senator Wade's amendments and he will be back in our good graces.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Wade, I do not know whether you answered this question or not but, in your opinion, do your amendments improve this bill?

Mr. WADE. Yes, I would say that my amendments do improve the bill. I do not think any question has been raised on employee benefit funds where they are trusted by a trust company or national bank with trust powers, or which have been approved or carried through an insurance company.

Mr. YOSKO. When you introduced the amendments, in order for it to be a better bill, as you said, you asked that if the amendments were approved, the bill go over in order on second reading. Is that correct?

Mr. WADE. That is right.

Mr. YOSKO. If the bill will be improved by your amendments, what objection do you have of approving the amendments and having the bill appear on tomorrow's Third Reading Calendar? It will be in printed form then, will it not?

Mr. WADE. I would have no objection to that.

Mr. YOSKO. Will you withdraw your request that if the amendments are approved, the bill go over in order on second reading?

Mr. WADE. I will withdraw my request to have the bill go over in order, as amended, providing the amendments are adopted.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Senator Wade, I understood you to say you felt that since the majority of these employee benefit funds, conducted by employers, are in the hands of insurance companies, this gave a large percentage of assurance that there was nothing wrong with such funds. Is my impression correct?

Mr. WADE. That is correct. When I used the word "majority," I meant in dollars and not necessarily the number of lives covered.

Mr. SEYLER. I asked the question just to get us back on our train of thought.

Are you familiar with the evidence presented before the McClellan Committee in regard to certain funds which were very much in the news some time ago?

Mr. WADE. I am fairly familiar with it. I would not say that I am intimately familiar with it.

Mr. SEYLER. Did you hear the name of the Occidental Insurance Company mentioned in connection with those funds?

Mr. WADE. No, I did not hear the name of the Occidental Insurance Company.

Mr. SEYLER. I will refresh your memory if you have heard of it, or repair the omission of that information, by telling you that the Occidental Insurance Company was the company through which those funds, connected with the Teamsters Union and Mr. David Beck, were handled. The evidence revealed that it was the Occidental Insurance Company which had made loans to Mr. Beck at very preferred rates, made kickbacks and so forth.

In view of that evidence, are you still of the opinion that it is a guarantee or an assurance, if the insurance company is handling the funds, that they will not be misused?

Mr. WADE. I appreciate the information you have given me. However, I want to say further that insurance company coverage comes in written, guaranteed contracts. I refer, particularly, to the companies which are licensed or registered in the State of Pennsylvania when I refer to the safety record of the insurance companies.

Mr. SEYLER. Under the terms of your amendments, could you tell us how many union funds would be excluded from the terms of the bill by your amendments? Do you have that information?

Mr. WADE. There is no way for that information to be secured for the simple reason that these funds, which are not registered or approved by the Insurance Department, or carried through banks or trust companies in Pennsylvania, are not listed or registered in any way in order for the information to be made available.

Mr. SEYLER. I am asking about the ones which would be excluded. Those are the ones which are registered, according to your previous statement.

Mr. WADE. Will you repeat your question?

Mr. SEYLER. The question is how many union funds would be excluded, by the terms of your amendments, from being under this bill?

Mr. WADE. My observation would be that there would be very few, if any, excluded.

Mr. SEYLER. How many employee funds, in control of employers, would be excluded?

Mr. WADE. My estimate, I believe given to Senator Dent under interrogation, is that approximately sixty per cent would be excluded. That, in my judgment, is the approximate total amount which are now turned over to insurance companies or banks.

Mr. SEYLER. I thank you for your courteous answers.

Mr. President, what Senator Wade said amounts to saying that under the terms of his amendments, practically no funds in the control of labor unions will be excluded. All of them, on the contrary, will be under the terms of the bill, calling for full exposure and reporting. On the other hand, according to the gentleman, a large percentage of employee funds in control of employers will be excluded from the terms of the bill and, therefore, from full exposure and reporting.

Mr. President, I would ask all the Members of the Senate to consider, for a moment, what the reaction of this Senate and the press of this Commonwealth would be if instead of an amendment brought in here to exclude employer funds, someone on this side of the Senate, or on the Republican side of the Senate, had brought in an amendment tonight to exclude labor union funds. I think, if we are honest, we will agree that this would be considered a highly sensational development. However, the reverse is also true. It is an amazing and rather shocking thing that employee funds, in control of employers, should be excluded or that an attempt should be made to exclude them from this fund.

The evidence before the McClellan Committee, Mr. President, indicates clearly that there is no assurance that because an insurance company is involved in the funds, therefore, there would be no misuse of the funds. The testimony indicates that it was precisely an insurance company which cooperated and made possible a misuse of funds.

Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me that the amendments, offered by the gentleman from Cumberland, are clearly unwise amendments. They are not only unwise, but they are amendments which would entirely destroy the purpose of this bill. Moreover, they are amendments which, were they presented on behalf of the labor unions, would be hailed by everyone as a very shocking thing. I would suggest that coming from the other side, it is just as shocking.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would urge everyone to vote against these amendments.

Mr. DONLOW. Mr. President, when the hearings were held by the McClellan Committee and the testimony was brought out as to the shocking manner in which funds were being used and the bribery involved, those of us who believed and gave our wholehearted support to the labor movement felt it was time for labor to take a step. I am most delighted to know that labor is in favor of this bill. I think this definitely displays to the people of Pennsylvania, to those hard working wage earners in the labor movement, that the labor union leaders have indicated to the Country that the labor movement in Pennsylvania has grown up. It has grown up in the respect of letting the people know that they recognize their responsibilities.

Mr. President, Senator Wade, in his presentation of the amendments, said the reason for such amendments was to do away with duplication. It is not a matter of duplication if one studies these amendments. It is a matter of exclusion. If we look on page 9, and read from line 7 to line 11, we will find that the language in those lines takes care of the duplication. Those matters which Senator

Wade has excluded are for the purpose of protecting, once again, big business, whether it be manufacturing or whether it be in the insurance field.

There is a very important feature in this bill, the heart and the basis of it, which these amendments would affect. That, Mr. President, is the bribery section. If, under this bill an insurance company bribes a union official, in order to secure funds or policies of that company, then the insurance company is equally as guilty as the labor representative. We have found, in testimony before the McClellan Committee, that labor officials were paid large sums in cash by insurance companies in order to secure their business.

Under these amendments, if you please, Mr. President, once again the unions would become the whipping dog and the insurance officials, who paid the bribe in order to obtain the business, would go scot-free. That is not the purpose of this bill. It is not the intent of the people of Pennsylvania that the fault should fall on he who accepts, and that he who secures or pays the bribe and receives all the benefits should walk away scot-free, whether he be an official of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Prudential, if you please, or any other company. Just because they have great wealth, they should not be excluded from criminal acts.

Therefore, Mr. President, I can only see that these amendments destroy the very intent and purpose for which this bill was intended.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, as I said this afternoon and this evening, this bill was introduced on the last day when bills could be introduced in the House. It passed the House in three days and came over to the Senate. For some reason, it came out of committee without most of us having an opportunity to read it or study it.

From the arguments we are hearing from both sides of the Senate, the McClellan Committee was brought into it and the insurance companies were supposed to have paid labor leaders bribes—I feel this is too important a question to be brought up in the last days of the Session.

I do not like Senator Wade's amendments any more than the Democratic Members like them. As I understand it, the Federal Government is now preparing legislation, as a result of their investigation. This bill certainly will not conform to the Federal legislation which is being proposed.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1721, Printer's No. 937, be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to inform the gentleman from Armstrong that this bill is identical to the Federal legislation. It affects those funds which are in the State of Pennsylvania. That is exactly what they started out to do with this bill.

The Douglas-Murray-Ives Bill, Senate 1122, will have no affect upon the particular unions and the particular welfare funds that are restricted to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Therefore, desiring to come under a registration act and to keep their members informed, the labor leaders of Pennsylvania, who have been maligned many times by some Members of this Senate, thought the best thing to do was to give to the memberships and participants in the welfare funds, the same protection that the Federal Government is giving to the international unions. However, Mr. President, it appears strange to me that all of a sudden a great deal of time is required to study a bill. As I understand it, this bill passed the House by an overwhelming majority. Now I understand that the gentleman from Armstrong doubts the intelligence and the ability of the House members to vote on this particular legislation, because they voted very quickly on it and in the same length of time, of course, that we are asked to vote for it on the Senate floor. It was voted for unanimously over in the House. I do not think, out of all the Members of the House, there would not be, at least, a full majority of them who knew what they were voting for.

This debate may go on and on, and we know exactly what is going to happen. The bill is going back to the favorite burial ground of all legislation that does not attract certain support in Pennsylvania, back to be studied to death, as has happened many times on very important legislation. However, the very serious thing in this entire matter is that you are again demonstrating that labor union members and labor union officials are, in your opinion, second class citizens. You feel they are the only ones who have to be watched, who have to have their movements curtailed. Yet, every ounce of testimony given in the public hearings of the United State Senate proved that for every crime committed by Mr. Beck, there was a counterpart in an insurance company or in an industrial concern which committed the very same crime in conjunction therewith. Trust cannot be placed by law in only one certain group, nor can distrust be placed by law in another group.

This bill started out to retain for the membership of the welfare funds their just rights. It was to keep anybody from raiding those funds. It was to keep anybody from playing with the finances that belonged to them. Whether it be insurance agents, insurance officials, bank officials, trust officials, corporation officials or union officials, under this bill, in its original form, they all had to subscribe to the law. What does the bill do? It does not put any kind of a penalty on an honest official, whether he is in an insurance company, whether he is in a trust company or whether he is in a union. It does not place any penalty for honesty. It only places a penalty for dishonesty. The only reason the insurance companies want out is because they are afraid of that particular clause in the bill. This makes them just as guilty as the recipient of the bribe.

Not being either a union official or an insurance official, I just cannot understand why there was so much ballyhoo about protecting the insurance company official, the bank official, the trust company official, or the manufacturing concern official or the industrial official from the provisions of this bill, when it does not do anything by them unless they commit a crime. However, you want to say that if any union official commits a crime, under this law, he shall be dealt with by the full penalty of the law. If anybody else commits that crime, he is to be forgiven. Now you want to send this bill back to committee in order that you will not have to vote either for or against it.

Let me read you a telegram which was just handed to me by Senator Barr. It is addressed to Senator John Dent and Senator Rowland Mahany. I hope Senator Mahany has a copy of it. If not, I will send my copy over to him. I was just handed mine by my No. 1 messenger boy. I quote from the telegram as follows:

"One million members of Pennsylvania Federation of Labor affiliated organizations are entitled to protection of their health and welfare fund as is provided by House Bill 1721 now on second reading in the Senate. This bill, which is modeled after Douglas-Murray-Ives Bill and is the product of two years intensive study by United States Sub-Committee, has been carefully fought out and prepared. Its bipartisan sponsorship and unanimous endorsement by Penna. House of Representatives have removed element of partisan interest. It is the responsibility of the Senate to implement the many assertions by Members of the General Assembly on behalf of the principle of responsible and honest management of such employee benefit plans. As the leaders of your parties' Senate Membership, you are urged to exert all possible efforts on behalf of passage of House Bill 1721 during this Session."

This telegram is signed by Joseph A. McDonough, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the labor leadership is trying to assume the responsibility that the public has demanded of them, the very responsibility that you on the Republican side have been crying for for years. In the first instance, when they move forward to accept public responsibility for their duties, as officers of their organizations, you want to commit an act here this evening which will deprive them of the right of appearing in public, as they should, representing their membership.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think this issue is one of whether shall we meet this problem or shall we sweep it under the rug. It appears likely that the only sort of record vote we are going to be able to get is not on the bill per se, but on this motion to recommit.

I would like to say that, in my opinion, this is the decisive vote which tests our intentions with regard to this important National and State issue.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not believe Senator Seyler is correct in saying this is a test on how we feel about the bill. There are certain things in this bill which I am in favor of, and there are other things in it which I am not in favor of. One thing I am not in favor of is the make-up of this particular council. I think it should be of a different make-up. I think more segments should be represented. I also wonder why these people need fifty dollars a day and why there is no appropriation in the bill to take care of all the expenses of salaries and so forth. Attorneys are provided for by this legislation. Yet, we do not know—and I do not believe anybody on the other side knows—the total amount of money this legislation would cost the State of Pennsylvania. There is no specific appropriation in it. There is no showing that the Insurance Department can take care of the load of expense which this legislation would entail.

Under those circumstances, Mr. President, I feel that the bill should go back to committee and be studied. I think it should be studied by us further during the interim and, at the next Session of the Legislature, we can pattern our legislation after the bill which is finally enacted by the Congress of the United States, and also set up sufficient funds to carry out the intent of such a bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, as I told some of my labor union friends, who are sitting along the side of the Senate Chamber, they came here with nothing from the Republican Party and they are going home with nothing.

This bill, if not passed in this Session of the Legislature, will deprive the men who work for a living, and who belongs to unions, of the protection they rightfully deserve.

That newspaper article which was read to you tonight by Senator Weiner was, to me, the most convincing argument on why this bill should be passed. I could say politically, you are doing a smart thing for us by sending this bill back to committee.

Regarding that old jive about not having enough money, or about fifty dollars a day for the men to do the work, I understand that the great statesman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, has just reported to the desk of the House the famous House Bill No. 1700. There are millions and millions of dollars unexpended.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, how did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Koprivier, vote?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I voted "aye" on the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. DENT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

Berger,	Harney,	Mallery,	Wade,
Blass,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Propert,	Walker,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Scott,	Watkins,
Elliot,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Flack,	Mahany,	Taylor,	Whalley,
Fleming,		Van Sant,	Wolfe,

NAYS—18

Barr,	Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Dent,	Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Stiefel,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Sarraf,	Welner,
		Schmidt,	Yosko,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

DELEGATION OF WOMEN FROM CLARION COUNTY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, for a very special reason I would like, shall I say, the unanimous consent of Senator Stevenson to introduce some of his constituents. May I have that privilege, for a very special reason?

Mr. STEVENSON. You may.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, a great many years ago, I taught school in Clarion, Pennsylvania, and by a strange coincidence about thirty fine ladies, all children of boys and girls whom I taught long ago, are here. By another strange coincidence, they are all Democrats.

I am happy to present to the Chair, and to the Members of the Senate, this fine delegation from Clarion County. I thank Senator Stevenson for this privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the delegation from Clarion County please rise?

The Chair, on behalf of Senator Hays, and Senator Stevenson and all the other Members of the Senate, extends you a cordial welcome. We hope you enjoy your short visit here with us tonight.

The House met at 10:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Robert H. Stephens, Pastor of The Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Heavenly Father, whose goodness and mercy sustain us all our life long, we come to Thee on a hot day near the end of a long hard term, asking Thee to help these servants of the Commonwealth to do their duty and perform their tasks with patience, courage, and good humor. Thou knowest the stress and strain under which they have labored. Thou knowest the pressures, temptations, and difficulties with which they always have to struggle. Thou knowest their needs now. Help them to remember that Thou art the answer to their needs. Give them strength and wisdom sufficient for every duty. Teach them how to rely on Thee for help and guidance in everything. So may they be faithful in these closing hours, that they may indeed be worthy servants of Thine, and of those they represent; that they may in the end merit from Thee the words, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

This we pray in the spirit of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, June 17, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, to preside temporarily.

MR. CAPANO IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POST asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, tomorrow morning this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will welcome into its midst a new industry, an industry which will employ over 600 Pennsylvanians, with an annual payroll of over $2 million. This new factory, the world's largest pencil manufacturer, with a building costing $2,400,000, exemplifies the faith that industry has now placed in Pennsylvania. This company being the world's largest writing equipment manufacturers will bring prestige and prominence not only to Luzerne County and Wilkes-Barre, but also to this great Commonwealth.

I would like to make this other statement. I have noticed there are pencils and writing equipment on our desks which have been purchased from other states. Since Luzerne County has been known as a distressed area, and inasmuch as this great Commonwealth has participated in helping to bring this industry to our people, I would like it to be recorded that it is my opinion we should show courtesy to, and faith in this new industry by requesting that our purchasing departments use discretion and try and use the products which will be made and produced in this great company. I think it would be part of a growing enterprise if we would show this new industry, as all industries in Pennsylvania, that we as a state government have faith in the products, and purchase them.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 618, entitled:

An Act providing that no township of the second class or any part thereof shall be annexed by any city borough or township without the consent of the electors of the entire township and prescribing the manner of commencing annexation proceedings.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 618 is a highly controversial bill, and it comes to me with a sense of relief that we can have a highly controversial bill in which there can be no division solely on party lines. I like this kind of measure because they are at least interesting.

The effect of this bill would be to halt all annexation movements in which boroughs or cities are interested. It would, in effect, place an almost insurmountable barrier insofar as future annexation movements are concerned.

We have presented parochialism in crystallized form. There are those who regard a township as a sacred unit, established by some divine power to last forever. There are others who view problems urban and rural from the standpoint of the larger community interests.

If we want to place an insurmountable barrier in the path of the cities and boroughs that want to grow, in response to their needs, this bill will serve the purpose. If we do not believe in that theory, well, we will vote against the bill.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, as the previous speaker, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, has indicated, this is a highly controversial bill.

For those of us who live in third class cities, we feel it is a matter of life and death so far as the continued growth of the cities is concerned. For those of us who represent primarily townships, second class townships, this bill is counted as one which could protect them from what is termed "raids" by boroughs and third class cities.

I would like to address my brief remarks to those in the Assembly here who are not directly affected by the passage of this legislation in that they may not represent second class townships or third class cities, primarily those from urban areas.

The impact of this bill, as has been pointed out, will be to halt competely the extension of boundaries of third class cities and boroughs. Those who are for this bill will say it is very simple, all you have to do is to get the consent of the electors of the entire township. But past history has demonstrated that first class townships, where you already have this provision, have effectively stymied any such move by third class cities or boroughs to annex property in first class townships. I have no doubt that the final impact will be the same on second class townships.

Why should third class cities or boroughs be allowed to expand constitutes the primary question here today. I think there are a number of good reasons for it.

First, the boundary line townships, boroughs and third class cities are artificial boundaries. Someone may live in a second class township and right across the street a person may be living in a third class city. There is no reason, in my opinion, from a social point of view why they should be governed by two separate systems. How much more sensible that our areas, particularly our urban areas, be governed under one form of government or under one governmental unit. In many cases they receive many advantages from the city, sewage disposal and others, yet they do not have a voice in choosing the representatives of the city government who are in control of these facilities.

The whole problem of growth of urban areas is tied up in this bill just as it was in the urban redevelopment bill which earlier passed this House. It is imperative that there be something to enable our urban areas to expand in a sensible manner. This legislation will prevent any effective expansion and, in fact, they cannot be annexed without the consent or without the request of the people who wish to come into third class cities. This legislation will prevent them, even if they want to, from becoming part of a borough or third class city.

I think it is essential that we vote this legislation down. To fail to do so will be to stymie the effective growth of our state.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support this bill. We need a bill like this. A township where people have been willing to go out and work to bring industry into their township for the purpose of taxation, only to find some morning, after they are able to get somebody interested in coming in a town that has laid idle for a hundred years, doing nothing, coming along and annexing a portion they want for tax purposes, and allowing the rest to lie idly by, just does not seem fair to me.

In our county we had a case where a township had a live bunch of boys in there as supervisors. They went out and brought a million dollar shopping center in. The town lying next to it had not done a thing for a hundred years. They came along one morning and found that the town was trying to take them over. The only thing stopping the action was that the courts in our county saw the thing as we saw it, and that was that the township was doing a job trying to get a means of taxation into their township so that they could live and expand. They refused to allow the borough to annex this piece of ground.

Had they annexed this piece of ground, there would have been no reason for any of the other townships in that district to go out and try to bring industry in because they would have suffered the same fate. The boroughs would have come along and taken them over.

I think we need this kind of legislation so that there is some reason, some initiative there for the supervisors to go out and work to bring industry in.

I would like to see everybody who can possibly vote for this bill vote for it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill has peculiar application to the growth of the great county of Allegheny.

Some of you may not realize that in the county of Allegheny we have 129 municipal units, consisting of the city of Pittsburgh, three third class cities, townships and the boroughs.

We feel, not speaking for a metropolitan plan, that outside of the city of Pittsburgh the municipal units should be larger in size in order to carry out their functions.

Today we are trying to run a twentieth century government with an eighteenth century form of government. That cannot go on forever.

I call to your particular attention, in Allegheny County we have a borough, the borough of Mt. Oliver, which is wholly surrounded by the city of Pittsburgh. Were it not for legislation of this character, I feel Mt. Oliver and other communities would be part of the city. This cannot go on like that.

In Allegheny County we have townships with less than 500 and running up to 1000 population. The type of government we have there in that respect is responsible, to a great degree, for the joint school districts and jointures. I say this legislation is unsound and will stop the progress in our community.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, every now and then a piece of legislation comes before this House, the purpose of which is rather difficult and hard to determine. It places the Members in dilemma.

I represent a legislative district which has 21 townships, I believe, and 34 boroughs; just about equally divided. Attempting to vote on a bill of this kind we must by all means be objective in our thinking. We have to try to separate the political aspects, the local political conditions from the merits involved in the particular case.

As has been pointed out by the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Smith, there are occasions when the present law works an inequity against the township. There are many cases, of course, just the reverse. There are instances where a borough will have a sewage system, they will have their municipal water system, which could be used for locating industry but the ground itself happens to be in the township. Therefore the entire community will suffer because the facilities of the borough are not available if they locate in the township, and, of course, the ground is not in the borough. Therefore the entire community suffers by reason of the fact you are not able to get together in that particular case.

It would seem to me that there should be a different way of approaching this particular problem. Every instance of annexation of part of a township has its own peculiarities. The equities either lie with the borough in a particular case, or they lie with the township.

I personally believe whether or not a piece of ground in a township should remain in the township, or should be annexed to the borough, depends upon the equities in the situation.

Therefore, I think this particular approach to it is wrong and while I am willing to grant there is a need for remedial legislation, it is my opinion that this Legislation should set up some body in the nature of a judicial body to hear the evidence, hear the equities on the part of the township residents, and the equities on the part of the borough. Then this particular body would make a decision, based upon the merits, as to whether or not that particular part of the township should remain in the township or be annexed to the borough.

Certainly by the passage of this legislation we will eliminate the annexation proceedings in most instances. that I believe would be an inequity to certain individual property owners.

Let us take for example the situation where just beyond the borough limits a small community has been developed, perhaps by a real estate developer or by a number of individual people. This community sees the need for certain services. It finds the need for a municipal sewage system; it finds a need for police protection; it finds a need for a great many things which the township itself cannot or will not give because of the particular location.

Therefore these people would be left without remedy. They would have to accept that situation and could do nothing about it. So long as there is a possibility this particular area might be annexed to the borough, at least those people always have the threat that if the township supervisors do not do something for them, they will agree to join the borough. A great many times by that mere threat these particular residents are able to get some attention from their supervisors.

As I say, I think the approach here is wrong. I recognize that there is a problem but I think that by this bill we not only do not correct the problem which faces us but we actually make it more acute.

I believe firmly that some legislation ought to be passed in this House to protect townships, but I think that protection should be extended only in cases where the equity lies with the township and not in those cases where the entire area would gain by an annexation.

Therefore, as much as I dislike to do it, I am compelled to vote against this bill.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I have many second class townships in my legislative district. Ever since this country started we have had land grabs which halted progress.

In one of my legislative districts, one of my boroughs and one of my townships got into a conflict and it went to a terrible change overnight. A second class township had to change into a borough so half of it would not be annexed by another borough.

I ask that this problem go back to the people; allow the people to decide by a referendum whether they want to join or whether they want to stay as they are.

I speak in favor of Senate Bill 618. I ask the Members of the House to support it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I live in a borough. I own property in a borough. I represent a legislative district which is comprised entirely of boroughs and first and second class townships.

I might say that I have received a communication from the secretary of my own borough against this bill. However, I wonder what all the shouting is about in opposition to this bill. I think in the concept of government no one has a better right to decide whether they want to be annexed than the people who are going to be annexed.

I think certainly the people in a second class township are the first people, and possibly the principal citizens, who should be consulted as to whether or not there should be an annexation of their own political subdivision.

I think this is good legislation. I think it is sound legislation. I intend to support it. I ask the Members on both sides of this House, and particularly those who are not affected, to support this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Anderson, to preside temporarily.

Mrs. SARAH A. ANDERSON IN THE CHAIR

Mr. BREON. Madam Speaker, before the roll is called on this bill I would like to stress one point, and make certain the Members understand that a borough does not annex a portion of a township as such. The annexation petition originates with the residents in the township. In other words, the borough has no right to say, we want this portion of land, without that petition originating with and being generated by the residence affected in the township. So, actually the borough is petitioned by those residents; those residents ask to become a portion of the borough.

Mr. SMITH. Madam Speaker, I would like to add that where townships have a jointure school all participants must agree, by voting, to go into that jointure or jointure does not come about. In other words, if one of three townships would decide against it, the jointure could not be.

We have had industry come into our county, and I might say I live in a large borough and I am a property owner in that borough, and we have had no problem with sewerage, we have had no trouble with water. I think where men sit down and appreciate what others have done to bring about certain things, you will have no trouble solving these problems.

As to a township, it is very easy, where a township is not very densely populated, for a larger borough to go into that township and have petitions signed and present them to the court. That is very easy. I have seen that happen. But again I say the court saw through it and decided against that particular annexation.

I believe as Mr. Goldstein does, that we must in some way get some of these smaller communities together—it might be there are too many of them—but I believe the only fair way of doing it is to allow them to do it on their own, by referendum. I am sure no borough is going to take in any township which does not have something to offer, at least, we never ran into it in our county. But, as I said before, if they have a bunch of live wires who go out and do a job, and they have something to offer, then the borough is going to try to annex them, only for the purpose of getting the source of taxation that they might have. If they would not have that source of taxation I am sure the borough would not be very much interested in them.

So, again, I appeal to the Members to vote for this piece of legislation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Madam Speaker, despite the eagerness for a roll call there are certain things that we should think about. If the philosophy that supports this bill had been prevailing, we never could have had our Union. There were states that were not inclined to become a part of our Federal Union, that resisted the movement to create a nation.

The philosophy that is behind this bill resulted in a great Civil War, the Civil War caused by those who believed states' rights were more important than the rights of a growing nation.

I can remember that in order to join Allegheny and Pittsburgh into one city it was necessary for this General Assembly to pass particular legislation. I live in a city that became a larger community only as a result of a great flood. It was only then that the five surrounding boroughs that were a part of the Johnstown community when the great flood of 1889 took place, decided that they would join together and form a city.

As the gentleman from Allegheny pointed out, the philosophy that is back of this bill is contrary to the growing interests that make possible progressive communities. We have to weigh parochial interests, local personal interests, against the larger interests represented by communities able to serve the people who compose them in a way that they cannot be served if a few people are to prevent the growth of a great community.

Mr. LIGHT. Madam Speaker, I had not intended to take any part in this discussion. However, no one pointed out a few things that should be remembered in the passage of this bill.

I agree with the gentleman from Cambria that perhaps the philosophy he speaks of is correct; however we must not forget that the springs of the cities come from the hills. Throughout Pennsylvania we have completely organized second class townships which have progressed wonderfully in the last 25 years. They are not backward, they are progressive. The supervisors, generally, are in accord with policies of the Highway Department of Pennsylvania. They are tied in in a great way; the same is true of the school system.

When we speak of thinking only of the idea that a township would be stubborn in preventing annexation to a borough or a city, I am not thinking of that at all.

When conditions present themselves these annexations can be made, but I should like to retain the idea that these townships can, in both the school districts and in the supervisors, still continue to progress as they have done in the past 25 years. I think that should be taken into consideration in voting upon this bill.

I hope you will support the bill, not because you think these townships are going to prevent the city from expanding, but because they have problems that are immense, just the same as the city has, and what these people are trying to do is retain that balance of power so that they can run their townships in their own way.

Mr. STECKEL. Madam Speaker, the last gentleman spoke of school districts which might be changed by virtue of this annexation. Presently school boards, even though part of their area may be annexed by a borough or a third class city, are still subject to remaining in the township from which the area was taken for the purpose of a borough or a city. The State Council of Education can decide whether the township school district is going to be injured by the removal of this area that is to be annexed, and if it so decides it will remain with the township. In that way the township is not injured by the removal of the annexed territory.

The second thing which has not been described here is the fact that if a township is flourishing and is populous, it may take advantage of the first class township law and thereby prevent any further depredations on its territory. The townships are not totally without remedy with regard to the evils which may be existing under the present system. I certainly do not believe that the danger is so great that we should strangle all further expansion by growing communities in this State.

Mr. LOVETT. Madam Speaker, there are a few questions which I would like somebody to answer. I do not know who can answer them. Maybe some of the ones who are in favor of this bill can answer these questions.

The first question I want to ask is: Providing there is a large group of homes outside the borough which is located in a second class township, if that group decides to become a borough, will this bill prevent them from becoming a borough?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Madam Speaker. I might say to Mr. Lovett that it would not.

Mr. LOVETT. Then I ask the gentleman what good would there be in this bill if that particular group should decide to become a borough and then annex itself to the adjoining borough?

Mr. SMITH. Annex itself to another borough?

Mr. LOVETT. That is correct.

Mr. SMITH. They can do that now. In the town I live in, we annexed a smaller town because the people sat down, got together and decided they wanted to be joined so that they would benefit by the police department and the services which we have to offer. That is the same thing. If a small township wanted to come into a borough, all they would have to do would be to agree with the town they wanted to come into, and have a vote on it. Both parties vote.

Mr. LOVETT. Under this present bill in order for that particular group of people to annex to that particular borough, they would have to have an entire vote of the people of the township in order to do that. Is that correct?

Mr. SMITH. That is right, a referendum.

Mr. LOVETT. But if they decided—

Mr. SMITH. I might say that is the only protection which that township would have in regard to maintaining that taxation, and I might say that the township was instrumental in getting that project started there in the first place, by contacting certain contractors and giving them this piece of ground, possibly at a reduced rate, in order to get this project in there.

Mr. LOVETT. I agree that the township may be responsible for the creation of that group of people in that particular section, nevertheless after they have become a thriving community within the township, they can then become a borough, and if they so wish, they can annex to the borough, or to the borough next to it.

Mr. SMITH. That is right. This small group cannot become a borough and allow the township to lie idly by. It must be an act of the entire township.

Mr. LOVETT. Wait a minute. In order for this particular group to become a borough, all they do is take a vote of the people of that particular district within the township, not the entire township.

Mr. SMITH. No, no, that is not right. They cannot do that. It is an entire township proposition or nothing. The only thing they can do is petition. This particular group could petition the court to become a borough.

Mr. LOVETT. Become a borough?

Mr. SMITH. That is right.

Mr. LOVETT. Without a vote of the entire township?

Mr. SMITH. That is right.

Mr. LOVETT. Then I say to you there is no way in which you in a second class township can stop that, regardless of what your law is, whether it is a vote of the entire township on annexation or not, they can still create the borough and annex the borough to the other borough.

Mr. SMITH. That is, providing the court sees fit to allow them to do it. As I stated, in this case which we have in Beaver County the court saw what was going on behind the scene and said "no." Now, if a group of people would decide they want to go in and petition the court, and it just amounted to a certain number of homes, I do not think the court would object to it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the gentleman yield for a minute for a question?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews?

Mr. SMITH. I shall.

Mr. ANDREWS. It was the gentleman from Westmoreland that I wanted to yield for a question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, yield to be questioned by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall, Madam Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. The question is this, Madam Speaker: I was going to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland why he was interrogating the gentleman from Beaver when the redoubtable Captain was sitting on the side lines signaling the right answers?

Mr. LOVETT. Madam Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman from Beaver what is necessary for a second class township to become a first class township?

Mr. SMITH. It is a vote by the people. Again I say, that is something different. You might ask me, why doesn't a big borough become a third class city? There are certain advantages and disadvantages. I do not see where that has any part in this 618; however, if a borough wants to become a third class city they can, if the population is great enough and they vote to do so.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the question of population enter into the changing of a second class township to a first class township?

Mr. SMITH. I need a little help on that one. I am not sure. In my own reasoning I would say that a township which had outgrown a second class township would be eligible to become a first class township.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Beaver yield to the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler?

Mr. SMITH. I shall.

Mr. WHEELER. Madam Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, it takes 300 people per square mile to become a first class township.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman if we now have some second class townships which could become first class townships?

Mr. WHEELER. Many of them.

Mr. LOVETT. Many of them?

Mr. WHEELER. That is right, but they desire to remain as second class townships because they feel they get better government there.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Madam Speaker, I have a situation in my legislative district in which a second class township is now petitioning to become a first class township. These second class townships that have sufficient population to become a first class township have the means at hand in order to accomplish what this particular piece of legislation will do. It will put them into a first class township, where the law now is that you must have an entire vote of the township in order to annex any part thereof. So I say to you, I do not see where this particular bill would stop the annexation of second class townships. As I stated, they can create boroughs, they can annex boroughs to boroughs, they can annex the boroughs to the third class cities, so I see no need for this type of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

COMMUNICATION

URGING ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION No. 53 AND SERIAL No. 58

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from Menallen Monthly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, Flora Dale urging the adoption by the House of Representatives of Resolution No. 53 and Serial No. 58 concerning the disarmament of all nations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 108

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on State Government be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 108, Title: "A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section three, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for the Governor to succeed himself."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on State Government, on January 28, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews desire to be recognized?

Mr. ANDREWS. I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the House, I would like to make a general statement that is not related to this particular resolution.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, we in the minority have only access to this particular vehicle that we are now using to place into the record our position on the various measures upon which we are going to offer discharge resolutions.

With our committee system and the operation of the majority, we find that only in this manner can we best express for the record our position on the several measures on which we will offer discharge resolutions today.

We will not prolong the session of the House by a maximum amount of debate, but upon several of these issues we would like to make our position crystal clear by inserting into the record by several speakers the reasons for our supporting these measures on certain specified resolutions.

We will endeavor to be as orderly as possible and as brief as possible upon the matter. I recognize full well that the Majority will take a position against these resolutions. We will be content and satisfied with a party line vote if that is the decision of the Majority Party in this House and its individual Members.

In order to expedite this business I would suggest that the spokesmen on our side make their positions crystal clear upon these various measures and be as brief as possible so that we can expedite this business before us.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make one inquiry. Is the Majority Floor Leader present?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, has absented himself from the floor for the purpose of attending a conference committee meeting. He being ably assisted by the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson.

Mr. ANDREWS. I am glad to greet the Assistant Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Since this is a party matter, for the record, would it be possible and consistent with parliamentary practice to have all of the majority Members who do not have leaves of absence and all of the minority Members who do not have leaves of absence recorded as voting for and against these discharge resolutions?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, it would be our policy on this side of the House to oppose all of these discharge resolutions by means of a general statement, and then take the roll call on the first resolution as applying to all subsequent resolutions.

Mr. ANDREWS. The question was, Mr. Speaker, who would be recorded on the first roll call? If a Member chooses to absent himself from the Hall of the House, will his vote be recorded?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman suspend for a moment?

The Chair would like to interject here that it would be the suggestion of the Chair that we take one roll call on the first resolution and the majority party will then accept the same roll call on all other resolutions.

Mr. ANDREWS. I am suggesting, Mr. Speaker, that the highest roll call of today be the roll call used in these discharge resolutions. Otherwise, we will want developed who is present and who is not. I think this is an occasion when both parties should present a solid front because we are making a party record. We should know whether or not there are those Members on this side who will want to take a powder and walk out, Members on your side that want to be absent.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, the Chair has been informed that there are eleven absentees. The Chair would suggest that a roll call with those Members marked as absent can be used.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that would be exactly in line with what I would consider propriety. There are so many absentees over there, there are so many absentees over here, and in line with my thought, the absentees are a part of the record and only those who are not absent, who are here, would be perfectly in line with my thought.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, that is the procedure that will be followed. The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GIBSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in regard to the proposal of the minority to offer various discharge resolutions, we have on this side of the House for many years followed closely the committee system of operation in the House which we feel is inviolate. We have a great deal of confidence in our committee Chairman. We repose not only our confidence but our trust in the Chairman and the members of the committee. We feel, Mr. Speaker, that a vote on a discharge resolution is not a vote either for or against any bill reposing in any committee.

We, therefore, Mr. Speaker, will oppose all the discharge resolutions which will be offered by the other side. Again, I want to reiterate, it is our position that a vote against discharging any committee from consideration of any bill is not a vote against that bill.

For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Members on this side of the House to vote down all of the discharge resolutions which will be offered subsequent to this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, never within my memory—it may have been so—do I know of any committee having been discharged by this House when either the Republicans were in control or when the Democrat party was in control.

I bring it down specifically to the session of 1955-56 when, if my memory serves me correctly, there was a statement on the floor of the House by the then majority party that they intended to amend the rules of the House so that a committee could be discharged by a majority vote. That was never done, nor was there any move made by this side of the House to so do last session.

I recall specifically that in the session of 1941, when the Democrat party was in control of the House, no discharge resolution at that time was ever effected by this side of the House.

I say in the sense of all fair play, it seems to me to be entirely ridiculous and rather out of order and, I might say, it is very silly, considering the other side of this House, to offer resolutions for the purpose of making a record when the record will be so picayune and the people of Pennsylvania will not pay any attention to it anyway.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, miracles happen; miracles have happened. A miracle happened in the 1933 session of the General Assembly. At that time a motion to discharge a committee was made and the committee was discharged.

It happens that I happened to have had the privilege of offering that discharge resolution. It is the only committee that has been discharged in the last forty years. I am the only living Member of the General Assembly who ever made a motion to discharge a committee which was accepted by the House.

I say miracles happen. Ordinarily they do not happen in the same place or in the same line. I would remind the gentleman from Blair that it is not silly. The records we made of discharging committees figured in local campaigns and it happened at one of the times when Democrats, fortunately or unfortunately, had control of the House. We had control of the House because of the stand taken by Members of the Republican party on discharge resolutions.

The resolutions that we are offering are on matters that we think are properly at issue, and which will be at issue in the next campaign when we choose Members of this House.

The gentleman from Blair can think it silly or not, that is his privilege, but it is also our privilege to offer these resolutions.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. PETROSKY and ANDREWS, and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 805

Mr. SNIDER offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Ways and Means be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 805, Title: "An Act to repeal the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 560), entitled "An Act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax upon any increase in capital, as defined, actually employed in Pennsylvania, by any foreign corporation, limited partnership or joint-stock association; * * *" and to save the rights of the Commonwealth and taxpayers as to certain taxes, interest and penalties."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, on March 13, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask, may we debate this discharge resolution?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. VARNER. I would like to ask someone on the Minority side what this bill does and if this is Democrat party policy.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is not the bill. It is a resolution to discharge the committee from the consideration of the bill, and the question is on the adoption of the resolution to discharge the committee.

Does the gentleman desire to debate that question?

Mr. VARNER. Well, it has the bill number in the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The bill is in the possession of the committee and is not before us for discussion. The question is on the resolution to discharge the Committee on Ways and Means from further consideration of House Bill No. 805.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that we cannot intelligently vote on this until we get some interpretation of the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman that he is at liberty to interpret the bill as he pleases. He has the bill in his files. We are not debating the bill. The gentleman's province is to interpret the bill as he chooses, and to elect whether or not the committee should hold the bill or should be discharged.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 457

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Ways and Means be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 457, Title: "An act proposing an amendment to section one, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania exempting income taxes on persons and corporations from requirement of uniformity."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, on February 19, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, on resolutions to discharge it takes 105 votes, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. It takes 106 votes.

Mr. LOVETT. 106 votes, I beg your pardon. Other resolutions only take a majority?

The SPEAKER. Yes, a majority.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I have the opportunity of making a brief statement on this resolution?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. I realize that there is not much use in debating discharge resolutions. Nevertheless, this particular discharge resolution deals with the uniformity of taxation in Pennsylvania. In other words, it would give the voters the right to say whether or not we should have a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania for all purposes.

It is very near and dear to me and I realize that this House, both under control of the Democrats and under control of the Republicans, has passed this same type of legislation, and I say, in all fairness, we should have a roll call on this, and—

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAXWELL. I do not like to be discourteous to my colleague from Westmoreland County, but on a discharge resolution, are you allowed to debate or discuss the bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled on that question that the gentleman must confine his remarks to the question before the House, that is, discharging the committee from further consideration of a particular bill. The merits or demerits of the bill cannot be discussed.

Mr. MAXWELL. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Constitution of Pennsylvania says that no bill can be considered until the bill is reported from committee and in possession of the House.

The gentleman will confine his remarks to discussion of the resolution before the House, that of discharging the committee.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I requested from the Chair the right to make a brief statement in regard to the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct. He requested the right to make a statement, but the resolution had already been read and therefore the question before the House is on the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. LOVETT. Then I have no right to make a brief statement?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman at this time cannot discuss the merits of the bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I abide by the ruling of the Chair. I thought I was given permission to make a statement. Now the statement which I was about to make dealt with the bill.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman desires unanimous consent to make a statement at a latter time, the Chair will be glad to recognize him. We must first dispose of the resolution before the House.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I merely asked the only thing I could ask and that was that you vote to discharge this committee and give us the right to vote upon this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TOLL. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, is it not in order for the reading clerk to read the entire resolution?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman insists, the entire resolution will be read.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, that will at least give the members of the House information as to what is in the resolution, other than just a number.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman insists and the entire resolutions will be read.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. PETROSKY. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, as to the several resolutions I spoke of, wherein the several Members want to pointedly make some remarks upon the resolution, can they not make those remarks prior to presenting the resolution, by unanimous consent?

The SPEAKER. The House can give its unanimous consent for any Member to speak at any time. Does the gentleman want the Members to speak on the resolution which they are about to offer, or concerning the bill?

Mr. PETROSKY. On the resolution prior to its being offered. As I have stated in my general remarks at the beginning of this discussion, I am endeavoring to expedite the matter before the House in the best possible manner, and I believe it would not be necessary then to read all of the resolutions at length.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will make the request for unanimous consent if the gentleman desires to make a statement previous to the offering of a resolution.

Mr. PETROSKY. Before each resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will so request it.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 145

Mr. CURWOOD offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 145, Title: "An Act providing for the regulation of mining of Anthracite coal by the open pit or strip mining method and for the conservation and improvement of lands affected directly or indirectly by such mining * * *" changing security requirements and adding penalties.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CAPANO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the present Workmens' Compensation Act was enacted in 1955. The Maximum benefits payable to injured employees was under that act $37.50.

We all know there have been a number of increases in the cost of living. As a matter of fact, we know by the newspapers that the highest peak in the history of our country has been reached within the last month. Therefore, the workmens' compensation benefits should be brought in line with the cost of living.

House Bill 213 would have increased the benefits to $42.50. I think this bill should be enacted at the present time so as to take care of any further increases in the cost of living, to properly provide for people who are injured and must live within the bounds of the workmens' compensation benefits. For that reason we wish to present a discharge resolution at this time.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 213

Mr. CAPANO offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 213, Title: "An Act amending 'The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act,' approved June 2, 1915 (P. L. 786) increasing maximum amount payable as compensation."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on February 4, 1957.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KAMYK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, once again I rise in the defense of the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh. This time I am doing this in an effort to pry out of the Committee on Appropriations House Bill 504.

House Bill 504, if it became law, would place the Pittsburgh School District on par with the Philadelphia School District as far as school subsidies are concerned, and thereby lessen the financial problem for the Pittsburgh School District.

In view of the fact that the taxpayers of Pittsburgh may be burdened by additional financial responsibility due the passage of a number of bills by the House, it is my desire that the Pittsburgh School District be aided by House Bill 504.

Therefore, I offer the following discharge resolution.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 504

Mr. KAMYK offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Appropriations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 504, Title: "An act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled 'An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools, amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' providing for equal reimbursement to school districts of the first class A and first class, for the school years 1955-1956 and 1956-1957."

Said bill having been re-committed to the Committee on Appropriations, April 8, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. PETROSKY and KAMYK and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, House Bill 545, for which I have the resolution to discharge the committee on Labor Relations, provides that there should be equal pay for females who do exactly the same work as males. There should be no serious objection to this kind of legislation, which would end discrimination in pay between the sexes.

Presently, there is legislation in this field, but it provides for so many exceptions that for practical purposes it is absolutely without any real value.

This bill also provides for collection of unpaid wages due under this act, when an employer wilfully and knowingly violates the provisions of Section 2, which prohibits such discriminatory payments. Any agreement between the employer and the employee to work for less shall be no defense to such action.

Merchandise made by females, requiring exactly the same kind of work and effort as when produced by males, is not offered to the public cheaper, just because wage rates are lower for the women.

Mr. Speaker, this bill was referred to the Committee on Labor Relations on February 25, 1957 and is still there as of today. This type of legislation is long overdue.

I now offer the following discharge resolution.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 545

Mrs. VARALLO offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 545, Title: "An Act prohibiting discrimination in rate of pay because of sex; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry; prescribing penalties and making an appropriation.

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on February 25, 1957.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WARGO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this is a resolution discharging the Committee from further consideration of House Bill 759. This bill would require employers to pay medical examination fees when such examination is a condition of employment. Many employers require a medical examination from all prospective employees. This bill shifts the burden of cost from the job applicant. The unemployed worker seeking employment can often ill afford to pay for such medical examination, especially when he does not really know if he will be hired or not. Such shifting of cost does not involve undue financial hardship upon the employer.

Also, some employers require periodic medical examinations for certain, if not all, of their employees. There seems to be no logical reason why such costs should not be assumed by the employer.

Therefore I offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 759

Mr. WARGO offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 759, Title: "An act requiring employers to pay medical examination fees of certain employees where such examination is a condition of employment; providing penalties; and imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on March 12, 1957.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am about to offer a discharge resolution in connection with House Bill 877. This bill has a little history behind it. It would restore the Labor Anti-Injunction Act to the version of 1937 when this Act was first passed.

In 1939 it was amended and four situations were extended into the Act under which judges of the common pleas courts could issue injunctions as they did before simply on an ex parte affidavit alleging these four reasons.

The purpose of the Labor Anti-Injunction Act of 1937 was to avoid that, and to provide a hearing in every labor case. However, the law as it now stands does not act in that manner, hearings are not obtained, and the judges are entering temporary injunctions upon mere affidavits and applications.

This bill was brought out of committee last session and passed the House but did not pass the Senate. The bill should have been brought out of the committee this session, because it is a good bill and will restore labor rights.

I offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 877

Mr. TOLL offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 877, Title: "An Act amending the "Labor Anti-Injunction Act," approved June 2, 1937, (P. L. 1108), removing certain restrictions on the application of the act."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations on March 19, 1957.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GELFAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I am about to hand in a resolution to discharge the Committee on Labor Relations from further consideration of House Bill 884. This bill would repeal sections 662, 663 and 730 of the criminal code. Those particular sections have incorporated into the criminal code an antediluvian theory of labor relations, in that they make it a crime to join together for purposes for carrying forward a railroad strike.

I herewith hand up this resolution.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 884

Mr. GELFAND offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 884, Title: "An Act to repeal Secs. 662, 663 and 730 of "The Penal Code" of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), relating to the imposition of penalties against railroad employes and other persons for certain activities during strikes, and against transportation employes for injuries or death resulting from their actions."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on March 20, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. PETROSKY and GELFAND and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am about to present a resolution in connection with House Bill No. 1023.

House Bill 1023 deals with the question of labor disputes between public utility employers and employees. As of the present time, there is no effective way in which employes can settle disputes with their employer by arbitration or mediation and have it done definitely.

This particular bill would set up mechanics for very fair and equitable settlement on labor dispute questions, having in mind, of course, the interests of the public in this type of labor dispute, and would seek to attempt a settlement bearing in mind the interest of the public, the employer and the employee.

House Bill 1023 would finally resolve itself to arbitration where the case would be submitted to arbitrators representing all three, the labor groups, the employer and the public as well.

We feel this bill is needed in order that the people who are employed by public utilities be given an avenue for the proper settlement of their labor disputes.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1023

Mr. LOPRESTI offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 18, 1957.

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Public Utilities, on April 1, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. KENNETH B. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 14 of today's calendar House Resolution No. 133.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 11, 1957.

Whereas the well-being of the Commonwealth's educational system requires the services of competent dedicated men and women and

Whereas reports indicate that it has become increasingly difficult to attract and retain such persons in the service of our educational institutions and

Whereas it has come to the attention of the General Assembly that questionable circumstances surround the removal of Mr. James G. Morgan as President of Mansfield State Teachers College in Tioga County and

Whereas these circumstances have created dissension within the Board of Trustees of Mansfield State Teachers College as well as promoting public resentment to the extent that confidence in the administration of the Department of Public Instruction has been seriously undermined be it therefore

Resolved (the Senate concurring) that the Department of Justice conduct a complete investigation of all activity in connection with the removal of Mr. James G. Morgan as President and the appointment of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber and be it further

Resolved that the Governor withhold approval of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber until such time as he has fully studied this situation for the purpose of taking remedial action if found necessary.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would have the record show that I would have voted "no" on this resolution if given the opportunity to do so.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, very few Members of the House realize the extent of the physical ordeal which the Speaker of this House has undergone during the time that these resolutions have been pending. If you do not think it is a real job to stand up there and go at the pace the Speaker has, just try it sometime. I know.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would also like to commend the Members for the attentive way that they have paid attention to the business.

In order for the entire House to have a slight breather, the Chair is about to declare a very short recess for the purpose of hearing a distinguished guest.

The Chair is happy to welcome to the Hall of the House today, Thomas E. Riddle, age 17.

He graduated from Curwensville High School in June of this year with honors.

He was sponsored by the local Odd Fellows Lodge of Curwensville and was sent to New York where he was entered in a contest with 600 students and won a speaking contest. He was then sponsored by the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of North America, and from there sent to Omaha, Nebraska, where he spoke before their convention. He also recently addressed the state convention held at Reading.

He is now being sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania Independent Order of Odd Fellows to speak before public groups to which he is assigned.

Today the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania is proud to present him to the House of Representatives.

He is here today as a guest of the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Dalrymple.

Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Dalrymple, escort his guest to the rostrum?

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will declare a brief recess for the purpose of listening to an address by Thomas E. Riddle. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 172.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" extending provisions relating to obscene literature and objects and increasing the penalty for violating the provisions.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by inserting after the word "etc" the following:

"(a) Obscene literature consists of any writing or printed matter picture image drawing figure photograph or other pictorial representation which is unrelated to science art or scientific study and taken as a whole is indecent lewd lascivious and has the effect of inciting to lewdness or sexual crime"

Page 2, line 13, by striking out after the word "manner" the following: "or knowingly in any manner transports"; line 14, by inserting after the word "obscene" the following: "literature or"; page 3, line 17, by inserting after the word "misdemeanor" the following: "felony."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few brief words against concurring, for two reasons. This is a bill which relates to distribution or trafficking in obscene literature.

The first reason why I think we should not concur in these amendments is that the Senate amended this bill to make this crime a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

I think there is no one in the Hall of this House who thinks other than that trafficking in the sort of material which this bill deals with is a very dirty business indeed. But I would suggest to the Members of of this House that this is not a crime of such substance that we would term it a felony. The law has always differentiated between felonies and misdemeanors, the rank of felony being reserved for the more heinous crimes that we have.

The other reason is this, and I think this will be interesting to the sponsors of the bill and those who are particularly interested in its passage. The Senate has amended this bill to include a definition of "obscene," a definition that includes a number of terms, a number of words and phrases, as to just what is meant by certain terms in this act.

I think those of us who are at all familiar with the subject of legislation in this area know our courts have consistently thrown out legislation of this sort when the wording was vague, when the wording was obscure.

I think the Senate amendment tends to do that to this bill. I want to suggest to the sponsors of the bill that if they are interested not only in having this bill passed but having it effectively implemented by our courts that we non-concur.

I feel, as a lawyer, looking at this bill that the only way this bill will meet the test our courts have set up is by striking from it the vague definitions which the Senate has included.

If you want an effective bill on this particular subject, we should vote against concurring.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in support of concurring.

In March of this year an investigating grand jury in Allegheny County looked into this problem concerning obscene magazines and came up with a presentment to the court as of March 30th of this year.

During five and one half days of deliberation the grand jury heard clergymen of all denominations, civic leaders, representatives of women's groups, educators, veterans groups, service organizations, parents, tradesmen organizations and so forth. At the conclusion of the testimony they filed the presentation in the court, part of which I would take a minute to quote.

We urgently recommend that the Legislature take the following action during the current session: Enact legislation making it a felony to transport obscene magazines and literature into Pennsylvania.

Second, enact legislation making it a felony for any person or persons to aid and abet in such transportation by the sale, display or distribution thereof.

Third, enact legislation providing for severe penalties for anyone who violates this right of the people to be free from such filth.

But these are the important ones pertaining to this particular Senate amendment.

For that reason I ask that we concur, and I join in the request of Mr. Gibson that we do concur in these amendments.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, if you non-concur we can have this thrown into a conference committee and perhaps get this language corrected and change it back from felony to misdemeanor and get it through. The way it is here you gain practically nothing.

I therefore join in the plea by Mr. Gailey to non-concur in the bill.

Mr. T. H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I also urge the House not to concur in these amendments. It is a silly matter to make possession of obscene magazines a felony. Secondly, by saying any obscene magazine which is unrelated to art or—I do not have the bill in front of me, but the idea in this bill is, that if it is related to art then it is not obscene.

I know from past observation most of these magazines on the newsstand are obscene try to relate themselves in some way to art.

I feel that the Senate has just cut the heart out of the bill in order for it to mean anything. We ought not to concur in these amendments.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the members here to get the idea we are attempting to prevent legislation in this field. I concur whole heartedly in the fact that something is needed. My plea honestly and sincerely is based on the fact that I feel the Senate amendments have made this an unworkable bill.

I think if we are really interested in getting effective legislation we will have to throw it into a conference committee where these things can be ironed out.

Mrs. B. Z. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say, I think at this time when so much publicity has been given to obscene literature and the crimes that have happened, it would be very foolish for us not to pass a bill of this kind. We have worked on it, we women, ever since this session started. It is unfortunate it is so late coming over, but we want to get this bill through.

I ask the cooperation of the Members.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mrs. HENZEL filed the following reasons for her vote.

The spread of the availability of obscene literature has reached such a stage that it is necessary to enact legislation that will curb such and not permit it to remain solely at the discretion of distributors and store keepers. Not only is legislation necessary but legislation that will have enough force to make it effective.

The manner in which House Bill 172, Printer's No. 948 passed the House was just such legislation and while perhaps not perfect, was forceful enough not to permit many loopholes under the guise of acceptable area literature. The version as returned from the Senate opened the door for distributors and storekeepers alike to continue to carry the type of literature which is being flagrantly read and persued by our young people. This was certainly not the intention of the sponsor.

In support of their original intentions which were necessary to correct an unacceptable situation, my vote was cast in the negative in the conviction that a Conference Committee might further see the need of a more forceful piece of legislation.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes in the Hall of the House the presence of a former Member of this House in the years 1938 to 1944, the gentleman from Allegheny, Kenneth L. Leydic.

The Chair welcomes the gentleman at this time.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 308, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 12, 1919 (P. L. 933) entitled "Architects Registration Law" providing for the registration of certain architects without examination.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion to recommit.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 308 has been designed to enable an individual who has been flagrantly violating the law for the past 28 years to become registered.

There are some 2500 to 2700 registered architects in this state who, by complying with the regulations as set forth by the Architectural Registration Board, have become registered.

It appears to me that this special legislation is just not necessary. Every Member of this House I am sure has friends or relatives who have failed for one reason or another to pass such examinations as the Real Estate Board, the insurance examination, the bar examination or many others. If we relax our regulations through this type of legislation, it is my opinion that we will endanger the high esteem our professional licensure committees enjoy.

In reality what this bill does is this, it will say to every young man or every young lady now in college, studying the profession of architecture, If you graduate from college or if you do not—it says this to anyone—if you can get away with practicing architecture for the next 28 years, there is a law on our books which says if you have practiced architecture for that period of time, then you can automatically become registered. I do not believe this House intends that to happen. I do not think that is what we want to happen to the prestige that registration now enjoys.

We have a reciprocal agreement, with recognition in other states, and if we allow persons to become registered without first qualifying through examination, I believe we will lose the high esteem in which we are now held.

I think this is not good legislation and I urge everyone in this House to vote against it.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I want to give you a little bit of the background of this gentleman who has been trying to get his license.

He has been in business since 1924. He attended Fifth Avenue High School and passed, and also went to Carnegie-Tech night school and passed. Upon completing his education in 1924 he worked for one of Pittsburgh's all time great architects, Mr. Ted Eichotz. He continued to work for him until 1931.

In 1928 the Department of Public Instruction wrote him a letter asking him to qualify. He answered their request and asked for an application. This letter to the department was never answered, and Senator Korpriver saw that letter in his file in the Department June 9, 1954.

I have here in my hand an order of the court given to this gentleman by Judge Weiss in Allegheny County. That is where he has been operating up until the present time.

I understand he took the examination back in 1951 or 1952, I do not know which, and he failed the examination. The man is over 50 years of age. I venture to say there are very few in this House over 50 years of age who could pass an examination of any type today.

Judge Weiss gave this man his order of the court sometime ago, and he has been doing work for several of the largest contractors around Allegheny County. In the 1955 Session we passed an act for one chiropractor and it got practically every vote in this House. I would appreciate if the Members of the House would vote for Senate Bill 308.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, in the first place, the court order that the gentleman refers to, says that the man who is practicing architecture has been doing it in this field since, or sometime prior to, 1919. Prior to 1919, it appears that this gentleman would have been 11 years, 5 months and 12 days old. I think probably the court order is invalid from that standpoint alone.

Another thing, according to the Attorney General and the Department of Justice, they are of the opinion, and this is a copy of the opinion that was sent back to this gentleman in Allegheny, that he had the opportunity to take the examination and failed. Since that time he has been given several opportunities to take the examination over again, and he failed to comply with those requests for six successive times. He had ample opportunity to take it over and over.

The Department was of the opinion, and they were so advised, that they are not compelled to comply with a court order in this fashion. I still feel that it would be bad legislation to license anyone who has not qualified through examination, the same as others have, not only in the architectural field but in the legal profession, the medical profession and every other profession. I believe we have the standards, they have been set up, they have been abided by, and I believe that we should continue on that very fair and impartial way of granting licenses.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, as evidence of the fact that even the most kind guy attempted to pass an examination, the gentleman from Luzerne could not get it over. So I urge all of us to give this architect another chance.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take up too much time of the House.

This applicant had an application in 1936 and he had two attorneys. His first attorney died. That was attorney Wilbur Wright from the city of Pittsburgh.

It was turned over to another attorney by the name of Mr. McKinley, whom I happened to know personally before he died. Mr. McKinley's son took over the case in 1942, early '42. He went into the Service. So this has been a long drawn out affair, and I would appreciate the House voting for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Amend Bill, page 2 by inserting after line 15 "Section 4. This act shall take effect immediately."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, at the outset I want to say these amendments were presented to the gentlemen on the Majority side, yesterday, and since a partial set of these amendments was incorporated in the proposal before us, I struck out two sections which were included in yesterday's amendments.

I further want to state that originally I had drawn up to present myself, discharge resolutions on House Bills Nos. 1124, 1125 and 1129. However, since the allocation of liquid fuels tax returned to the local municipalities, was on the calendar, I felt we could better establish our position by offering amendments to the proposal that is before us.

I will be as brief as possible and I think, in order to do so, I should read a telegram that was sent to some of the responsible people in the state by the Home Rule association. One of these telegrams was also sent to the State Republican Chairman, George Bloom. I believe it contains in very brief form the position we take on this legislation.

The Pennsylvania Rural and Suburban areas will lose over $50 million in road improvements in the next two years as a result of the Legislature dropping the one cent emergency gasoline tax.

As you know, the federal aid highway program, with its matching provisions, will require millions of dollars of motor revenues which ordinarily would have been available for improvements on the state's rural and secondary systems.

You also know that federal aid projects are limited to the construction of main highways to link most of the major cities.

Therefore, there will be no federal aid available for rural and suburban roads not on the main state highway system. Certainly none of the money is available for local road and street improvements, and it is the local, rural and suburban roads that are most important to the people of rural and suburban Pennsylvania.

The question arises: Can the Legislature afford to adjourn without correcting this situation, when the chief losers are the local roads in the cities, boroughs and townships, and the secondary and rural roads on the state highway systems.

Members of the House . . . , in voting to drop the emergency tax, expected their action would reflect a saving to the motorists, but when the bill was enacted, newspapers reported that prices were boosted from one and a half to three cents per gallon.

When the tax reduction became effective June 1, there was much ado about the motorist saving the one cent tax. In some areas the price was reduced by one cent, but in others it was not.

It is estimated that one cent of the gas tax now produces about $56 million a biennium.

There are bills in the Senate, and companion bills in the House, that propose reenactment of the temporary tax. They provide for an increase in the appropriation for local roads of $12 million, or $72 million for the next two years, as compared with the $60 million in the current two year period—that, incidentally, was instituted and passed in the last legislative session—"under the Home Rule Road Act.

The remainder of the funds would go for highway department purposes. However, in order to offset the charge that the money would be used for main highway projects under the federal aid program, the Members of the General Assembly could insist on assurances that the state funds would be used specifically for the construction, widening and resurfacing of the roads and bridges on the state's rural and secondary system.

These are the roads that will not get any Federal aid, but they are the roads that should be improved to benefit the citizens of rural and suburban Pennsylvania who pay a large part of the road tax bill, Federal, state and local . . .

If needed improvements on local roads and streets, and the roads on the secondary and rural state systems, are not to be neglected for the next two years, it is essential that . . .

I get away from the telegram to say the amendments should be adopted, and the bills that now reside in committee, for which I have also drawn amendments, House Bills No. 1124, 1125, should come out as amended to conform to this allocation bill.

Those are the bills that refer to the one cent state and local emergency tax that, in order to spend the moneys coming in from them, carry out categorically the areas in which the moneys can be used.

Members of the House and Senate can vote on these and do the job for those rural roads.

We have passed in this House and sent to the Senate, and the Senate has passed and sent to this House, and we have finally passed legislation, a number of pieces of legislation, which, signed by the Governor, will tend to deplete the finances that are now available under the current revenues in the statutes to the Highway Department.

We will support the measure before us in the event you knock down the amendments.

If the finances, as they will come in under the current Highway Department statutes are further depleted in the next biennium, this will tend to, number one, defer any possible action on giving the proper attention to the rural roads that are not financed by state aid.

Number two, if you deplete those finances sufficiently it will have a tendency to put Pennsylvania into a position where we will not be able to meet the Federal allotments and therefore of necessity may lose Federal allotments for highway purposes from the Federal highway construction program.

I submit Mr. Speaker, that we cannot make a two-pronged attack on the finances of the Highway Department and expect to get that which is coming to us under the Federal construction act.

I submit to this House that just last week in a meeting in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, the Federal administrator of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Mr. Tallamy, commended the operation of our present highway department as being one of the three best in the nation in the forthright and progressive position it has taken to meet the requirements of the Federal road construction act.

I further submit, that contrary to the report that came out at the beginning of this year by the Pennsylvania Constructors, the head of the American Constructors commended the department for having initiated a program to cut down by 98 percent the time for design of our state highways.

The adoption of these amendments will aid the local municipalities in our rural road program. The enactment of 1124 and 1125, with the amendments I have already drawn up, will go a long way in providing those essential road services for the people of the Commonwealth.

I still ask the membership on both sides of the House to support this position which we are taking, which we know is necessary, on behalf of those several municipalities of the state and the people that we represent.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Needless to say we do not on this side of the House subscribe to the argument which has just been presented. We feel that the Highway Department is adequately financed under the present gasoline tax and motor license revenues.

We also feel that the highway construction program which is proposed is not far enough advanced that additional funds will be needed in the next two years.

These arguments have been advanced previously. We, as you know, dropped the gasoline tax a few weeks ago. Not to prolong this debate, I ask the membership on this side of the House to vote against these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we ask the membership on this side of the House to support Senate Bill 416 as it is written at the present time.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Article VI

Effective Date

Section 601 Effective Date. This act shall take effect immediately.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask the sponsor of these amendments to explain what they do, if he would please.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, explain these amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, these amendments would add to this bill what is known as the Commonwealth Tort Claim Act, which sets forth a system by which people who have a claim against the Commonwealth can bring their suits and have them adjusted by the courts or by the administrative branch, depending on the amount involed, in an orderly fashion.

I have been advised by the Attorney General's office that this bill without amendments such as this, would be unconstitutional. A memo from one of the deputy attorney generals states that the bill as before us, without the amendments, raises serious constitutional questions as to whether or not it constitutes special legislation such as is erudited by Article 3, section 7 of the Constitution. However, the Supreme Court has drawn a distinction in connection with bills of this sort.

A bill which merely authorizes a suit, where there is a preexisting cause of action against the Commonwealth is said to be constitutional. A bill which creates a cause of action and gives a right to institute suit, is unconstitutional. This bill apparently purports to give the Littles the right to recover damages if any are due as a result of a taking. As such it would seem to fall within the orbit of constitutionality. On the other hand, any person whose property has been taken by the Commonwealth for highway purposes has a vested right under the Pennsylvania and Federal Constitutions to institute due proceedings for the determination and award of damages resulting from the taking. Such being the case, this bill would constitute no more than surplusage unless this bill is intended to weigh the limitations.

These amendments seek to set up an orderly system under which people who have a claim against the Commonwealth can bring their suits and have them adjudicated. I think these amendments would fix the policy for the method of determining claims, including this one, and would be a step forward in the jurisprudence of Pennsylvania.

I, therefore, ask the Members to accept these amendments and allow the people involved in this particular bill to file a claim in accordance with the system set up.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak briefly on the bill, the matters connected therewith, and the amendments to this present act.

On the amendments and on the adoption of it, I believe it is high time we give the citizens of the Commonwealth a right to put claims into the state for rightful actions whether they be actions in assumpsit or actions in trespass.

Last year in the session, I tried to do the same thing. A lady in one of our recreation parks had fallen from a bridge which was alleged to be very defective, and incurred serious injuries entailing medical expenses and hospitalization and so forth considerably over $1,000.

I went to the majority party with my problem and got no relief on the ground that, coming from the Attorney General's office, such a bill was unconstitutional. I believe it was; there is no question about that. I am sorry that the minority party now, the majority party then, did not see their way clear then to solve that difficulty as they have seen now. Certainly what is fair to one is fair to another. Here is a lady who had a just claim, as we alleged against the state, from which she could receive no recompense or assert any claim whatsoever. But I still think this makes a good bill. I am going to vote for the amendments but I would have voted for them with a much freer mind had I received kinder treatment last session. I ask the membership to adopt these amendments.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would request on behalf of the Members on this side of the House that these amendments be voted down at this time.

The amendments have just been given to me to look over and I personally feel that there may be a great deal of merit in them. However, the bill as presently before us is merely one and one-half page long, containing only one section. These amendments cover approximately twelve pages of single spaced typing and establish an entirely new system for presenting claims against the Commonwealth. It seems to me that we have not had sufficient time to examine this method. It should be in a separate bill. We feel these amendments would completely change the purpose of the bill before the House and we therefore ask the Members to vote against them.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I would just like briefly to endorse the gentleman from Delaware on this.

This seems to be a departure from previous law. Few of us have had an opportunity to know exactly what these amendments are or how they function. Since they are of such vital importance in legal procedures, in actions against the Commonwealth, I do not feel we should act upon them as amendments to this particular bill. Therefore, I ask the Members of the House to vote the amendments down.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Gibson, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, not being a lawyer I would prefer to yield to my legal counsel, if you want information on these amendments.

Mr. McCORMACK. I would be glad to ask the question of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, yields to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker,

Mr. McCORMACK. Did not the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, co-sponsor a bill, I believe it is House Bill 1536, giving people the right to sue the Commonwealth and providing for insurance against such tort claims?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I will yield, Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, yields to the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, to give the answer.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, on examination of the House history, I find, much to my surprise, that I did co-sponsor House Bill 1536 with Mr. Fineman and Mr. Schwartz.

Mr. McCORMACK. No further questions.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, it is not our intention on this side to do anyone an injustice. In a conference with the Minority Whip, Mr. Andrews, I have been informed that without these amendments this bill will be unconstitutional.

I would suggest, Mr. Speaker, that we pass this bill over temporary until our floor leader Mr. Johnson returns. He may possibly have some information which I do not have on the bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we will be pleased to accept the standing vote for the amendments if that will meet with the approval of the majority. We would like to vote on the bill tonight. Is there any objection, or do you want to pass it over temporarily?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I would prefer to pass the bill over temporarily until Mr. Johnson returns. Mr. Johnson will be here in just a few minutes.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Green, Mr. McCann, the Chair will accept the motion of the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, to place the bill on the final passage postponed calendar.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware County, Mr. Lippincott, had a very positive expression on this bill, as did the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup. I think that we should have an issue on this. This is before the House. There are two brilliant attorneys on the other side of the House. We claimed that this bill, as it existed, was unconstitutional; they said it was not. Let's have it before the House. Let's persist in having it before the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am not speaking of my own knowledge. I am speaking of positive knowledge that a person of final authority has definitely said, and will so advise His Excellency, the Governor, that the bill in its present shape is clearly unconstitutional and is special legislation. However, we and those who will pass upon the bill would gladly go along with legislation which will save this bill and give to all of the people the same rights as these persons mentioned in the pending measure would be given. We would be very sorry if this bill fell.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, has moved that the bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. It seems to be conceded that this is special legislation, and the amendments contemplate general legislation setting up a new cause of action. Can such legally be done under our Constitution—changing the purpose of the bill completely?

The SPEAKER. That will be a question that will have to be decided by the House itself, at the proper time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 804, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28 1953 (P. L. 723) entitled "Second Class County Code" authorizing appropriations out of county funds or county institution district funds for the handling storage and distribution of surplus foods and validating appropriations heretofore made

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, the County of Allegheny recently discontinued handling and distributing surplus foods because they were not empowered by the County Second Class Code to pay the expense connected therewith.

Senate Bill 804 amends the Second Class County Code and grants the power to the Board of County Commissioners to carry out this program of surplus food if they so desire.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, we feel that the distribution of surplus food is a Commonwealth function. The experience of the County of Allegheny with the distribution of such food entailed a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers of our county. With the authority given the County Commissioners by such legislation, should emergencies arise, our taxpayers will find themselves in a very embarrassing position.

Since we have a very broad and widespread Act which covers the need for those under the Public Assistance Act, we feel legislation of this character is unnecessary and should be carried out on the state level.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to ask the gentleman from Pittsburgh one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the House who the sponsor of this legislation is?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I think it is a Republican Senator, by request. But, that does not determine whether the bill is good or bad; it is the bill itself. I think the bill is bad.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I agree with Mr. Goldstein, the gentleman from Allegheny, that this is a Commonwealth function, but this is another case where the Commonwealth does not function.

At the present time a lot of situations have developed, especially in my district where the factories are laying off men. Well, maybe they do get unemployment compensation for awhile, but at the same time this surplus food supplements their needs.

Because of this, Mr. Speaker, I think this is a very important bill. It only authorizes the commissioners or the institution district to appropriate money to distribute the food. I do not think it would pertain to any other emergency.

I ask the House to support this bill.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced by Senator Fleming on request of Mr. Vaughn and myself. This bill does nothing, it is a "may bill," but it gives the county commissioners of Allegheny County the same power that other county commissioners in the other 66 counties have. We were the only county that did not have this power.

We ask you to vote for the bill, if you will, please.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 376, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858) entitled "State Employes' Retirement Law" further providing for payment of compensation to judges upon retirement under certain conditions and imposing duties on certain State officers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, strangely enough, I rise to support this bill.

I think it ends a 20-year battle to do away with "gypsy" judges. I, like every Member of this House, was importuned not once but repeatedly to support this bill. I told the judges if they would cease trying to sabotage two other bills as far as I was concerned I would take their pension bill if it was watered down a little in the House from the way it came from the Senate. The judges, I think, cooperated.

We have passed two bills which made the judges full-time public servants. We have provided an administrator of the Supreme Court, and we have empowered the Supreme Court to assign judges who frequently served outside of what they termed their district, to particular other districts that were overloaded. Up to the present time whether a judge helped out some other judges who was overworked was a matter of personal decision on his part.

By virtue of the legislation we have passed the judges can be assigned. The administrator's business will be to see where judges are lazy, where judges are overworked and to use the judges of the Commonwealth not simply as local officers, local public servants, but to serve on a state-wide area when they are ordered to do so.

This retirement bill will enable the more senile judges who are on the bench to feel they have protection enough to retire. Everything considered, while there are other causes perhaps more deserving than this retirement pay for the Judiciary, nevertheless over the long run, I think the people are the gainers by the cooperation of the judges in permitting the other measures to pass. We can now be assured that with the judges' pensions, their retirement and somebody to supervise them, we will have more work done by the judges, many of whom have been overworked and many of whom have been distinctly lazy.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, when I see bills like this to give the judges another biennial handout of the poor taxpayer's money, I am again extremely glad that I voted against an un-earmarked three percent sales tax every time it come up for a vote in this House of Representatives. We do not have money for many other appropriations. How do we get the money for the judges' biennial raid on the treasury?

Now let us stick with the people and vote against this bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the position of the gentleman from Adams, but I think perhaps he ought to take cognizance of the fact that under Senate Bill 376, the judges now are paying their full share in contributions to the retirement fund. They are being classified as others in the retirement fund, the state employes' retirement fund. During the first ten years, they will double the amount they pay under the present law. Subsequent to the first ten years, they will pay one and one-half times what they have been paying under the present law. They will, as a consequence therefor, go from eight percent of their present salary to 16 percent in the first ten years I am now speaking of a 52-year-old judge. When he reaches 62 years of age, he will pay 12 percent of his salary. He will, if he stays on the bench up until the time he retires, receive upwards of 80 percent of his salary.

During that period of time he will be paying into the Retirement Fund a considerable amount of his salary every year.

Now I think we should consider the facts. First, the remarks of the gentleman from Cambria, which are very pertinent. That is, we have many judges who stay upon the bench because if they left the bench they would have no means of income and no means of subsistence. Few indeed, throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, are the judges who die wealthy. Most of these men serve the Commonwealth, serve it well, and they serve it to the distinction and to the benefit of all the citizens of the Commonwealth. These men, many of them, have left a very good practice where they made much more money than they did when they went upon the bench. It is true they did it because of the honors that were conferred upon them and because of the service they could render.

I think it is high time that we recognize these men and the work they do, and give them a modicum of security. The word "security" throughout the Commonwealth is a by-word today. Members of the Assembly, employes of the state and members of the school teaching profession look for retirement, look for the day when they will have sufficient money so they can step aside after they have served the public well and have something upon which they can live. Many of our judges must have that same assurance.

We will furthermore gain another objective, and that is, we will clear the way for senile judges who must work in order to live to step aside and let younger men come upon the bench and they then will have sufficient income to live comfortably in their waning years. In the name of justice to the men who serve upon the bench I urge all Members in this House to vote in favor of this bill.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. MOODY filed the following reasons for his vote.

At the time I advised the Acting President Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Dauphin County that I would support and vote for Senate Bill 376, the Judges' Retirement Bill, I did not realize the huge amount of money the state would be required to pay for the implementation of the retirement program. Although I am heartily in favor of such a retirement program, I do not feel that it is the propitious time to initiate such a program in view of the present Republican program of "Holding the line and no new taxes." It is for the same reason that I oppose pay increases for county row offices to curtail essential state services such as welfare and at the same time increase the salaries of most of the county officers necessitating a higher county tax rate on the citizens just does not "add up".

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 883, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" providing for admission charges to Presque Isle State Park imposing duties on the Department of Highways and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, this bill strives to permit the Park and Harbor Commission at Erie, Pennsylvania, to make a charge of up to 25 cents for entry into the park. This bill will have the effect, perhaps eventually, of bringing about the end result that we will not have the free park system in Pennsylvania. This bill has been brought about by the fact that House Bill 1700, the General Appropriation Bill, does not provide sufficient funds to operate the park.

In the General Appropriation Bill the request was made for $345,000, we were cut to $155,000, and it is expected that some compromise measure will be arrived at.

The purpose of this bill, therefore, is to supplement the income and the reserve that the Park Commission will need to operate properly.

I cannot, in good conscience, stand here and ask the men on this side of the House to vote for this bill. I, however, plan to vote for it because I feel that since we are not getting sufficient money, I have to register my vote as "aye", but I do so only in protest, because I feel it is very unfair that we are singling out one park in Pennsylvania and asking the people of northwestern Pennsylvania to help to support their own park, whereas 110 other state parks in Pennsylvania are, in essence, free parks.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I want to say just a few words against this bill.

I am opposed to this legislation because the park system in Pennsylvania has been established for the citizens of the Commonwealth on a free basis. In my county we have a large park, Shawnee Park. Somewhere around 80,000 people visit that park over a weekend. They do so without paying a fee, and they enjoy that park. To many thousands of these people it is the one recreation they get over the weekend. I believe it is wrong in principle basically for us to start to charge the citizens of the Commonwealth to attend parks which are established for them by the Commonwealth for their recreation.

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, I would like to give you a few figures pertaining to our state park in Erie, so that you will have an idea of how important, how necessary, this bill is to us.

We have about 175 acres in the present park. We have about six miles of new beach that was created as you will recall, by the last appropriation that was made here. This beach is about 100 yards wide and about six miles long. One day last week they had 60 men out there with rakes, endeavoring to clean the sand and the beach and keep it in a sanitary condition. They worked all of the day and they cleaned less than one mile of the beach. A machine to properly clean and care for the beach would cost $25,000. That is just one of the items we have to provide for, and the things that we are going to have to do.

The water line does not run the full length of the peninsula; water is obtainable only in barrels. Anybody would realize that this is a very unsanitary condition. The beach is not adequately staffed with life guards. We have only five maintenance men for that amount of beach and we need at least 20. We have six policemen there now to patrol the beach, and we need at least 12. We have only 15 guards to protect six miles of beach. We very nearly had a drowning there one day last week. It was only due to the fact we had an ex-life guard there that the child was rescued. He is now recovering in one of our local hospitals. The beach is posted because of inadequate service so far as the life guards are concerned. We need at least 50 additional life guards.

Speaking of people visiting our public parks we have over a half million automobiles on that peninsula each summer, carrying approximately two and a quarter million people. The appropriations we have been receiving here in the past, especially now that our beach has been reconstructed and rebuilt, as you all can realize, is inadequate to carry on the needs of this park. There is only one way in the world this park can be properly cared for, for we have found we cannot come into this Legislature every other year and expect, and hope to obtain, an appropriation of adequate size to take care of the needs of that park. If you gentleman will agree to give us adequate money to take care of it, we will certainly forget this bill. But, up until now, we have never been as fortunate as Point Park in Pittsburgh or the Mall in Philadelphia. We have no choice except to resort to this type of legislation, in order to give the people of northwestern Pennsylvania the things they are expecting from a state park.

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I am not trying to answer the gentleman from Erie. I want to agree with everything he said 100 per cent, but I am afraid the gentleman is not looking to the future.

At the present time we will try to use the 25 cents we get in toll charges to supplement the present state appropriation. What we are afraid of is that once we levy a 25 cents toll, eventually the state is going to tell us to take care of the entire maintenance cost instead of just a part of the maintenance cost.

Another reason I do not agree with the bill is because, as anyone in this House can see, it is definitely discriminatory to tell the people in one section, you will have to pay to get into your park, and tell people in 110 other sections throughout Pennsylvania, you don't have to pay to get in.

Another feature of this bill which I feel is fundamentally wrong is the question of traffic control on our peninsula. Whenever you collect a toll, usually in most places, after a toll is collected, traffic moves freely. For example, you come up to the turnpike toll booth, stop your car and pay a toll. What do you do after you pay the toll? You step on the gas and go 50 or 60 miles an hour. You go as fast as the law permits. The situation on our peninsula is definitely a different situation. We now have a traffic bottleneck. When you get on the peninsula you get on one way, when you get off the peninsula you get off the same way. There is no way of making a circle. Even now it takes you three hours to get off the peninsula. The practice on the peninsula will be, I am afraid, that when a person pays the toll he will slow down his car in order to find a parking space. The net effect of that will be that you are going to have a line five or ten miles long trying to get on the peninsula to pay their toll. As I say, tolls are feasible and logical from the traffic standpoint, when you have a free flow of traffic after you have paid your toll. As I said before, this is a traffic bottleneck because you have no circle. You get on one way and you get off the same way.

My contention is that the solution to our problem is not this bill, but the very justifiable amount for which Secretary Goddard has asked in House Bill 1700. It is true we had an original appropriation last biennium of $155,000. It is also true we have now asked for $345,000, which is more than twice the amount we had before. However, we have made capital improvement on the peninsula during the last two or three years. We have increased the beach area approximately from two miles to eight miles. It is impossible to patrol these beaches without extra guards. The people flow on to them regardless of whether you post them indicating they should not swim there. They still get on to those beaches.

I still say the manner to solve this problem is not to say we are now going to charge an entrance fee at only one park in Pennsylvania; the only solution to this problem is to give us the money we really need, and which we asked for in House Bill 1700. As I say, I could not in good conscience, in view of the discriminatory aspect of this bill, ask the men on this side to vote for this bill. I will vote for it, but only under protest.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak briefly in support of the bill.

I can agree with the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski, who just spoke. Possibly a better approach might have been to make a charge of 25 cents for parking privileges, which might have done away with the bottleneck he is so fearful might arise.

I think you are coming to the time, in Pennsylvania, when you are going to make a charge for parking privileges in every state owned park. to help pay for the tremendous upkeep of these recreation parks, due to the increased automobile traffic, and the increased number of people who are using the parks. I do not believe that anyone will, very seriously if at all, consider it is a hardship to have to pay 25 cents for cars to go in and find a parking space on a spot in that park. This would very materially help to maintain and keep the park.

The maintenance cost of these recreational parks has risen tremendously. This was very thoroughly discussed in our Conservation and Game Committee during the 1955-1956 session. As a matter of fact, we were not too far off from putting a bill in to have a parking charge in all recreational parks. I might say that the Secretary of Forests and Waters agreed with that idea. I believe it is his opinion we are coming to that.

I ask support for this bill from all the Members of the House.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear that the gentleman on the other side believes that the citizens of Pennsylvania should be charged 25 cents for getting a little fresh air over a weekend. I cannot help but think, listening to this debate, of what the Majority Leader said when the desilting project was up on the floor, "Mr. Goddard will find plenty of money to desilt, he has plenty of money in his budget." Again, when the question of draining the canal in Berks County came up, he again said "Mr. Goddard will find plenty of money." I hope he will say the same thing now, that Mr. Goddard will find plenty of money for this park.

I think it is odious to all of us to think of charging 25 cents for getting into one of our state parks. I think it is a very bad precedent. I think the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski is right, we should give the proper consideration in the proper place, and that is in House Bill 1700, where this appropriation belongs.

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong the discussion on this bill. However, in answer to the gentleman from Blair, I would like to say this. The people in my district of Erie are residents of a third class city. I would not like to have you make them "third class citizens."

Mr. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, there is just one point I would like to clear up. This bill did not originate in Harrisburg or in the minds of the Erie County Legislators. This originated at a meeting held in Erie by our labor unions and our Chamber of Commerce.

They were desperately in hope of obtaining enough money to adequately take care of the peninsula. When they found that was going to be impossible, their great pride in our park up there forced them to ask us to do this in this manner.

This is being done at the request of the people of Erie and northwestern Pennsylvania alone and not by us. We are merely their agents.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blair, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLAIR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, you say they will charge a fee of 25 cents per auto to gain entrance to Presque Isle, is that true?

Mr. BLAIR. The bill reads "up to 25 cents."

Mr. FILO. Will the people who are entering the park have in and out privileges after they have paid the 25 cents?

Mr. BLAIR. That will be optional with the commission, Mr. Speaker. The bill in its present form grants that authority to the present commission.

Mr. FILO. As you well know, Mr. Speaker, there are numerous people who go to the beaches and stay there for some time. Due to inadequate facilities for eating they leave Presque Isle and return. I am appealing for those people. Numerous people also take their children to the beach and leave them, then at a later hour return for their children. I would not want to see the people penalized for going to the park on numerous occasions after having paid once.

I am glad the gentleman brought out the fact that the Chamber of Commerce urged this legislation. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, the Chamber of Commerce has been advocating legislation putting the brunt of taxes upon the people in the local municipalities. This can be said of House Bill 183. This can be said of the machinery tax bill. This can be said of numerous other bills. This year the Members on the other side of this House have been noted for putting the taxation burden upon the people least able to pay.

I am sure that when legislation such as this passes, it is going to have an effect on the voters of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have noted that while Members of the House were speaking on this floor that there were murmurs and calls, very distinctly, of "roll call." I can say to those gentlemen that if they are so eager about roll calls, we can arrange to provide roll calls on every matter considered by this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request the Members to refrain from calling for a roll call. That is a very unparliamentary procedure until debate has been concluded. That is not the best way nor quickest way to complete the business of the day.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 904, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" increasing the

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 135, entitled:

An Act to select and adopt the Great Dane as the official State dog of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on State Government for the purpose of further study and public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. I ask the Members on both sides of the House to defeat it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, yesterday I talked about two dogs but one of them was eliminated by the defeat of my amendments, so tonight I can only talk to you about one dog, and that is to one in Senate Bill 135.

How did this bill get over here to the House? I read an article in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, dated Saturday, April 20, 1957. Here is the editorial:

A State Dog?

Following the adoption of the hemlock as our state tree, the mountain-laurel as our state flower, and the ruffed grouse as our state bird, a movement was launched to have the legislature proclaim a state dog.

For ten years there has been a lobby at Harrisburg trying to persuade the legislature to choose the Great Dane for this honor.

Just before the Easter recess a beautiful woman, Miss America of 1954, appeared in the Senate chamber with a 170-pound Great Dane.

"The Senate immediately passed on first reading a bill designating the Great Dane as Pennsylvania's official dog.

"Whether the move will go any further remains to be seen.

"The question naturally rises, why should we choose a dog bearing the name of a foreign people as Pennsylvania's symbol?"

That is what worries me, to name a foreign dog as a Pennsylvania symbol. In one of the pieces of literature handed out by the Department of Commerce—I was down there the other day, and they tell me it is the most called for pamphlet in the Department. Every year they distribute about 200,000 pamphlets. At the top of the pamphlet is "Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

First, you have the state flag; you have the state seal, you have the state flower; you have the state coat of arms; then you have the state tree, the hemlock, and the state bird. What worries me is, if we put a foreign dog on this piece of literature, what are we going to call it, "The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Foreign Nations"? I ask you people to consider thoroughly before you vote on this bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like the Members to be patient. I have a small, short doggerel verse regarding this bill and it goes thusly:

"What's great about a Great Dane,
Other than his name?
To name him would be a shame,
For he has accomplished nothing to gain fame.

Has he been in pictures like Rin Tin Tin?
To me he is only a has been,
Dane's fame is only in a picture with William Penn,
He has certainly not accomplished anything since then.

To name him we would be nuts,
Let's all be faithful to our ordinary mutts.

Mr. Speaker, truly, I feel the Great Dane is not the dog for the state of Pennsylvania. Why should we name a dog for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that any ordinary child could not afford? Imagine giving a Great Dane to a child four or five years old. Ask a child about a Great Dane, he would say, "Well, it's a Viking or a Norwegian sailor." Just look around your block, ladies and gentlemen; how many Great Danes have you around your block, or in several blocks?

I am fearful, Mr. Speaker, if we pass the Great Dane as the dog of the Commonwealth, or the Commonwealth dog, in the next session of the Legislature we are going to have to put a bill in appropriating money to buy a Great Dane to take around the state of Pennsylvania so our children can see what a Great Dane looks like.

Another thing, ladies and gentlemen, I want to bring to your attention. Suppose you, or any other family, had a Great Dane during the great depressoin, I am sure nobody would want to keep a Great Dane. So let's be faithful to the mutts at home.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, sometimes I wonder just how ridiculous we can become in this House. I have sat here during a good many sessions, and I have seen this thing come up year after year. We waste countless hours on the thing, and when it is all said and done we are not any further ahead than when we started. I suppose the sensible thing to do would be to pass this bill and get it over with once and for all, but I am inclined to believe there is a principle involved here, and I am not willing to stand here and be sold down the river on our trying to adopt a dog.

In the first place, there are very few people who are interested in this particular thing. There are a few people, I am sure very responsible people, respectable people, who come here, pour their charm around the House, and a lot of the boys seem to fall for that charm. If we are going to name a state dog, why not name a state breed of dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs, horses, swine, chickens, what have you, and I certainly cannot fail to mention the variety of apples or peaches? Then on the other hand, if we were to try to name a state chicken, we might have some conflict of interests.

At the moment I happen to think of the father of the Governor. He is a very outstanding breeder of Leghorn chickens. If we were to name a chicken and name a Leghorn, I am certain the Governor of the Commonwealth would object because when he was a poultryman, he did not raise this particular breed.

Yesterday when this bill was under discussion on second reading, some of the proponents compared it to the things which we have already named as state things, the state tree, the state flower and the state bird. By what stretch of the imagination can we compare a dog to any of these things? They are something in nature, I cannot see how by any stretch of the imagination, we can compare the two.

I personally like any dog. I probably own more dogs than any other Member of this House. I should be in here fighting for the Beagle dog, because after all the Beagle is the most popular dog in the United States. You need not take my word for that; the American Kennel Club can get the records. They have led all registrations during the last three years. I certainly would not come in here and ask this House to waste time trying to name the Beagle, or any any other dog, as the state dog.

Last week, as I was leaving this House one evening, walking down toward the hotel, I met a man and wife, and a child with a dog. That dog was of very uncertain ancestry, I can assure you. But it was a well-kept dog, It was very well fed and very well cared for. I could tell that by looking at the dog. To that youngster, that was the most important dog in the United States. Any other dog which may have had an ancestry or pedigree of five generations, and every one a champion, would not have meant one thing more to that particular kid.

The dog under discussion here is an outstanding dog. There is not any question about that.

As one of the gentlemen on the other side just said, how many people could afford to buy one in the first place, and after you had bought it, if you could afford to buy it, how many people could afford to maintain it? I could probably feed my twenty Beagle dogs for the same price it would cost me to feed one Great Dane. So I say it is ridiculous to try to think of naming one particular dog as the state dog when everybody who has a dog, has a dog which to him is a state dog. I trust we may vote this bill down.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I love all dogs, beginning with the little vest pocket edition known as the Mexican Hairless or the Chihuahua on up to the great lumbering elephant-like Great Dane.

However, I believe there is more in back of this bill than meets the eye. I think there are sinister and motivated powers moving behind this bill. Do you people realize what would happen if this dog was to become popular, and everyone in the state of Pennsylvania would suddenly decide to own a Great Dane? Do you realize what this would do to the price of meat? Do you realize that the price of beefsteak would be trippled and maybe quadrupled? I do not think there is a man in this House who wants to raise the price of his own beefsteak by adopting this Great Dane as a state dog. That is only sensible, gentlemen.

Furthermore, to be more implicit about this thing, and be a little more realistic, if the sponsors were here I would like to interrogate one of them. In fact, I would like to interrogate any man or woman Member of this House who is for this bill. Is there anyone who would permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack consent to be interrogated.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am recalling the saying "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread" but I will consent to be interrogated because I am in favor of the bill.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. McCormack, if you will give me one good logical reason, outside of the fact that William Penn owned a Great Dane, why this dog should be named the Commonwealth or the state dog, then I will vote for the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to do that. At the same time I will say what I intended to say when I would ask for the floor to speak in favor of this bill.

The one and only particular reason that I am in favor of this bill, and the reason I believe it should be passed is that in my three terms of this Legislature, this bill has been bandied about both Houses and has gone back and forth.

The gracious lady who is interested in getting this bill passed and who, I believe, is in the Hall of the House now, has impressed me very much by her sincerity. I certainly do not think there is anything sinister about her desire to get the dog named the state dog. I think out of tribute to her perseverance, and in addition to that the fact that no one else who was in favor of any other dog has come forth with a similar bill.

For those particular reasons we should pass the bill and have it declared the state dog, so it will no longer be necessary for this lady to come up here in the Halls of the House and receive assurance and promises which are constantly being broken.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, but I still am waiting for a good, logical reason why we should adopt the Great Dane as the state dog.

Members of the House, if you are going to adopt a state dog, let us adopt a dog that has done something for the state of Pennsylvania. And I can name you a dog, although I would not propose such a bill.

Let me give you a little history of the only dog, the one and only dog, that should have the title of state dog of Pennsylvania, and this is in all seriousness. In the early days when the settlers of Pennsylvania came here, they at that time lived from the land. They had to live on the game and the furs they procured. When they came here they had nothing but firearms with which to obtain these animals for food and for clothing. Someone struck upon the idea, by accident or by purpose, I do not know which, or maybe the puppy was a traveling salesman and incidentally accomplished this fact for the betterment of the settlers. However, they took a thoroughbred English fox hound and he was bred with a nondescript mongrel that the Indians or the settlers long before brought to this country. Through the breeding of these two dogs developed what was known as the hound dog. This hound dog was the bread winner for the families of the early settlers. They went out, and they hunted everything from bear to rabbits with him, raccoons, opossums and squirrels. That is what the early settlers lived on.

This dog is the only true breed of dog that was ever developed in Pennsylvania. This dog later became known as the coon hound. And that, ladies and gentlemen is the only true state dog that you could possibly name.

However, I would not attempt to introduce legislation naming the Pennsylvania coon hound as the only state dog. Because as I said before in the early part of my speech, I love all dogs and I would not want to put one above the other.

I think the bill should be defeated.

Mr. O'DELL. In answer to the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling, I do not know how many dogs he owns, but when I left home we had 32.

Also, for Mr. Goodling's information, the Beagle hound only led last year.

The gentleman made the statement he could not see any connection between the grouse, or whatever bird he mentioned, the trees and the dogs. At my house there is a lot of connection between trees and doogs.

Mr. GARLOCK. Mr. Speaker, I have an answer that might convince Mr. Maxwell to be for this bill.

Mr. Goodling and Mr Maxwell mentioned the food they would eat, steak. If they could convince the farmers they would get a fair share of the increased cost of this steak, I think they would be for the bill, although I am afraid that they would not get their fair share of the increased cost, so I do not believe I would be for the bill.

Mr. AUKER. I just want to make a brief statement.

If we pass this bill, there is not anything that I can see that would not give a particular breeder of these dogs a very unfair advantage in commercializing such a bill.

I want you all to consider that when you pass this type of bill.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill. While I do not want to bait the charming lady who supports this bill, but back either in 1947 or 1949 while walking up to the Capitol one day in the interest of some bipartisan legislation, which escapes me at the moment, the lady singled me out and asked me to vote for the bill to make the Great Dane the state dog. At that time I informed her I was not a Member of the General Assembly and furthermore I was a Beagle man, as I owned three at that time.

However, the lady, first, lives in my legislative district. Secondly, if we wanted to make the most common dog the state dog, it would probably be a mongrel because there are certainly more of them. As a matter of fact, in the section of the legislative district in which I live, if a dog walked down the street that had a bona fide pedigree, I do not believe there would be another dog which could meet him on a social level.

I am not going to belabor this House, but I want to say I believe that any person who has been so devoted and has worked so tirelessly and with such energy and devotion to the cause she supports should have her efforts crowned with success.

Further in answer to the gentleman from Blair, I might say to him that I believe this lady owns one Great Dane.

In answer to the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling, who talks about all the time that has been taken up in this House with these bills in various sessions concerning electing the Great Dane as the state dog. The gentleman is a farmer, and I believe I have listened to more debate in this House in this session of the General Assembly on farm bills. I listened with interest and I did not begrudge the farmer the time.

I ask the ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House to support this bill.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, we are all doggoned tired; we are all doggoned sleepy. Now let us get this doggoned bill voted on and get out of here.

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, I am about the only one who is sincere here. I have my harness here for that dog. So let's go. Let's get this vote over so I can take that dog home.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, June 19, 1957.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. WHALLEY:

This prayer is by Peter Marshall, former Chaplain of the United States Senate.

Let us pray.

Lord God of Heaven, Who hath so lavishly blessed this land, make us Thy people to be humble. Keep us ever aware that the good things we enjoy have come from Thee. Impress upon our smugness the knowledge that we are not owners, but stewards. Remind us, lest we become filled with conceit, that one day a reckoning will be required of us.

Sanctify our love of Country, that our boasting may be turned into humility and our pride into a ministry to men everywhere.

Help us to make this God's own Country by living like God's own people. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. FLEMING and Mr. KALMAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Senate Bill No. 865, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation out of the "Oil and Gas Lease Fund" to the Department of Forests and Waters for emergency stream clearance and channel rectification work

Senate Bill No. 883, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" providing for admission charges to Presque Isle State Park imposing duties on the Department of Highways and making an appropriation

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WHALLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, Senator Mahany has stated that he is now serving his last term as Majority Leader of the Senate. We all agree in the Senate that he has done an outstanding job, and for that reason, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING SENATOR ROWLAND B. MAHANY, MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate June 19, 1957.

The Honorable Rowland B. Mahany, a member of the General Assembly since 1942 has served tirelessly, faithfully and capably as Republican Majority Leader of the Senate during the 1953-1955 and the current Session of the General Assembly.

He is held in the highest esteem by his colleagues, especially because of patience, marvelous personality and wonderful spirit of understanding. These qualities have earned for "Mac" well merited friendship and appreciation of the entire membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

He will long be remembered for his unselfish devotion to his duties as a public servant, legislator and as Republican Majority Leader of the Senate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulates Rowland B. Mahany, Republican Majority Leader of the Senate, for his accomplishments, especially as Majority Leader and that when he returns to private life, we wish him success, happiness and prosperity; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Rowland B. Mahany as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly am in favor of the adoption of this resolution, because I believe we would all agree that Senator Mahany has proven to be one of the most capable leaders that this Senate has ever known in its entire history. However, there was only one part of the resolution about which I think we should comment very briefly.

I want to assure Senator Mahany that we are not retiring him to private life because he is too valuable a public servant. We hope that he continues in his career as a governmental servant of this Commonwealth.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I wish to thank my colleagues for their kind consideration in the adoption of this resolution. I appreciate it very much and I will always treasure the certified copy of the resolution which I shall receive from the Secretary of the Senate.

I also want to comment along the lines which Senator Fleming did; that I do not intend to retire to pasture. I understand that race horses are sometimes retired to pasture after a long and successful career and, perhaps, they have pleasurable days in the pasture. However, I do not yet expect to go to pasture.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, for about six weeks now I have had a peculiar adornment about my chin and, of course, as most of the Members know, it is in honor of the Centennial Celebration of the Borough of Macungie or Bear Swamp, located in Lehigh County.

This centennial will take place from June 23, 1957 through June 30, 1957. I, personally, extend an invitation to all the members of the Senate, and all the people of Pennsylvania, to come down to our great community of Macungie during this occasion. We plan to have a real fine affair. I know you will find many beards down there much larger and, perhaps, much more beautiful than this one that I am wearing.

In honor of this occasion, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE BOROUGH OF MACUNGIE ON ITS ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 19, 1957.

The year 1957 marks the 100th birthday of the Borough of Macungie and the week of June 23 to June 30 has been set aside as "Macungie Week" in order to properly celebrate this centennial.

Macungie is a small industrial and agricultural town located approximately ten miles southwest of Allentown in Lehigh County. The town, whose name in Indian language means Bear Swamp, is populated with people who, like their ancestors, are hard working, industrious and thrifty.

Actually the community was populated by various itinerant Indian tribes many, many years before Columbus discovered America. In the year of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the town of Millerstown was located on the present site at the eastern end of the Pennsylvania Dutch area. In 1875 the name was changed to Mcungie because of a conflict of names with Millerstown in Perry County. Millerstown, now Macungie, was established as a borough on December 26, 1857 when an election for borough officials was held.

From its inception as the second borough to be established in Lehigh County, Macungie was a flourishing rural community. Production of charcoal iron was an early industry of the area and the first castiron cook stove was produced at the nearby "Mohry" furnace. Industry and agriculture flourished in the area until today Macungie has the proper blend of industry and farming for a town of approximately 1,100 persons.

Religion, culture and community affairs have also progressed in the town and now today Macungie can boast of its five churches and the fact that its children attend the new three and one-half million dollar high school recently erected by the East Penn Union School District of which the borough is a part. The Grange and various other fraternal organizations are also active in the community.

Although Macungie is a modern community with a modern government, it has still managed to retain many of its old customs and habits. Progress has certainly not destroyed its history; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extends to the Borough of Macungie its sincerest congratulations on 100 years of progress and its best wishes for a future of prosperity and growth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be spread upon the record of this body and copies be forwarded to John M. Franks, General Chairman of the Macungie Centennial Committee and Burgess Wilbur F. Reichard.

PRESENTATION (HUMOROUS) TO SENATOR THOMAS A. EHRGOOD

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I have the great privilege and honor today to pay tribute, with a little gift, to one whom we consider one of the finest, young freshmen, and the freshest young freshman, that has ever been in the Senate of Pennsylvania. The gentleman for whom I have this gift comes from that wonderful farm country, in the third class city of Lebanon.

He is a gentleman who finds it very difficult to keep his feet on the floor. On many occasions, we have had to put his feet down and just explain to him what the floor was made for. However, this is no reflection at all upon his ability. He is really dynamic and, certainly, his contribution to the Senate has been most helpful to some of we older veterans. After nine years, I am beginning to think of myself as a veteran. Of course, I am only thirty-nine years old and Senator Taylor is forty.

Mr. President, I feel it is a great honor to try and save this young man's energy. He travels from one side of the floor to the other in this Senate. If a pretty girl is standing on the other side, you know he will be there, again interfering with we older fellows. We feel as though we may save his life and put some real pep into him for next year by slowing him down a little bit, and not having him pace so steadily over the floor of the Senate.

Therefore, if Senator Ehrgood will come over to Senator Mahany's domicile here, I would like to present to him a gift and have him open it in order for his colleagues to see what it is.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I cannot tell you how happy this gift makes me. Seriously, the thing which is so wonderful about these roller skates is, as a young man, I need them to keep up with all these sponsors and persons who take care of me and who advise me about all the things I should not do, particularly in the late hours.

However, if I did as they say and not as they do, I would be much better off.

Seriously, Mr. President, I cannot tell you how much I have enjoyed these six months in this Senate. It has been the greatest time of my life, and I really appreciate this little token, too. Thank you very much.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 903, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" authorizing the state board for vocational education to administer the allocation of unencumbered federal and state vocational education funds the vocational training of unemployed adults and directing the preparation of a state-wide plan of area vocational technical schools and implementation thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I am voting "no" on this bill for the reason that we are being asked to vote on a program that is far-reaching in effect, and without any clear-cut idea about what we are voting for. I think we are being asked to do something by the Department of Public Instruction which is unjustified at this time.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I heard the gentleman say he was voting "no" on this bill and I noted that he voted "no" on the previous bill, which is quite consistent. These two bills are companion bills and anyone who voted "no" on House Bill No. 902: would be expected to vote negatively on House Bill No. 903. Conversely, I think those of us who favored House Bill No. 902 certainly should vote "aye" on House Bill No. 903.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, we now are providing a program for the youth of our State, those attending our public schools, which I have long hoped for.

All children are not interested in becoming doctors or lawyers or accountants, as much as we need them. I believe a great majority of children would be more interested in school if they were taught to make the best use of their hands, as well as their brains. We need mechanics, bricklayers, carpenters, nurses and well-trained cooks. I am glad to support this program and hope that it will be approved.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to endorse the sentiments of Senator Mallery and Senator Wagner. I would like to say that the development of area technical schools is going on. This bill sees to it that these developing schools, and the demand for other schools, will proceed according to a plan which will be integrated in the Commonwealth so that we do not get an overbalanced or underbalanced program in some areas of the Commonwealth to the detriment of others. I think this is a worth-while thing.

This is a "may" bill. It does nothing without consultation with the county offices and the local districts. It simply provides a plan in order that this developing vocational education, on an area or county basis, may fit into something which has some reasonableness and some rationality all over the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think it is a good bill. I certainly agree with Senator Wagner that if we pass the one bill, we should be consistent and pass the other.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, it is quite easy to talk about a plan and not know what that plan is. I would like to hear some explanation of what the plan is on area vocational schools and how much it is going to cost, not only now but in the future. If they can give me that information and also show me the benefits which will accrue, and give some explanation in order that each Senator will know what we are voting on, I might be in favor of it, too. However, none of use, at least none on this side that I know of except perhaps a few, know what the plan is.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would first say to the gentleman that existing law now authorizes the formation of county and area vocational schools. This adds nothing to the ability to have such schools. The program in these schools is left, obviously, to the local authorities because there is a different type of industry and a different type of vocation stressed in different parts of the Commonwealth. This bill adds nothing nor detracts nothing from the ability to have such area vocational schools. It simply puts upon the State Board of Vocational Education, which is already established,—it does not create a new board—the job of formulating a State plan so that as these schools develop, they fit into the State plan. In that way, you will not have two schools in adjoining counties hitting the same area when one would do for that entire area.

There is no substantive right given in this bill actually because the right to establish such schools, by local authorities or by county authorities or by county officers acting jointly, already exists.

When Senator Ehrgood asks what it will cost, I, of course, cannot tell him because I do not know how fast these schools will develop. However, I can tell you, Mr. President, that it will not cost any more with this plan than it will without this plan. The right to organize these area schools is already in the existing law. Unless that is repealed, that right has already been given. Therefore, this bill will not cost any more by fitting these into a plan than it will if we let them develop in an unplanned and formless and duplicating type of system. In fact, in the long run, it seems obvious to me that a planned development will cost less because it will not prove for duplication of services when they can be avoided.

If there are any other questions within my limited ability, I will be glad to answer them. However, that is a general answer to what I understand Senator Ehrgood wants to know.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SEYLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Senator Seyler, you have stated that this bill does not add nor detract anything that now exists, is that correct?

Mr. SEYLER. It does not add nor detract anything. It does not establish any schools. It simply says that as schools develop, they shall be part of a plan to be formulated by the State.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Why, then, do you need the law?

Mr. SEYLER. We need the law in order to prevent a sporadic and unplanned development of these schools, wherein Armstrong County will have a school and the next county will have a school. However, if we have a State plan, the same school might do for Armstrong County and whatever the neighboring county is,—I do not know that part of the State well enough—and in that way we would not have a duplication of services. Instead of having a duplicating service, Armstrong might emphasize one type of vocation and the next county might emphasize another. The pupils from Armstrong could go to one school and the pupils from the other county could go to the other, instead of having two schools for each.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Is it not correct that in our high schools we do have vocational courses at the present time?

Mr. SEYLER. That is correct. In any high school which has a system large enough to afford it, they have vocational courses. However, heretofore, there have been large areas in the Commonwealth which have had a need; that is to say, have had boys interested in vocational work, such as Senator Mallery described, but have not had enough of these pupils in order for it to be economically feasible within one school district to set up such a school. Therefore, the idea came,—I think it was in 1951 or 1953; I do not remember which—to set up, on a county basis or on an area basis, schools for those counties which perhaps were predominately rural and which did not have enough of such type of pupils to warrant any one community having such a school.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Is this on an area or county basis that these are proposed?

Mr. SEYLER. The existing law provides for both county and area; area being counties, jointly, or counties and districts, jointly. It does not set up a new administrative unit. It simply says that the two units may co-operate for this one purpose alone.

Mr. EHRGOOD. How does this law change the pre-existing law?

Mr. SEYLER. This law does not change in any sense the pre-existing law. It simply says that as these schools develop, they now will develop according to a plan.

It is the same as you have in your county, Senator Ehrgood. When the movement toward jointures began, it began pretty formlessly and you had some jointures formed which were not logical. I dare say that in your county, and in most of our counties, there are jointures, for example, in which a cluster of school districts in one county joined with another across the county line. Later on, this proved an embarrassment. Therefore, we instituted the county plan. Now as jointures are made, they are asked to conform to that county plan in order that you do not have overlapping, duplicating and awkward situations, requiring more transportation than is economically a good idea.

This plan would merely do the same thing for the development of these vocational schools as that county plan does in your county, to see to it that you have a rational development of school districts.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Is this going to train adults, as well as school children?

Mr. SEYLER. I did not hear the question.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Is this intangible plan going to train adults as well as school children?

Mr. SEYLER. The prime purpose of vocational schools is for the training of children. It is only when districts or counties take action to set up adult classes that they are provided. However, all that is in the existing law This would not change that. This makes no provision for any additional or extension to that.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Thank you, Senator Seyler.

Mr. President, the main gist of this argument has gotten down to the fact that we are dealing with what is actually pre-existing law.

Therefore, Mr. President, I see no sense in going ahead and putting into effect another law when none of us know what is being accomplished by that law. More than that, I have a little experience with this in Lebanon County, whereby the people of this Commonwealth have been saddled with the training of shoe factory workers for the benefit of shoe manufacturers. The main reason is that those manufacturers in Lebanon County refused to meet the prevailing wage rate, and they are asking the people of this Commonwealth to pay for education on a basis such as this. I think it is time that we stop being fooled by such programs, without knowing what we are doing.

I hope that the Members of the Senate will examine this bill and try to determine what we are voting for. If they can find an intelligent answer, then I will vote for it.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we presently have several vocational schools in Philadelphia. I had occasion to visit one of these schools about a year ago. It was just outside my District. I want to tell the Members of this Senate that I felt thrilled to see both youngsters and adults, with serious faces, trying to improve themselves. I went away with the feeling that this was the best way we could spend money toward helping both youngsters and adults to improve themselves in vocational training.

Therefore, Mr. President, I voted in favor of House Bill No. 902, and I intend to vote in favor of House Bill No. 903.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 908, on third reading, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the sale to the general public of convict made wares be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 984, entitled:

An act providing for the relocation of utility facilities to accommodate Federal-aid highway projects for certain powers and duties of the Secretary of Highways relating thereto for payment of the cost of such relocation from the Motor License Fund for determination of Certain issues concerning such cost of relocation by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and for the disposition of moneys received in advancement or reimbursement of such payments

An said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there has been opposition to this bill because certain of the motor clubs have stirred up some of their members to oppose it, saying that this was a raid on the Highway Fund. Some of our contractor friends and equipment producers for the Highway Department also have opposed it because they feel that any money which would be detoured for the use of relocating utility facilities would not be available for them. Therefore, they feel that is not right and they would like to have all the money in the Highway Fund.

I suppose we could close our eyes to this thing and say that it will be a number of utilities that will have to pay the bill and, therefore, put the load on them. However, I think that would be shortsighted. The utilities, in the end, would not have to pay the bill. It would be the consumers of electricity, gas, water and other things provided to the consumers by the utilities who would have to pay the bill. If the utilities have to go to the expense of relocating these facilities, then all they can do is go to the Public Utility Commission and ask for a rate increase. Under our law, the stockholders in these utilities are guaranteed a certain rate of return. What would happen would be that the little fellow, the Joe Smith, to whom the Democrats like to refer, and the John Doe, the citizens, would have to pay this bill in the form of higher telephone rates, higher electric rates and higher water rates. The money which is available under the Federal Road Program to the citizens of Pennsylvania, if we set up an enabling act such as this, would go to some other State in the event that we defeat this legislation.

I think that many of our factories and big corporations are going to other States, and expanding in other States, not so much because of the tax picture in Pennsylvania but because of the lower power rates which they can enjoy if they go to other States.

A great deal has been said about the decision of the Universal Cyclops Steel Company, which was in Bridgeville, Pennsylvania, to set up a new plant in the State of Ohio. A month or so ago, we had a lot of debate here on the floor of the Senate as to why they went to Ohio instead of staying in Pennsylvania and branching out in Pennsylvania. I got in touch with the president of the company and he told me that one of the major decisions which caused them to locate in Ohio was the lower power rate which they could obtain at their site in Ohio, as compared with the power rate in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, if we force the utilities to relocate these facilities, it will just mean higher power rates and more and more companies will locate in sister States and certainly will branch out there. If we want industry to expand in Pennsylvania, if we want Pennsylvania to be an attractive State, then certainly we must vote for this legislation.

The Federal Government realized the great cost to the utilities for these relocations and, by an act of Congress, it provided that where the State sets up enabling legislation such as this bill before us, the Federal Government will participate in the cost of these relocations at the same percentage rate as they participate in the cost of building the new highways and relocating the highways under the Federal Road Program.

Mr. President, if we do not obtain this money that is available for this purpose, our sister States who set up such legislation will obtain it at the expense of our citizens. We will not only have to pay our share of the cost in the form of Federal tax, which is levied on gasoline and automobile accessories and which will be distributed to these sister States, but we will also have to pay through higher tariffs which are going to be charged for the use of these utilities because of the relocating of these facilities in our own State.

Therefore, I think this is very good legislation. I hope all the Senators will vote for it.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the speech Senator Mahany made has the same old ring. Everytime you want to put a tax on big business, they are going to move out. Everytime you make a raid on the State treasury, you are going to bring industry in. However, it is the same old tune. What about the little fellows, Senator Mahany? I am going to talk about him a little bit.

I went over this Calendar, Mr. President, and from what I was able to observe, this is the last in a series of actions by this Legislature which will constitute the biggest and the most disgraceful give-away to big business in the history of this Commonwealth, at the expense of the ordinary man and woman. Because of it, Mr. President, I think the Democrats have one of the most effective campaign issues they have had for a long time. I certainly hope they will not fumble the ball this year or next year as they did last year.

I hope the Democratic leaders will concentrate on what is going to happen in Harrisburg instead of concentrating on what is going to happen in Washington or some place else. That is the mistake they made last year. I repeat, I hope they do not make the same mistake this year and next year, because we have the issues on our side if we just get them across to the people.

I heard, early in the Session, Senator Mahany and some others say that we predicted defeat for the Republicans if the sales tax went on and for some other reasons. In spite of our predictions, the Republicans won and they controlled the Legislature at this Session. However, it was not because the people approved of the action of the Republicans at the last Session. It was, I repeat, an error of judgment on the part of the Democrats because—and I repeat again so that it sinks in—they paid too much attention to what was going to happen in Washington instead of concentrating on what was going to happen in Harrisburg in 1957. When the votes were counted, we found ourselves short over the State and short in the House and Senate of this General Assembly.

There is no question in my mind, or in the mind of any other person, that this bill is a raid on the Motor License Fund. When you make a raid on the Motor License Fund, you are depriving this Commonwealth of matching funds to get free Federal money. I think it has already been established that we are now short of sufficient motor funds to be able to take advantage of the full amount Pennsylvania will be able to get in Federal funds.

Mr. President, when you make a raid on the Motor License Fund, you curtail highway construction and when you curtail highway construction, it has an effect on the economy of the entire State. If the one cent tax which was dropped had been retained so that the Motor License Fund would have sufficient funds to take care of its obligations, perhaps it would not be so bad.

I defy anyone in this Chamber, who attended the Joint Appropriations Committee Meeting when the Highway Department presented its budget needs, to say they refuted one single item which was presented, not one. Every member of that committee agreed that every project, every item which was presented was needed. As I said before on the floor of the Senate, when that meeting broke up, there was not a person in the room who did not agree that the one cent emergency tax should be retained. However, instead of placing the welfare of the Commonwealth above what might be used as a campaign slogan of "No new taxes," the one cent was dropped. As a result, the Motor License Fund is short and is going to be short.

What effect will it have? I said before it will have an effect on the economy of Pennsylvania and it will, because when you curtail highway construction, it reflects in the face of every industry related to highway construction. It affects the steel industry because steel is used in highway construction.

I happen to live in an area that produces steel and, of course, the steel companies are against this bill for that reason. When the steel companies are affected, employment is affected because if they do not have work, men are laid off or the number of working days per week are cut down and it could have a serious effect. Slag is needed to construct highways. If the Motor License Fund does not have the money to construct highways, slag cannot be bought. Therefore, it affects that industry and the people who work therein. Concrete and cement must be used to build highways. If the money is not in the Motor License Fund, it affects that industry. It just so happens that in my area we have both a slag and cement industry.

Crushed stone is needed to construct highways. If the money is not in the Motor License Fund or the program is curtailed, it means it affects the crushed stone industry. The same thing applies to black top, the same thing applies to highway equipment and the machinery which is manufactured in this State that requires steel and other products, which provides employment for the people of this great Commonwealth. None of those factors are taken into consideration.

I am assuming this bill is going to pass and thus complete the great give-away to big business. Big business, I said, got its greatest break in this Session of the Legislature. We enacted the sales tax and big business was exempted. The manufacturers' excise tax will be permitted to expire or, shall I say, big business will not have to pay it after the first of the year, I believe. When the bus companies came for relief, at least this Chamber gave them relief. It was a give-away. I do not know what happened to the bills over in the House, but they cut down the license fees, exempted them from paying the gasoline tax and, I think, exempted them from the gross receipts tax.

It has been give-away after give-away. Who is for this bill, Mr. President? Is it the ordinary guy in the street? Is he sending letters to anyone to approve this bill to make a raid on the Motor License Fund? Of course not. It was the utilities; the utilities that will benefit by it, not the guy in the street.

I heard Senator Mahany say something about the motor clubs. What is the membership of the motor clubs? The membership of the motor clubs is composed of highway users and the highway users, the rank and file of the people, are the ones who are against raiding the Motor License Fund because they want better and more highways. They want the Motor License Fund to have as much money in it as possible for that purpose.

Yesterday, one of the other utilities had to move in and get in on the act. The railroads are now included in this give-away, or raid on the Motor License Fund, by compelling the Motor License Fund to pay for the relocation of its utilities.

Everybody, Mr. President, was taken care of during this Session but the little people. The little people, because of the budget cuts and to be able to take care of the give-aways and to be able to take care of whatever reductions were made in taxes, have been deprived of many, many needed, badly needed, State services in mental health, health, welfare and in every other category involving the State Government.

Yes, Mr. President, after this bill goes through, it will be the climax to the biggest and most disgraceful give-away in the history of Pennsylvania, and it should be an effective campaign issue for the Democrats which will bring victory to them this year and next year.

I ask the gentlemen on this side, and those who believe in a prosperous Pennsylvania and in a solid Motor License Fund, to vote against this bill.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I thought my colleague, Senator Mahany, gave sufficiently good reasons why every Member of the Senate should vote for this bill. However, since my friend and colleague, Senator Yosko, has spoken, I believe I can give some reasons which will impel the good Senator himself to support this bill.

As we all know, the Romans were noted for giving us law. More than forty years ago at Bucknell, I took a course in Roman Law and I confess, because my memory is not quite as good as it was then, that I can remember only one thing I learned in that course. I recall this phrase, "Sic utere tuo ut alieno ne laedas," which means I believe, "So employ your own property as not to injure that of another."

The utilities, light companies and telephone companies, in order to provide needed services, have installed poles and wires to render services which all of us want to use. I think it is only right if the State or Federal Government, in the exercise of providing better roads, deems it necessary to require those facilities to be torn down and if we want to have those facilities, they will have to be replaced. However, I see no good reason why those utilities should bear the entire cost of rebuilding something for which they have previously paid. If they are required to bear the whole cost, who will ultimately bear that cost? As Senator Mahany plainly pointed out, it will be the users of those utilities. He also pointed out that reasonable or cheap power is a great inducement to attracting industry into any State where such power is produced.

If we are going to require the light companies in Pennsylvania to pay, again, the cost of replacing certain facilities, certainly someone must pay. You get nothing for nothing in this State.

I have a more realistic reason why this bill should be passed. I have convinced the secretary of the motor club in Huntingdon County that there is good reason why the motor club should not be opposing this bill.

Just a few years ago, Hollidaysburg was confronted with this realistic fact. The main highway, from the east to the west, passes by my home, which is Allegheny Street and which is Route 22. In order to relieve the congestion on Allegheny Street, Blair Street, which was a borough street and over a mile in length, was taken over by the State Highways system. The borough water lines and sewer lines were ripped up. The Borough of Hollidaysburg had to float a bond issue of $50,000, which was a serious handicap or charge on the borough. It cost the borough $50,000, and that can happen in every municipality in the State of Pennsylvania.

I ask my colleagues to consider seriously whether this is not a good bill.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I do not think the little man in Pennsylvania has a greater champion for his cause than Senator Yosko. Senator Yosko is sincere in his efforts to protect the workingman, and the small man, in this State. However, today I must disagree with my colleague on this bill and I very seldom disagree with him.

I do not feel that this is a bill, Mr. President, which effects the little man. On the contrary, in many of our counties, and in many of our townships and cities, especially in the city of Philadelphia, this is going to be of great aid to our taxpayers. You know in some of these townships and cities, some of the utilities are owned by the cities. In the city of Philadelphia, Mr. President, we own the gas works and the water works. When I say we, I mean the city of Philadelphia. If we have to pay for relocation of our lines because of highways, it will directly affect the taxpaying public in the city of Philadelphia.

This is the type of bill wherein you can find good and evil. I do not say it is all good and it is not all evil. Nevertheless, as we study the bill, and as we look at the equities, I feel generally, directly and indirectly that there are greater equities in this bill than I can find evils.

I feel that my colleagues from the city of Philadelphia and others whose municipalities control the utilities must, of necessity, to protect the taxpayers in those communities from being saddled with more taxes, vote for this type of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I very briefly want to say a word in connection with this proposed legislation and call attention to paragraph (2) of Section 1, on page 2 of the bill, wherein utilities are defined as: "Any person partnership association corporation political subdivision municipality authority or other public or private entity who or which furnishes service to the public or any cooperative association or corporation which furnishes service to its members."

Mr. President, when we discuss this type of legislation, we usually think of the large utility companies and overlook the fact that this legislation would be of primary benefit to these other entities which are mentioned in subparagraph 2, the municipality authorities and the publicly owned utilities.

Mr. President, I have seen some figures on the cost of relocating some of these smaller entities and it is amazing to find that the cost of moving their facilities, because of new road construction, relocation or widening improvement, in some instances, exceeded by two or three times the gross income of that entity from receipts for its services over a period of a year.

Mr. President, that is rather a heavy burden to place upon these smaller utilities, these publicly owned utilities and these municipality authorities. Consequently, I believe the cost to the Motor License Fund in this connection is a minor cost and will result in a great deal of saving to the people in these smaller communities who own their own utilities and who are served by a municipality authority or a small, privately owned utility.

Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill because I believe it will be of benefit.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to the speeches here today and I looked over the sponsorship of this legislation, and I see on there the name of Representative Reidenbach. I happened to serve with him in the House, and I think he is a very liberal, honest-to-goodness Democrat from Lackawanna County. I feel that "Butch" Reidenbach would not have put his name on this bill if it were going to directly benefit all the utilities.

I am concerned about the Federal projects and the Federal highway system, especially the Boggs Bill, which will permit and grant a ninety per cent reimbursement to the State and, of course, the other legislation as far as the Federal laws are concerned which is on a fifty-fifty basis.

I heard Senator Mahany give an explanation of the subject matter contained in this bill, but I would like to ask him several other questions, if I may.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, is it your understanding that under the provisions of this bill, the reimbursable feature is applicable only to Federal aid highways. Is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. It is Federal aid on the primary or secondary system.

Mr. LANE. All right. The other question I would like to ask you, Senator Mahany, is in the event we have a Federal highway system which is financed under the Boggs Bill, which provides that they shall pay ninety per cent of the cost, would ninety per cent of the cost of moving the utilities be taken from the Federal funds that are reimbursed to the State?

Mr. MAHANY. I understand that would be in addition to the funds which we would otherwise receive, Senator. On the Federal aid primary system, it would only cost us ten cents on the dollar, the Federal Government giving ninety cents. On the secondary system, it is on a basis of fifty per cent from the Federal Government and fifty per cent from the State.

Mr. LANE. In other words, if I am to understand you correctly, you feel that under the provisions of this bill, if utilities were moved under the ninety per cent feature, ninety per cent of the cost of moving the utilities would be paid from Federal funds?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right, Senator.

Mr. LANE. Ten per cent would be paid by the State?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right.

Mr. LANE. On secondary roads, fifty per cent would be paid by Federal funds and fifty per cent by the State?

Mr. MAHANY. That is my understanding.

Mr. LANE. I wish to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, that was my thinking in regard to this particular piece of legislation.

I would like to clarify a few points, however, while I am on the floor. Most counties and districts, which are going to have the advantage of receiving these new highways built with Federal funds, are going to be confronted with a major problem on property damages. I am speaking particularly of my own county of Washington because we have, I think, about sixty some miles of Federal highways going through our county.

We, as members of the board of county commissioners, are concerned about property damages. It seems to me that if ninety per cent of the property damages on these limited access highways are going to be paid by the Federal Government, I feel that I should be for this legislation.

I might also say, Mr. President, that there has been a misconception in regard to railroads. I would like to see railroads in this bill because I want you to know that where the Department of Highways requests that a railroad bridge be relocated, the Public Utility Commission holds a hearing and the Public Utility Commission may assess a portion of the cost of relocating that bridge upon the counties and upon the boroughs or the townships. Therefore, the local political subdivisions are going to suffer financially.

There has been another misconception on public utilities. Whenever the Department of Highways relocates a highway in Pennsylvania, there is a certain amount of property damage involved, which includes a relocation of public utilities, and the county government in the various counties is assessed or sometimes we sign a contract with the State, whereby we will pay a certain percentage of the property damages which includes the relocation of public utilities.

I feel this legislation is going to help those districts which are receiving highways and are going to be the recipients of Federal aid. I cannot see why this is bad legislation. I am willing to be convinced. However, in going over this in detail, I find that, in my opinion, it is going to help the political subdivisions who are going to be saddled with a lot of property damages. As a matter of fact, we are having a bypass built around the city of Washington in my county. When we had a meeting with the district engineer,—and, by the way, this is a ninety per cent contribution project—his statement to us was that ninety per cent of the cost would be paid by the Federal Government, which they hope to have done, and the other ten per cent would be split between the county and the State.

Mr. President, unless something like this bill is passed and made law, I feel our county of Washington is going to have to float a bond issue for at least a quarter of a million dollars for property damages. Therefore, I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate. However, I think the Members on both sides should realize that this is six of one and a half dozen of the other. In the end, the people are going to pay for this type of service. I think we all realize that the base which the utilities use in order to get their rates set is either the original cost or the reproduction cost on the market price. This is made up by a number of factors. The utilities go to the Public Utility Commission to set their rates. If they have to do work or replace any of their equipment, it is going to cost them more money. This is going to be included in their next asking price when they hike the rates. In order to do this, any work they have done will be included in asking for these increases. Therefore, the end result will be that the people will pay the cost of doing this work whether or not we pass this legislation.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to make a few observations.

I heard Senator Donolow talk about how much it was going to cost the Philadelphia taxpayers if this bill is not passed. I just want to say to Senator Donolow that if he would consider the amount of money that is spent from the Motor License Fund for highway improvements in and around Philadelphia, the amount the Philadelphia taxpayers would pay for the relocation of these utilities would be a mere pittance by comparison.

I also want to say that this bill, if the information Senator Barr gave me is correct, was considered by seventeen States. Nine of them turned it down, and eight of them passed it. I understand that seven Governors of the eight States vetoed the bill. If this bill passes, I, for one, will ask the Governor to follow suit with the other seven Governors and veto this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1476, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the suspension or dismissal of certain professional employees of the Commonwealth except for just cause and making any such suspension or dismissal an adjudication under the Administrative Agency Law.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. I was hoping, Mr. President, that the dropping action of the Majority Whip would extend to House Bill No. 1476 and I would not have to make this statement.

I am opposed to this bill, Mr. President, because it does not do what it purports to do. One of the most important problems in modern government I suppose is that of getting adequate, well-trained personnel into the various jobs and services which the State Government has undertaken for its citizens. Not only in Pennsylvania, but in all the States of the Union, Governors and other executive officers are running into this problem.

There are obviously two ways in which you attract competent people. I am speaking now, particularly, on the level of professional and technical employees where special training is required to do a particular job. One way to attract these people is to offer adequate salaries, and the other is to offer job security so that these persons do not come to a State only to find out that with the turn of politics, in a few years, they have lost their positions and must seek new employment.

On the first count of better salaries, this Commonwealth in the last several years has made some progress. Were it not for some of our penny-wise and pound-foolish budget practices on the part of the Legislature, we might continue that progress at this Session. However, I am not here to debate the amount of money in the budget. I am here to debate the second expedient, the second inducement which is offered these people, and that is job security.

The Governor has urged that greater security be given in the form of civil service security, under a merit system, to this type of personnel. Legislation was introduced for that purpose. Subsequent to the introduction of this legislation, this bill we are considering today was introduced. This is not a civil service bill. It fails to come up to the standard of a civil service bill on a number of counts. I would like to point them out to you. First of all, it provides for no examination for making appointments nor for any other competitive system of making appointments. Secondly, it has no procedure for promotion under a merit system. Thirdly, it has no security against demotion within the system. It mentions "just cause for dismissal" and says that employees may be dismissed "for just cause," but nowhere does it give any definition of what constitutes "just cause."

It sets up a rather fantastic prerequisite for being admitted to civil service because it says that only employees who have a college education can receive civil service. It is true that in many of these professional and technical jobs, a college education may be a necessary part of the training. On the other hand, this is not necessarily true. This means that if there are two men in similar positions or identical positions, working side by side, in a department and if one of them has a college education and the other has gained his position by his practical experience, plus perhaps his own efforts and study, the person with the college education, under this bill, would receive some job security which the other man working side by side with him, but not having had a college education, would not receive. This, to my mind, is a highly discriminatory and improper type of civil service protection.

As a matter of fact, the provision of this bill, which provides that a college education is required, is a direct violation of Section 502 of our Civil Service Act, which reads as follows: "but no applicant shall be required to be possessed of any scholastic education in order to be permitted a competitive examination or to be appointed or promoted to any position." That is sensible, because I think we will all recognize that in some cases the place of a college education may be taken by the fact that a person is self-educated; that a person, by his experience in a position, has gained the necessary skills and knowledge to do the job. Therefore, we can say this is definitely not a civil service or merit system bill, although it pretends in a sense to be.

Another defect in this bill is the fact that its appeal procedure is faulty. It sets up the Administrative Agency Law as setting the procedure for appeal. However, this law was not intended for this kind of appeal at all. The Administrative Agency Law was set up to handle appeals to a board or commission from some member of the public who had a complaint against that commission. Under the terms of this bill, if an employee would appeal under the Administrative Agency Law, his appeal would be heard by the person against whom he had the complaint. In other words, the person who dismissed him or suspended him would be the person who would hear his appeal on the suspension or dismissal, which is obviously ludicrous and it shows that the problem of appeal was not really considered in this hastily drawn bill.

This bill sets a probationary period of two years. It says that any person who has been employed in a position for two years after the Act takes effect would be frozen into his position. This, of course, is a probationary period which is entirely too long compared to the ordinary provisions of the Civil Service Act. As a matter of fact, there are some employees presently in our State Government who have protection under civil service and who lose it were this bill to go into effect. Some people who have enjoyed the protection of civil service under a merit system for years, in our Department of Health, for example, or our Department of Welfare, would now be deprived of it if this bill went into effect.

Another very serious consideration is the fact that in some agencies of our government,—and I am now thinking particularly of the Department of Health and I will cite that as an example, although I understand there are others—some of the money we receive from the Federal Government for health agencies is contingent upon our having satisfactory civil service for the employees working under the Act through which that money is given to us by the Federal Government. Our Health Department receives money from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare on that basis

I have in my hand, Mr. President, a letter addressed to the Secretary of Health, Doctor Mattison, from Doctor Ruth K. Beecroft, who is Regional Medical Director of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, of our Federal Government, in which Doctor Beecroft tells Doctor Mattison that the protection proposed under this bill would not meet the standards required by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in order to give us the Federal money under the provisions of the Federal law. Therefore, Mr. President, it would prejudice about $5,000,000 of money which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is now receiving from the Federal Government. If there were no other reason but that, this would be a very telling reason why we should vote down this bill.

Mr. President, for all these reasons and primarily because this bill is a fraud and a sham in that it promises something which it does not do, I feel the Members of the Senate should vote in opposition to it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we who have been on this Senate floor for many years have heard the pro and con of civil service. Those who are for civil service and those who are against civil service are not divided between the Republican Party and the Democratic Party. There are many Democratic Senators who are very much opposed to civil service. I do not believe Senator McGinnis, who has been the Democratic County Chairman of Allegheny County for many years,—I believe he said eighteen years the other day—has ever hidden his opposition to civil service. He has stood on this floor many, many times to state that he was unalterably opposed to civil service legislation. I can sometimes understand why, because I hold in my hand a letter which was written by the civil service department to an employee by the name of Mrs. Elizabeth Range. It carries the letterhead of the Department of Welfare, State Council for the blind. I understand that Mrs. Range had a civil service position and they advise her in this letter that at the close of business on June 28, 1957, they are terminating her employment. They also state they are referring her name to the director of the personnel division of the department for possible consideration for employment elsewhere in the department. However, they do not leave her much hope for any further employment.

I received this second or thirdhand and, therefore, cannot vouch for the truthfulness of it. However, I understand she was told that if she would change her registration, she would receive employment in some other department in the State Government.

Mr. President, I have heard Secretary Goddard state on many occasions that he was finding it increasingly difficult to obtain the services of registered engineers and professional people for his department because they did not feel they had any job security under the present setup. So, we know it is quite impossible to enact a civil service law to cover all these employees who some of us think should be covered by civil service. This, I will admit, is a type of stopgap legislation. It does give the employee some job security. Perhaps Senator Seyler does not feel it is very much. Some of the others, perhaps, feel it is a good deal and that it would be satisfactory to an employee.

Today when a person seeks State employment, at least he wants to have some assurance that he will not just be thrown out on his ear in the event that the political complexion of the State changes and an Administration comes in which is different from the Administration he is employed under. Therefore, Mr. President, I hope these Senators will take this legislation as perhaps a beginning for some type of job security for these professional employees whom Secretary Goddard and other cabinet officers are trying to bring into the service of the State of Pennsylvania.

I do not believe, in answer to Senator Seyler's argument, that it is going to jeopardize Federal funds. I cannot see how it would jeopardize these funds because I do not believe that it interferes with our civil service setup in any way whatsoever. There is no reference to any repeal of the Civil Service Law we now have in Pennsylvania, and I do not believe it affects it in any way whatsoever. I believe this is a step forward in the right direction. I have found, over my many years of experience in the Legislature, that you cannot always get everything you want at the first attempt. Therefore, sometimes if you just get your foot in the door at one Session of the Legislature, the door opens a little more at the next Session, and the first thing you know, after about two or three Sessions, you have what you wanted. Those people who say, "No, unless we can have the whole loaf, we are not going to take anything," usually wind up without anything after five or six years, whereas the other fellow has received what he wanted by taking it piecemeal.

Mr. President, I hope that the Senators, whether they be Republican or whether they be Democrat, will vote for this bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would first of all like to answer the gentleman who gave his opinion that he did not believe any Federal funds would be prejudiced. It is, of course, his opinion against Doctor Mattison's, because I am going to read a statement from Doctor Mattison. It is brief and he says as follows:

"You will find attached copies of letters"—and, parenthetically, Mr. President, that is the letter I was talking about from Doctor Beecroft—"which I received from the Regional Medical Director of the Children's Bureau and the Regional Director of the Public Health Service in the Federal Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. It would seem to indicate that if House Bill No. 1476 is passed by the General Assembly and signed into law, a considerable source of Federal funds might be jeopardized. We received from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare a total of something like $5,000,000 per biennium. According to Dr. Beecroft's letter 'serious questions would be raised' as to our eligibility for funds following such an undermining of our merit system."

Mr. President, I, of course, do not know that Doctor Mattison is right and I do not know that Senator Mahany is wrong. However, I am bound in this case to take the opinion of a gentleman who has the administration of this department in hand, and is presumably acquainted with the regulations which govern the granting of Federal money.

I would also like to say that having listened to Senator Mahany, I am not sure at this moment whether he is for or against civil service. He, to my mind, left this a bit up in the air. However, I gathered he was approving Senator McGinnis' stand and was opposed to civil service.

Of course, he has a right to be opposed to civil service, if that is his position. However, I do not see that either the opponents or proponents of civil service can take much joy in this bill. It obviously does not give civil service and, therefore, would be opposed by those people who believe in civil service. On the other hand, it does freeze into office, after two years of service, people who have been in the department for that length of time. Therefore, it seems to me the bill would be obnoxious to people who believe we should not have civil service and should, instead, have an unfettered patronage system.

Therefore, it does not seem to me there is much here to commend itself to either way of thinking. Certainly to the proponents of civil service for professional and technical people, it is definitely a bad bill. For the reasons I cited before, I hope we will oppose it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, just for the record, I believe that I stated my stand on civil service on this floor, and that is that I believe in civil service where it affects professional employees, engineers, architects and such type of employees who are needed by our Department of Forests and Waters and other departments on the hill. However, I can see that I am not going to get civil service enacted for those people because we have too much opposition at the present time. Therefore, I am willing to take a part of the loaf if I cannot get the whole loaf.

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 1121, LAID ON THE TABLE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 19, 1957.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 1121, Printer's No. 896, entitled:

An Act amending "The Borough Code," approved May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519), increasing the expense allowance for delegates to meetings of the State Association of Boroughs.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to make a general statement relative to all recall resolutions, recalling bills from the Governor for the purpose of amendment. We all know that this Session of the Legislature is drawing to a close and it would be almost impossible for us to write in any amendments to legislation, which is now on the Governor's desk and have it pass the House and the Senate and return it to the Governor's desk.

I would like to know what amendments the Governor would like to have us put in this legislation. If he would accompany his message with suggested amendments, we might possibly recall it and try to get it back on his desk. However, we are not going to be in the position where we are going to take a bill off his desk which he either does not want to sign or does not want to veto. That is not the purpose of these recall resolutions, as I understand it.

Therefore, if the Governor will accompany the recall resolution with the suggested amendment, we might consider it. Otherwise, we are not going to concur in any recall resolutions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

RESOLUTION LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that this resolution be laid on the table.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PRESENTATION (HUMOROUS) TO SENATOR EDWARD B. WATSON AND SENATOR G. ROBERT WATKINS

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, some time ago—it was a little over a week ago—we had a very happy occasion in the Senate Chamber. Many presents were received. Of course, I think most of us realize those were small presents and really were sort of the second string.

Today, I believe we can see the big presents, the real gifts for the first string. These presents are due and through the generosity of a really big contributor in the Senate. I am sure the recipients of these gifts can make a great real of use of these particular items. They are sort of tailored to fit the needs. As they go from their desks here to the anteroom, we decided that perhaps we could save them those steps and they could use these at their desks. They could save considerable time and energy because, you know, they are getting somewhat older and they will now be able to indulge themselves with these. I am sure they will appreciate such generous gifts.

As you know, Senator Watkins has had over four years service in this State, and I am sure this particular gift will serve him another four years.

For Senator Watkins—I know the front office is calling him—perhaps he can use this gift in the front office. However, in any respect, I am sure if Senator Watson and Senator Watkins will step up here, on behalf of all the Senators, we are going to recognize them properly.

To the first team, the Senate of Pennsylvania presents these gifts.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I am deeply touched. May I say to the gentleman who presented this gift that I am most happy to receive it, because I understand through medical science, through reading magazines, that it is not proper to cook in aluminum utensils certain things used on the table. Mrs. Watkins and I have been making the best beef stews you could ever enjoy in these little pots. I see the stew is going to be smaller. Therefore, I hope too many Senators will not visit us at the same time.

I want to thank you very much.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I also want to thank the Members of the Senate who have been so kind as to give me this gift. I have received several pots since I have been in the Senate, but this is the first time that the pot had anything in it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know, if you will remember when we gave out the gifts, I said that toward the end of the Session when we had finally reached the stage where it appeared we were in the final hours, the gifts would be forthcoming to the gentlemen who have just received a token of our regard for them.

I am glad Senator Watson said that he had received several pots since he has been here, instead of saying he has known several pots. I am, with the rest of the Senate, very happy to see you boys deply moved by your gifts.

today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1723, Printer's No. 999, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1723, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania further regulating membership of and appointment to the Board of Pardons and prescribing powers and duties regarding fines and forfeitures re-prives commutations of sentence and pardon.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION THAT BILL BE DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1723, on third reading, be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the motion to drop this bill from the Calendar.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

MOTION THAT BILL BE DROPPED FROM CALENDAR WITHDRAWN

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion that House Bill No. 1723 be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, House Bill No. 1723 is a contemplated revision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania as far as the existing structure of the Board of Pardons is concerned. I want to say that the provisions which are encompassed therein are provisions to which I wholeheartedly subscribe. However, I do want to say emphatically, and as emphatically as I possibly can, that I do not desire that the provisions of this bill should in any way, cast any reflection on the members of the present Pardons Board as it is now duly constituted. In my estimation, the members of the present Pardons Board are honest, hard working, public servants. I do want it emphatically noted in the record that the provisions of House Bill No. 1723, to which I subscribe, are in no way a reflection on the present Pardons Board.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I regret that I must disagree with my colleague, Senator Scott, because I am not in sympathy with the constitutional amendment which is now before us in House Bill No. 1723.

I do not know whether this is ethical or whether it is not, but I was a member of the committee which conducted an investigation of the activities of the Pardon Board, and the report of that committee will be released in the next fifteen or twenty minutes. The majority of the members on that committee suggested that this question be submitted to the Constitutional Revision Committee which has been, or will be, set up by this Legislature for study. The minority members, that is two members of the six, suggested a constitutional amendment to change the complexion of the Pardons Board. Since that is the minority recommendation, I do not believe it would be wise to try to influence the Constitutional Revision Committee, which will study this problem, by the passage of this proposed constitutional amendment.

I am glad that Senator Scott said that the mere fact that this constitutional amendment was proposed, in his opinion and I join with him, is no reflection on the members of the present Pardons Board or those who served prior to the present Pardons Board. However, I repeat, I do not think it would be wise to approve this proposed constitutional amendment as a means of attempting to influence the Constitutional Revision Committee, and I ask that it be voted down.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, first I would like to say that I wholeheartedly agree with Senator Scott and with Senator Yosko that in no way is this bill a reflection on the present members of the Pardons Board. I would even go a step further and say it is no reflection on the members of any previous Pardons Board. However, from then on I find myself in complete agreement with Senator Scott, that the bill should be passed at this time. I do not feel this would in any way influence the Constitutional Committee to whom it is being suggested that they make a study. This is merely an indication to them, and to the General Assembly, of the feeling of several of the members of the committee which investigated the Pardon Board. Certainly I do not think it could influence the committee in their ultimate findings.

As we all know, a constitutional amendment must pass two Sessions of the Legislature. If that committee, after they have made their study, comes up with some idea which may be completely opposite to this, it will be an easy matter to drop this and not bring it up before the next Session of the General Assembly and start out with what they might suggest, if that is what the Members of the next General Assembly feel should be done. However, in case the committee which is to study the problem and in case the Members of the next General Assembly feel this is the right approach and this is the step which should be taken toward an ultimate revision of our present setup, we have at least accomplished a saving of two years in time in our approach to the problem.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I cannot help but say that if the gentlemen who served on the Pardons Board Investigating Committee with me, and who served so ably, vote for this proposed constitutional amendment, it will at least in my mind, be construed as a contradiction of the sentiments in the report that is about to be filed because in the report, as I said before, they opposed a change in the board and suggested it be studied. This bill is a definite proposal to bring about a change. You cannot be in favor of one thing in the report and be in favor of something else by way of legislation, especially since the report is about to be filed.

I cannot tell the gentlemen how to vote. However, I still think a vote for this proposal would be a contradiction of opinion and sentiment.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I do not feel there is any contradiction between what will be found in the report, which will be issued in a few minutes, and what my vote will be on this particular measure.

Senator Yosko very well knows that in the report there is a recommendation that a certain structure be set up for the Pardons Board, consisting of various individuals to be appointed by certain persons. To that particular proposal, I could not subscribe and would not subscribe because I did not think it had merit. Therefore, as an alternative, I recommend that the whole thing be studied by the Constitutional Revision Committee.

When that bill came over from the House in the form which I just described, I had an opportunity then to amend it in the way I felt the structure of the Pardons Board should be. That is the way this particular bill is before us today, and I can vote for this bill and still say there is no conflict or contradiction between the bill and what will be found in the report.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I was very happy to hear both sides of the committee state that our present Pardons Board is a hard working committee and that they have been doing a good job. When this committee was formed, it seemed to me, and I believe even as of today, it was the side show of this Session of the Legislature. I do not think the committee accomplished much, if anything.

The proposal in House Bill No. 1723 states that there shall be a five member board, one of whom shall be the Lieutenant-Governor, who shall be chairman, and four other appointees, none of whose qualifications are set forth. Apparently, the committee is trying to make the public believe they are getting a nonpolitical Board of Pardons, which, of course, will not be the case. As a famous Secretary of War once said, "You have as much chance of separating politics from government as you have sex from childbirth." I do not think we are going to settle the situation here. However, if this committee had come up with a proposition whereby men trained in probation, parole and penology would have constituted this Pardons and Parole Board, which is what it amounts to, I could have seen some merit in such a bill. This bill is merely, as far as I can see, an excuse for coming up with something, and I cannot see any merit in it at all.

I have here a statement from a publication called Social Legislation, which is published by the Pennsylvania Citizens Association. It says that the funds of the Bureau of Correction have been drastically reduced. It states further that seven and one-half million dollars has been eliminated from the request of the Bureau of Correction and has been further reduced by the Appropriations Committee. The Commissioner of Correction says that it takes the fat and muscle and it chips right into the bone of our institutional program, which this bill is supposed to correct. I cannot see how any bill such as this is going to serve any purpose at all unless we do have men learned in probation and parole to handle these matters, and also unless there are sufficient funds to administer our correctional program.

I heard Senator Ruth the other night make a lengthy speech on what it meant to cut the budget of our probation and parole program. I hope that every Member of this Senate will vote down this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the hour is getting late and, since we have two of these bills, I hope we will deal with both of them at the same time.

I, first, had intended to vote for the constitutional amendment bill and vote against the second bill, dealing with changes in the setup. However, after listening to the debate, I have come to the conclusion that this is very poor timing, if nothing else. Any action of ours in favor of this legislation tends to produce the feeling that this is a reprimand of the present membership of that board upon which are serving some of the finest citizens of this State. This is true, particularly, of one whom we know very well, the Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, Roy Furman.

I think this is a distinct slap at the membership. It is the poorest timing that could possibly be chosen. I think the committee, itself, in its recommendation, as I understand it from Senator Yosko's speech, has given due thought to this matter. In the committee, itself, and in the report, it has been decided that the matter is one which requires some study and probably should be referred to the Constitutional Revision Commission.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, no matter how you may cloud the issue or cover it up, in my opinion this takes undue advantage of a situation whereby there was a great deal of heat generated because of a newspaper vendetta that a certain individual had been released under some conditions which, perhaps, were not on the up and up. Yet, nothing has been disclosed to the public to the contrary. However, in the eyes of the people, those who read tomorrow that this Senate put its sanction upon these two bills, the people, themselves, will believe that something was wrong in the Pardons Board, and that although they do not distinctly outline what was wrong, by this kind of action they are saying, "Something is wrong, but we do not want to say what it is. We want to cover it up by eliminating the Board through due process of law and by giving them instructions by legislation."

Feeling that it is an insult and a reprimand to the Lieutenant-Governor, the Attorney General, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Internal Affairs, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on both of these bills.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 915 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KESSLER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 19, 1957.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that Senate Bill No. 915, Printer's No. 454, entitled "An act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended 'An act to provide revenue for Commonwealth purposes by imposing a tax on the sale use storage rental or consumption of certain tangible personal property and utility services herein defined as tangible personal property providing for licenses reports and payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews and appeals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue public officers manufacturers wholesalers retailers corporations partnerships associations and individuals and making an appropriation' changing provisions relating to returns and refunds," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCHMIDT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, a few weeks ago, Doctor Litchfield was inducted as the new Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh. At the time of his inauguration, he delivered a very masterful speech. I feel, therefore, that it should be made a part of the Legislative Journal.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I ask permission to offer the address of Doctor Litchfield and have it made a part of today's record.

There being no objection, the address was ordered to be printed in the Journal as follows:

NEW DIMENSIONS OF LEARNING IN A FREE SOCIETY AND A PROGRAM FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

Address by Dr. Edward H. Litchfield on the occasion of his inauguration as Twelfth Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh

May 11, 1957

President Scaife, Ladies and Gentleman:

You have given me, Sir, the authority with which to conduct the affairs of this University. You have also offered me the opportunity to join you and our colleagues in what we all hope may become a major contribution to higher education. I accept this authority. I am prepared to assume the responsibilities which accompany it, and I am profoundly grateful for the opportunity.

For several days our faculties and their distinguished guests have considered the subject "new Dimensions of Learning in a Free Society." Each faculty has considered the need and character of its function in the years ahead. In some instances those reappraisals may reaffirm existing values and prevailing programs. In others I should anticipate that reappraisal would lead to substantial reconsideration of program both in this University and perhaps in higher education in other parts of the nation. In any case, we are committed to a searching self-examination of the adequacy of our own performance in terms of the emerging dimensions of our respective areas of learning in a free society.

As we examine the specific questions with which each faculty is concerned, we must recall that every faculty functions as part of a whole university. Each student lives in an academic world greater than that of his own college. Each administrator and each trustee must serve a total educational program, and not merely the specific portions in which he may have the greatest personal interest. In these remarks, therefore, I shall explore those aspects of "New Dimensions of Learning in a Free Society" which are relevant to the total institution—the university.

I. New Dimensions of Learning

We review this question at a time of obvious importance. The nation is rapidly approaching a decade which will see a doubling of university populations. This is perhaps the most compelling of our new dimensions. But for those of us at this institution the time is also significant because both trustees and faculty have outlined a new objective, and a new administration is now helping in its realization. Our deliberate effort to make this institution one of the nation's finest provides another new dimension within which to review the university as a total institution. This aim must influence every trustee decision, every faculty action, every dean's review of appointments and promotions, every student's attitude toward his studies, every alumnus' expectations, every potential student's consideration of his program here, and every administrator's effort to be academically creative as well as efficient and practical.

A lesser but still new dimension in our immediate situation is the administration which we inaugurate today. My comments this morning are designed to explore that dimension by setting forth something of the administration's view of the functions of a total university in a society at our stage of development. At the outset, I should hope it might be clearly understood that when we speak of a new administration we are talking about more than a new chancellor. We are speaking of a whole group of men and women who collectively constitute the administration. Some may be new to the community, but more of them are old to the community but new to their present responsibilities, or new in the exercise of old responsibilities upon an emerging policy. To my mind a new administration must be thought of primarily as a new alignment of existing ideas, people, and resources. It is only organized, articulated, and represented in the form of a new chancellor and several equally new colleagues. I should respectfully suggest that this, too, is a dimension of importance, for it represents a commitment to a theory and to a practice of group growth and participation in the affairs of the institution.

In exploring these dimensions I shall address myself to three questions: first, what are the functions of a great university in contemporary society; second, for whom does that university function; and third, how must it reorganize its programs, its resources, and its structures to enable it to perform these functions most efficiently for the several groups which it serves.

II. The Functions of a Modern University

A review of the present functions of our large universities makes it apparent that they have widely divergent notions of their roles in their communities and in the nation. Some devote themselves almost exclusively to teaching and largely ignore research. A few reverse the values. Some are attentive to their community responsibilities, others are deliberately remote. Some are dedicated to educating all who are interested and able to attend a university; others have severely limited their enrollment. Some will accept almost any technical subject as worthy of university instruction; still others have a most esoteric view of the intellectual worthiness and professional significance of the subject matter which they are prepared to offer.

To remind ourselves of this diversity is not to imply criticism. There are many needs in higher education in this country, and the values which underlie our programs are not so clear as to warrant an absolute definition of function applicable to any given institution. At the same time this very diversity would seem to make it desirable that we should agree on several matters.

First, we need a clear understanding of the composite function in our society of the whole group of institutions which we characterize as our universities. Periodic review of this total role of the university system is important to trustees, to faculty, and to administration if they are to undertake effectively the continuing reappraisal of objectives which is required of every institution.

Second, to make its maximum contribution, each institution should select among the several alternative functions and clearly define its intentions with regard to each. Only then will it be able to seek programs in terms of the definition of its role, and to reject other programs which may be pressed upon it without regard for its purpose. For example, in the pressures of the years just ahead, the university that is committed to research as a major function will avoid dissipating its resources on essentially community college types of programs, unless it first decides deliberately to shift its emphasis to lower-division undergraduate instruction and is prepared to reorganize its facilities, its finances, and its internal organization structure accordingly.

In these comments I should like to address myself to the related consideration of the administration's concept of each of these two questions: first, the general role of the university in society; and second, our concept of the specific functions of the University of Pittsburgh. Analyzed in the broadest terms, I should say that there are at least five functions performed by universities in general: first, the imparting of existing knowledge; second, the discovery of new knowledge, the development of new insights, and the construction of new values; third, the application of knowledge; fourth, the integration of knowledge; and finally, assistance in the development of the student as a complete human being. These are understood, accepted, and more particularly, implemented in varying degrees in different parts of the university world.

The Imparting of Knowledge

The imparting of existing knowledge is obviously the function most generally and clearly understood. It is the traditional function of passing known materials to another generation. Most of us would say that it is the most basic of our functions. As I see it, our problems with this function are twofold.

First, too often we visualize it as a function limited to the new generation of students. Yet as a vehicle for the imparting of knowledge the university must recognize that it is dealing with adult minds and its impact upon them should come at the points of maximum need and maximum receptivity. The time of intellectual maturation is certainly the most important of these crises of need and receptivity. But, on the other hand, there are many other times of great significance. The assumption of entirely new personal, professional, or community responsibilities by the middle-aged adult may also be such an occasion. The crisis which comes with the retirement of the still able individual is another. In these and other times in the life of a generation people come to moments when they need and are receptive to significant bodies of new knowledge. I see the university as a vehicle for imparting those knowledges at any of those times. I do not regard this function as limited to the one brief span of years when the adolescent mind comes to maturity.

The other problem associated with the imparting of existing knowledge is its tendency to crowd out all other functions. The students who are already on the campus constitute an immediate, pressing, and articulate clientele for the attention of the minds and resources of the faculty, the administration, and the trustees. Their numbers bulk large in budget considerations, and their needs are readily translated into books, teachers, playing fields, dormitories, and other calculable items. The other functions which I should like to speak about in a moment are not so tangible, nor do they have such vocal representatives. As a consequence, unless careful and constant attention is given to the preservation of the other functions, this first and important activity of imparting existing knowledge becomes the most pressing, even overwhelming, factor in university life.

The Discovering of New Knowledge

The second function of the university, that of discovering new knowledge and creating new values, surely has general acceptance among us. We know that the search for truth is quite as basic as the need for its communication. Indeed, since the days of the medieval university we have assiduously cultivated a tradition of academic freedom in order to protect the scholar's opportunity to perform this function.

There are problems associated with this function also. Some of us make the mistake of identifying the search for truth exclusively with research, whereas it is a creative, intellectual process dealing with philosophic, artistic, and speculative subjects of far broader concern. After marshalling our research findings we may well recall Tennyson's lament "Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers." Again, while admitting the legitimacy of the function, many of us are reluctant to accord it the position of urgency which it requires. Too often the professor turns to it after he has finished his teaching. Ordinarily, we finance it after taking care of our "first responsibility," teaching. Finally, it often suffers our insistence that the search for truth and the imparting of knowledge be combined in roughly similar proportions in the same individual. Unfortunately, there are still relatively few exclusively research professorships in our university world.

The Application of Knowledge

In addition to the functions of finding and communicating knowledge, the university has the too often neglected responsibility of encouraging the application of knowledge. We are concerned here with the frequently observed lag between the discovery of knowledge on the one hand, and its application in the professions on the other. The sociologist's knowledge of group dynamics may be imparted to his students for years before there is much direct application of that knowledge to the management of a large corporation. Biologists knew that human blood could be typed for almost a generation before blood transfusions came into general practice in medicine.

The university has a special responsibility for this function. Faculties in the basic disciplines are concerned with the discovery of truth, and faculties in the several professional schools are concerned not only with its discovery but also with its application. A concept of the university as a total institution should include the function of encouraging systematically the transition from discovery to application. I say this is a special responsibility, for no other institution in our society is concerned with the total range of knowledge and values which sweeps across the humanities, the natural sciences, and the social sciences into professional areas as diverse as social work and business, or law and dentistry. The transmission of knowledge and value from one field in which it has been discovered to another in which it may be applied, thus becomes a peculiarly important opportunity and responsibility of the university as a total institution.

The Integration of Knowledge

But we are not through with the university and its responsibilities to knowledge. With a growing specialization the individual is increasingly limited to fragments of isolated bodies of technical and scientific information. His faculty is separately organized and his interests increasingly ingrown. He lives in a world of such complexity that few have the opportunity, let alone the responsibility, to bring these separate knowledges together.

As we search for integrating influences within our increasingly complex world, we find aid in two directions. For some of us the church renders inestimable assistance in integrating knowledge for particular aspects of life. Yet there is much with which the church may not directly deal. The university again has a particular contribution to make to society by facilitating the integration of the many specific knowledges which exist and often come into being within its walls. It is an opportunity which the institution enjoys because it has available the faculties and the literature of virtually every area of human knowledge. It is an intrinsic part of the total institution that it should assume the role of integrator, that it should encourage the forces of synthesis, or that at a very minimum, it should facilitate the continuing exchange of knowledge from one theoretical area to another, as well as from the theoretical to the applied areas.

The Guidance of the Student to Become a Whole Person

I see a fifth function: careful guidance and encouragement in the growth of the student as a total human being. Knowledge is important as it contributes to the understanding of the individual, but other considerations also contribute to his development. The university must also be concerned with his personal values, his social attitudes, his emotional maturity, as well as the development of his intellectual abilities. Partially understood in some of our institutions, this is a function generally overlooked in our urban universities. In such institutions the student appears for fleeting moments of hasty instruction before returning to a labyrinth of metropolitan influences which are unrelated to and, indeed, may be in conflict with the directions in which his campus life may indicate he should move. For many institutions such as our own, this means counseling services and more non-classroom academic programs designed to foster the growth of the whole person rather than merely augment his accumulated knowledge.

Some of us would define these functions in different terms, but I think most would agree to their general outline. As a group they provide the alertness among which we must choose in charting a new course for our own institution. We are obviously committed to the imparting of knowledge, but I should hope that function might be extended to other and older professional groups. I should hope we might go further than most in dedicating ourselves to the search for new knowledge. Systematic effort to facilitate both the application of knowledge and the integration of our diverse bodies of knowledge has not been an articulate commitment on the part of many institutions in modern times, and I should like to urge its importance as one of this university's very great opportunities for major contribution to the educational world. Search for new ways of giving added meaning to the non-classroom academic program must increasingly occupy us if, as an urban institution, we are to compete on even terms with more remotely situated schools which also seek to develop the younger student as a whole human being. I would propose, then, that we be clearly understood as committing ourselves to all five functions.

There is a second reason for delineating the functions in this way, for by crystallizing them we begin to recognize more clearly the role of the university as a total institution. It is often regarded as no more than a miscellaneous aggregation of largely isolated colleges and facilities. As a result of the influence of British thought, we are inclined to view the colleges as relatively autonomous, and the university as a mere administrative and financial convenience. I cannot subscribe to this either as a theory or as a practice. I believe that there are basic functions which inhere in the university as a total institution. The integration and application of knowledge, determined insistence upon uniform standards for the pursuit of knowledge, and full exploration of the opportunities in which to impart knowledge are among those attributes of institutional totality which can never be assumed by individual parts of the organization. We lose much of the distinctiveness of the university if we fail to organize and support it in such a way as to encourage its assumption of these primary functions of totality.

From this conclusion regarding the function of the whole institution, several more specific consequences flow. It means that neither trustees nor administration can divorce themselves from broad questions of academic as well as administrative concern. Furthermore, it means we must re-examine structures of governance for the exercise of such total functions. Trustees concerned exclusively with finance and public relations, faculties narrowly preoccupied with their individual problems, and administrations more attached to mechanics than to substance, do not constitute a suitable structure for the governing of institutions undertaking such a range of functions. There has been a steady evolution in the structures of the modern state and of the modern business corporation, but there has been little progress, indeed, either in the theory or the practice of governing the equally primary institution—the modern university.

III. Those for Whom the University Functions

As it is important specifically to agree upon the functions of the university, it is equally important to agree upon its clientele. For whom should we perform these functions?

The Students

No one doubts our responsibility to the new generation which constitutes the largest part of our student body. Indeed, for many universities this may be the sole interest. If it is the considered policy of those institutions that this shall be their contribution to higher education, none of us can take exception to that conclusion. But if functions beyond the imparting of knowledge are also their announced concern, they must surely be mindful of the tendency to serve this group at the expense of others. For them the reminder will become increasingly important as the new masses of university students flood upon us in the years ahead.

The Alumni

Our alumni certainly constitutes another group toward which we have responsibility. If some of us consider this responsibility as more one of providing entertainment than of education, there are others who believe that the university never ceases to have educational responsibilities to the individual from the time he enters its doors until the time when it has nothing further to give him. The institution which is obliged to conclude that it has no contribution to make to an individual's intellectual and professional development once he has obtained his degree, is unfortunate indeed. I should prefer to think that a man's university would have much the same role for his continued intellectual growth as his church has for his spiritual growth and well-being. The university thus becomes an institutional focal point for an important and continuing part of his life as an adult, and should not be conceived as providing only an isolated intellectual episode.

The Professions

In our several professional fields there are a host of formal societies and informal groups which to an increasing degree should be looking to the university for assistance. It is important that knowledge be imparted to these groups, that the university's new research be made available to them, and that the university do what it can to relate the groups to each other, to the end that the integration of knowledge which it sought at the student level has continuing application in the life of the practicing professional man as well.

If the university is to serve these professional groups, it will do so through the development of new programs for cooperative research, increased use of joint seminars, expansion of our professional postgraduate training programs, further development of professional journals, greater approximation between academic and professional incomes, and an improved method of informal communication between teacher and practitioner. If we are to accept this clientele as a continuing responsibility, it is clear that as administrators we should be adding to our faculties people who can perform the functions which this clientele requires. We should be designing buildings that have facilities for the profession as well as the student. We should be building libraries that serve both those in training and those in practice. In short, we should be budgeting specifically for this clientele, and not expect our already overworked staffs and facilities to assume this function as an incidental addition to student responsibilities.

The Business Corporation

In the past several generations our free society has seen the emergence of a distinctly new institution—the large, highly diversified and publicly-held business corporation. Changing patterns of ownership, new concentrations of plant, staff, research ability, and finance have combined to make of the corporation a social institution which has taken its place with the church, the school, and the state as one of the major institutional supports of a pluralist society. I believe that as one of society's principal institutions the corporation has a major claim upon the university. The relationship between the two should be close and complementary, and their claims on one another should be reciprocal.

The State

Next to the student body, our most freely accepted responsibility is to the state. Most of us are prepared to undertake research projects for federal agencies, to perform services for the commonwealth, and to undertake training and research activities for our local governments. This is as it should be. I should hope that this relationship could grow rather than diminish. Our problem here is implementation. We may agree that we should provide technical assistance to the commonwealth, offer training programs for public agencies, or undertake research for one level of government or another, but as administrators we seldom make provision in our academic budgets for either the staff, the plant, or the time necessary to the rendering of such services. Here, too, our difficulty results from our acceptance of the government as a client on a basis which is at best incidental to our work with the student body.

The World of Scholarship

Finally, we have a responsibility to the world of scholarship. It is here that the frontiers of intellectual adventure lie, and here where we may move the whole human enterprise ahead. This is an uncertain, amorphous, and unpeopled clientele. It is at once each of the groups we have spoken of, all of the groups combined, and the constantly unfolding world of knowledge per se. It is not a client who complains if the service is poor; nor is it a clientele with an organized structure and established values. It does not pay dues, make grants, or provide overhead. Most universities acknowledge this responsibility, but how many specifically provide for it in staffs, in budgets, in plants, and in the allocation of time and thought? Like so many of the others, it is a clientele to which we address ourselves after classes have been met, papers corrected, and committee meetings attended.

I should like to pause now and review the first two points with which we have been concerned. In the first instance, I have tried to express my belief that the great modern university can no longer regard itself as performing the limited function of imparting knowledge, or even the combination of functions of discovering and imparting knowledge. It has broader responsibilities which have made it a multi-purpose social institution.

In the second place, I have been concerned to illustrate the importance of accepting a clientele broader than the traditional student body, and the need of specifically and explicitly building a program, staff, and plant with this total clientele in mind.

IV. The Way the University of Pittsburgh Proposes to Perform Its Fivefold Functions and Serve Its Sixfold Clientele

We must now ask ourselves the third question: what do we propose be done at the University of Pittsburgh which would enable us to perform these functions better and thus render greater service to these several groups?

Beyond affirming our continued interest in an ever-improving quality in existing programs, there are several specific problems which I hope might have our most urgent attention.

1. For Every Student Both a Liberal Education and a Professional Training

First, I believe there is need for a basic educational concept which will provide a premise for the total institution. For this purpose I propose that we commit ourselves to the proposition that every student be given both a liberal education and a professional training. This follows from the twofold conviction that too many professional people are personally and intellectually narrow, and, on the other hand, that too many emerging from the university today are without the professional competence necessary to a maximum contribution to our society. Let those who seek only a liberal education attend institutions devoted to that purpose, and let those whose professions are not dependent upon breadth of background seek their training in technical institutions. But let those who desire the combination find it in the university.

Were this proposition to be accepted, it would have many implications. In the first place, it would enable the institution to plan a total program for the student rather than oblige him to piece together his academic work first in one area and then in another. It would mean that professional programs would be conducted largely, if not exclusively, at the graduate level. It would mean building infinitely closer relationships between the faculties of the disciplines and the faculties of the professional schools. This, in turn, would not only make for integrated teaching programs, but should materially augment that communication between faculties which is the first step in furthering the application and integration of knowledge. It would mean acceptance of the derivative proposition that the university is principally concerned with those who have the capacity and the motive to become the professional and intellectual leaders in their communities.

2. Reconsideration of the Time Schedule

Second, if we are to provide the individual with both a liberal and a professional education we must reconsider the time schedule with which he is faced. Here two problems must concern us. First, every educator in this audience knows that a disproportionate amount of the university's time is given over to work which is more appropriately offered at the secondary school level. A large proportion of our students come to us with inadequate tools for thought and expression, and inadequate substantive backgrounds on the basis of which we can build. I would, therefore, propose as a first step that a closer relationship be developed between the secondary schools of this region and the university, to the end that time will be free at the university level to enable the student to acquire both a liberal and professional background with the investment of less time than is now required.

But equally important is the need for the university to review the appropriateness of its own calendar. A young man or woman entering the university today is mature enough to accept instruction for more than thirty of the fifty-two weeks of the year. It is ridiculous that a third-year student in a professional school, at age twenty-four or twenty-five, should have twenty-two weeks a year relief from his professional studies, when after graduation the following year, at age twenty-five or twenty-six, he will be given perhaps two, and at the most four, weeks' relief from his professional work in the same field.

Both of these considerations lead me to the conclusion that we must give serious thought to a regular academic schedule of three fifteen-week units in each year. The advantages must be obvious. Such a calendar would enable the student to complete the equivalent of a four-year undergraduate liberal arts program and a full course in law or medicine in five years, or complete a liberal education plus two years of graduate work in business administration in four years. This makes the combination of a liberal and professional education manageable in terms of time invested. Parenthetically, I believe it could have the further advantage of materially increasing faculty salaries without substantially impairing research opportunities. It would certainly mean a more efficient utilization of expensive capital plans at a time when the growth in student population will make plant needs critical.

I am mindful of but unimpressed with the possible objections to such a change in calendar. I do not believe that the concepts of learning-fatigue appropriate to secondary students is applicable to adult minds. Nor do I believe the student needs the free time for financial purposes. From both the individual's and society's points of view it would be far better for the student to forego those months of summer work at low rates of compensation, borrow them oney from loan funds established for the purpose, emerge into the professional world several years earlier, and invest the time he has saved in work at appreciably higher rates of return.

3. Greater Support to Research

Third, I propose that we give far greater institutional recognition to the place of research. While protecting and furthering the traditionally important efforts of those who individually are willing and capable of planning and conducting their own research, we may substantially improve our overall research contributions if several steps can be taken. First, as department heads, deans, and faculties plan teaching programs, so I would urge that they give continuing thought to the need for specific, regularly prepared, and well-planned and articulated research programs. Second, group research will be substantially encouraged if we give more systematic attention to the creation of research institutes in all of our schools and colleges. Third, recognition of our research responsibilities should result in the creation of research professorships in each of our faculties. Finally, I would urge that each of us as academic administrators carefully plan our faculty additions in terms of the search for new knowledge as well as the imparting of existing materials. In short, I propose that our institutional practice give explicit rather than casual recognition to our research responsibilities.

4. Long-run Cooperation Between Professional Schools and Their Related Professions

Fourth, I would suggest that we need to give greater attention to the development of programs for continuing long-run relationships between our individual professional schools and their respective professional fields. This involves the development of a philosophy for such relationships, annual programs for instruction, cooperative research, and the selection of faculty with these programs in mind. It would seem to me appropriate that in annual budget reviews there should be consideration of the needs of this important part of the school's clientele in precisely the same way that we now consider instructional degree programs and their costs. I believe it possible here to avoid both the extreme of relative isolation from the practicing professions and the equally unfortunate situation in which those groups attempt to dominate academic policies and programs.

5. Atmosphere for Contemplation

Fifth, we must give careful thought to ways by which we can create a greater opportunity for contemplation. In complex social organizations it is inevitable that most of us will lead lives in which our attention is constantly fractured by unplanned interruptions, and continually diverted by the multitude of conflicting pressures which are implicit in that complexity. Indeed, those of us who are administrators perform our function largely by absorbing these conflicting and diverting stimuli, and weaving them into a total fabric of concerted social action. But for the man of thought the problem is different. He cannot seek new knowledge, contemplate new values, and impart whole truths unless he can enjoy a continuity of attention. His thinking must be sustained rather than casual and intermittent. To a considerable extent the student, particularly the graduate and professional student, has the same needs. An opportunity for sustained attention, for contemplation, is as essential to the scholar as are his books or his laboratory.

If faculty and student are to have that continuity, there are several things that must be done. In the first place, as trustees and administrators we must do everything possible to provide the physical facilities which the scholar requires. These include more privacy in offices, more spacious libraries, a great many research cubicles where the scholar can avoid constant interruptions, freedom from the drudgery of doing all of his own clerical, secretarial, and often janitorial work, an ample supply of library carrels for graduate and postdoctoral students, and relief from the noise and traffic of a metropolitan atmosphere.

Facilities also have a responsibility to assist in the creation of a contemplative atmosphere. Our attention is often fractured as much by excessive concern with committee meetings as it is by noise and traffic. Our compulsion to what I may euphemistically refer to as extended institutional conversation sometimes diverts our attention as much as plant inadequacies. As we seek quieter sites and better facilities we would do well to look to our own sense of discipline and to the refurbishing of a more monastic ideal. But whether we seek it through more conducive facilities or through a more rigid discipline, the problem of assuring the opportunity for contemplation is of primary concern to the total institution.

6. Functional Administration

Sixth, if the university is to work as a total institution in the performance of these functions, it will be necessary to make substantial departures from traditional university organization. With this in mind I propose that:

A. Unity of direction of the whole institution will be better achieved if administrative policy-making is shared by the chief executive with essentially a cabinet-like group representing all of the major areas of institutional concern.

B. The isolation in which individual college and school programs are developed in most institutions can be avoided in our own if those units are grouped into related areas in which vice chancellors assume active academic as well as administrative leadership. We are already experimenting with the combination of all of the schools of the health professions and are in the process of bringing together the other professional school such as engineering, law, and business, which have obviously overlapping professional and substantive interests. In each of these major groupings of professional schools we are beginning to see the growth of specialized staff functions, and of coordinating institutes dealing with problems of mutual concern among the several schools.

C. We will strengthen the disciplines if we remove them from the undergraduate college of arts and sciences and group them into divisions of the natural sciences, social sciences, and the humanities. I believe we should charge them with a clear threefold responsibility for undergraduate instruction, for graduate work, and for active support of the professional schools. This should help to eliminate the disproportionate influence of undergraduate teaching programs upon the total institution, do much to provide balance in instruction, and further the function of encouraging the application of knowledge developed in the disciplines to the problems encountered in the professional areas. The establishment of these disciplinary divisions should also assure better balance in the development of the faculties in each of the disciplinary departments. Similarly, by grouping the disciplines in this way there is greater prospect of inter-disciplinary teaching and research than exists in a structure in which the organization focus is the degree to be obtained rather than the similarity of substantive knowledge and the inter-relationship of disciplinary problems.

D. The extensive use of joint appointments among the several professional schools and disciplinary divisions will facilitate communication from field to field, while avoiding the unfortunate consequences which often occur when a person from the disciplines is separated from his colleagues by appointment exclusively within a professional school.

7. Better Internal Communication of Objectives, Functions, Programs

Seventh, I suggest that few if any of our institutions have yet developed methods for internal communication which are sufficiently mature to permit them to undertake the comprehensive set of functions which have been discussed here. For almost a generation now we have been studying the importance of communication in large-scale organization. Governmental and, particularly, industrial institutions have not only undertaken extensive research on this subject, but have systematically schooled their professional and executive groups in the importance of communication in the total enterprise. Our academic institutions have been slow to follow their lead. Where is the institution in which all faculties enjoy regular and meaningful faculty meetings? Where is the large university which has found an even minimal procedure for systematically enabling one faculty to know what another is doing in fields of obviously mutual concern? Where is the institution in which trustee and administration views are regularly conveyed to the faculty, or in which faculty opinion is freely conveyed to the administration? Communication theory and important aspects of its research may have emerged from university scholarship, but communication as theory and practice receives amazing little attention in the actual governance of our own institutions. If there is a lack of sense of institutional unity and lack of ways of transmitting knowledge from field to field, it is surely in part for this reason. This problem must have our immediate attention, and we must seek new and infinitely more effective methods of dealing with it.

8. Revision in Concept of Faculty Development

Eighth, I urgently recommend a fundamental revision in our concept of faculty development. In an overwhelming proportion, younger faculty members are given relatively little assistance in the years after the completion of their terminal degrees. The direction of their research, the teaching habits which they develop, the way in which they respond to the university's several functions and clienteles, becomes almost entirely a matter of their own choosing. Membership in professional societies is optional, and effort toward continued professional growth is controlled largely by the reward or punishment which promotion and salary increases represent. Other professionally staffed institutions such as the church, the military, and the business corporation have found it profitable systematically to encourage, counsel, train, and generally assist in the development of younger members of their group. I commend this to you as an equally important responsibility of competent academic leadership.

9. Clear View of Role of University Administration

Ninth, I propose a clearer view of the role of administration in the university community. I have spoken repeatedly of the functions of a total institution. They are functions concerned with academic program and academic values. They imply money and plant, effective public relations, and related supporting activities; but they are not restricted to those concerns. I must affirm my conviction that the administration has responsibility for broad academic leadership of a fundamentally important character. Correspondingly, it must organize itself in such a way as to accord an appropriate amount of its attention to academic organization on the one hand, and the acquisition and management of financial, human, and material resources on the other. It must exercise constructive judgment in assuring the development of faculties adequately balanced among the functions of teaching, research, and both the integration and application of knowledge. In short, it is the administration's role to seek institutional unity through a calculated use of human, financial, and organizational resources which will encourage that totality.

V. Conclusion

As this particular administration takes office, it does so with a pledge vigorously to pursue the new objectives outlined by trustee and faculty; to cultivate assiduously the resources necessary to the realization of that objective; to preserve all that is fine in this institution's one hundred and seventy year tradition; and to maintain faithfully the highest standards of universal scholarship. But it also takes office with a plea for a concept of institutional functions as broad as society's needs; for an interpretation of clientele as comprehensive as the groups in the community which could benefit from the university's functions; and for a willingness to undertake the changes which are requisite to the performance of these functions for such a clientele. Thus conceived, this University, and any other similarly dedicated, may assume a new and greater role in a society whose dimensions are new and ever-changing, but whose values of freedom remain constant.

REPORT OF PARDONS BOARD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I would now like to present the Report of the Joint Legislative Investigating Committee, the committee being commonly known as the Pardons Board Investigating Committee. I would like to submit to the Chair, and to the Members of the Senate, the report of this committee and also the transcript of the hearings held by the committee.

Mr. President, unfortunately, it will not be possible, because of a printing situation, to place copies of the Pardons Board Report on the Members' desks. However, there is a plan to have the report printed and submitted to every Member of the General Assembly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The report will be printed in the Journal and later given to each Member of the General Assembly.

REPORT OF PARDONS BOARD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Pursuant to House Resolution No. 1, Serial Number 4, Printer's No. 8, as amended by House Resolution No. 75, Serial Number 80, of the 1957 session of the General Assembly; the committee of the House and Senate, appointed in pursuance thereof, submits the following report:

In order to have a better understanding of the basic problems involved pertinent to the inquiry directed by the said resolution, the committee decided that an historical study of the background of executive clemency should be made.

Your committee has made a careful study of the matter of executive clemency and finds the problems of today not unlike those which have from time to time been experienced since the advent of organized government.

Clemency—What it is

Smithers-Thorn, "Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania," says:

"Clemency should be extended in no case unless reasonably deemed to accord with the average common intelligence and general sentiments of the people."

"Clemency should be exercised only when, in obedience to a rational interpretation of common public interest, the case by reason of natural equity raises a presumption that it was intended to be excepted out of the general terms of the punishing statute"

"Executive Clemency should be accorded in those cases only where it would be repugnant to natural equity to permit the law to take its due course"

History

Executive Clemency has its origin in antiquity, and may best be expressed in a quotation from Sir Matthew Hale (1609-1676), wherein he said:

"When offenses grow enormous, frequent, and dangerous to a kingdom or state, destructive or highly pernicious to civil societies, and to the great insecurity and danger of the kingdom and its inhabitants, severe punishment, even death itself, is necessary to be annexed to laws in many cases by the prudence of law givers, though possibly beyond the single demerit of the offense itself simply considered * * * and although I do not deny but the Supreme King of the world may remit the severity of the punishment, as he did to Cain, yea, and his substitutes, sovereign princess may also defer or remit that punishment or make a commutation of it upon great and weighty circumstances, yet such instances ought to be very rare, and upon great occasions"

After the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1790 had been in effect a sufficient length of time to establish a settled and harmonious cooperation among the three departments of Government, it was observed that the pardoning power was subject to baneful influences which had not been foreseen. History had recorded no parallel combination of a royal prerogative wielded by a democratically chosen governor and the vice of an elective one-man pardoning power was revealed only by experience. In the Federal constitutional convention, this feature had indeed been the subject of debate, but no one had seriously contested the expediency of the clause as adopted except as it referred to treason, concerning which there was much debate about leaving it solely in the hands of the President. No material complaint of abuse followed, probably because of the lack of general, direct, and continuous contact with the citizens, and the consequent feebleness of local influences. In Pennsylvania, however, it was different. Community sentiment, intimacy with daily affairs, neighborhood knowledge of crimes committed, familiarity with criminal trials and constant approachability made governors susceptible to deception, false sympathetic evidence and the obligation or feelings of friendliness founded upon political or personal consideration. The wisdom of the Constitution-makers had not been sufficient to anticipate the resulting abuses, but well grounded and frequent complaints followed within a few years. years.

The situation became such that Dr James Mease, a distinguished member of the American Philosophical Society, in an article published in 1820, said: "I have no hesitation in saying that the continual and monstrous abuse by Governors of this great privilege is a very powerful cause of the increase of crimes and that the best code of penal laws that can be framed will be defeated unless it is checked * * * Governors have much to answer for who thus defeat the laws and offer a premium for vice."

Smithers-Thorn, "Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania," says:

"That imperfections in procedure (criminal) exist is not so surprising as the fact that they are not more numerous. The history of the criminal law reveals a long, persistent and oftentimes discouraging struggle to overcome brutality, ignorance, vagueness, and uncompromising prejudice, and it has taken centuries to establish the present enlightened safeguards." * * *

"After every reasonable expectation has been satisfied during the progress of a trial, the question of what penalty shall be imposed exposes the weakest feature of criminal jurisprudence as now administered. It is confronted with popular distrust and uncontrollable personal factors. The greatest diversity of opinion exists even among Judges. Defective laws, inequalities of Judicial temperament, learning and environment and the circumscribed or indifferent methods of investigation make equal or fitting adjustment of punishments under modern methods almost impossible."

The possibility of being deceived, acting upon an erroneous statement of facts, or from a false point of view, was considered a defect in the exercise of the power (Clemency) as contained in the Constitutions of 1790 and 1838, which the people sought to overcome by practically eliminating the personal factor and creating the present Board of Pardons which was incorporated into the Constitution of 1874

It may be said that modern Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania is in its nature an exceptional governmental power, in derogation of the law, often bestowed for the correction of unjust and erroneous particular results arising from imperfect legislation and the inherent limitations of tribunals charged with the trial of criminal cases.

The sovereign people of the State must be accepted as its source.

This committee believes that Clemency is also justice tempered with mercy, and is a vehicle through which a wrongdoer is given the incentive to rehabilitate himself and by his conduct render himself fit for return to society.

While the exercise of Clemency is protected against human frailties and perversity, so far as reasonably possible with finite institutions, it can still be invoked without undue restrictions. Within its jurisdiction lies the power and the right in respect of particular cases to avoid the legislative will, reverse the verdict of juries and nullify or modify the judgments of courts. It represents the sense of human weakness, the recognition of human fallibility, the cry of human compassion. It is a confession of imperfect wisdom and voices mankind's universal repugnance to the irretrievable and the irrevocable. It is the protest of the multitude against unanticipated and cruel consequences of governmental deficiencies.

The complaints, the problems, the experiences, and observations of history are again being heard throughout the Commonwealth. The complaints, the problems, the experiences, and observations, which, prior to 1874, were directed against individual Clemency, have over the years been gradually transferred and become attached to the Pardon Board, which was created as an instrument to overcome such complaints, problems, experiences and observations.

Pardoning Power—Board of Pardons

Under the aforesaid Resolution, this committee was "authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all actions since January 4, 1950, of the Board of Pardons in connection with the pardon, parole or commutation of sentence of persons convicted of crimes."

Section 9 of Article IV of the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1874 provides:

"He (the Governor) shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons, except in cases of impeachment; but no pardon shall be granted, nor sentence commuted, except upon the recommendation in writing of the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney General and Secretary of Internal Affairs, or any three of them, after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open session, and such recommendation, with the reasons therefor at length, shall be recorded and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth."

Findings and Recommendations

1. The Governor has no authority to grant pardons or commute sentences without first receiving a favorable recommendation from the Board of Pardons.

2. The Governor is not bound by a favorable recommendation of the Board of Pardons; and has the power to reject favorable recommendations and refuse to grant clemency. The Governor, however, can do nothing about a refusal by the Pardon Board.

3. The Board of Pardons is clothed with exceptional and extraordinary powers. Within its jurisdiction lies the power and the right in respect to particular cases to avoid the legislative will, reverse the verdict of juries, and nullify or modify the Judgments of Courts. So far as possible, this power, sometimes known as the depository of clemency, should avoid all appearance of irregularity, uncertainty or caprice. Their judgment should not vacillate from want of practical knowledge, nor their mercy blunder for want of circumspection.

As an agency of mercy, favorable action should be recommended on merit only. Extreme care should be exercised that no recommendation be made from any personal or political consideration, nor founded upon any favoritism.

Jealous consideration should be given to the rehabilitation of the prisoner, but not at the expense of the preservation of law and order, and the peace and security of the community.

All reasonable doubts should be resolved in favor of the public.

4. Once the Board of Pardons has made a favorable recommendation, and the Governor acts favorably thereon, there is no other Governmental agency, court or legislative tribunal to which an appeal can be taken, nor is there any agency, court, body or person, including this Legislative Committee, with power or authority to reverse or set aside such action. Even the people themselves have no power to overthrow or reverse the action in any particular case. Their only recourse is to retire from elective office those who abuse this extraordinary prerogative, or blemish it with improper motives.

5. The Board of Pardons has no power to compel the attendance by subpoena of witnesses, or oblige them to testify. This power should be granted to them, as an aid in investigating and verifying information presented to them or before them.

6. Every effort should be continuously made to afford every safeguard as to "due public notice" in the publication of place, time and nature of offense, place and time of hearing, and the name of the applicant.

The present system of ascertaining whether or not due public notice has been given in any particular case, as required by the Constitution, is inadequate.

In order to check and establish any such proof, reference must be had to files located in Governmental agencies other than the Board of Pardons.

Without imputing any ulterior motives to the present or previous Boards of Pardon, we recommend that no hearing, rehearing, or hearing on special listing shall be had unless and before advertisement of the same is first had.

We further recommend that sufficient proofs of publication be obtained in order that a copy of such proof shall be attached to the calendar of each session of the Board for each case therein listed.

We further recommend that no case be heard by the Board unless and until such proof of publication is so available and attached.

7. Cases examined since 1950 were found where letters in the file referred to other communications and material which were not, but should have been, in the file, and could not be found or located.

We recommend that all papers relating to a case, including letters, communications, record of telephone calls and personal visitations to individual members of the Board, the Board Secretary, and to the Governor, formal petitions, transcripts of records, testimony, affidavits and reports, whether favorable to the applicant or in protest, should be placed and kept in the file of each applicant to which they relate, and should be open to public inspection (excluding confidential reports from Parole and Prison authorities) before the hearing, at the hearing, and after final decision.

We further recommend that a chronological index of applications be installed.

8. The Constitution requires reasons for the action of the Pardon Board to be prepared and filed in those cases, only, in which they make a favorable recommendation. In all cases of refusal, no reasons need be stated.

We recommend that in All cases of refusal reasons should be stated and filed for the guidance of future Pardon Boards.

We further recommend that reasons for refusal be made a part of the confidential record in the file of each applicant.

The decision of one depository of clemency should be considered to a very great degree as a guide for his successor, for the latter is not as likely to have data so accurate and complete as his predecessor.

9. The power of pardoning and commutation is founded on consideration of the public good, and should be exercised on the ground that the public welfare, which is the legitimate object of all punishment, will be as well promoted by a suspension as by an execution of the sentence. A pardon or commutation should be granted, not as a matter of right, but as a matter of grace bestowed by the Government through its duly authorized officers. It should not be a personal favor, nor a private act of grace, because the individual happens to possess power; but should be granted in the exercise of a public function, or as an act in the interest of the public welfare.

The committee finds that through the years there have been what appear to be attempts to use political or personal influence on members of various Pardon Boards. The committee is unable to state what effect, if any, these attempts have had upon the decisions of any particular Board in any particular case.

10. The Board of Pardons is unrestricted in its power to make, alter, change and suspend its rules of procedure, which can lend itself to temptation for abuse and exploitation.

The committee recommends that no rule of procedure (except where the death penalty has been imposed) shall be altered, changed, suspended, excepted, or become effective, unless and until such alteration, change, suspension, or exception has first been publicly promulgated for a period of ninety (90) days. We recommend that no case be given special listing (except where the death penalty has been imposed).

11. In all cases of offenses against the person, we recommend that the victim, or his or her next of kin, if available, should receive written notice of the application, together with time and place of hearing.

12. At no time has any member of this Committee suggested, intimated, or recommended the abolition of an agency of Clemency. Such an agency is a necessary requisite of any civilized government.

We recognize that by the very make-up of the Pardon Board the members thereof have been, are now, and will continue to be approached by influential persons in various walks of life in an attempt to secure favorable consideration for some particular applicant.

With the present case load of the Pardon Board, we should not impose upon such busy persons, who are charged with other official duties, and who constitute the Board, the additional burdens now involved in clemency applications.

There has, however, been a division of opinion as to changing the personnel composition of the Pardon Board in an effort to minimize influence and place the agency upon a more judicious basis.

A majority of the Committee recommends that the presently contemplated Constitutional Revision Committee (or, upon failure of creation thereof, the Joint State Government Commission) take under advisement and thorough study the many problems involved in the structure of the Pardon Board as it is presently constituted and make such recommendations as they deem proper.

A minority of the Committee (Tompkins and Bell), from a study of the plans used in other states, recommends the personnel of the Pardon Board be changed so that it be composed of the Lieutenant Governor and four (4) additional persons; one to be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, one to be appointed by the President Judge of the Superior Court, and two to be appointed by the Governor. None of the appointees shall hold any other public office. All appointments shall be subject to confirmation by the Senate. All appointments shall be for full time duty, and shall be made for a period of eight (8) years, upon a staggered basis of two (2) years. No appointee shall be eligible for re-appointment. The power of removal shall be with those who make the appointment. Each vacancy shall be filled by the respective appointing power that theretofore made the appointment; and the appointive powers shall have the authority to make recess appointments until the convening of the Senate. The General Assembly should have power to regulate procedure before the Board of Pardons.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that from their examination of the plans used in other states and by the Federal Government and by other National Governments, the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons is at least one of the best, if not the best, for assisting the Chief Executive in deciding when executive clemency is warranted. Nevertheless, we join with Messrs. Fleming and Scott in the recommendation that the whole matter be studied by the Constitutional Revision Committee or by the Joint State Government Commission.

It is our view that the proposed substitute is unworkable. Since the term proposed for appointed members is eight years, it is obvious at once that some Governors will have no appointees at all. Would any Governor be likely to accept such recommendations by a Board, none of whose, or only two of whose, members he had appointed?

The plain fact, therefore, is that a Governor, conscious of his own duty, in the premises, would set up his own independent staff to review every affirmative recommendation before signing it. This would mean a needless and undesirable duplication of effort. In no other area of state government is an executive officer appointed by the judicial power particularly where Senate confirmation is required.

13. We find communications and records in the files of various applicants, and allegations, representations, and self-serving declarations made to the Board in petitions and at the time of hearing, some of which, in our opinion, should be the subject of further inquiry for the purposes of verification

We recommend that the Board of Pardons have a staff of its own to investigate and verify allegations, representations, and self-serving declarations made to them with reference to any applicant.

14. The "round robin" is a written communication from the Secretary which is circulated among the Board members and polls the vote of each member, not in the presence of the others or in executive session.

We find that the "round robin" is used to obtain the position of individual members on various matters of procedure in individual cases before the Board. We are of the opinion that the "round robin" is not a satisfactory method of seeking this information.

We recommend that all decisions made by the Board be considered and determined in executive session, and not by the method of "round robin," letters, or inter-office communications.

15. All applications for hearing should be upon formal petition, signed and verified by the applicant. All proceedings seeking a rehearing, argument or reargument, consideration or reconsideration, or continuance should be upon a formal written application, signed by the applicant, his counsel of record, or by his duly authorized representative.

16. We find that the written reasons made by the Board in all its recommendations are undated. We suggest that all such recommendations be dated.

17. Pardon Boards have upon occasions acted after hearing; and in particular, on hearings specially listed; prior to the time the Board of Parole has had an opportunity to file a complete report of the results of its investigation to determine the accuracy of allegations in the application, or that of its counterpart in other jurisdictions.

Action without verification of the self-serving statements in the application is inherently unsound.

This Committee recommends that no hearing be held, and no favorable action taken, until until such time as a full and complete report of the Board of Parole is submitted.

18. There should be as much reliance upon the Clemency of the Government as upon its Justice, and both should be exercised with equal regard to the rights of the citizen and the peace of the community.

It is essential that the Board of Pardons be as non-political in nature as possible. The principle of impartiality in the administration of mercy must be preserved. Mercy, the keystone of clemency, and rewards for re-adjustment of criminals to the mores of society must be administered alike to all prisoners—the penniless the same as the wealthy, and the man without friends as well as the man with influential connections.

The Pardon Board at all times should be, and remain, an agency of mercy; and not an agency of general jail release.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) endorse the statement made above and call particular attention to the fact that the record in this investigation shows that the present members of the Board of Pardons were also in agreement with this principle. An analysis of the applications made to the Board for the years 1953 to 1956, inclusive, which was submitted to the Committee and verified by its Counsel, shows that the Previous Board recommended clemency in more than twice as many cases percentage-wise than the present Board. This is the Record:

Year	Total Cases	Total Cases Granted	Percentage Granted
Previous Board
1953	1083	316	39.18%
1954	1281	451	35.20%
Present Board
1955	978	205	20.99%
1956	1067	137	12.55%

DARCY CASE

During the course of this inquiry, the committee and its counsel investigated many cases, principal among which was the one better known as the "Darcy case."

The crime in the Darcy case was committed December 22, 1947. The case was tried and a verdict of Murder in the First Degree was rendered during the week of June 7, 1948. Darcy and his two co-defendants were sentenced to death in September, 1948.

An appeal was then taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. An opinion was handed down on May 26, 1949, sustaining the conviction, with one Judge dissenting. Twenty-six exceptions were assigned in the appeal to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as the reasons for a new trial. None of the exceptions raised any issue as to competency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria, or the fairness of the trial.

Appeals were then taken all the way to the Supreme Court of the United States, in which all of the several courts upheld the conviction.

An application for commutation of sentence was then filed before the Pennsylvania Pardon Board on January 4, 1950. The reasons assigned by David Darcy for his commutation related solely to his personal history, health and environment. The original application was refused in March, 1951. Due to the fact that the Constitution does not require the stating of reasons for refusal, no reason in support of the Pardon Board's action for refusal appears in the record.

Upon the refusal of clemency, Darcy then filed application for habeas corpus in the Federal District Court, alleging for the first time the incompetency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria in the court room at the time of trial, and the fairness of the trial. These issues were fought through the Federal Appellate Courts to the Supreme Court of the United States, when in June, 1956, the Supreme Court of the United States again upheld the conviction.

It might be well to state at this point that during the course of all the litigations in the several courts of Pennsylvania and of the United States, the case passed through the hands of twenty-five different Judges, seven of whom dissented.

Thereafter, on August 20, 1956, Darcy filed his second application for commutation of sentence, alleging as his reasons, among others:

"1. Lack of effective assistance of counsel.

2. Public hysteria and prejudice prevailing at the trial.

3. Trial before a two-judge court, one of whom was intent upon the imposition of the death penalty."

After proper notice, a hearing was held on the petition on September 20, 1956, at which time the following Board members were present and sat on the case:

Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs
Herbert B. Cohen, Attorney General
Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant Governor
Henry E. Harner, Secretary of the Commonwealth

Following the hearing, the Board made its favorable recommendation to His Excellency, George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth, setting forth its reasons, as follows:

"(a) Included in the guarantee of a fair trial is * * * the right to representation by competent and diligent counsel."

"(b) Darcy's counsel in petitioning for a new trial raised a number of questions going into the fairness of the trial, the conduct of the Judge (Boyer) and the atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room."

On the 29th day of September, 1956, his Excellency, George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth, signed the warrants commuting the sentences of Darby and his two companions from death to life imprisonment.

During the period of time that the case was in litigation in the courts, David Darcy and his companions received numerous stays of execution. Approximately twenty-three in number were granted to David Darcy by three different Governors, in office at the particular time. These stays of execution were granted as a matter of course because of appeals pending in the courts.

With this history of the case, the committee makes the following observations and findings:

1. This committee has no power to reverse the commutation recommended by the Board of Pardons and approved by the Governor.

Even the people themselves, wherein "all power is inherent," have no power to reverse the action.

2. There were apparent attempts to use political and personal influence. This committee is unable to state if the apparent attempts had any influence upon the decision of the Pardon Board. The several members of the Board of Pardons say they were not influenced.

3. Mr. Matthew McCloskey testified:

"Q. But you did talk to each one (members of the Pardon Board) separately?"

A. I did talk to each one separately, and I asked them to read that Brief (Decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the Darcy case); and that was in June or July of 1955." P. 2233

"Q. What was your purpose in giving to each member of the Board of Pardons a copy of that?"

A. Of course, because of my interest in this case, I felt that there wasn't any way that anybody was ever going to know what that opinion had unless they read it. P. 2232 * * * I just took the bull by the horns and handed it to them and asked them if they would read it." P. 2232-33

Secretary of Internal Affairs, Miss Genevieve

Blatt, a member of the Pardon Board, testified that Mr. McCloskey visited her at Harrisburg and gave her a copy of the Darcy decision.

Lieutenant Governor Roy E. Furman, Chairman of the Pardon Board, testified:

"Q. There has been testimony by Mr. McCloskey that he handed you a copy of the Court of Appeal opinion including both minority and the majority opinion, will you comment on that?"

"A. Had I been asked that question prior to listening to Mr. McCloskey, I would have said "No." But since I heard him testify that he gave it to me, I know it must be true. I can honestly state that I have no recollection of it." P. 2454

Mr. Justice Herbert B. Cohen, former Attorney General, and a then member of the Pardon Board, in a letter to Attorney General McBride, dated May 8, 1957, and submitted to the committee for incorporation in the record, says:

"In regard to the case of David Darcy, there was mention that Mr. Matthew McCloskey came to see me and left with me a copy of the opinions of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit in that case. I actually do not recall his doing this, but it seems to me to be a matter of no significance for the reason that, the Department of Justice being one of the parties, the opinions were in my possession long before they were presented to me by Mr. McCloskey."

The committee leaves it up to the General Assembly to draw their own conclusions from the above testimony as to whether or not the Pardon Board members were influenced in arriving at their decision.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) find no evidence to show "attempts" to use political and personal influence. There is only one circumstance in this whole case to show any contact whatever with any member of the Board of Pardons. This is the fact that considerably more than a year before the case was heard by the Board, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. handed to each of the then members of the Board of Pardons a copy of both the majority and minority opinions of the Court of Appeals. There was no discussion; there were no suggestions; there was no request, except that the opinions be read. Those opinions presented both sides of the merit of Darcy's claim that his constitutional rights had been violated. The majority then extracts from the testimony of the members of the Board and makes this comment: "The committee leaves it up to the General Assembly to draw their own conclusions."

We ask, if the committee which heard the testimony was unable to conclude that the Board was influenced, upon what basis could the General Assembly, which heard none of the testimony, come to a different conclusion?

4. In the case of Darcy v. Handy, et al., October Term 1955, No. 323, Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. Justice Herbert B. Cohen, then Attorney General, successfully argued that:

- (a) Darcy did receive a fair trial.
- (b) The action of Judge Boyer did not prejudice the trial.
- (c) There was no atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room.
- (d) Darcy was represented by competent counsel.

The reasons set forth by the Pardon Board for the commutation of Darcy, the first draft of which was prepared by or under the direction of the then Attorney General, Herbert B. Cohen (sitting as a member of the Pardon Board) (P. 1906) says:

"(a) Included in the guarantee of a fair trial is * * * the right to representation by competent and diligent counsel."

"(b) Darcy's counsel in petitioning for a new trial raised a number of questions going into the fairness of the trial, the conduct of the Judge and the atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room."

As to the above, Mr. Justice Cohen, in his letter of May 8, 1957, says:

"More important, however, is the indication that there was something inconsistent about my position in the Darcy case. It was implied that because, on the one hand, as Attorney General I resisted Darcy's appeals in the courts and, on the other hand, as a member of the Pardon Board I voted to grant commutation there was some inconsistency of position on my part."

"The Attorney General of General of Pennsylvania must perform, as a constitutional officer of the Commonwealth, several functions, each of which may call upon him to exercise different types of independent judgment. As the chief law enforcement officer of the Commonwealth it was my duty to resist Darcy's petition in the courts on the question of whether or not he had been granted a fair trial in the constitutional sense. As a member of the Board of Pardons, I was not confronted with this narrow question, but rather with whether or not clemency was justified in light of the entire proceedings and subsequent events. I think it was perfectly consistent to resist Darcy in the courts and to exercise my best judgment as a member of the Board of Pardons. In the latter function I sincerely believed and still believe that clemency was justified."

The explanation of the former Attorney General, Herbert B. Cohen, in his above quoted letter is at best a feeble justification for the dual role he played in the case.

These dual gymnastics and conflicts may be legal, but certainly are not in the best interest of the People of Pennsylvania.

Because of the possibility of similar conflicts of duty arising in the future, a majority of the committee (Scott, Fleming, Tompkins, Bell) believes that the office of Attorney General should not be included in the structure of the Pardon Board.

A minority of the committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that the statement of Mr. Justice Cohen, presently a member of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, is a complete refutation of the Majority's conclusion. The suggestion is made that he was indulging in "dual gymnastics," a meaningless phrase at best and in this instance a most unfair one. It is suggested also that there were other "dual gymnastics" and "conflicts of duty" which remain unmentioned. There is a good reason for not mentioning them. They did not exist.

In further support of the conclusion that the office of Attorney General should not be included in the structure of the Pardon Board, a minority of the committee (Tompkins and Bell) feel that a conflict arose from the multiple duties imposed upon the Attorney General in this investigation.

Article VII, Section 704, of the Administrative Code of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, imposes a triple duty upon the Attorney General, viz:

1. Legal advisor to the Governor;
2. Chief law officer of the Commonwealth; and
3. Such other duties as may now or hereafter be vested in or imposed upon him by the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth. (One of the Constitutional duties is that of being a member of the Pardon Board)

Section 904 also imposes upon the Attorney General, with the approval of the Governor, the duty to:

1. Investigate any violations or alleged violations of the laws of the Commonwealth which may come to its notice;
2. Take such steps and adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth."

How conflicts can arise from the multiple duties imposed upon the Office of the Attorney General were clearly indicated in the present investigation.

A minority of the committee (Tompkins and Bell) further reports:

The Attorney General made a choice of representing the Pardon Board. In doing so, he placed himself at times in opposition to the investigation of a Legislative Committee; and at times impeded the work of the Committee.

This constituted a conflict with his duties as "chief law officer of the Commonwealth"; and of his duties "to investigate alleged violations of the law." This is not a healthy condition for the people of the Commonwealth, and it would have been better for the Office of the Attorney General to maintain impartiality, not to have directly entered into the proceedings at all.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) disagree that the present Attorney General was involved in a conflict of duty by virtue of his having represented the Board of Pardons. It must be remembered that the Legislature was undertaking to investigate the action of a branch of the executive department of government. The Attorney General is not only the attorney for the Governor but also for all executive departments, boards and commissions. As such it was his duty to appear, personally if he chose or by deputy, to aid in throwing such light as he could upon the investigation from the point of view of the executive department. Far from impeding the investigation, he actually aided it. At all times the Attorney General invited the Committee to make a formal decision that he was disqualified. It never did and has not done so now. But had it done so, such a head-on conflict between the executive and legislative branches of government would necessarily have been resolved by the Supreme Court. In this way the question would have been decided once and for all.

5. In view of the fact that the issues as to competency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria, and fairness of the trial were not raised until a late stage of the court proceedings, and after the first application for clemency had been refused, this Committee believes that because of this, and because of information contained in the whole record before it, the Pardon Board should have conducted a more thorough investigation.

6. Statements were obtained from the jurors who tried the Darcy case a considerable length of time after they rendered their verdict and the same was recorded, indicating they might have rendered a different verdict if certain facts had been brought out at the trial.

These statements were submitted to the Pardon Board and were a part of the record which they considered.

This is dangerous practice and we recommend legislation to forbid the same.

7. Considerable was made during the hearings about the more than five years that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster were confined to the death house. This committee recognizes the impact of such a protracted ordeal.

The committee further recognizes that the duration of confinement was of Darcy's own making by the numerous court procedures, which he kept in process, and not of the making of the Commonwealth.

Should long confinement in the death house be a reason to warrant a grant of clemency, then every person sentenced to death would warrant a grant of clemency if he were able to litigate his case over an extended period of time.

We do not believe this constitutes equal justice, and the use of such a reason is not well founded, either in justice or mercy.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that in view of the fact that the Darcy case has been singled out for so much comment it is necessary that the General Assembly be advised as to the context in which the Board of Pardons considered this case and the obvious reasons upon which it acted.

The issue in the federal court on Darcy's petition for habeas corpus was whether the state court had given him a trial so fundamentally unfair that a federal court would interfere even to the extent of preventing a state from exercising its admitted jurisdiction to punish crime. That was not the question that ultimately came before the Board of Pardons.

An examination of the majority opinion in the Court of Appeals shows that the majority of the court entertained doubts as to the justice of the trial. It must be remembered that the trial of one of Darcy's co-conspirators ended on a Friday and Darcy, who had been granted a severance, was nevertheless placed on trial the very next trial day which was the following Monday. Here is the majority of four judges speaking (p. 507):

"The situation certainly would have justified a decision to wait a while before trying the relator, or else to try him in another community if trial immediately after the conviction of his confederates was deemed important. . . .

(p. 508) "It is established constitutional doctrine that our limited function in correcting fundamental impropriety in state trials challenged under the due process clause makes it necessary that we leave alone many dubious occurrences in state procedure which we would proscribe if they should happen in a federal court."

Can anyone say with fair assurance that the majority of the court was holding that the trial was fair? Can anyone say, in view of this language, that had it occurred in a federal court it would not have been condemned?

Here is what the three judges constituting the minority, speaking through Judge Kalodner, had to say (p. 515):

"Shaken down to its hard core the majority's position—bluntly stated—is this: Darcy was grievously hurt by Judge Boyer's conduct but we cannot help him because he was hurt on the other (the State) side of the street; otherwise stated, there is no constitutional redress for Darcy despite the fact that he was unfairly tried because it was his fate to be tried in a State court instead of a Federal court."

In the Supreme Court of the United States (351 U.S. 454), the same arguments were made on behalf of Darcy. He lost again by a vote of 6 to 3 but the opinion of the majority of that court shows again that no affirmative finding was made that the trial was fair but only that Darcy had failed in the great burden he had to assume in asking a federal court to upset a state trial by showing essential constitutional unfairness. Here is what the majority said in concluding its decision (p. 467):

"Petitioner has not sustained the burden resting upon him to show that his trial was essentially unfair in a constitutional sense and that the several courts which have reviewed it are all in error."

Here again three justices of the Supreme Court of the United States dissented in an opinion written by Mr. Justice Harlan, holding that the trial was not only unfair but that it was sufficiently unfair to violate even the federal constitution despite the fact that it was a state trial which was being reviewed. Mr. Justice Harlan concluded his opinion as follows (p. 469):

"The reasons for my conclusion are those which Judge Kalodner has well stated in his dissenting opinion in the Court of Appeals, 224 F. 2d 504, 509. We should be especially scrupulous in seeing to it that the right to a fair trial has not been jeopardized by the conduct of a member of the judiciary."

Therefore, the Board of Pardons was faced by this alarming disagreement among the highest courts in our land. Should any accused go to his death under such circumstances? There the judges split on the question of whether he should get a new trial, meaning a second chance either to go free or to establish a lesser degree than murder in the first degree. The issue before the Board of Pardons was simply whether, in view of the entire circumstances of the case, including the doubts expressed by the minority judges (equal in ability and and conscience with the majority) he should be spared his life and condemned to spend it in a penitentiary.

Furthermore, evidence was offered to the Board that 11 of the 12 jurors in the original trial, when polled at a later date, stated that they would not have voted for the death penalty had Darcy been placed upon the stand and had they known all the circumstances of the case.

Added to all this is the fact that these three men had been incarcerated for upwards of seven years, many of which were spent in the death house itself. To have executed them under such circumstances would have been barbaric. The public, if it knew all these facts, would have been better able to understand the decision in the Darcy case and the issue which confronted the Board of Pardons which was essentially different from that which confronted the courts.

The majority of this Committee makes the following statement after acknowledging the fact that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster were confined to the death house for more than 5 years: "The committee further recognizes that the duration of confinement was of Darcy's making by the numerous court procedures, which he kept in process, and not of the making of the Commonwealth." What about both Zeitz and Foster? After the year 1950, when their appeals were affirmed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, they did not file or participate in any court procedures whatever. There was never any stay of execution granted by any court in their cases and the Commonwealth was at all times able and legally warranted in executing them. Yet they were kept alive for years thereafter in the death house. There is no warrant in law, in justice, or in humanity in respect of a man sentenced to death by electrocution to keep him alive for years in a death house where he has not chosen this course and then at will or caprice to execute him when the mood strikes executive power.

If there is one single fact that shines like a beacon in this whole case it is that it would have been a shameful, harsh decision that would have sent Foster and Zeitz at that late date to the execution chamber; and if they were to be spared, what reason could be urged why Darcy should be treated differently? The fact that he had exercised his legal rights? The fact that those legal rights were so persuasive that even though not successful they resulted in six of the highest ranking federal judges agreeing that his trial was constitutionally unfair? Surely it will not be pretended that the exercise of rights given to a citizen by the law warrants a penalty that would not otherwise be visited upon him.

8. The Governor was extended an invitation by the committee to appear before them. Under advice of the Attorney General, on the principle of separation of powers, he did not choose to do so. P. 2315

Information was voluntarily submitted to the committee "that the recommendations of the Board of Pardons * * * were received in the Governor's office, Harrisburg, shortly after noon on Saturday, September 29, 1956, were signed between 5:30 p. m. and 6:00 p. m by the Governor at the Executive Mansion, and were returned approved to the Board of Pardons from the Governor's office at 6:30 p. m. on the same day."

When the committee sought to subpoena David V. Randall, Secretary to the Governor, and Richard Heagy, Chief Clerk to the Governor, to testify to more ministerial detail as to time the Governor received same and how long they were in his possession, the Attorney General answered the subpoenas for them and advised that under the ruling of Appeal of Hartranft, 85 Pa. 433, they as subordinates of the Governor were not subject to subpoena process relating to matters concerning the Governor.

At the hearing this ruling was challenged by the Chairman as to ministerial acts performed by the Governor. P. 2320

On the question of Executive Immunity, the committee as a whole agrees with the decision in the Hartranft case.

A minority of the committee (Tompkins and Bell), however, wish to point out this immunity is not absolute, nor are the courts unanimous in their views. The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Agnew in the Hartranft case says:

"On no ground of the Constitution, law, public justice, State policy, or sound reason, can I discover any exemption of any officer in the State, high or low, from the common duty all citizens owe to the due administration of justice. With these views, I cannot consent to rob the Judiciary of its Constitutional power, and exalt the executive above the demands of justice and the safety and welfare of the people. I cannot abnegate a duty entrusted to me by the people, and will perform that duty unsullied by dereliction, or obedience at the shrine of unwarranted power."

9. Darcy and his confederates, having had their death sentences commuted, now become eligible for further commutation for release into society whenever the Pardon Board and the Governor deem fit.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) simply wish to add that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster have not been freed but are serving a sentence of life imprisonment. There is no justification for the implication that the present or any other Board of Pardons will further commute their sentences thus making them eligible for parole.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 594 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 19, 1957.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 594, Printer's No. 403, entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to acquire a tract of land in Allegheny County to be added to the Pennsylvania highways system and making an appropriation therefor," be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 133 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 133.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TO CONDUCT AN INVESTIGATION IN CONNECTION WITH THE REMOVAL OF JAMES E. MORGAN AS PRESIDENT OF MANSFIELD STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

In the House of Representatives, June 11, 1957.

Whereas, the well-being of the Commonwealth's educational system requires the services of competent, dedicated men and women, and

Whereas, reports indicate that it has become increasingly difficult to attract and retain such persons in the service of our educational institutions, and

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the General Assembly that questionable circumstances surround the removal of Mr. James E. Morgan as President of Mansfield State Teachers College in Tioga County, and

Whereas, these circumstances have created dissention within the Board of Trustees of Mansfield State Teachers College as well as promoting public resentment to the extent that confidence in the administration of the Department of Public Instruction has been seriously undermined be it therefore

Resolved (the Senate concurring) that the Department of Justice conduct a complete investigation of all activity in connection with the removal of Mr. James E. Morgan as President and the appointment of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber, and be it further

Resolved, that the Governor withhold approval of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgeber until such time as he has fully studied this situation for the purpose of taking remedial action if found necessary.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 133

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments to this resolution, and ask for their immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend third paragraph of preamble, lines 2, and 3 by striking out "removal" and inserting in lieu thereof: "resignation"; amend fourth paragraph of preamble, lines 3, 4 and 5, by striking out "to the extent that" in line 3, and all of lines 4 and 5 and inserting in lieu: "and" "Whereas it appears that the events which led to Mr. Morgan's resignation began at the time of Mr. Morgan's election, therefore be it"; amend first resolution, line 3, by striking out "removal" and inserting in lieu thereof: "resignation"; amend second resolution, by striking out all of said resolution and inserting in lieu thereof: "Resolved, That the investigation begin with the affairs of the board of trustees and the President from the time of the election of Mr. Morgan, to the board meeting at which Dr. Rathgeber was elected."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to the inclusion of the proposed amendments for the reason that the resolution, as passed by the House, sufficiently encompasses the subject matter which the sponsors of the resolution desired. As a consequence, I ask my colleagues to vote against the adoption of the amendments.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, we are all quite jealous I think of the fact that public education in Pennsylvania, and in the Department of Public Instruction, should be nonpolitical. I think we can be proud of the Leader Administration appointments to the Department of Public Instruction and other places of importance in the educational system. These appointments have been made without regard to political affiliation.

I am not too familiar with the situation with which this resolution deals, but I understand this is not a political controversy. I think that if this Body would have acted earlier on the bill which I introduced more than a month ago, Senate Bill No. 784, and if the House leadership would have picked up that bill and passed it, the meetings of the Boards of Trustees of the State Teachers' Colleges would now be open. This, in itself, I think would probably have made this resolution unnecessary.

When a festering breaks out in the human body or in a political or social organization, the virus has generally been working a long time. That is the reason my colleague, Senator Seyler, and I presented these amendments. Over about a fifteen-year period, I think the State Teachers' College in Pennsylvania which has had the finger of political mismanagement pointed at it, if that has been true of any, has been the Mansfield State Teachers' College. For example—and, of course, these are only alleged things which have been heard over the State—when the war ended and the man came back to be President of Mansfield State Teachers' College, he found Mr. Morgan had usurped his position. There are allegations of questionable bidding practices in this institution. There are allegations, over the fifteen years, of teachers suddenly being found to be incompetent, after their registration has been discovered. These are allegations it seems to me that are serious enough, and since this present disturbance is of a nonpolitical character, that if this Legislature wants to really put public education, particularly at Mansfield State Teachers' College, on a solid, firm basis, then this resolution should include an investigation of the activities of the Mansfield State Teachers' College for the past fifteen years.

Mr. President, I urge my colleagues to vote for the amendments to this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I can subscribe to many of the remarks of my colleague, Senator Hays, with reference to the regard in which we hold our educational system and, in particular, I can testify as to the regard in which the public in general holds the Mansfield State Teachers' College in the area in which it is located.

Mr. President, the remarks of the gentleman concerning various matters which he read from a paper and which he termed allegations, are, I might say, matters which do not appear to be within the scope of the resolution which is before this Body, and I question very much whether they are at all germane to the present situation. If such things as those allegations were to be made, I am surprised they were not made at some time during the fourteen years in which the gentleman occupied the office of President of Mansfield State Teachers' College. However, Mr. President, it is not my intention to enter into any debate concerning the situation there because, frankly, I do not have any background knowledge of any of the things which Senator Hays has mentioned. This resolution merely asks that the Governor and the Department of Justice investigate the subject matter of this resolution prior to taking affirmative action upon what the Board of Trustees did concerning the resignation of the president of the college.

Consequently, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues again to vote against these amendments.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Berger, did you hand out a news release or have an interview with a newspaperman whose column appeared in the Elmira, New York, newspaper where you said that when the names of the Members of the Board of Trustees were sent over by the Governor for confirmation by the Senate, you would ask that they be brought up on the floor and then voted down by the Members of the Senate?

Mr. BERGER. Senator Barr, at the time that article appeared, I was informed rather reliably that the Board of Trustees intended to ask for the resignation of President Morgan and the date would be prior to the time when he would be eligible to receive his retirement. I, therefore, said if that happened, I would be inclined to do just that.

Mr. BARR. Did you do that?

Mr. BERGER. I did not.

Mr. BARR. Is it true that since the time that article appeared in the newspapers, several of the trustees have been reported out by the Republican Committee on Executive Nominations and have been confirmed?

Mr. BERGER. Will you repeat the question, Senator Barr?

Mr. BARR. Is it not true that since the time this article appeared in the Elmira, New York newspaper, a number of these trustees' names have been brought out of the Senate Committee on Executive Nominations and have been confirmed by the Senate?

Mr. BERGER. Three of them, yes sir.

Mr. BARR. Did you raise your voice in protest against them at that time?

Mr. BERGER. No, I did not.

Mr. BARR. Thank you.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, fifty-eight years ago, I was graduated from Mansfield Normal School because it was near my father's farm. At every Session, and I have been here for nineteen years, there has been some attack on the State Teachers' Colleges. I am convinced, when girls and boys are bashful and timid and they go away from home, they go to the Teachers' Colleges because they are near their homes. When they go home week ends, they feed the cows in the morning and they know all of their names. They know the names of all the roosters and most of the hens, especially the old hens.

Every Session there has been some attack on the State Teachers' Colleges, which are the schools for the finest boys and girls in Pennsylvania, who, as I said a moment ago, are timid and bashful when they go away from home. They are good colleges, and I am not surprised that in this Session there is an argument about one of the State Teachers' Colleges.

I do not know anything about President Morgan. However, I do not think it is our problem here to do anything, even a little thing, to hurt a State college for teachers in Pennsylvania. Therefore, I am against every move to interfere with the State Teachers' Colleges of Pennsylvania, because they are the colleges for the poor farm boys and girls. Otherwise, I would not be here.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I do not know Mr. James E. Morgan, but I am acquainted with Doctor Lewis W. Rathgeber. I know he is a young man, I know he is an able person and I know he is sincere, conscientious and dependable. I know that he fulfills the job he was selected for and it is a credit to the Board of Trustees for having chosen him. On the other hand, Mr. Morgan, who was an employee of the college, had the audacity to attempt to overrule the board by whom he is employed by getting a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives, which was passed and then brought into this Senate, to try to undo the work of his employers. I say, for that alone, he has disqualified himself from holding any job, Mr. President, in this Teachers' College. I certainly think that by this action alone he has disqualified himself.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not know just how much Senator Mullin may know about the genesis of this resolution. However, let it be said, for his information, that I doubt very much if President Morgan had any knowledge whatever that this resolution was being introduced in the House. I have no doubt that the Representative who introduced the resolution, did so because he was aware of the great public dissatisfaction with the request for the resignation of Doctor Morgan.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the fact that Senator Hays and I have introduced amendments to this resolution should not be taken by anyone as an indication that Senator Hays and I are of the opinion that an investigation is necessary. It is not in order at this time to debate the resolution itself. Therefore, I will not do so. I will do that later. However, I just wanted to make that statement.

If an investigation is to be made, we feel it should be a fair investigation. It should be one, moreover, which has some opportunity to get at the facts and the underlying causes of the incident which has precipitated this resolution.

The amendments to this resolution do exactly two things. In the first place, they correct a misstatement of fact in the resolution by substituting the word "resignation" for "removal." It is a matter of record that Mr. Morgan did resign his position. Therefore, the word "removal" is not a proper word in this case, and we are substituting the word "resignation" to make this correspond with the facts in the case.

The second thing we are doing is asking that instead of just beginning with the meeting at which this occurred and the surrounding events, which just occurred a short time ago, we do something which is more likely to get at the causes involved here; namely, to go back into the affairs which took place during the incumbency of Mr. Morgan and see what those facts were and what contribution they made to the flare-up which resulted in this resolution.

I think this is the only fair way. If there is an investigation to be made, we can then proceed, because it is obvious that not all of the trouble which resulted in this affair took place in the last few weeks. It is obvious, from the facts which have been cited and the allegations which have been mentioned, that in the minds of many people there is a feeling that these affairs have been underway for some time. If we are going to make an investigation, a fair investigation, all of the pertinent facts should be included, not only the recent ones but those those less recent which, nevertheless, are the real underlying causes of the trouble.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I would like to know whether President Morgan resigned voluntarily, whether he was driven out through expulsion, pressure or anything else.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the resolution requests that the Governor investigate the circumstances of the resignation of President Morgan, which, incidentally, I am reliably informed, although and I am not testifying, was obtained at the request of the new Board of Trustees.

The resolution asks that the Governor conduct this investigation. Mr. President, I am sure and I am confident that the Governor will obtain all of the facts which are necessary should he make that investigation. I am quite certain he will be thorough in so doing. I have that confidence.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I certainly appreciate the gentleman's remarks about the likelihood of the Governor's investigation, if such an investigation were included in the resolution, being a fair one and a thorough one. Unfortunately, the gentleman's facts are incorrect. It is not the Governor who would be instructed to make the investigation, but the Department of Justice. However, I am sure the Department of Justice, likewise, if it were ordered by this Legislature to make an investigation, would make a fair one and a thorough one.

To proceed to my answer to Senator McGinnis' question, the resignation of the former president, Mr. Morgan, was accepted by the board. It was tendered and it is fair to state, however, that a majority of the board had indicated to Mr. Morgan that there was dissatisfaction with events which had taken place during the period of his incumbency, which we are recommending should be investigated along with the meeting, if an investigation is to be made. In other words, it is fair to state that it was not an entirely voluntarily resignation. However, it was a bona fide resignation and, as such, was accepted by the board.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Not being entirely sure of my facts, which one is the lawyer, Moscrip or Lee?

Mr. BERGER. Both are attorneys-at-law, I believe.

Mr. BARR. Which one appeared as attorney for one of the Members of the Board of Trustees at the last meeting?

Mr. BERGER. I believe Mr. Lee.

Mr. BARR. I see. In other words, there is nothing political in this then?

Mr. BERGER. At this time, no. I would say that prior to the resolution, there might have been, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. Thank you very much.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the Attorney General of Pennsylvania is going to be called upon every time someone loses his job in any institution or in any of the State-aided or State-controlled schools or hospitals of this State, we are going to require a greater appropriation in the General Fund for the Attorney General's office.

I understand that the Attorney General's funds have been cut. If you are going to give him more work, I would suggest that you write a little bit more money into the appropriation bill so that he can take care of all the discharged Republicans in the State.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I believe it is now in order to discuss the merits of the resolution.

I would like to re-emphasize the points made by Senator Hays and Senator McGinnis to the effect that at the present time, and for many years, the conduct of the Teachers' Colleges in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been a matter in which the people of the Commonwealth have had confidence. As with any institution, whether it be a governmental institution or otherwise, there have been errors made. To err is human. However, the whole picture, the whole current representing the progress of these institutions is a rising one indicating progress, indicating conscientious service on the part of faculty and the administrative staff in those institutions and indicating a high type of guidance on the part of our Department of Public Instruction.

Many of the people of the Commonwealth are alumni of these institutions and have sincere feelings and gratitude for the benefits they received as students in these institutions. As Senator McGinnis said, many of these people are among those people of the Commonwealth of perhaps less than average means. Nevertheless, they are fine people who have taken this opportunity offered by the Commonwealth to rise in the various professions, particularly in teaching.

To begin to move in with investigations in the schools of our Commonwealth, it seems to me, can serve no useful purpose whatever at this time. In the first place, if the party in control of the Legislature initiates a policy of investigating, this year, a school at which something occurred of which they disapproved, who will believe that several years from now when perhaps the political winds have changed, another political party may not direct another institution to be investigated? Down that road, Mr. President, lies the projection of our Teachers' Colleges into politics. Therein lies the possibility that the affairs of the Boards of Teachers' Colleges, and the administration of our Teachers' Colleges and the activities of the faculties and students of our Teachers' Colleges will become political footballs to be discussed, just as right now we are discussing this matter in this hall, as though some grievous faults and crimes which needed radical change had occurred. This is not the case. Outside of avenging someone's feelings or outside of making someone feel better about it, I do not see that any useful purpose is going to be served by this investigation.

If an investigation is going to be made, as high as my respect is for the integrity of the Department of Justice, I do not think that is the proper department. I do not think it has the proper background to go into an investigation of this type. It would seem to me that the Department of Public Instruction would have the facilities, the staff, the background and the knowledge. If we are going to have an investigation of one of the Teachers' Colleges of this Commonwealth, that would be the proper department to conduct such an investigation. There is no allegation, to my knowledge, that any crime or anything of a serious nature, to warrant the intrusion of the Justice Department in this, has been committed.

There will be differences in Boards of Trustees, and there will be differences in faculties. However, to sensationalize this and to give it an undue importance by calling for an investigation will go far, Mr. President, I believe, to undermine the confidence of the people of the Commonwealth in their institutions. It is something, it seems to me, that is unwarranted because I believe these schools have been doing a good job. I would very much dislike to see the affairs of these institutions thrust into a public investigation with charges, countercharges and reputations drawn through the pages of the newspapers and so on. I just do not think it is good practice. I do not think anything has happened to warrant such an investigation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I hope the Members of the Senate will think about this thing not as a member of a political party or as a friend of someone who feels he has been aggrieved, but as citizens and as legislators who are interested in the successful conduct of our teaching institutions, and vote against this resolution.

If anyone feels that anything has been gained by this discussion here, I think he is badly mistaken. If anyone thinks anything further will be gained by protracting this thing, I think he is even more mistaken.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, there are some people in this State who think a wrong was done in this instance. Others think there was no wrong done. However, I cannot understand why any innocent man would object to an investigation. If something wrong was done up there, this investigation might point it out.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate argee to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Warren will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Berger,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Blass,	Kromer,	Proport,	Walker,

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 25, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 25.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COM-MISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE OCCUPA-TIONAL DISEASE ACT AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE FUND

In the Senate, April 8, 1957.

During the 1953-55 biennium, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expended $1,025,000 in occupational diseases compensation payments.

The amount so expended during the 1955-57 biennium, although not yet determined, appears to have arisen to more than $8,600,000.

The Governor's budget for 1957-59 biennium suggests an expenditure of $15,000,000 for the purpose, and the administrators of the Occupational Disease Act claim that figure to be grossly inadequate.

This sudden and tremendous increase in cost to the Commonwealth demands that the Occupational Disease Act and the administration of it be subjected to close and extensive study; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a comprehensive study of the Occupational Disease Act and of the administration of the Occupational Disease Fund, giving particular attention to:

(1) The system of establishing eligibility of persons receiving payments;

(2) The checks and follow-up procedures employed to determine the continuing eligibility of such persons;

(3) The adequacy of the protection of Commonwealth funds and the safeguards established for that purpose;

(4) The cost of operating the fund during the 1957-59 biennium for which a deficiency is forecast

(5) The estimated obligation of the Commonwealth for such payments during the 1959-61 biennium; and

(6) Any other pertinent matter which the commission deems appropriate to the study; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to make a report of its finding to the next General Assembly not later than January 31, 1959, together with its recommendations for legislative action.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

REQUESTING SENATOR BERNARD B. MCGINNIS TO FAVOR THE SENATE WITH RENDITION OF "GALWAY BAY"

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, our closing night would never be complete without the rendition by our good friend and colleague, Senator McGinnis, of his favorite song, "Galway Bay." I hope he will favor us with the rendition of that famous song at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair invites the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, to the rostrum. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Doctor Pechan, escort the gentleman from Allegheny to the rostrum?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.
(Senator McGinnis was then escorted to the rostrum.)

RENDITION OF "GALWAY BAY" BY SENATOR BERNARD B. MCGINNIS

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I am up here for one reason only. This is the birthday of Lenora Pechan, the lovely wife of Senator Pechan. I have consented, under pressure, to sing "Galway Bay."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, those of us who have enjoyed Barney's company for many evenings, in the past few years, would like to hear him sing "Mockingbird Hill" as an encore.

RENDITION OF "MOCKINGBIRD HILL" BY SENATOR BERNARD B. MCGINNIS

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to announce that I know only two songs, "Galway Bay" and "Mockingbird Hill." I have now been requested to sing "Mockingbird Hill."

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am sorry that Mrs. Pechan left just a little while ago. However, on her behalf I want to thank Senator McGinnis.

When I go over to the other side of the Senate, Senator McGinnis always says to me, "When I see you coming over here, I know there is trouble." I want Barney to know that when I come over there, I do not bring trouble; I bring the best wishes from this side and our love and affection for you. If I could sing, I would get up there and sing a Polish or Slovak or some nationality song for you. However, I cannot sing and, therefore, you will just have to take my word for it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.
(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now move—
The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman yield until a communication from the House has been read?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1700

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has adopted the Report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1700, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1957.

The PRESIDENT. This Report of Committee of Conference will be laid on the table.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, before we get into the serious note of the evening, I just want to tell the gentleman from Titusville, Senator Mahany, that his being so anxious reminds me of the story the Former Vice-President of the United States, the late Alben Barkley, told in Harrisburg some years ago. He said that the Republican Party was suffering from colic and in his time, they never got over it. In my time they are not going to get over it either.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not get the point of the joke. Does it mean that as long as Senator Barr is around, we are going to suffer from colic?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1700 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table the Report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1700, Printer's No. 1002.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1700

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the report of Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1700, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1957.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

SENATE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1700

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1700.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have been here for the better part of the year 1957. During the first quarter of the year, we devoted most of our time in trying to pass revenue measures to provide the necessary funds to carry on the proper functions of government. Some of us felt that the revenue measures were not equitable. However, in the due processes of the democratic system of government, the majority prevailed and the necessary revenue bills were passed.

The next quarter of the year was spent in trying to devise a proper budget for the Commonwealth's activities. Again, we find ourselves at opposite ends of the argument. The Governor of the Commonwealth, in his Budget Message to this General Assembly, laid out a program calling for expenditures for budgeted items, the repayment of the deficiencies and the nonbudgeted items, totaling $1,604,000,000. However, from the time the Budget Message was given and until we were ready to vote on a final budget, there was a revision in the so-called requirements by reducing the amount needed, in the month of January, for the payment on school subsidies for the bonus payment made to teachers from $33,500,000 to $31,500,000; a reduction in the estimated need for social security integration of $5,600,000 down to $4,000,000; an elimination of the $3,800,000 required for the introduction into the health unit system of the city of Philadelphia which was defeated by the Legislature; a reduction in the amount asked for airport construction and matching Federal funds, from $3,000,000 to one and one-half million dollars, bringing us somewhere in the neighborhood of required needs of $1,594,000,000.

The Republican Legislature decided that the time had come for what it called an economy drive. Failing to realize the true estimates of revenue and the true yields of revenues already upon the books and income from other sources, they established for themselves a goal. With a much-heralded slogan of "No New Taxes," they set out to take from the Governor's budget requests the amounts necessary to be fit into the cloth they had tailored without measuring the client for the suit. In so doing, they ended up, some few weeks ago, with a budget which was a legislative monstrosity. It neither fitted the picture of needs nor fitted the picture of revenues.

After the bill came over to the Senate and we attempted, unsuccessfully, to rewrite it upon the floor of the Senate and to restore the funds which we felt were necessary and were requested for the Department of Government, under the Governor, which are responsible to the people for the administration of the affairs of this State, the sums which they thought and estimated would be required, the Republican Senate made a few adjustments. However, the adjustments were refused by the House and the bill was thrown into conference.

When we started on the conference, representing the Minority side, I asked the conferees which column of estimates they were going to use as the basic yield of expendable moneys for this biennium. I have before me and they have before them, a tabulation made up of various revenue estimates in the Commonwealth. Some were made up by outside agencies that have no legal standing in the Commonwealth. Incidentally, it has been my humble opinion, since they came upon the scene, that they have added more to the confusion than any other single incident that has happened in my lifetime on Capitol Hill. That night, we ended up by presenting to that group the estimate of the Economy League, dated August 1, 1956, the estimate of the Tax Policy Advisory Commission, the estimate of the Republican Leadership in the General Assembly, which probably came from outside of the General Assembly, the Governor's budget estimate which was presented to the General Assembly in the month of January, the State Chamber of Commerce Research Bureau's estimate of August 25, 1956, and the Joint State Government Commission's estimate, dated March 11, 1957.

To show you how difficult it is, even for these learned agencies and persons, to establish a budget or an estimate of revenue to meet a budget need when you are dealing in figures which are problematical, for instance, the Economy League's budget estimate was $1,418,000,000; the Tax Policy Advisory Commission, $1,456,000,000; the Republican Leadership's estimate, $1,522,000,000; the Governor's budget estimate, $1,463,000,000; the State Chamber of Commerce, $1,470,000,000; the Joint State Government Commission, $1,476,000,000.

They arrive at these estimates by taking the tax legislation of the Commonwealth and they estimate just how much this particular item will bring in. Let me give you a few examples.

The Economy League's estimate on corporate net income tax was $306,000,000; the Tax Policy Advisory Commission, $316,000,000; the Republican Leadership, $330,000,000; the Governor's figures, $314,000,000; the State Chamber of Commerce, $317,000,000; the Joint State Government Commission, $318,000,000; or a difference between the high and low, in that one tax item, of $24,000,000.

Let us take another very interesting item in the tax legislation, the inheritance tax. The Economy League's estimate on inheritance tax was $80,000,000; the Tax Policy Advisory Commission, $82,000,000; the Republican Leadership, $82,000,000; the Governor's budget, $79,000,000; the State Chamber of Commerce $80,000,000; the Joint State Government Commission, $94,000,000.

Just for the fun of it, I took the high figure on each of the tax revenue sources in Pennsylvania, the high figure in each of the categories, as it appeared in the six columns. If I took the high figure on each tax, wherever it appeared, and put it into a column of my own, I could come up with an estimate to this General Assembly of $1,684,000,000. There is nothing that anybody can say which would deny that these figures were as accurate and that my figure would be just as accurate as any of the guesses contained herein. Faced with this, I left it entirely up to the Republican conferees to select whichever one of the estimates they wanted to work with. I said, "You make your choice. I have before me House Bill No. 1700. Whichever estimate you take, I will attempt to tailor into House Bill No. 1700, placing whatever moneys we have into the departments as desired by the Administration, to arrive at the figure you select as being the total which I will be allowed."

When you take those estimates, you must then turn over the page and remove from the estimates certain exemptions that were passed in this General Assembly; for instance, the manufacturers' exemption. You must then add whatever revenues you found that are still available. For instance, the Distaster Relief Fund gave us $7,000,000 extra that we were able to add to the estimates we had before us. The re-enactment of the cigarette tax gave us an additional $22,000,000. By deducting the manufacturers' exemption, by adding the Disaster Relief Fund, transferring the one-cent cigarette tax, these are the figures we come up with as having the money we would have to meet the budget needs of the Commonwealth.

We find that the Economy League would allow us $1,396,000,000; the Tax Policy Advisory Commission would allow us $1,434,000,000; the Republican Leadership would allow us $1,504,000,000; the Governor would allow us $1,441,000,000; the Joint State Government Commission would allow us $1,450,000,000.

The difference between the high estimate and the high budget figure that we could use was that between the Republican figure of $1,504,000,000 and the low figure of the Economy League of $1,396,000,000, or a difference of

On top of that we added the $21,000,000 which the Governor announced, within the last two weeks, as being money which came in over the estimates of the last biennium's revenue estimates. We had, on top of that, the fact that we had passed a bill which was going to give us twenty-five months of collection for the sales tax, rather than twenty-four months of collection. By taking the figure which has been proclaimed time and time and time again upon this floor by the architect of the sales tax in this Senate, Senator Kessler, we had to accept the figure of $500,000,000 as being the estimate of yield for the sales tax. If we add those two figures to the Republican estimate, we would have had available in this biennium, $1,550,500,000. However, they did not choose to accept their own figures and they said, "We will accept the Joint State Government Commission's figures." When we added and subtracted, and made the necessary adjustments, we found that we had available, using their own accepted estimates of the Joint State Government Commission, $1,447,700,000.

I had proposed an estimate of my own, which I then took from my pocket and said to them, "This is an estimate which I have made up by myself, without too much formal education, and I arrived at a figure of $1,477,200,000." I was just $500,000 less than the estimate they had agreed to accept that night, and I took the estimate they asked for.

We worked that afternoon and night very diligently and strenuously. You cannot take a bill, consisting of 101 pages, dealing with well over a billion dollars, and work toward an answer to a very vexing problem, when you have, on one side of the table, those who want to put the money in one particular department and those who want to put the money in another department. However, after many hours, we came up with an answer which, at least, we thought was an answer. Then we retired for the day, to meet the next day.

I think it is important for you Members of the Senate to know that we did work when we were given a task to do. We met the next day, and the first thing I was told was, "We are not going to use the Joint State Government Commission's figures. We are going to use the Republican Leadership's figures." Away we went into the salt mines again for hours and hours of work, and we tailored House Bill No. 1700 then to meet that particular estimate. We then left again. I think that is where we made our mistake. We left too often.

The next day we met again. Lo and behold, I was again confronted with the same story. They said, "We will not accept the Republican Leadership's estimate now. We want the Governor's estimate because, in the end, the Governor's estimates have to rule anyway. The Governor cannot accept any estimates except those which are advanced by his own Department of Revenue and the Budget Office." I said, "All right, we will start all over again." They said, "No, we want the Governor to give us a revised estimate of the revenues. We want it over the signature of the Secretary of the Budget." In their presence, I called the Secretary of the Budget and told him what we wanted. He asked, "How much time do we have?" I said, "We would like to have it as quickly as you can get it." He said, "I will do my very best." I said to him, "I think the gentlemen of the conference would like to have you be able to say that the Governor agrees with you." It was not too long after that when the gentleman brought over the figures.

When the Secretary of the Budget had recapitulated, he gave us this new revised estimate. It took into consideration the fact that the tax yields of 1955-1957 had brought in $21,000,000 more than what they had estimated in the capital stock and franchise tax and in the corporate net income tax.

We then had a new estimate, based upon the last information available. The Governor gave us an estimate of tax totals of $1,375,000,000, and other nontax revenues, added to that, of $165.5, or a total estimated revenue of $1,540,500,000. I was then told it would have to be given in writing. I called the gentleman and he brought over a letter in which he gave both his signature and a statement that he had consulted with the Governor.

They then said that was not sufficient. They said we should have a direct letter from the Secretary of Revenue. This I tell you, has never been required nor requested in all of the years I have served upon Conference Committees on appropriation bills. However, in our extreme anxiety to wind up this Session and to receive the blessings of the Republican Majority on a budget that would meet the needs of the Commonwealth, I called and asked that such a letter be sent. Shortly thereafter, we received a letter from the Secretary of Revenue, testifying to the accuracy of the estimates and to his professional opinion that these were the estimates of revenue which could be used by this Committee, meeting jointly, in trying to make up proper revenue estimates to be used in writing the budget.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, we then went to work again and, again, we went through House Bill No. 1700. However, I must say to the gentlemen that they never once said, "We agree with what you are writing into House Bill No. 1700, but we will accept it for the moment, for a matter of having a place from which to work and then we will get together later." Then, they left again. It slowly began to sink into my rather thick skull that this recessing was causing most of my trouble. However, being in the Minority, there was nothing I could do. We recessed for a couple of hours for the purpose of eating dinner. When I arrived back in the meeting room a couple of hours later, I was told flatly that all of this was out the window and that they were going to write a new set of estimates of their own.

Just about at that time, Mr. President, I had come to the conclusion that I had underestimated something, but it was not the revenue. Rather than wind up in a booby hatch, strapped to the walls some place, I decided the best thing for me to do was to present them with what I thought was an answer in compromise. When I say "in compromise," I mean exactly that. In the last go-around, taking the Governor's estimates, I had underspent the revenues of this Commonwealth by some seventeen millions of dollars. For the first time in the history of this State, to my knowledge or to the knowledge of any other person in this room, we found ourselves in a peculiar position. We had reversed our position and we were now trying to cut the revenue to meet a reduced budget. Knowing the needs of the Commonwealth, as they have been proclaimed by the Governor and who, in the last analysis, is responsible for the administration of the functions of government, we found ourselves in a trap, those of us on the Conference Committee who are in the Minority—where the Majority was deliberately and knowingly trying to legislate a $33,000,000 surplus in the biennium. They were trying to do this, mind you, at the same time they were practically wiping out the diagnostic clinics and mental health clinics all over the State, when they were sharply reducing the amount of money required to run the mental institutions, when they had cut every department in the State down to a bare level of existence, when they had stopped all of the advancing programs in the Department of Internal Affairs, when they had reduced the activities of the Department of Mines down to where it was nothing but an agency to conduct some inspection, and very little of that; when they had cut down even the Supreme Court and the salaries and expenses of the visiting judges by $40,000.

When all of these things were happening, I was sitting in a meeting where we had $33,000,000 to expend and they would not allow me to expend $15,000,000 of that amount to, at least, try to bring back halfway some of the necessary funds which we require in this Commonwealth.

In seeing that, I think I reacted, after so many futile attempts, about the same as most patient men would react. I admit that, on occasions, I am not the most patient man. I notice Senator Probert smiling and I think he will agree with that statement. However, I had to leave the conference. I felt it was better that I leave the conference than stay and say some things for which I might be sorry later. Some times, I have a way of saying things which I really do not mean. When I believe something is radically wrong that it deserves it, I even resort to some of the language I have often heard at the water front. Rather than get into that kind of a situation, I thanked the gentlemen and I left the conference.

You all know what happened next. My colleague, Albert Readinger, the very patient House Leader of the Democratic Party, stayed on for a couple of extra hours. He came over and reported to me that he should have walked out when I did.

Now, Mr. President, we have before us this budget. I want to say to you Republicans that it is your budget. Every bit of it is yours. If the services in Pennsylvania have to be cut, it will be your doing. I know, you know and all of us know that you can cut a budget any time you desire. For instance, let us take the Department of Property and Supplies. Sure, you can cut that budget by $5,000,000 or $6,000,000. They just will not buy anything.

Senator Mahany said that if I ever tell that story about the mule again, he will not like me very much. However, it certainly is apropos. If you cut down by a straw penny in feeding a mule, you will get him down to nothing if he does not die in the meantime. That is exactly what you do when you cut out essentials in the budget. You could cut the budgets in your own homes if you did not buy automobiles, if you threw out your washing machine and put your wives to scrubbing clothes with a washboard over a tub; if you did not buy the fancy cuts of meat, if you bought shin bones and sow bellies. You will not have any trouble cutting your budgets if you were to do those things. However, I do not think that in this modern age, the State of Pennsylvania is going to be satisfied with shin bones and sow bellies. I think we have arrived at a stage in government, all over these United States and all over the world, where the small peoples are clamoring for the services for which governments are instituted. You can go to the darkest areas of Africa and you will not have any budget problems, but you will not have much more. You may have a loin cloth and that will be about the extent of your worldly goods.

I once took a trip to South America. Going up one of the native rivers, the pilot on the boat would say, "There is a native camp around the bend. Gather some tin cans, empty bottles, chewing gum and whatever you may have, and when I blow the horn, before we get around the bend, the natives will be scooting out into that water so fast in their canoes. When you throw them the tin cans and so forth, they will dive for anything you throw to them." We did that and there they came. There were men and women. You could tell the men and women apart very easily, because they all just wore loin cloths.

Mr. President, those people have no budget problems. I am sure they would have been a source of great joy to the men who served on the Conference Committee with me. They would not have had any problems at all about revenues. They would not have had to tax any of the corporations. The corporations would not have to move because there would be no place to move, except maybe to the next village. There would have been only one thing to trade, that being loin cloths.

In this modern age of ours, the benefits of government accrue to all of us. The penalties, therefore, of taxation must be assessed against all of us, each in the light of our ability to pay. This budget, in the face of the record of this Session of the Legislature, in removing from the taxing field the richest corporations on the face of the earth and placing a greater burden upon the little peoples of this State and then, even after the people have been assessed the great burden of taxation, you will not allow it to be spent for their benefit. You will not allow the moneys that the people are raising through their work, their labor, their sweat and their toil to be spent to alleviate the suffering of the mentally retarded children, the mentally deficient adults, the sick, the lame, the halt and the weary. This, to me, has been one of the strangest Sessions I have ever attended. I cannot understand the philosophy that motivates the architects of this particular type of government. Yet, maybe I can.

There are those who would rather have money in the bank and be blind to the needs of their neighbors than they would to have no money and enjoy a healthy atmosphere of their neighborhood. These seem to be the people who, for some reason or other, have decided that profits and dividends and capital gains are of more importance than health, welfare and equality. I have said from this floor many times, not of recent date, exactly, but I have said many, many times in the past twenty years, at every session of this Legislature since 1937, and if you will look up the record books, you will find that some time during each Session, I have pointed to the fact that there was an insidious drive to change the tax source in this Commonwealth. I said that the drive was Nation-wide, but its roots were here in Pennsylvania. I pointed out that the whole drive for the next generation, and on until the ultimate end, would be to shift the burden of taxation from those best able to pay onto the multitude least able to pay. Year after year and Session after Session, I have watched the tax burden in this State shift from where the people back in 1927 were paying, according to the budgets of this Commonwealth, less than one per cent of the tax and industry, and business were paying ninety-nine per cent, to where in 1935, business and industry were paying in this Commonwealth eighty-two per cent and the people were paying eighteen per cent, and finally to where the people today are paying seventy-two per cent and industry and business are paying twenty-eight per cent.

Throughout these years, Mr. President, business has prospered and profited. If you do not believe it, take any stock which was bought twenty years ago and any of the corporations exempted under the capital stock tax of this State, and then take its value today. Add up the dividends which have been paid upon that stock and see whether or not they have prospered. What have the people done? The people, according to the United States Chamber of Commerce and the United States Department of Commerce, have increased their debts in about the same proportion as industry has increased its capital wealth.

I cannot do anything about that and I do not propose to. However, I do not propose to ever sit in the Senate of Pennsylvania and allow the shift to continue without raising my voice in protest. I do not believe it is my duty, as a Senator, representing the peoples of this Commonwealth, to exempt the United States Steel Corporation and all of the big corporations from taxation in this State and place it squarely upon the people.

If we have some kind of an understanding or some legislation which would say, in effect, that all unearned capital or all unearned wealth would pay the same proportion of tax as that which is earned by the sweat of the brow or the use of the brain, then perhaps we could say, "You can remove all taxation from corporations, all taxation from machinery, all taxation from business, because if they make money, they will pay the same tax as a man who digs a ditch or lays a brick or runs a printing press or does many of the other necessary jobs that are required to keep this Country healthy, happy and prosperous." However, we do not have that kind of law. Until we do get that kind of a law—I know I will be answered by someone, saying, "We do have a corporate net income tax." I know we have a corporate net income tax and there is a great dispute as to how much money it brings in. Some say it yields $305,000,000.

Let us just take a look at income taxes in this Commonwealth. The Federal Government takes out of Pennsylvania some $5,000,000,000 a year, of which personal taxes are less than one and one-half billion dollars. The remaining is business and industry. Yet, what did the President of the United States say in his recent message to the United States Congress, when he offered these United States the largest budget ever presented to any legislative body on the face of the earth? It was so big and so bad that his own millionaire Cabinet did flip-flops and could not sleep for a week and invented a pill called "Sominex," in order for them to sleep at night, after the budget was presented. President Eisenhower said, "There will be no tax cuts on industry or corporations or business until we can give tax cuts to all the people." Why did you not do that?

I want to say to you now that I am duty bound, as I have been for many years under Republican Governors, too, to accept the Governor's estimate of revenue and if my figures are anywhere near right and if my addition comes up to what I think it will and does, and if the figures given to me by the Budget Office are correct, after analyzing all of the appropriation bills that have passed, budgeted and nonbudgeted, and those that are still on the Calendar to be passed, if my figures are correct, with the six million odd dollars that were added to the various departments and areas after I left the Conference Committee meeting last evening, then you will have a revenue surplus somewhere between $27,000,000 and $29,000,000, if we stay within the budget.

I you have that, I would suggest that you immediately pass legislation taking certain items used by the little peoples by religious organizations, out of the sales tax and put them alongside of the screw drivers and other items that were given to industry. If you want to do that, at least you will give the people some kind of a tax break. However, to tax these people and, after you take the money out of their pockets, you will not allow the services to be rendered to them for which they are willing to pay, then I just cannot understand the philosophy, as I said before.

Therefore, Mr. President, in a protest vote, and contrary to anything I have ever done before, I am going to vote "no" on House Bill No. 1700 as it came from the Conference Committee. I have to do that because if I did not do it, then I could not, in clear conscience, face myself or my colleagues. I do not ask anybody to vote with me unless they, too, feel that this is not an honest appraisal of the situation.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, we have on the walls of this Senate Chamber a number of inscriptions. Frequently, when I hear Senator Dent speak or when I am meeting with him, as we were in conference, I think of the one which appears up to the right of the rostrum, which says, "He carried me away to a great and high mountain."

Mr. President, to me, a Conference Committee is a place where there is a meeting of the minds. A committee represents several people, not one. People have different viewpoints, and the purpose of a Conference Committee is to try to resolve the differences in viewpoints. Unfortunately, even we Republicans do not frequently see alike. When we have some Lancaster County Dutchmen, a Montgomery County Scotchman and, I believe, a Swede, we find a little difficulty among ourselves. We had made some plans of approach, prior to our getting together with the Democratic conferees, but, as usual, the Minority Leader is dynamic; he has a great deal of energy, he speaks much faster than most of us and thinks a great deal faster than that. When our conference got underway, it was following the Minority Leader's approach. We listened, we made notes and we asked for time to consider.

I want to be honest with the Members of the Senate and say that many times during those conferences, I was inclined to agree with the Minority Floor Leader. I think, had he and I been sitting down together, he would have sold me a bill of goods. I would have agreed with him, perhaps, too often. There were times when we differed, too, but at those times, our differences were not too serious in some respects.

We took the Minority Floor Leader's proposals and again reviewed them in the light of the data which we had. Unfortunately, our data was considerably lower, in some respects, than Senator Dent's. We felt, if we were going to budget to the hilt of what the revenue should be, we should have some definite certification of that revenue. It is an amazing thing, since I think the Republicans have publicly stated for quite a number of months that we were going to try to avoid new taxes and that we would try to budget to about $1,500,000,000, that there was no indication that the Governor's revenue estimates might be raised. Through the Minority Floor Leader's assistance, when we got to the information from the Secretary of Revenue, we were amazed and, I would say, shocked to find that the Governor's estimate of revenue had gone up something like $73,000,000. That is more money than we actually have reduced from the Governor's original budget.

We, as Republicans, and particularly those of us from Lancaster, Montgomery and southeastern Pennsylvania, are very much worried about the rapid growth in the cost of government. I would just like to give you a few figures to show the rapid increase in the budget.

In the 1953-1955 biennium, the total appropriations were $1,014,000,000 in the 1955-1957 biennium, the total appropriations were $1,300,000,000, almost $300,000,000 more. The Governor's budget for the coming biennium, as submitted to us, together with the items contained in the little supplementary sheet, was $1,604,000,000, another $300,000,000. Is this the figure we must look forward to of increase in government cost each year? We felt that it was time to call a halt. That is exactly what we tried to do.

We realize that these estimates of revenue are estimates only. I am reminded of a fellow who had his car damaged and took it to a mechanic to look it over. The mechanic glanced at the car and said, "Offhand, I would say it is going to cost you plenty. However, that is just a rough estimate." Many times, that is what we have to work with here.

We believe, Mr. President, in making these reductions in the Governor's proposed budget, that we are doing something unusual and something worth-while for the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. Just because somebody says that we might receive more revenue than we figure on, is no reason why we should spend up to that revenue or up to within a few million dollars of that revenue. We believe we should husband the resources of the people of the Commonwealth. At the same time, we believe that we must provide those essential services that are necessary for the welfare of the people. We could go down this budget, item by item, and I think in almost every case you will find that there is more money appropriated for the essential work of the various departments and functions of the State Government than they had in the last biennium.

How anyone can say that we are depriving the people of services is hard for me to understand. How anyone can criticize us for budgeting a slight surplus, if that is possible, is hard for me to understand. I am always happy when I have a little money in the bank. It seems to me that the Commonwealth would be happy if we could wind up a biennium with a surplus. That is what we would like to see done.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, after the comprehensive speech, given by our Minority Leader, there is not much we could say which would add to his speech.

I wish, however, to state two concrete examples which bear out what our Minority Leader has said on this floor. We have, in Philadelphia, the Eastern Psychiatric Institute, which was built at an expense to the State of some $16,000,000. It did not go into operation until August of 1956. It went into operation with great hopes and a great program. This institute selected for its board the leading physicians in the city, men who were charged with the responsibility of administering hospitals. They formulated a program for the training of psychiatrists, nurses and technicians who could be used in mental institutions throughout the State. Their program had been formed. The Governor recommended an appropriation of approximately six and one-half million dollars for the Eastern Psychiatric Institute to carry out that great program.

House Bill No. 1700 came over from the House and, from six and one-half million dollars, the appropriation was cut to approximately $4,000,000, a cut of approximately forty per cent. I understand that the Conference Committee Report, which will be up for a vote today, restores out of that $2,500,000 a paltry sum of either $300,000 or $400,000. The entire plans of the Eastern Psychiatric Institute will have to be abandoned, they will have to cut their program and the State as a whole, is going to suffer for it.

The other illustration I would like to mention is the Philadelphia State Hospital, known for years in Philadelphia as Byberry. This is an institution which has a population of 6,700 patients. The Governor, in his budget, recommended, I believe, something like $19,000,000. This institution is presently severely understaffed. It only has about fifty per cent of the psychiatrists necessary to give service to some 6,700 inmates. Its budget was cut in House Bill No. 1700 by some $4,000,000, or a cut of approximately in excess of twenty-five per cent. I understand the bill, as now revised, restores to Byberry, the Philadelphia State Hospital, the paltry sum of some $400,000.

Mr. President, I think these two illustrations bring out the big point made by our Minority Leader, and that is that money is being collected from taxpayers, the little people. The little people need help in these mental institutions and, yet, they are denied this most important service.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Dent, I am going to ask you a few questions in order to clear up a few doubts in my mind.

I am asking to interrogate you because of your long experience here in the Legislature.

You discussed, at length, estimated revenues and budgets. Who, under the law or the Constitution, is the official submitter, shall I say, of estimated revenues?

Mr. DENT. As I understand it, and I certainly am not going to pose as an authority on the matter, by precedent—and all law is based upon precedent—the Governor's estimates, given to him by the Secretary of Revenue and the Budget Office, are the only estimates that he can use in signing the appropriation bills passed by the Legislature.

Mr. YOSKO. When the Governor makes up his budget, does he use the estimates as submitted by the Secretary of Revenue to guide him in the amount of money he should ask for and the amount of taxes he should ask for?

Mr. DENT. That is exactly what happens. He receives a preliminary estimate in the month of November, prior to the year in which the General Assembly meets. That would be in the even year. After receiving the preliminary estimate of revenues, the Governor asks his departments to submit their budgetary needs. He then tailors the needs, as nearly as the can, to the budget estimates. If he then feels that new revenues are required to meet the necessary expenditures for the Commonwealth, he presents a message to the General Assembly in which he outlines the needs and asks for the revenue.

Mr. YOSKO. What were the revenue estimates submitted by the Secretary of Revenue?

Mr. DENT. At the time, $1,549,200,000.

Mr. YOSKO. What is the total in appropriations, according to House Bill No. 1700, and other appropriation bills that are either on the Calendar or ready for action?

Mr. DENT. The figures given by the Governor, of course, are not accepted by the gentleman, although they merely added up the figures. They were $1,559,000,000. This includes, of course, many duplicate bills in the House and Senate for the same subjects.

Mr. YOSKO. If you have the figure, what is the difference between the estimates of revenue and the appropriations?

Mr. DENT. I have only the reports given to me by Senator Kessler, and his statement made on the floor.

The Governor's figure of revenue and income for the next biennium would require either $41,000,000 in new taxes to balance, or a cut in his budget requests of January of $41,000,000. You either have to cut the budget $41,000,000 to balance it, or you raise revenue $41,000,000. The Republicans claim to have cut the budget, as I understand it, some $67,000,000. If that is true, we have a $36,000,000 surplus in the budget.

Mr. YOSKO. Under the law in Pennsylvania, must we balance the budget?

Mr. DENT. I think any person on this floor could answer that question. I do not have to answer it.

To my knowledge, the Governor can only appropriate up to the amounts which he has in revenue and income. I have never known, in my twenty years on the Hill, of an instance where the Governor had more money than he had appropriation bills. I do not know what the Governor's action will be. I can only say that I do believe, and I may be wrong, that if you will take a look at page 73 and page 74, in dealing with the diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics, there is a cut of over $2,000,000. If the psychiatric clinics run out of money, after he gives them the appropriated $700,000, and if he finds that he has surplus revenue yields to meet it, I believe I am right and correct in my statement that rather than close down the psychiatric clinics and the mental health hospitals, or wherever the money is needed, if he has the money in the till and money coming in, he can call us into Special Session for the purpose of appropriations. Whether we do it or not, I do not know. However, I understand he can do that.

Mr. YOSKO. If House Bill No. 1700, plus other appropriations which are approved at this Session, are sent to the Governor, and they are found to be less than the estimates and yet do not meet the Governor's budget requests, is the Governor bound to accept what the Legislature sends over to him, or must he demand that the budget be balanced and that the excess in revenue be equalized by a reduction in taxes? I think you touched on that.

Mr. DENT. I cannot answer that. I do not know what the legal requirement is. I only know that if this Legislature passes taxes in excess of the needs of the Commonwealth, it is operating contrary to the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I appreciate the fact that the hour is getting late. However, we are confronted with a major problem in considering this Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 1700.

I listened quite attentively to my distinguished colleague from Lancaster County, Senator Kessler, when he expressed keen concern in regard to the pyramiding of the budget. As a matter of fact, he used the term of, I think, "$300,000,000 a year." He should have said it was $300,000,000 a bienium. I am wondering whether Senator Kessler could tell me what the budget figure was for the Republicans in 1938 and what the budget figure was for the Republicans in 1954, which was sixteen years of Republican rule. I wonder, too, whether the Majority Party, here in this Senate, has started to realize, at this late date, that the people of Pennsylvania decided, by a majority of 260,000, that the Democrats should operate Pennsylvania. That has not been the case. I have made statement after statement on the floor of this Senate in regard to the operations of the Republican Party here in the Senate. I said, at the beginning of the first Session, that the Republican Majority was determined to try to discredit this Democratic Administration.

The Republican Members feel that, by cutting the taxes and cutting the income, they are going to stymie our programs. They have the right, Mr. President, to adopt their own philosophy, their own ideas. However, if the Democrats in the Congress of the United States of America had taken the same position as the Republican Majority in this Senate, the President of the United States would not have any success at all with his legislative program. As a matter of fact, according to Drew Pearson and other news correspondents, if it had not been for the Democrats in the Congress of the United States, President Eisenhower would certainly be in a bad position today. However, those men happen to be statesmen and they place the welfare and the well-being of this great Nation above partisan politics. They did their best in fighting the Republicans to support President Eisenhower's program. That has not been the case here.

All we have been confronted with has been roadblocks. They battled us down the line and, of course, they have the votes and have defeated us. However, Mr. President, the Republicans have the votes to adopt this Conference Committee Report and they are going to adopt it. We feel it is the responsibility of the Republican Members of the Senate, but let me say to you Members on the other side that during the course of our debate on House Bill No. 1700, it was my understanding, and I believe it was true, that an appropriation bill for $1,000,000 would be passed for the purpose of taking care of aid to dependent children in our counties. As a matter of fact, Marion Munley, a Member of the House, was supposed to amend this bill to increase the amount by $1,675,000. However, in looking over this report, I find the $1,000,000 in it.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want you to know, and I have the figures, that by virtue of your cut of $675,000 in this Conference Committee Report, and by virtue of the fact that you did not bring that bill out of committee over in the House, the moneys for aid to dependent children throughout Pennsylvania is going to be cut not only $675,000, but by $526,000 of Federal funds. I do not believe that is good business. I do not believe that the individual Members of the Republican Party on the other side feel that that is good business. I believe Senator Dent used a very large figure on the amount of income taxes paid by Pennsylvanians into the Federal Government. I think that you men feel that we should get every dollar we can back from the Federal Government to aid us in the operation of this great Commonwealth. However, Mr. President, here we are, penny-wise and pound-foolish. You cut us by $675,000; you left us $1,000,000. The bill which was supposed to pass here, and which did pass, was killed in the House. Now we lose the Federal money. You are hamstringing the operation of child care in Pennsylvania. I do not believe you mean to do so. I do not want to believe that. I talked this matter over with Senator Stevenson a little while ago, and I can say to you that he appears to be greatly concerned about what has happened.

You, on the Republican side, have the right to your own philosophy. We, on the Democratic side, have ours. However, I will say to you that I will guarantee you that you did not cut John Fine's budget like you cut George Leader's budget. You did not cut Jim Duff's budget like you cut George Leader's budget. You did not cut Ed Martin's budget like you cut George Leader's budget. It is because we now have a Democratic Administration and you plan deliberately to curtail the functions of government in order to make political gain. I, for one, have taken the position that we should review our activities on these nonpreferred appropriation bills. However, the majority, on this side, feel differently. If we are going to have economy on the mandated functions of government, we should have economy on non-mandated functions of government.

That is the story. I am not going to talk any longer but I feel, as a Member of this Senate, that I represent all the people of Pennsylvania, and the people of Pennsylvania are not going to accept these cuts lying down.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, before asking the gentleman from Crawford any questions, I first would like to make a brief statement.

I have been told there is a story appearing in the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia tonight, stating that there was a deal of some kind made in the Senate between Senator Taylor and Congressman Green. It went on to say that Congressman Green was not able to be present at our Democratic function tonight on account of a vote on the big dam bill. This story reported that there was some sort of a deal between Congressman Green and Senator Taylor, in which the Secretary of the Commonwealth was involved. It said that the Senate was going to confirm James Finnegan. Would you know anything about that, Senator Mahany?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Barr, I have no knowledge whatsoever of any deal. I certainly am not involved in any kind of a deal with Congressman Green, nor do I know anything about it. I sympathize with him in being held up to vote on the big dam bill, because we are almost in the same boat. It is now a late hour.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the President pro tempore, Senator Taylor.

The PRESIDENT. Will the President pro tempore, Mr. Taylor, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask you, Senator Taylor, other than the first day James Finnegan's name was sent over here, have I ever talked to you about confirming James Finnegan; other than the first day his name was sent over?

Mr. TAYLOR. I can say to you, Senator Barr, that either you nor anyone else on your side of the Senate, or anyone, has ever asked me to confirm James Finnegan. I often wondered why. Of course, I do not control confirmations. I have only one vote.

Mr. BARR. Thank you very much, Senator Taylor.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think this story, which I heard was in one of the Philadelphia papers tonight, is probably as phony a story as has ever been written. As I understand it, it was said there was a deal between the Congressman, who happens to be the County Chairman of Philadelphia, and Senator Taylor, thus and so, about confirming James Finnegan.

If it will help the Philadelphian who wrote it, he might as well withdraw the story. If it is going to be embarrassing to either side, and if there has been no mention of his name between our side and your side, I would suggest that Finnegan's name just be left where it is, because he will be here as long as George Leader is here.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would just like to say, for the information not only of the Senate, but of the people of Pennsylvania, that Mr. Green has never talked to me about confirmations. In fact, we have not talked for years. Not that we are cross at each other, but we just do not happen to meet. Mr. Green never in his life talked politics to me that I can remember.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I was very much amused by the conversation between Senator Barr, Senator Taylor and Senator Mahany. I would like to say to Senator Barr that I have had the honor and privilege of knowing the great Senator from Dauphin for approximately nine years and if there is any chance now of making a deal, if anyone else could deal, I certainly would like to deal a little bit at the present time to get his endorsement for the Governorship of this State.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to hear from Senator Wade how he feels about this.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator, I would just like to know how you feel about your "brother" there as a candidate?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am glad to endorse anyone from the "W" Block.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not understand what the "W" block is. "WWW," Wade, Watson, Watkins, do you mean?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Senator.

Mr. BARR. Thank you very much.

PRAYER

Reverend Robert H. Stephens, Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou art from everlasting to everlasting, while our little lives are but a breath that vanishes away. Thou art wise and good, but we so easily stumble and make mistakes. Thou art all-loving while we find it hard to be kind and easy to be selfish. Forgive us, O Lord, for our blunders and mistakes and have patience with us in our plodding way. Help us to learn how to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with Thee.

Bless these Thy servants in these last tense and trying hours. Uphold them and guide them, and give them strength for the duties piled upon them. In all their differences give them charity and courtesy, and may Thy will be done through them. We pray in the Master's name. Amen.

EXTENSION HOME MAKERS WELCOMED

They are the guests of the gentleman from Wyoming, Mr. Wynd.

The Chair thanks the delegation and hopes they enjoy their visit with us today.

HOUSE EMPLOYEES THANKED

The SPEAKER. Approaching the closing hours of this present legislative session, the Chair feels that a note of thanks should be given to a particular group that serves this Legislature.

The Chair takes this opportunity to thank the seldom seen or heard of employees of this House for their splendid cooperation during the present session. To those working in the bill room, the supply room, the clerks of the various committees, employees in the Official Reporter's Office, The Chief Official Reporter, the girls in the transcribing room, the girls in the stenographic pool, the people who perform the very important service of drafting bills in the Legislative Reference Bureau and their staff—to all of these and any others that I may have missed, I would like to have them accept the sincere thanks of the Chair for their teamwork in what I consider to be a well organized and well-run session.

The Chair thanks all these people for the splendid job they have performed during this entire session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FARABAUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the statement you have just made, I believe we will all agree with, but it brings to my mind something that occurred here a few days ago when we sat here and listened to a lot of oratory and commendation for certain people. I noticed in that evening's ceremonies one group was omitted for which I think somebody owes an apology.

I have noticed during the busy days and nights here there is one certain very faithful group which apparently has been the forgotten group.

I thing the committee in charge that evening owes an apology to that group, the women Legislators in this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair heartily agrees with the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

The Chair knows they have a reputation, of course, for being very vocal. Certainly the female Members of this House have not been extremely vocal during the present session, and the Chair is sure we do owe them a very deep debt of thanks.

Mr. Speaker, we will soon quit this House to assume our regular pursuits of life and I would like to leave with you this little poem entitled "Leavings," which expresses my thoughts for all the Members and Officers of this body.

"Upon the door of my hotel
Is tacked a sign—I know it well
It brings a message to my mind;
It reads "What have you left behind?"
What shall I leave that all may see
The kind of man I tried to be.
What memory can I leave or give
That tho I die, still it may live.
Perhaps I'd like to leave with you
The memory of a friendship true,
The recollection of a smile
That made life's battle worth the while.
A hand clasp firm, a kindly word
That friend or foe alike had heard,
A heart that warmly beats for you
And shared your joys and sorrows too.
A life that raised the hopes of men
And set them on their feet again.
That little sign will always be
A helping stepping stone to me,
And when I'm gone—I hope you'll find
The trinkets that I left behind."

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 203, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 565) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended 'The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act' as reenacted and amended * * *" providing for withdrawal of election and acceptance to be covered by act.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, we would like to have someone explain to us what the purpose of this bill is.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPANO. Will the gentleman tell us what the purpose of the bill is, Mr. Stroup?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, the Act of 1939 amended the Act of 1915 exempting domestic servants and agricultural workers from the compensation law.

Then there was a provision whereby if such employer elected to come within the law, he may so elect.

On page 3 of Senate Bill 203 we have the provision that where the employer of any such persons shall have, prior to an injury, purchased insurance as provided in section 305 of the Act, he has elected to come under the compensation law. The employer has thereby elected coverage by his own voluntary act.

Now we go further, on pages 3 and 4, and find this language: "Provided further that such election shall take effect and continue from the effective date of such insurance and so long only as that insurance shall remain in force."

In other words, once having elected to come under the act and having qualified and taken out insurance approved under section 305, he remains under the act only so long as that insurance remains in force.

However, before he can relieve himself of his voluntary election of the compensation law, he must, as is provided in this bill on page 4, further notify the department within ten days prior thereto by written notice of his intention to withdraw his prior acceptance. He must also notify the employees.

The philosophy back of the Act is that those previously exempted from the provisions of the Act, and then subsequently voluntarily accepting coverage under the Act, may also voluntarily remove themselves from that previous acceptance.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, this may appear to be a harmless bill. However, it is not quite as harmless as it looks because it gives the employer an opportunity to withdraw from Workmen's Compensation by substituting insurance. However, the employee has no protection because under the present system notice must be served on the employees and notice must be posted that he is withdrawing from the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Under this amendment an employee could find himself not covered due to the mere fact that his employer has allowed his insurance to lapse or has not renewed his insurance policy.

Therefore, an employee would be without protection of workmen's compensation. For that reason we believe that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman is in error. The provisions of the bill specifically provide for notice, first, to the Workmen's Compensation board within 10 days prior to withdrawal from protection of the act, and it also provides for notice to the employees by registered mail or by personal delivery. Thus the employees are notified.

I might also point out that the reason for the bill is primarily for certainty and clarification in withdrawing from the Act. At the present time, it is a very tedious procedure and has been set up in order to affect withdrawal. That is the reason for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs ROVANSEK, WILLIAMS and MAXWELL.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 1026

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1026.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1121 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. AGNEW offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 19, 1957.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 1121, Printer's No. 896, entitled "An act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) entitled 'An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs' increasing the expense allowance for delegates to meetings of the State Association of Boroughs," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 753, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" reducing fees for annual registration of certain motor buses and motor omnibuses.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 753 was amended several days ago.

I would like to interrogate anyone in the House who knows something about the amendments. Perhaps the Chairman of Motor Vehicles will permit himself to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUTHRIE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, originally this bill cut the cost of registration tags from $300 down to a minimum of $10 per bus. With the amendments added, can you give us the new fee formula?

Mr. GUTHRIE. The new formula is in the bill. It starts with a fee of $25 for five passengers; more than seven passengers, $30 plus an increment of $2 on each passenger up to 26. $40 for 26 passengers with a $5 increment for each passenger up to 40 passengers; $150 for 40 or more passengers.

Mr. AMARANDO. In other words, Mr. Speaker, would you say this actually cuts the rates 50 percent?

Mr. GUTHRIE. That is approximately correct.

Mr. AMARANDO. Thank you, sir.

Mr. GUTHRIE. I would like to point out, however, Mr. Speaker, that this amount of license is deducted from the gross receipts tax, which in some cases does not afford any relief to the owner of the buses. It depends on how much gross receipts tax he pays. Under the condition of the $10 tax here, he would not gain anything by having a $10 license inasmuch as he has to pay a gross receipts tax and he would only get credit for the $10. Whereas, under this bill if his license fee is $40 or $60 or whatever the amount may be up to $150, he will get credit for that amount against his gross receipts tax.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to put some questions about Senate Bill 753, Printer's No. 466.

Did the charter bus lines ask for this bill? I do not believe that the bill, as presently amended, will materially affect their financial stability. However, the total loss to the Motor Fund, which we do not want to decrease, may be in the neighborhood of one-third of $1 million. Did this Commonwealth ever agree to build tracks for railroads when their passenger fares went down? Did not the elimination of spectators from school hauling help the financial plight of all charter bus lines?

The bus industry, during the war period, made handsome profits and expanded its business many times primarily because of gas rationing and the shortage of automobiles. As things returned to normal in post-war years, more and more people found it more convenient and perhaps more economical to go to and from their employment in private automobiles, which has compelled many bus companies to tighten their belts, cut executive salaries, and otherwise effect economies by reducing service also.

Many of these things were done too late or were too little, with the result that the bus industry today is suffering from over-expanded lines and lack of foresight.

As another sick industry they now come to the Legislature seeking a subsidy to replace sound planning and better management due to changing times. Regardless of the policy of the Federal government to subsidize the airlines and possibly other industries, it is my opinion that a dangerous precedent would be set for this Legislature to embark upon a policy of subsidizing any industry.

The implication of such a program should be seriously considered before you vote on this bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will vote for this bill but I also want to see the farmers get their truck license fees reduced. If this will not be done at this session, then I would at least like to see it done at the beginning of the next session.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Johnson.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 630, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571) entitled as amended "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law" extending the time for the establishment of a uniform permanent records system in each county and providing for the enforcement of the provisions of the act.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to remind the Members of the House that this is the bill which was defeated last week. It allows the districts which failed to comply with their statutory duties for many years to again postpone the proper assessments of their districts. We think they have had sufficient time in which to carry out their obligations and that an additional extension should not be given.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, last week, when Senate Bill 630 was defeated, there were a few remarks made on the floor that I find were contrary to the facts.

It was stated last week that this bill became effective on May 21, 1943. The actual fact is, Mr. Speaker, it was amending the Act of May 21, 1943, and the law became effective in 1951.

Regarding this same bill, I think we should be a little more consistent in our thinking. In view of the fact that in the month of May of this session, we passed House Bill 1105 extending time to counties of the seventh and eighth classes. The vote on House Bill 1105 at that time was 188 to 0. Now this bill simply includes the foregoing class counties. In other words, we are including the fourth, fifth, and sixth class counties.

In counties such as Washington, which I represent, we have been working on this uniformity of assessment ever since the law came into effect. The fact remains now that we are practically 60 to 70 percent finished.

I also understand that in the 67 counties of the Commonwealth there are 27 counties that do not have their records completed. Therefore, I would like to suggest to the Members that they support this Senate Bill 630.

and give us this extension of time which will become effective in January, 1959.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, what I want to say to the House is, I realize that this bill failed the last time it was before us. I know as far as my county is concerned we have completed the job of remapping the county, we have made out new assessments and we are living under the law. It cost our county quite a considerable sum of money.

I know there are certain counties that have not done the job. If this bill fails, under the law as I understand it, those counties that have not done it, and they are some of our larger counties, would have to have the job finished by January 1 of this coming year. That would be practically a physical impossibility because in my county, which is not a large county, it took nearly two years for the engineers, surveyors, draftsmen and experts that we brought in to do the job to make up a card system, indexed back to the maps, but when finished, it will be a very, very worthwhile job.

I believe that unless this date is extended, we are going to put an unreasonable, unconscionable burden on the remaining counties in this state. If the bill passes, they will have until January 1, 1959. That means that the job will have to be done before another session of the Legislature. There will be no more postponements of this job.

I understand some of the big counties are preparing to do it. They are negotiating with engineering firms to do the job, and to save chaos in Pennsylvania, as I see it, we should pass this bill.

I know there are a number of men here who feel that those counties that have not done it ought to be ashamed of themselves and we are going to force their hands, but I believe in the interest of good government, even though some counties have been dragging their feet, we should pass this bill so that the job can be finished in an orderly way and by January 1, 1959 the whole thing will be completed.

Therefore, I am asking those who feel they should not have voted against this bill to change their minds and enroll in the interest of good government.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I think there is some mistake. Mr. Johnson speaks of the date 1959. The bill, which is Printer's No. 173, speaks of 1958.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Bell, I could be wrong. The opinion that I formed was that if we pass this bill the job would have to be done before the next session of the General Assembly so there could be no more postponement. I may be wrong. I read the bill several weeks ago and I could be wrong on the dates. But the job will have to be done so that there will be no more postponements. That is the point.

There are some very, very large counties, as I say, that have to do it and they just simply could not do it in the time that remains. It is only reasonable that we do it although we probably do not want to do it. As I say, I come from a county that has done it and done it well, yet we want to let others do it in an orderly way. I believe it would be good legislation at this time.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I recognize the way the gentleman from McKean is pleading for other counties.

I would like to state that Blair County put it in at a cost of $550,000. It meant a raise of our real estate tax immediately of 2½ mills and this plea that comes along every two years that it will be done before the next time runs out is just a lot of water over the dam. We have been hearing it ever since 1953, and I have no doubt in the world that if this bill passes in 1959 we will hear the same thing.

If other counties have done it in the state, and most of them have, there is no reason why all the counties should not have been able to do this job. In a way it is a companion bill to 183 that we passed. It is going to have a big effect on the basic assessment valuations for which real estate is assessed for school purposes, and that should be done by all means. Because as I stated on the floor of this House time and time again, many of the properties, thousands of properties, especially in the third and fourth class school districts, are not assessed high enough on the basic assessed valuation for school purposes. They just simply are not paying their share for the costly school properties, jointures and so forth. I am not making any criticism of the buildings that are being built in so far as the services to the school pupils is concerned. They have a right to have the same kind of service that we have in the cities and the bigger municipalities.

I say it is a mistake to pass this bill and to postpone the effective date. We ought to do it now and insist that these counties fall in line with all the other counties that have done it so that we can get this educational program on a sound leveled off basis.

I ask every Member of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, to clear up some points for the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell. Mr. Johnson was correct in the date. The date of the extension is to 1959.

In the last session we placed a section in this same law which permitted the school districts to take action in regard to the time when they would be allowed to take necessary action if the county did not start the program. That, of course, is extended one year. I think there is confusion on that point.

I would like to say that we have discussed this problem in the Local Government Commission for quite some time, and you will find that when the program started there were many counties that hesitated in getting started. There were not too many organizations capable of doing this job in the early stages. In the county that I represent, we used the same firm that did Allegheny County, and there are not too many of those firms available to do the job for a county.

This is a rather large program but it has started to move rather well in the last two years. You will find a great number of counties in this program that will not have completed their projects by the time now stated in the existing law.

In all fairness to those counties that are actually doing the program and that are in the program now, I think it would be fair to give them the period of extension that the Majority Floor Leader has recommended here. I think we know the contents of the bill. We know what it is about. I think it would only be fair to at least go along for this extension at this time. Give them the time until January 1, 1959, and I assure you that at that time there will still be counties that will not even have started this program, for I understand that there are counties that are determined not to do it. That is the responsibility of the particular commissioners in those counties.

I hope we will go along for the benefit of those that are in the program trying to complete the program to give them this extension. I request that the Members vote favorably on this bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. What, if anything, have the county commissioners of Washington County done toward compliance with this statutory responsibility?

Mr. FLYNN. Well, as I mentioned before, Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that we are practically about 65 or 75 percent completed so far as the uniform reassessment is concerned.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Have you appropriated money for that purpose?

Mr. FLYNN. No, the money is being used out of current revenues.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. If you are completing your job, then why do you have to have an extension?

Mr. FLYNN. Well, because we are in the larger areas with large cities. We have three cities in the county and several large boroughs. In other words, we have the outlying districts and for the biggest part of our townships we are in the portion where it takes considerably more time.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, if you have initiated your program, you have no need for this bill.

Mr. FLYNN. We need it at the present time because as the time expires we see it is an impossibility to have it completed by January 1, 1958.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, under the law if you show that you have made a bona fide effort to comply with the Act you are all right, because the only remedy is the action in mandamus. Under Section 2, if it shows that you are trying to comply with the Act, then a mandamus will not lie.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to know what would happen in the event they were not completed by 1958.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, I would say that nobody could hurt you as long as you are making a bona fide effort, and that would be a question of fact for the court so to decide. So I do not think the people in Washington County have any problem if the facts are as you indicate.

We feel that this bill should be defeated. I recall some years ago, and my recollection can be incorrect, that there was an estate being disposed of in one of the western counties and it appeared that this particular estate owned considerable land that had never been on the assessment roll for a hundred years.

How much land do we have in this state that has never been on the assessment rolls? With the passage of this bill many pieces of real estate will go on the assessment rolls for the benefit of not only the community but the state, which has a burden insofar as school subsidies are concerned.

MR. VARNER IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, speaking for Cambria County, we are in the process of completing the job at the moment. In Cambria County we floated a bond issue running into many hundreds of thousands of dollars in order to do this job. We are now in the process of completing it and we need a little additional time to do the complete job.

I want to point out that under the act after a certain date school districts in the county are authorized to mandamus the Board of Assessments and so on, and in the final analysis once the court steps in the court is authorized to retain jurisdiction and control over such actions until compliance with the Act has been completed.

In my opinion, by this bill we would start up a series of actions bringing the court into the act and having the court in control of the entire situation until it is concluded. I think that should be avoided. I think any action should be avoided especially for those counties that have gone to the extent of floating bonds to pay for the cost and are doing the job in its proper way. I feel that this extension should be granted, so there would be no question about doing the right kind of a job.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SMITH. I am confused. Our county is about half-way finished with this reassessment program. We have the money and we have the firm doing the job. As I understood Mr. Goldstein to say, if you have shown that you are going to do the job or are started on the job, you would not be affected by this bill. After listening to you, I am of the opinion that if we are not completed by the end of this year, we will be affected by this bill and the courts will step in.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, those counties which have not complied with the Act as of January 1 of this year, are already in default and the school board would have the right to mandamus the board of assessments and bring them into court for failing to comply with the law, and once the court takes jurisdiction, they retain jurisdiction until its finished.

Mr. SMITH. Then we would be affected by this law by not extending the time until 1959?

Mr. LOPRESTI. That is my opinion.

Mr. SMITH. And every other county?

Mr. LOPRESTI. That was my opinion. Of course, I may be wrong. Whether or not the court would take jurisdiction where it is started, I do not know. I do not read the section to exclude those counties which have started. It just says "compliance with the act." Now what "compliance with" the act means, I do not know. Some court might say that starting it is sufficient compliance. Another court may feel that compliance is not sufficient if you have not concluded it. I do not know the exact answer to that question.

Mr. SMITH. Thank you, Mr. Lopresti.

Mr. Speaker, I am inclined to believe with Mr. Johnson that this act should be extended. We are about half-way finished with our reassessment, and I might say one of the reasons why we have not finished the job is because we were waiting for a competent firm to do the job. We wanted to get somebody who knew what they were doing. We had the money to pay them but we wanted to get somebody who knew what they were doing, and they were rather scarce. We waited until we were able to get somebody who could do the job, and I do not think we should be penalized for that. I think it should be taken into consideration that these counties who are trying to do a job and want to do the job right, if they are in need of a little more time, they should be granted a little more time. I think this House should take that into consideration. Any county which is doing a job or is partly finished, I believe should have an extension of time so that they are not rushed in winding up the job half done. I think the House should go along with Mr. Johnson's recommendation and extend the time.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman said there were a number of large counties that have not completed. May I ask the gentleman if he knows if any of these counties have not even started?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Lovett, the answer is, they have not started the job. Some that have started are in the process and cannot be finished by January 1.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I want to say to the Members, let's be fair. Some of these counties have never even started, some of them have refused. I say, let's be fair. You have to some day say to those counties, you'd better start. So I say this bill should be defeated.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I think one thing should be made crystal clear and that is, this bill is not intended to penalize any county which is making a bona fide effort, to prevent these counties which have not complied with the law and which are defiant and continuing so to do.

Let me read the section involved, which I think will clear up this matter. The only remedy for noncompliance is mandamus against the county commissioners, and here is how the law reads and as it was intended to read.

"Subsequent to January 1, 1957 any municipal corporation or school district within a county is hereby authorized to mandamus the board of assessment and revision of taxes composed of the county commissioners if such board or county commissioners have failed or neglected to comply with the provisions of this act and its amendments or have failed or neglected to take steps to effectuate compliance."

All we are asking of these counties is for them to try to effectuate compliance, and they are not even trying so to do. They want to have more time to carry on.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, first of all, I would like to thoroughly endorse Mr. Goldstein's interpretation of this bill and of the prior Act. It is just a question of taking steps to effectuate compliance with the Act which would require or make it possible for any school district or other political subdivision to bring a mandamus action.

This bill puts many of us in a very difficult position. In the 1955 session I introduced a bill to extend the time to January 1, 1959. That bill was changed to the present law. As a consequence, I advised my people it was absolutely necessary to comply with the law, that they need take steps to straighten out their assessment and get permanent records set up. Therefore, Bedford County went out and borrowed $250,000. Now, if this bill becomes a law and there is an extension of time, we therefore have ill-advised our people.

For that reason I want to go on record as voting against this particular bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AGNEW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, by the passage of Senate Bill 630, the Legislature has once again stultified itself. You have made suckers out of everyone of us who come from a county that has complied with the provisions of this Act.

A word briefly to those Representatives in this House who come from counties who have not complied with this Act and whose county commissioners have ignored the law. In the next session of the Legislature there will be introduced a bill to deny state aid in any form whatsoever to any school district in a county which has not complied with the provisions of this Act after a certain date. By that time I believe there will be a preponderance of Members representing counties that have complied and such a bill can very easily become law.

I would say a word to the wise is sufficient. You had better get your county commissioners on the ball.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AMARANDO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it has been my good fortune and extreme pleasure to serve as Chairman of the Democrat delegation from Philadelphia during this Session.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my delegation and all of the Members on both sides of this House for the cooperation I have received which aided materially in making my work enjoyable and worthwhile.

To the Speaker and to the Majority Leader I wish to express my gratitude for their fine cooperation. My only hope is that we may be back here in the majority next year and that we can reciprocate the favors and tokens. Again, many thanks.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and assures him that it has been a pleasure to work with him as Chairman of the Philadelphia Democrat delegation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SHIELDS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, our sojourn for this session is rapidly coming to an end and our trek will soon be homeward bound, as we carry a bundle of memories, mostly pleasant.

During this session, our Speaker, Mr. W. Stuart Helm, has been a most able skipper. Mr. Helm has stood at the helm and has guided the legislative ship through the perilous straits.

Mr. Albert W. Johnson, the Majority Leader and Mr. Albert S. Readinger, the Minority Leader, have been able generals in the legislative field of battle, asking no quarter and giving none.

A special salute is in order for Mrs. Mary Varallo who enjoys the distinction of being the first lady Caucus Chairman in the history of the House, and an able one she is.

We also salute that great Field Marshall and Master Strategist, the gentleman from the Twenty-sixth Ward in South Philadelphia, the Honorable Louis J. Amarando, a great delegation leader.

We, the Members of this House, have been enriched immensely by the gems of wisdom most eloquently showered on us in the dissertations of that statesman and orator extraordinary, Mr. Hi Andrews.

Our relationship with all of the Members of this House has been a most enjoyable one during this Session.

We wish all the Members good health and good luck in their future endeavors, and may we return to our homes and administer to our constituents, and mend our political fences so well that all of us will return in 1958.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. OGILVIE, HOCKER and MOODY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 19, 1957

We pause to congratulate one of our junior members of this House on his 39th birthday. James S. Bowman who was born June 20, 1918 was definitely not a stranger to us when elected by the citizens of Harrisburg in 1956 having served as an employee of the Legislative Reference Bureau for many sessions of the General Assembly.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is indeed fortunate in having a person of Jim's ability, integrity and dedication to public service as a member of the House of Representatives, but this gain to the Commonwealth results in a great loss to some worthwhile woman, for he has been just as capable in avoiding entanglements with the bonds of matrimony; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Honorable James S. Bowman, be elected the most eligible bachelor in the House of Representatives; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to James S. Bowman its most heartfelt congratulations on his 39th birthday and looks forward to associating with him for many years to come; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable James S. Bowman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I merely wish to say thank you, all of you, very much, from the bottom of my heart, except for that portion of the resolution alluding to my marital status. I will reserve decision on that. Thank you very much.

RESOLUTION

McCUNGIE WEEK

Mrs. MARKLEY and Mr. STECKEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 19, 1957.

The year 1957 marks the 100th birthday of the Borough of Macungie and the week of June 23 to June 30 has been set aside as "Macungie Week" in order to properly celebrate this centennial.

Macungie is a small industrial and agricultural town located approximately ten miles southwest of Allentown in Lehigh County. The town, whose name in Indian language means Bear Swamp, is populated with people, who like their ancestors, are hard working, industrious and thrifty.

Actually the community was populated by various itinerant Indian tribes many, many years before Columbus discovered America. In the year of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the town of Millerstown was laid out on the present site at the eastern end of the Pennsylvania Dutch area. In 1875 the name was changed to Macungie because of a conflict of names with Millers-town in Perry County. Millerstown, now Macungie, was established as a borough on December 26, 1857 when an election for borough officials was held.

From its inception as the second borough to be established in Lehigh County, Macungie was a flourishing rural community. Production of charcoal iron was an early industry of the area and the first castiron cook stove was produced at the nearby "Mohry" furnace. Industry and agriculture flourished in the area until today Macungie has the proper blend of industry and farming for a town of approximately 1,100 persons.

Religion, culture and community affairs have also progressed in the town and now today Macungie can boast of its five churches and the fact that its children attend the new three and one-half million dollars high school recently erected by the East Penn Union School District of which the borough is a part. The Grange and various other fraternal organizations are all active in the community.

Although Macungie is a modern community with a modern government, it has still managed to retain many of its old customs and habits. Progress has certainly not destroyed its history; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends to the Borough of Macungie its sincerest congratulations on 100 years of progress and its best wishes for a future of prosperity and growth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be spread upon the record of this body and copies be forwarded to John M. Franks, General Chairman of the Macungie Centennial Committee and Burgess Wilbur F. Reichard.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, with reference to House Bill 183, which is before the House for concurrence at this time, we would like to take a moment of time to reaffirm our position before we vote upon the Senate amendments placed in House Bill 183. In addition, at the proper time, we would request that the Members of the House on this side be given the opportunity to be recorded very carefully—those who desire to be recorded in opposition to concurrence in the amendments to House Bill 183.

First, we would like to reaffirm our position that the amendments we presented on this side of the House to House Bill 183, for the two years 1957-1958, 1958-1959, requested that the local effort rate be retained at four mills as it is in the existing law.

Secondly, we oppose the change in policy which required that in the second year the actual cost in the budget be determined by the reimbursement rate instead of using the base as outlined in the law.

As we mentioned at that time, we believe that this will certainly tend to add administrative costs to teaching units in an effort to meet the base as required by the law. We are questioning seriously whether this will make for better education, or whether it will really only tend to increase the budget figures to that point so as to be eligible under the maximum base as outlined in the law.

Our position we made clear at the time House Bill 183 was debated in the House. We made our position clear at the time we presented amendments to House Bill 183, which would hold the bill in this line. At that time we stated, when the amendments fell, that we were in a position to support the bill for we had no alternative, wanting to give to the school districts of Pennsylvania the additional financial need they must have at the present time.

The bill has now gone to the Senate and returned to the House, with the Senate amendments inserted in the bill. They have changed the position again by increasing the local effort to an additional higher rate than when it left the House. Our position we have made very, very clear, that for the two-year period we objected to this change and we did recommend our own position which we believed was very sound.

As House Bill 183 appears before us today for concurrence, I would like to recommend to the Members of the Democrat side of this House that we have no alternative at this point except to vote to concur in the amendments placed in the bill. There are many Members who will object and vote in opposition to concurrence, but we feel that since we are in the closing day of this Session that we must concur in this bill to provide the money to the school districts.

Mr. KAMYK. I rise in opposition to concurring in these amendments.

We were short-changed in the bill as it was in the city of Pittsburgh School District when we passed the bill originally in the House.

Now I am advised that the Senate amendments further cut the subsidy to the Pittsburgh School District by around $42,000 in the second year.

I cannot see where the city of Pittsburgh is wealthier than our great first class city of Philadelphia. It is my opinion that we should have parity with Philadelphia and thereby aid our Pittsburgh School District.

For these reasons, I am pleading for non-concurrence in House Bill 183. Give us an opportunity to put this bill in a conference committee and perhaps give further consideration to the Pittsburgh School District. I ask the Members of this House to vote against concurrence.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, a few words on this concurrence, with the permission of the House.

We of Philadelphia are entirely satisfied. We always like to get whatever we can lay our hands on. However, I am going to ask the Members of the Philadelphia delegation to concur in 183 as amended.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the question at hand is a matter of interest to some people, but I am interested in the people of the city of Pittsburgh.

House Bill 183, Printer's No. 622, provided for the city of Pittsburgh School District obtaining $232,500. House Bill 183 in its final form gives the school district $1 million. We from the city of Pittsburgh in Allegheny County believe that we got a wonderful compromise bill. We are highly in favor of this bill and we are asking everybody from our delegation to vote to concur. We do believe there are inequities in the law but, as I said before, a good compromise is better than nothing. We picked up almost $800,000 by revising House Bill 183, Printer's No. 622, and we are satisfied with the bill.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the concurrence in these amendments. I am no expert on schools. However, I do look to the people who I think are experts. The Superintendent of our schools came in here several times and talked with us, and they tell me that there are certain townships in our county and in our district that will have to close because are not going to have sufficient money to operate.

I do not know whether they are telling me the truth or not but I believe they are. They are honorable men. I cannot understand for the life of me why the Republican party would allow our schools to get into the log jam that they are going to get into so far as the cost of schools and the teachers' salaries are concerned, if what they tell me is true.

I have thought this thing over for a long time and on the strength of what they have told me I voted against the bill. Now I am not going to vote to short-change our school district. Therefore, I am not going to vote for concurrence and I am asking the Members of this House to vote down this concurrence and, possibly, we will be able to throw it into a conference committee and come out with sufficient money for our schools to operate.

They went so far as to tell me that they would have to cut the teachers' pay, and they would have to advertise in the paper that the money that was supposed to have been used to pay the teachers' salaries was being used to pay off the debt. Now there is something wrong here some place. I think the thing to do, before we allow our schools to slide and our future generations to suffer, is to make every effort to correct the situation before we get into it.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I will yield to the gentleman from Allegheny if he desires recognition.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Bradford, Mr. Moscrip, yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to reiterate the point I made at the time we considered House Bill 183.

Two years ago this body mandated school teacher salary increases that would cost and will cost the taxpayers of the Pittsburgh School District $2.25 million. At the time the House passed Bill 183, the subsidy for the school district of the city of Pittsburgh called for $1,040,000. I took the floor at that time to protest against the loss to the taxpayers of that school district.

Now the Senate has returned the bill to us reducing that subsidy by an additional $40,000. I certainly would be remiss if I did not call the attention of this House to the fact we have mandated salary increases of $2.25 million for which we are going to give those taxpayers $1 million. In other words, we are telling them that they must spend $1.25 million.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I want to reaffirm the policy in this bill.

This bill has been carefully considered. We feel that the item for changing the local effort and instituting the item of actual cost is sound. If this bill is properly administered by the Department of Public Instruction it will provide a good, sound program for our children and will pave the way for more efficient administration in the coming biennium.

I believe the amendments inserted by the Senate have improved the bill and I ask the Members of the House to vote to concur.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 313, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372) entitled "The General State Authority Act of 1949," authorizing the purchase of land for use of State teachers' colleges and increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor and allocating the proceeds of the increased borrowing

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. READINGER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 4, line 16, by striking out all of said line and inserting "five hundred thirty million dollars ($530,000,000)"

Amend Section 2, page 6, line 10, by striking out all of said line and inserting "$62,155,000"

Amend Section 2, page 6, line 12, by striking out "1,000,000" and inserting "1,991,000."

Amend Section 2, page 6, line 14, by striking out "15,500,000" and inserting "33,700,000."

Amend Section 2, page 6, by inserting between lines 14 and 15

(d) To complete furnishings and equipment for other projects presently under construction or design 2,154,000.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. These amendments would restore increased borrowing capacity. As you know, the bill as reported from Committee increased the debt limit by only $40 million and will not allow many of the buildings, which were contemplated to be built, to proceed.

The $40 million will barely cover projects that have already been initiated and will not allow any leeway for the authority to improve Point Park in Pittsburgh or the Mall in Philadelphia, because there are other projects that are surely needed which would probably be selected in place of those projects.

I am asking the House to accept these amendments and authorize the General State Authority to proceed as it was originally recommended.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in the beginning of this session we announced that we were going to have a fair and reasonable budget and limit our policy of adopting no new taxes.

The question of what to do with the General State Authority has given the Republican party a great deal of concern. This is particularly true because in the last campaign we were lambasted for having the General State Authority at all.

As the session has progressed, and we have had a chance to study the situation that is presented to the Authority, we realized that there are certain critical projects that must be finished and some money provided for other projects which we think are critical and should be done within the setup that now prevails in the General State Authority, where they have inspectors and a contracting office and so forth. We felt it could be done economically and well.

However, we were presented with a request for this $100 million that Mr. Readinger has presented here today. Frankly, we feel that we cannot go along with a tremendous increase of that nature. The bill before us provides for $40 million to take care of absolutely necessary things that are now before the authority. We are going to swallow hard, I believe, and vote for the $40 million but I do not see how we can go for the $100 million.

I will have to ask the membership on this side to vote the amendments down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, we are here again with our bugaboo, another big increase of the bonded indebtedness of the state which already has reached astronomical figures.

The big thing that I am objecting to in this bill is the fact that we are delegating to a body of men—and I am not criticizing the men who make up the board—authority to spend $15,500,000 that is contained in the present bill, plus another $19 or $20 million that comes back by the passage of the bill which takes away from the Authority the right to build a mental hospital in Delaware County. That makes it approximately in round figures about $34 million not earmarked in any way, shape or form for what the money is to be used, what type of institution will be built, where it will be built how much need or necessity there will be for the type building that might be built under this blanket authority.

I say to you with all sincerity, in my opinion it is absolutely wrong. I believe throughout the years, ever since this General State Authority has come back to confront us, we have been entirely wrong in the way the Legislature has added General State Authority allocations and appropriations.

I can see no reason why, when we vote on this type of bill, it could not have been possible for these planners of the General State Authority to spell out in the bill for what these appropriations would be spent or for what these millions of dollars would be used, so that we as Members would have some idea for what we are voting. This way we have no idea whatsoever for what we are voting.

As an example of that I might say, if I am correct and I believe I am, that there now is $22 million for which the General State Authority has pledged and for which this General Assembly has made no appropriations.

I repeat, Mr. Speaker, there is contained in this bill allowance to complete construction of projects for which the Authority has made allocations and for which no specific or no general appropriations have been made.

In other words as I see it, they just went ahead and spent, then came back to the General Assembly and said, well, we spent the money. Now it is up to you guys to pay the bill. That is what this bill says. It is not spelled out in any way, shape or form.

Then of course there is a certain amount in here for equipment of these buildings. I think that runs around $2 million and some odd thousand of dollars which is contained in this so-called deficiency appropriation.

You Members must realize that every time you raise these appropriations you are going to have to come back in the next biennium and you are going to have to raise sufficient money in the future to pay for the interest on these new bonds and to amortize the bonds. So you are going to come back knowing that you are going to have to meet an increased mandated allowance just as soon as the 1959-1960 Session goes into session.

I think this is bad legislation. No doubt the bill will pass and I am sorry to see it pass if it does pass. I do not believe for a minute that we should sit here as Legislators and give blanket authority to any group of men, no matter how high a criterion you might place on those men that make up that board. I am sure no private business corporation would say to their Board of Directors, here is $35 million or $34 million to spend as you see fit. I am sure that would never be done. I think it is high time that we are starting to run this state government under the same business practices as is used in private business corporations and try to hold down this tax structure somewhat.

That is about as much as I have to say on this. I think it is bad in principle. I think we should defeat the bill so that we can put a stop to this kind of legislation.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone who is a member of the General State Authority at the present time.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I suggest the interrogation be directed to the Chair. The Chair is a member of the General State Authority.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not engage in debate.

The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, or the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Readinger, when did the General State Authority come into being, do you recall?

Mr. READINGER. About 1943, and it was liquidated, I think, in 1945. It was reinstated in 1947, I believe. The bonds were paid off, as I recall, in 1945 for the first—I am not sure of the year but it was liquidated under the Martin administration and reinstated under Governor Duff.

Mr. GOODLING. Do you recall the amount of the initial bond issue?

Mr. READINGER. No, I am a member of recent vintage. I do not recall those amounts. I think when it was liquidated under Governor Martin, the outstanding bonds were about $48 million, and since the war was in progress and there was a substantial state surplus, due to inability to carry out the normal functions of the state, I think $48 million of in bonds were paid off then.

Mr. GOODLING. What is the present amount of bonds issued by the General State Authority?

Mr. READINGER. The amount authorized up to the present time without this bill is, I think, $430 million total.

Mr. GOODLING. That is without this bill? Is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Those bonds have not all been issued, but they are authorized. This amendment of mine would raise the borrowing limit from $430 million to $530 million. The present bill makes that a total of $470 million. But I say, the whole $430 million have not been issued but they have been authorized. They will be issued when it becomes necessary to pay the bills.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Readinger, tell us how this indebtedness is financed.

Mr. READINGER. By the issuance of bonds. I believe the period is 20 or 25 year bonds and the bondholders are guaranteed a certain rate of interest and they are also guaranteed repayment liquidation by a pledging of the rentals paid by the state. In other words, the Authority rents to the state these various buildings which it really builds for the state, and the amount of rentals are based upon complete amortization of the principal and interest over I believe a period of 20 years.

Mr. GOODLING. Are any of the projects self-liquidating?

Mr. READINGER. None to my knowledge would be self-liquidating without the rental being paid by the state.

Mr. GOODLING. I was of the opinion, Mr. Readinger, I do not know if this is correct or not, that one or two dormitories at Penn State were built by the General State Authority, I may be wrong in that, and that they are self-liquidating.

Mr. READINGER. I think in any such case certainly the rentals paid by students for a facility built by the General State Authority, would, together with the rentals being paid by the state or university, be sufficient to amortize it.

Mr. GOODLING. Do you recall, I should know this but I do not at the moment, what amount was in the 1957-1959 budget for financing the General State Authority during this biennium? I am thinking of the carrying charge and amortization.

Mr. READINGER. I think the amount is $31 million in the general appropriation bill for payments due by the state on the rentals for the 1957-1959 biennium.

Mr. GOODLING. If this increase is granted, Mr. Read-inger, do you know for what purpose the money will be allocated?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, it was written into the original bill at Point Park, Pittsburgh and the Philadelphia Mall, a building here in Harrisburg called the Commonwealth Building, I believe, for general state offices and whatnot and another building, were spelled out in the bill.

In addition the increase we are asking for was to cover the prospective mental health institutions which have been under consideration for some time. In other words, the Authority never builds anything that the state does not clearly say it needs and wants. The state tells us which are the most pressing needs, we do not tell them what their most pressing needs are, they tell us. When you sort them all out there are usually four times as many pressing items that are crying for attention than can be taken care of. But the determination, actually, of what is going to be built is guided almost solely by the needs of the state at the time the allocations are made.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Readinger, in a recent news release, I saw that it was proposed that if $100 million were granted in the very near future, or sometime in the future, to provide office space for each Member of the General Assembly. Was that in the plan?

Mr. READINGER. No, that news release, I did not see it myself, was probably based on the fact that if this Commonwealth building were erected, there would be a lot of the row offices taken out of the Capitol Building which would therefore make more room available for the legislative work. Whether that would result in individual offices for Members, I have no idea. I think that is some newspaperman's guess.

For example, Property and Supplies, Justice Department, and the Governor's office, all of those offices you know are now, or part of them at least, are in the Capitol Building and if they were removed to a Commonwealth Building, more suitably laid out for their purposes, there would be more room available for legislative work, which should be brought about.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Readinger, this is not exactly on this particular bill but, are you at all familiar with the Bridge and Highway Authority? Do you know its indebtedness?

Mr. READINGER. The Highway Authority?

Mr. GOODLING. The Highway and Bridge Authority.

Mr. READINGER. I am on the board, but we have not had much business since I have been on it.

Mr. GOODLING. Are your funds exhausted?

Mr. READINGER. We haven't had any funds, that I know of, since I have been on it. It is just a body politic which has not functioned very much lately.

Mr. GOODLING. Are you familiar with the State School Building Authority? Do you know anything about its indebtedness?

Mr. READINGER. I know a little about it.

Mr. GOODLING. Thank you, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. Speaker, maybe I am an alarmist and have undue concern regarding this spending, but I am genuinely concerned about the way we are spending money at every level in the government. We have our General State Authority, we have our Highway and Bridge Authority, even though Mr. Readinger just said that body has not been functioning, we have our State School Building Authority, we have our Local School Authority, practically every school district in the Commonwealth has an authority and I admit I do not know what we would do with our children if we did not have the local authorities. We have Water Authorities and we have Sewer Authorities. The thought that has often occurred to me is, what will happen when present economic levels change? I am not too much concerned if anybody can assure me that our present economic level will stay at its present level, but I do not believe anybody is willing to assure me of that.

Within the last two or three days, Sunday to be exact, several of my sons and I were discussing this thing of spending money, not in terms of $100 million or $1 million but just as it applies to a poor family in southern York County. One of my sons said, "Well, I am not so sure that we should look too far into the future about money." That is not my philosophy. I think we should look into the future.

I personally think we should more nearly approach a pay-as-you-go basis. As long as we are going to increase authority debts, we are never going to get on that basis. I am old-fashioned enough that I am not willing to mortgage my grandchildren for the sake of the present generation and that is what we are apparently doing at the present time. I have always insisted, and not many will agree with me, if we are going to continue to spend and spend and spend, we should be willing to get up in this House and vote for additional taxes to take care of that spending and not pass that on to future generations.

Mr. Readinger said these General State Authority bonds run from 20 to 25 years, I believe. I just want to make this one remark in closing. I am more familiar with the local authority bonds than I am with the General State Authority bonds, most of them run from 35 to 40 years. For every $1 million you spend today, in a local authority or in a municipal authority, it is going to cost you $2 million by the time you have it paid, 35 or 40 years from now.

I personally propose to vote against this increase to the General State Authority.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to take up much time of the House on this matter, but I do want to answer something mentioned by the gentleman from York.

He says we should not mortgage our grandchildren's future, and so we shouldn't, except for things that are going to benefit them as well as the present generation. It is obvious that we only use the authority because of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which forbids borrowing on any bonds in excess of $1 million without Constitutional change. But when you consider what is being built and how many years it will be here, it is obviously impossible to pay for things like that out of current revenues.

The only other way this could be done would be to set up reserve and tax people of Pennsylvania over and above the current needs of the state, to build up a fund. When you look at the buildings which have been built and the reason they have been built then you will know it has not been an unwise thing to mortgage the future to do that.

I do not know how many offices were being rented in the Pittsburgh area for state business until the recent opening of the Pittsburgh office building. Some of the offices we have built here in Harrisburg, the Labor and Industry Building and the Health Building are now being used for various state functions which were housed in rented quarters. If you ever got the whole story you would find that it is really economy to put up our own buildings and not have to rent buildings here, there and everywhere for the use of one board or agency.

As state functions grow, they have to be housed somewhere, they have to have a place for storing their records and their equipment and that is why we have been putting up some of these buildings. Some of them are going to be hospitals. You cannot go out and rent hospitals because there is none available for rent. You build them or you do not have them. Certainly the life and usefulness of these buildings is going to extend way beyond the life of the bonds. Those bonds will all be retired some day and the buildings will still be there and they will be used. In the meantime we will be paying the taxes to support the whole thing. That goes for all of these authorities. It is simply a matter of deferring over a period of time, a reasonable period of time, the payment for something which we have to have.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise simply to reassure the gentleman from York we are going to have permanent prosperity. General Ike said so, I read it in the paper.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOODLING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was obligated to some of my friends not to debate this bill. I did want to make one statement before the bill was acted upon, but you were too fast for me.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman desires to debate which bill?

Mr. GOODLING. Beg pardon?

The SPEAKER. Which bill does the gentleman desire to talk on?

Mr. GOODLING. I do not want to debate any bill. I want to make a statement in connection with the bill we just passed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. GOODLING. I just want to tell the membership that I did not vote for Senate Bill No. 899. We have taken approximately $100,000 out of the Game Fund for the next biennium and if we are going to continue to raid this fund, we have got to be willing to come back here and vote for an increase in hunting licenses in the very near future.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 906, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28, 1953 (P. Article VI

Effective Date

Section 601 Effective Date This act shall take effect immediately

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, just to refresh the memories of the Members, these amendments, which were discussed last night, would put into this bill, the Pennsylvania Tort Claims Liability Act, so that we have a orderly system under which people can file claim against the Commonwealth and have it adjudicated.

Since last night there have been several meetings with the Members of the majority party who are interested in its function, and I believe it is more or less agreed that these amendments would be a good addition to the law of Pennsylvania. Under the law and these amendments people could proceed to adjudicate their claims.

I am asking the Members to vote for these amendments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Readinger from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, have you considered the constitutional problem of changing the purpose of the bill during passage in connection with these amendments which are being offered now?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, we always consider those matters of constitutionality very thoroughly.

Mr. BOWMAN. And what conclusion did you come to?

Mr. READINGER. We have concluded that this is a completely proper amendment to the bill before the House. Since the bill before us involves a claim by a family by the name of "Little," which is now outlawed by the Statute of Limitations, I understand, this bill sets up a procedure under which they can make their claim. It is germane to the subject but not akin thereto.

Mr. BOWMAN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I have one further question which I would appreciate having the Majority Leader or Minority Leader answer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, this is a tort claims act. Now suppose a number of people submit claims, is there any appropriation to pay them?

Mr. READINGER. Of course not, you are not appropriating any money this session. The answer is that there would have to be appropriations made to pay these from time to time as they were found to be claims which the Commonwealth should pay. I know of no appropriation at the present time to pay for these items.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I would like to correct that, Mr. Speaker. Assuming that this bill would permit people to sue the Commonwealth, it would not authorize them to get paid?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct. The same as the law authorizes people to make claims for occupational diseases. You often do not appropriate enough money to pay these claims, although they are valid claims. They are told that the Commonwealth owes them money but until the money is appropriated they will not get it. That happens in many instances.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea what sort of moral liability this presents for us, let us say, for the next biennium.

Mr. READINGER. No, I have no idea what claims might now be existing or might be made. I do not know of any notorious claims, let us put it that way, for large amounts.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Thank you, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement on the bill.

It seems to me that these amendments open a great new field of tort liability on the part of the Commonwealth. The Federal government has such a statute and also a so-called meritorious claims act, as I recall, and it is my firm opinion that the Federal government annually makes an appropriation to cover these claims.

It seems to me that this bill without an appropriation is just a sort of red herring that you are dangling in front of those who suffer from the Commonwealth's negligence or some other cause of tort liability, and unless someone advances to me a better reason than has been advanced so far I am inclined to vote against the amendments.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 35, as originally introduced, covers a procedural remedy, is not that correct?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. The amendments that you introduced create a new cause of action, is that not correct?

Mr. READINGER. That is not correct. It simply sets up a procedure by which people who get a cause of action or have one now can proceed with those claims against the Commonwealth.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, do you not say you are providing a general setup whereby people who do not now have claims against the state of Pennsylvania will have such claims.

Mr. READINGER. I am afraid not. The cause of action has nothing to do with the procedure. There is a prohibition now in most cases against people suing the Commonwealth for any kind of a tort except by a special action of this Legislature.

We do not give rise to the cause of action. The facts do. If some employe of the Commonwealth hurts somebody, kills him—

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have not read the amendments but if they are similar to the Federal tort liability act, does that not create a new cause of action?

In other words, does not your bill provide that if somebody has a claim against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, there shall be a certain procedure. Is that not right?

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, would you not say then that that creates a new cause of action which does not exist today in Pennsylvania?

Mr. READINGER. I repeat, these amendments simply set up a procedure whereby people who have cause of action against the Commonwealth can proceed with it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman Mr. Speaker.

We have been told that we are going to have an orderly ending to this session. I concur with such a thought.

However, we are now faced with a bill which is very wide in its scope. We do not even have the amendments before us. In my opinion, the amendments are unconstitutional and, secondly, we have not had a chance to study these items. We feel that legislation of this importance should not be brought up on the last or next to the last day of the session. Regardless of the merits of the individual claim under 786, this particular type of procedure should not be used now to create a new cause of action.

I raise the question of constitutionality and ask for a vote upon it as to whether the amendments are constitutional or not.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, whether he would withdraw his raising of a Constitutional question and allow me to make a motion to place this bill on the postponed calendar?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will concur in that, Mr. Speaker. On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is going to lay before the House the report of the Committee on Conference on Senate Bill No. 676, following which the Chair will clear the table on non-controversial material and then declare a recess until 10:00 o'clock DST, if that is agreeable to the gentleman from Berks.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, entitled,

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for expenses of a civilian high-power rifle team to the annual High-Power National Rifle Matches presently held at Camp Perry Ohio.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, is there anyone who can explain this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I yield to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, yields to the gentleman from Dauphin Mr. Hocker.

Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOCKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, all I want is to have someone explain this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I will do the best I can with it. It is not my bill, but being on the Appropriations Committee—and the Chairman of that Committee being absent—I will attempt to answer the questions.

We have been asked by numerous associations and people who are interested in training young people to appropriate $2,000 to send boys and girls of this Pennsylvania Rifle and Pistol Association to Camp Perry, Ohio, to participate in the national matches.

I do not think this is something new, this has been going on for some time. I think it is done for the interest of young people, to get them to participate in this program.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I just wondered whether or not—you say this has been going on for some time—we were setting a rather dangerous precedent in sending civilian rifle teams to these national matches.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman that this money is handled through the Department of Military Affairs and, to my knowledge, it has been handled through them in previous years.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOCKER. I shall, but draw a dead bead on me, Mr. Toll.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman a member of the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. HOCKER. Yes, I am.

Mr. TOLL. Could the gentleman find use for this $2000 in the Forest-McCann bill?

Mr. HOCKER. Oh I imagine maybe we could, I don't know.

Mr. TOLL. Could the gentleman find use for this $2000 for the hospitals that have been reduced.

Mr. HOCKER. I do not think they are reduced.

Mr. TOLL. Would the gentleman tell me whether the Philadelphia State Hospital has been reduced?

Mr. HOCKER. Offhand, I cannot tell you. If I dig into that bag I packed to go home, I might be able to answer you.

Mr. TOLL. Would the gentleman not permit this $2000 to remain in the General Fund to apply on deficiencies for our hospitals?

Mr. HOCKER. Well, if you want to take something away from the youth of America, to permit them to participate in this program, I imagine that could be done.

Mr. TOLL. Well, how about Pennhurst, Mr. Speaker? Pennhurst State Hospital for the retarded children that needs the money so badly?

Mr. HOCKER. Well, how about Harrisburg State Hospital?

That is closer to me.

Mr. TOLL. I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker, let's agree to amend it and give it to the Harrisburg State Hospital.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF PARDONS BOARD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to transmit to the House of Representatives the report of the the Pardons Board Investigating Committee which was created by this session of the General Assembly.

I ask that the report be incorporated as a part of the Legislative Journal and that sufficient copies be transmitted to all the Members of the House.

I also submit the testimony which we ask be incorporated as a part of the Appendix of the Journal.

Mr. Speaker, in connection with this report, a news article appears in this evening's Philadelphia Bulletin, purporting to contain the contents of this report.

The article contains such quotes as, the record "was completely barren of any evidence whatever to show attempts to use political and personal influence."

The article also states the minority members said they were "puzzled" by the majority G. O. P. decision.

I challenge the author of this article to show me anywhere in this report where the words "barren" or "puzzled" are used or appear.

Had his anxiety for a scoop not been so great and had he awaited the release of the official copy, he would not have quoted from statements prepared by the Attorney General, which by unanimous agreement of the Committee were deleted and stricken out and not incorporated as a part of the report.

Whoever released the information from which the above quotes are taken violated a confidence of this Committee, which is not healthy for the functioning of this or any other legislative committee, and is to be condemned.

I did not approve of the Attorney General, an interested party, trying to incorporate his views and criticisms as an integral part of this report.

I consider such efforts an encroachment by the executive arm of the government upon the independent operation of a legislative committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, submits the report of the Pardons Board Investigating Committee. The report will be printed in full in the Legislative Journal and the testimony printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal. Copies of the report are being made available and will be distributed to all the Members of the General Assembly.

REPORT OF PARDON BOARD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY REPORT OF PARDON BOARD INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Pursuant to House Resolution No. 1, Serial Number 4, Printer's No. 8, as amended by House Resolution No. 75, Serial Number 80, of the 1957 session of the General Assembly; the committee of the House and Senate, appointed in pursuance thereof, submits the following report:

In order to have a better understanding of the basic problems involved pertinent to the inquiry directed by the said resolution, the committee decided that an historical study of the background of executive clemency should be made.

Yopur committee has made a careful study of the matter of executive clemency and finds the problems of today not unlike those which have from time to time been experienced since the advent of organized government.

CLEMENCY—WHAT IT IS

Smithers-Thorn, "Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania," says:

"Clemency should be extended in no case unless reasonably deemed to accord with the average common intelligence and general sentiments of the people."

"Clemency should be exercised only when, in obedience to a rational interpretation of common public interest, the case by reason of natural equity raises a presumption that it was intended to be excepted out of the general terms of the punishing statute."

"Executive Clemency should be accorded in those cases only where it would be repugnant to natural equity to permit the law to take its due course."

History

Executive Clemency has its origin in antiquity, and may best be expressed in a quotation from Sir Matthew Hale (1609-1676), wherein he said:

"When offenses grow enormous, frequent, and dangerous to a kingdom or state, destructive or highly pernicious to civil societies, and to the great insecurity and danger of the kingdom and its inhabitants, severe punishment, even death itself, is necessary to be annexed to laws in many cases by the prudence of law givers, though possibly beyond the single demerit of the offense itself simply considered. * * * And although I do not deny but the Supreme King of the world may remit the severity of the punishment, as he did to Cain, yea, and his substitutes, sovereign princes may also defer or remit that punishment or make a commutation of it upon great and weighty circumstances, yet such instances ought to be very rare, and upon great occasions."

After the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1790 had been in effect a sufficient length of time to establish a settled and harmonious cooperation among the three departments of Government, it was observed that the pardoning power was subject to baneful influences which had not been foreseen. History had recorded no parallel combination of a royal prerogative wielded by a democratically chosen governor and the vise of an elective one-man pardoning power was revealed only by experience. In the Federal constitutional convention, this feature had indeed been the subject of debate, but no one had seriously contested the expediency of the clause as adopted except as it referred to treason, concerning which there was much debate about leaving it solely in the hands of the President. No material complaint of abuse followed, probably because of the lack of general, direct, and continuous contact with the citizens, and the consequent feebleness of local influences. In Pennsylvania, however, it was different. Community sentiment, intimacy with daily affairs, neighborhood knowledge of crimes committed, familiarity with criminal trials and constant approachability made governors susceptible to deception, false sympathetic evidence and the obligation or feeling of friendliness founded upon political or personal consideration. The wisdom of the Constitution-makers had not been sufficient to anticipate the resulting abuses, but well grounded and frequent complaints followed within a few years.

The situation became such that Dr. James Mease, a distinguished member of the American Philosophical Society, in an article published in 1820, said: "I have no hesitation in saying that the continual and monstrous abuse by Governors of this great privilege is a very powerful cause of the increase of crimes and that the best code of penal laws that can be framed will be defeated unless it is checked. * * * Governors have much to answer for who thus defeat the laws and offer a premium for vice."

Smithers-Thorn, "Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania," says:

"That imperfections in procedure (criminal) exist is not so surprising as the fact that they are not more numerous. The history of the criminal law reveals a long, persistent and oft-times discouraging struggle to overcome brutality, ignorance, vagueness and uncompromising prejudice, and it has taken centuries to establish the present enlightened safeguards."

"After every reasonable expectation has been satisfied during the progress of a trial, the question of what penalty shall be imposed exposes the weakest feature of criminal jurisprudence as now administered. It is confronted with popular distrust and uncontrollable personal factors. The greatest diversity of opinion exists even among Judges. Defective laws, inequalities of Judicial temperament, learning and environment and the circumscribed or indifferent methods of investigation make equal or fitting adjustment of punishments under modern methods almost impossible."

The possibility of being deceived, acting upon an erroneous statement of facts, or from a false point of view, was considered a defect in the exercise of the power (Clemency) as contained in the Constitutions of 1790 and 1838, which the people sought to overcome by practically eliminating the personal factor and creating the present Board of Pardons which was incorporated into the Constitution of 1874.

It may be said that modern Executive Clemency in Pennsylvania is in its nature an exceptional governmental power, in derogation of the law, often bestowed for the correction of unjust and erroneous particular results arising from imperfect legislation and the inherent limitations of tribunals charged with the trial of criminal cases. The sovereign people of the State must be accepted as its source.

This committee believes that Clemency is also justice tempered with mercy, and is a vehicle through which a wrongdoer is given the incentive to rehabilitate himself and by his conduct render himself fit for return to society.

While the exercise of Clemency is protected against human frailties and perversity, so far as reasonably possible with finite institutions, it can still be invoked without undue restrictions. Within its jurisdiction lies the power and the right in respect of particular cases to avoid the legislative will, reverse the verdict of juries and nullify or modify the judgments of courts. It represents the sense of human weakness, the recognition of human fallibility, the cry of human compassion. It is a confession of imperfect wisdom and voices mankind's universal repugnance to the irretrievable and the irrevocable. It is the protest of the multitude against unanticipated and cruel consequences of governmental deficiencies.

The complaints, the problems, the experiences, and observations of history are again being heard throughout the Commonwealth. The complaints, the problems, the experiences, and observations, which, prior to 1874, were directed against individual Clemency, have over the years been gradually transferred and become attached to the Pardon Board, which was created as an instrument to overcome such complaints, problems, experiences and observations.

Pardoning Power—Board of Pardons

Under the aforesaid Resolution, this committee was "authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all actions since January 4, 1950, of the Board of Pardons in connection with the pardon, parole or commutation of sentence of persons convicted of crimes."

Section 9 of Article IV of the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1874 provides:

"He (the Governor) shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons, except in cases of impeachment; but no pardon shall be granted, nor sentence commuted, except upon the recommendation in writing of the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney General and Secretary of Internal Affairs, or any three of them, after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open session, and such recommendation, with the reasons therefor at length, shall be recorded and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth."

Findings and Recommendations

1. The Governors has no authority to grant pardons or commute sentences without first receiving a favorable recommendation from the Board of Pardons.

2. The Governor is not bound by a favorable recommendation of the Board of Pardons; and has the power to reject favorable recommendations and refuse to grant clemency. The Governor, however, can do nothing about a refusal by the Pardon Board.

3. The Board of Pardons is clothed with exceptional and extra-ordinary powers. Within its jurisdiction lies the power and the right in respect to particular cases to avoid the legislative will, reverse the verdict of juries, and nullify or modify the Judgments of Courts. So far as possible, this power, sometimes known as the depository of clemency, should avoid all appearance of irregularity, uncertainty or caprice. Their judgment should not vacillate from want of practical knowledge, nor their mercy blunder for want of circumspection.

As an agency of mercy, favorable action should be recommended on merit only. Extreme care should be exercised that no recommendation be made from any personal or political consideration, nor founded upon any favoritism.

Jealous consideration should be given to the rehabilitation of the prisoner, but not at the expense of the preservation of law and order, and the peace and security of the community.

All reasonable doubts should be resolved in favor of the public.

4. Once the Board of Pardons has made a favorable recommendation, and the Governor acts favorably thereon, there is no other Governmental agency, court or legislative tribunal to which an appeal can be taken, nor is there any agency, court, body or person, including this Legislative Committee, with power or authority to reverse or set aside such action. Even the people themselves have no power to overthrow or reverse the action in any particular case. Their only recourse is to retire from elective office those who abuse this extraordinary prerogative, or blemish it with improper motives.

5. The Board of Pardons has no power to compel the attendance by subpoena of witnesses, or oblige them to testify. This power should be granted to them, as an aid in investigating and verifying information presented to them or before them.

6. Every effort should be continuously made to afford every safeguard as to "due public notice" in the publication of place, time and nature of offense, place and time of hearing, and the name of the applicant.

The present system of ascertaining whether or not due public notice has been given in any particular case, as required by the Constitution, is inadequate.

In order to check and establish any such proof, reference must be had to files located in Governmental agencies other than the Board of Pardons.

Without imputing any ulterior motives to the present or previous Boards of Pardon, we recommend that no hearing, rehearing, or hearing on special listing shall be had unless and before advertisement of the same is first had.

We further recommend that sufficient proofs of publication be obtained in order that a copy of such proof shall be attached to the calendar of each session of the Board for each case therein listed.

We further recommend that no case be heard by the Board unless and until such proof of publication is so available and attached.

7. Cases examined since 1950 were found where letters in the file referred to other communications and material which were not, but should have been, in the file, and could not be found or located.

We recommend that all papers relating to a case, including letters, communications, record of telephone calls and personal visitations to individual members of the Board, the Board Secretary, and to the Governor, formal petitions, transcripts of records, testimony, affidavits and reports, whether favorable to the applicant or in protest, should be placed and kept in the file of each applicant to which they relate, and should be open to public inspection (excluding confidential reports from Parole and Prison authorities) before the hearing, at the hearing, and after final decision.

We further recommend that a chronological index of applications be installed.

8. The Constitution requires reasons for the action of the Pardon Board to be prepared and filed in those cases, only, in which they make a favorable recommendation. In all cases of refusal, no reasons need be stated.

We recommend that in all cases of refusal reasons should be stated and filed for the guidance of future Pardon Boards.

We further recommend that reasons for refusal be made a part of the confidential record in the file of each applicant.

The decision of one depository of clemency should be considered to a very great degree as a guide for his successor, for the latter is not as likely to have data so accurate and complete as his predecessor.

9. The power of pardoning and commutation is founded on consideration of the public good, and should be exercised on the ground that the public welfare, which is the legitimate object of all punishment, will be as well promoted by a suspension as by an execution of the sentence. A pardon or commutation should be granted, not as a matter of right, but as a matter of grace bestowed by the Government through its duly authorized officers. It should not be a personal favor, nor a private act of grace, because the individual happens to possess power; but should be granted in the exercise of a public function, or as an act in the interest of the public welfare.

The committee finds that through the years there have been what appear to be attempts to use political or personal influence on members of various Pardon Boards. The committee is unable to state what effect, if any, these attempts have had upon the decisions of any particular Board in any particular case.

10. The Board of Pardons is unrestricted in its power to make, alter, change and suspend its rules of procedure, which can lend itself to temptation for abuse and exploitation.

The committee recommends that no rule of procedure (except where the death penalty has been imposed) shall be altered, changed, suspended, excepted, or become effective, unless and until such alteration, change, suspension, or exception has first been publicly promulgated for a period of ninety (90) days. We recommend that no case be given special listing (except where the death penalty has been imposed).

11. In all cases of offenses against the person, we recommend that the victim, or his or her next of kin, if available, should receive written notice of the application, together with time and place of hearing.

12. At no time has any member of this Committee suggested, intimated, or recommended the abolition of an agency of Clemency. Such an agency is a necessary requisite of any civilized government.

We recognize that by the very make-up of the Pardon Board the members thereof have been, are now, and will continue to be approached by influential persons in various walks of life in an attempt to secure favorable consideration for some particular applicant.

With the present case load of the Pardon Board, we should not impose upon such busy persons, who are charged with other official duties, and who constitute the Board, the additional burdens now involved in clemency applications.

There has, however, been a division of opinion as to changing the personnel composition of the Pardon Board in an effort to minimize influence and place the agency upon a more judicious basis.

A majority of the Committee recommends that the presently contemplated Constitutional Revision Committee (or, upon failure of creation thereof, the Joint State Government Commission) take under advisement and thorough study the many problems involved in the structure of the Pardon Board as it is presently constituted and make such recommendations as they deem proper.

A minority of the Committee (Tompkins and Bell), from a study of the plans used in other states, recommends the personnel of the Pardon Board be changed so that it be composed of the Lieutenant Governor and four (4) additional persons; one to be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and two to be appointed by the President Judge of the Superior Court, and two to be appointed by the Governor. None of the appointees shall hold any other public office. All appointments shall be subject to confirmation by the Senate. All appointments shall be for full time duty, and shall be made for a period of eight (8) years, upon a staggered basis of two (2) years. No appointee shall be eligible for re-appointment. The power of removal shall be with those who make the appointment. Each vacancy shall be filled by the respective appointing power that theretofore made the appointment; and the appointive powers shall have the authority to make recess appointments until the convening of the Senate. The General Assembly should have power to regulate procedure before the Board of Pardons.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that from their examination of the plans used in other states and by the Federal Government and by other National Governments, the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons is at least one of the best, if not the best, for assisting the Chief Executive in deciding when executive clemency is warranted. Nevertheless, we join with Messrs. Fleming and Scott in the recommendation that the whole matter be studied by the Constitutional Revision Committee or by the Joint Government Commission.

It is our view that the proposed substitute is unworkable. Since the term proposed for appointed members is eight years, it is obvious at once that some Governors will have no appointees at all. Would any Governor be likely to accept such recommendations by a Board, none of whose, or only two of whose, members he had appointed? The plain fact, therefore, is that a Governor, conscious of his own duty in the premises, would set up his own independent staff to review every affirmative recommendation before signing it. This would mean a needless and undesirable duplication of effort. In no other area of State Government is an executive officer appointed by the judicial power particularly where Senate confirmation is required.

13. We find communications and records in the files of various applicants, and allegations, representations, and self-serving declarations made to the Board in petitions and at the time of hearing, some of which in our opinion, should be the subject of further inquiry for the purposes of verification.

We recommend that the Board of Pardons have a staff of its own to investigate and verify allegations, representations, and self-serving declarations made to them with reference to any applicant.

14. The "round robin" is a written communication from the Secretary which is circulated among Board members and polls the vote of each member, not in the presence of the others or in executive session.

We find that the "round robin" is used to obtain the position of individual members in various matters of procedure in individual cases before the Board. We are of the opinion that the "round robin" is not a satisfactory method of seeking this information.

We recommend that all decisions made by the Board be considered and determined in executive session, and not by the method of "round robin", letters, or inter-office communications.

15. All applications for hearing should be upon formal petition, signed and verified by the applicant. All proceedings seeking a rehearing, argument or reargument, consideration or reconsideration, or continuance should be upon a formal written application, signed by the applicant, his counsel of record, or by his duly authorized representative.

16. We find that the written reasons made by the Board in all its recommendations are undated. We suggest that all such recommendations be dated.

17. Pardon Boards have upon occasions acted after hearing; and in particular, on hearings specially listed; prior to the time the Board of Parole has had an opportunity to file a complete report of the results of its investigation to determine the accuracy of allegations in the applications, or that of its counterpart in other jurisdictions.

Action without verification of the self-serving statements in the application is inherently unsound.

This committee recommends that no hearing be held, and no favorable action taken, until such time as a full and complete report of the Board of Parole is submitted.

18. There should be as much reliance upon the clemency of the Government as upon its Justice, and both should be exercised with equal regard to the right of the citizens and the peace of the community.

It is essential that the Board of Pardons be as nonpolitical in nature as possible. The principle of impartiality in the administration of mercy must be preserved. Mercy, the keystone of clemency, and rewards for re-adjustment of criminals to the mores of society must be administered alike to all prisoners—the penniless the same as the wealthy, and the man without friends as well as the man with influential connections.

The Pardon Board at all times should be, and remain, an agency of mercy; and not an agency of general jail release.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) endorse the statement made above and call particular attention to the fact that the record in this investigation shows that the present members of the Board of Pardons were also in agreement with this principle. An analysis of the applications made to the Board for the years 1953 to 1956, inclusive, which was submitted to the Committee and verified by its Counsel, shows that the previous board recommended clemency in more than twice as many cases percentagewise than the present Board. This is the record:

Year	Total Cases	Total Cases	Percentage
		Granted	Granted
Previous Board
1953	1083	316	39.18%
1954	1281	451	35.20%
Present Board
1955	978	205	20.09%
1956	1067	137	12.55%

DARCY CASE

During the course of this inquiry, the committee and its counsel investigated many cases, principal among which was the one better known as the "Darcy case."

The crime in the Darcy case was committed December 22, 1947. The case was tried and a verdict of Murder in the First Degree was rendered during the week of June 7, 1948. Darcy and his two co-defendants were sentenced to death in September, 1948.

An appeal was then taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. An opinion was handed down on May 26, 1949, sustaining the conviction, with one Judge dissenting. Twenty-six exceptions were assigned in the appeal to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as the reasons for a new trial. None of the exceptions raised any issue as to competency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria, or the fairness of the trial.

Appeals were then taken all the way to the Supreme Court of the United States, in which all of the several courts upheld the conviction.

An application for commutation of sentence was then filed before the Pennsylvania Pardon Board on January 4, 1950. The reasons assigned by David Darcy for his commutation related solely to his personal history, health and environment. The original application was refused in March, 1951. Due to the fact that the Constitution does not require the stating of reasons for refusal, no reason in support of the Pardon Board's action for refusal appears in the record.

Upon the refusal of clemency, Darcy then filed application for habeas corpus in the Federal District Court, alleging for the first time the incompetency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria in the court room at the time of trial, and the fairness of the trial. These issues were fought through the Federal Appellate Courts to the Supreme Court of the United States, when in June, 1956, the Supreme Court of the United States again upheld the conviction.

It might be well to state at this point that during the course of all the litigations in the several courts of Pennsylvania and of the United States, the case passed through the hands of twenty-five different Judges, seven of whom dissented.

Thereafter, on August 20, 1956, Darcy filed his second application for commutation of sentence, alleging as his reasons, among others:

- "1. Lack of effective assistance of counsel.
2. Public hysteria and prejudice prevailing at the trial.
3. Trial before a two-judge court, one of whom was intent upon the imposition of the death penalty."

After proper notice, a hearing was held on the petition on September 20, 1956, at which time the following Board members were present and sat on the case:

Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs
Herbert B. Cohen, Attorney General
Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant Governor
Henry E. Harner, Secretary of the Commonwealth

Following the hearing, the Board made its favorable recommendation to His Excellency, George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth, setting forth its reasons, as follows:

"(a) Included in the guarantee of a fair trial is * * * the right to representation by competent and diligent counsel."

"(b) Darcy's counsel in petitioning for a new trial raised a number of questions going into the fairness of the trial, the conduct of the Judge (Boyer) and the atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room."

On the 29th day of September, 1956, His Excellency, George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth, signed the warrants commuting the sentences of Darcy and his two companions from death to life imprisonment.

During the period of time that the case was in litigation in the Courts, David Darcy and his companions received numerous stays of execution. Approximately twenty-three in number were granted to David Darcy by three different Governors, in office at the particular time. These stays of execution were granted as a matter of course because of appeals pending in the courts.

With this history of the case, the committee makes the following observations and findings:

1. This Committee has no power to reverse the commutation recommended by the Board of Pardons and approved by the Governor.

Even the people themselves, wherein "all power is inherent," have no power to reverse the action.

2. There were apparent attempts to use political and personal influence. This committee is unable to state if the apparent attempts had any influence upon the decision of the Pardon Board. The several members of the Board of Pardons say they were not influenced.

3. Mr. Matthew McCloskey testified:

"Q. But you did talk to each one (Members of the Pardon Board) separately?"

"A. I did talk to each one separately, and I asked them to read that Brief (Decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the Darcy case); and that was in June or July of 1955." P. 2233

"Q. What was your purpose in giving to each member of the Board of Pardons a copy of that?"

"A. Of course, because of my interest in this case, I felt that there wasn't any way that anybody was ever going to know what that opinion had unless they read it. P. 2232 * * * I just took the bull by the horns and handed it to them and asked them if they would read it." P. 2232-33

Secretary of Internal Affairs, Miss Genevieve Blatt, a member of the Pardon Board, testified that Mr. McCloskey visited her at Harrisburg and gave her a copy of the Darcy decision.

Lieutenant Governor Roy E. Furman, Chairman of the Pardon Board, testified:

"Q. There has been testimony by Mr. McCloskey that he handed you a copy of the Court of Appeals opinion including both minority and the majority opinion, will you comment on that?"

"A. Had I been asked that question prior to listening to Mr. McCloskey, I would have said "No." But since I heard him testify that he gave it to me, I know it must be true. I can honestly state that I have no recollection of it." P. 2454

Mr. Justice Herbert B. Cohen, former Attorney General, and a then member of the Pardon Board, in a letter to Attorney General McBride, dated May 8, 1957, and submitted to the committee for incorporation in the record, says:

"In regard to the case of David Darcy, there was mention that Mr. Matthew McCloskey came to see me and left with me a copy of the opinions of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit in that case. I actually do not recall his doing this, but it seems to me to be a matter of no significance for the reason that, the Department of Justice being one of the parties, the opinions were in my possession long before they were presented to me by Mr. McCloskey."

The committee leaves it up to the General Assembly to draw their own conclusions from the above testimony as to whether or not the Pardon Board members were influenced in arriving at their decision.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) find no evidence to show "attempts" to use political and person influence. There is only one circumstance in this whole case to show any contact whatever with any member of the Board of Pardons. This is the fact that considerably more than a year before the case was heard by the Board, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. handed to each of the then members of the Board of Pardons a copy of both the majority and minority opinions of the Court of Appeals. There was no discussion; there were no suggestions; there was no request, except that the opinions be read.

Those opinions presented both sides of the merit of Darcy's claim that his constitutional rights had been violated. The majority then extracts from the testimony of the members of the Board and makes this comment: "The committee leaves it up to the General Assembly to draw their own conclusions."

We ask, if the committee which heard the testimony was unable to conclude that the Board was influenced, upon what basis could the General Assembly, which heard none of the testimony, come to a different conclusion?

4. In the case of Darcy v. Handy, et al., October Term 1955, No. 323, Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. Justice Herbert B. Cohen, then Attorney General, successfully argued that:

- (a) Darcy did receive a fair trial.
- (b) The action of Judge Boyer did not prejudice the trial.
- (c) There was no atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room.
- (d) Darcy was represented by competent counsel.

The reasons set forth by the Pardon Board for the commutation of Darcy, the first draft of which was prepared by or under the direction of the then Attorney General, Herbert B. Cohen (sitting as a member of the Pardon Board) (P. 1906) says:

"(a) Included in the guarantee of a fair trial is * * * the right to representation by competent and diligent counsel."

"(b) Darcy's counsel in petitioning for a new trial raised a number of questions going into the fairness of the trial, the conduct of the Judge and the atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room."

As to the above, Mr. Justice Cohen, in his letter of May 8, 1957, says:

"More important, however, is the indication that there was something inconsistent about my position in the Darcy case. It was implied that because, on the one hand, as Attorney General I registered Darcy's appeals in the courts and, on the other hand, as a member of the Pardon Board voted to grant commutation there was some inconsistency of position on my part."

"The Attorney General of Pennsylvania must perform, as a constitutional officer of the Commonwealth, several functions, each of which may call upon him to exercise different types of independent judgment. As the chief law enforcement officer of the Commonwealth it was my duty to resist Darcy's petition in the courts on the question of whether or not he had been granted a fair trial in the constitutional sense. As a member of the Board of Pardons, I was not confronted with this narrow question, but rather with whether or not clemency was justified in light of the entire proceedings and subsequent events. I think it was perfectly consistent to resist Darcy in the courts and to exercise my best judgment as a member of the Board of Pardons. In the latter function I sincerely believed and still believe that clemency was justified."

The explanation of the former Attorney General, Herbert B. Cohen, in his above quoted letter is at best a feeble justification for the dual role he played in the case.

These dual gymnastics and conflicts may be legal, but certainly are not in the best interest of the people of Pennsylvania.

Because of the possibility of similar conflicts of duty arising in the future, a majority of the committee (Scott, Fleming, Tompkins, Bell) believes that the office of the Attorney General should not be included in the structure of the Pardon Board.

A minority of the committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that the statement of Mr. Justice Cohen, presently a member of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, is a complete refutation of the Majority's conclusion. The suggestion is made that he was indulging in "dual gymnastics", a meaningless phrase at best and in this instance a most unfair one. It is suggested also that there were other "dual gymnastics" and "conflicts of duty" which remain unmentioned. There is a good reason for not mentioning them. They did not exist.

In further support of the conclusion that the office of Attorney General should not be included in the structure of the Pardon Board, a minority of the committee ((Tompkins and Bell) feel that a conflict arose from the multiple duties imposed upon the Attorney General in this investigation.

Article VII, Section 704, of the Administrative Code of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, imposes a triple duty upon the Attorney General, viz:

1. Legal advisor to the Governor;
2. Chief law officer of the Commonwealth; and
3. Such other duties as may now or hereafter be vested in or imposed upon him by the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth. (One of the Constitutional duties is that of being a member of the Pardon Board.)

Section 904 also imposes upon the Attorney General, with the approval of the Governor, the duty to:

1. Investigate any violations of alleged violations of the laws of the Commonwealth which may come to its notice;

2. Take such steps and adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth."

How conflicts can arise from the multiple duties imposed upon the office of the Attorney General were clearly indicated in the present investigation.

further reports:

A minority of the committee (Tompkins and Bell) further reports:

The Attorney General made a choice of representing the Pardon Board. In doing so, he placed himself at times in opposition to the investigation of a Legislative Committee; and at times impeded the work of the Committee.

This constituted a conflict with his duties as "chief law officer of the Commonwealth"; and of his duties "to investigate alleged violations of the law". This is not a healthy condition for the people of the Commonwealth, and it would have been better for the Office of the Attorney General to maintain impartiality, not to have directly entered into the proceedings at all.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) disagree that the present Attorney General was involved in a conflict of duty by virtue of his having represented the Board of Pardons. It must be remembered that the Legislature was undertaking to investigate the action of a branch of the executive department of government. The Attorney General is not only the attorney for the Governor but also for all executive departments, boards and commissions. As such it was his duty to appear, personally if he chose or by deputy, to aid in throwing such light as he could upon the investigation from the point of view of the executive department. Far from impeding the investigation, he actually aided it. At all times the Attorney General invited the Committee to make a formal decision that he was disqualified. It never did and has not done so now. But had it done so, such a head-on conflict between the executive and legislative branches of government would necessarily have been resolved by the Supreme Court. In this way the question would have been decided once and for all.

5. In view of the fact that the issues as to competency of counsel, the actions of Judge Boyer, hysteria, and fairness of the trial were not raised until a late stage of the court proceedings, and after the first application for clemency had been refused, this Committee believes that because of this, and because of information contained in the whole record before it, the Pardon Board should have conducted a more thorough investigation.

6. Statements were obtained from the jurors who tried the Darcy case a considerable length of time after they rendered their verdict and the same was recorded, indicating they might have rendered a different verdict if certain facts had been brought out at the trial.

These statements were submitted to the Pardon Board and were a part of the record which they considered.

This is dangerous practice and we recommend legislation to forbid the same.

7. Considerable was made during the hearings about the more than five years that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster were confined to the death house. This committee recognizes the impact of such a protracted ordeal.

The committee further recognizes that the duration of confinement was of Darcy's own making by the numerous court procedures, which he kept in process, and not of the making of the Commonwealth.

Should long confinement in the death house be a reason to warrant a grant of clemency, then every person sentenced to death would warrant a grant of clemency if he were able to litigate his case over an extended period of time.

We do not believe this constitutes equal justice, and the use of such a reason is not well founded, either in justice or mercy.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) believe that in view of the fact that the Darcy case has been singled out for so much comment it is necessary that the General Assembly be advised as to the context in which the Board of Pardons considered this case and the obvious reasons upon which it acted.

The issue in the federal court on Darcy's petition for habeas corpus was whether the state court had given him a trial so fundamentally unfair that a federal court would interfere even to the extent of preventing a state from exercising its admitted jurisdiction to punish crime. That was not the question that ultimately came before the Board of Pardons.

An examination of the majority opinion in the Court of Appeals shows that the majority of the court entertained doubts as to the justice of the trial. It must be remembered that the trial of one of Darcy's co-conspirators ended on a Friday and Darcy, who had been granted a severance, was nevertheless placed on trial the very next trial day which was the following Monday. Here is the majority of four judges speaking (p. 507):

"The situation certainly would have justified a decision to wait a while before trying the realtor, or else to try him in another community if trial immediately after the conviction of his confederates was deemed important. . . .

(p. 508) "It is established constitutional doctrine that our limited function in correcting fundamental impropriety in state trials challenged under the due process clause makes it necessary that we leave alone many dubious occurrences in state procedure which we would prescribe if they should happen in a federal court."

Can anyone say with fair assurance that the majority of the court was holding that the trial was fair? Can anyone say, in view of this language, that had it occurred in a federal court it would not have been condemned?

Here is what the three judges constituting the minority, speaking through Judge Kalodner, had to say (p. 515):

"Shaken down to its hard core the majority's position—bluntly stated—is this: Darcy was grievously hurt by Judge Boyer's conduct but we cannot help him because he was hurt on the other (the State) side of the street; otherwise stated, there is no constitutional redress for Darcy despite the fact that he was unfairly tried because it was his fate to be tried in a State court instead of a Federal court."

In the Supreme Court of the United States (351 U.S. 454), the same arguments were made on behalf of Darcy. He lost again by a vote of 6 to 3 but the opinion of the majority of that court shows again that no affirmative finding was made that the trial was fair but only that Darcy had failed in the great burden he had to assume in asking a federal court to upset a state trial by showing essential constitutional unfairness. Here is what the majority said in concluding its decision (p. 467):

"Petitioner has not sustained the burden resting upon him to show that his trial was essentially unfair in a constitutional sense and that the several courts which have reviewed it are all in error."

Here again three justices of the Supreme Court of the United States dissented in an opinion written by Mr. Justice Harlan, holding that the trial was not only unfair but that it was sufficiently unfair to violate even the federal constitution despite the fact that it was a state trial which was being reviewed. Mr. Justice Harlan concluded his opinion as follows (p. 469):

"The reasons for my conclusion are those which Judge Kalodner has well stated in his dissenting opinion in the Court of Appeals, 224 F. 2d 504, 509. We should be especially scrupulous in seeing to it that the right to a fair trial has not been jeopardized by the conduct of a member of the judiciary."

Therefore, the Board of Pardons was faced by this alarming disagreement among the highest courts in our land. Should any accused go to his death under such circumstances? There the judges split on the question of whether he should get a new trial, meaning a second chance either to go free or to establish a lesser degree than murder in the first degree. The issue before the Board of Pardons was simply whether, in view of the entire circumstances of the case, including the doubts expressed by the minority judges (equal in ability and conscience with the majority) he should be spared his life and condemned to spend it in a penitentiary.

Furthermore, evidence was offered by the Board that 11 of the 12 jurors in the original trial, when polled at a later date, stated that they would not have voted for the death penalty had Darcy been placed upon the stand and had they known all the circumstances of the case.

Added to all this is the fact that these three men had been incarcerated for upwards of seven years, many of which were spent in the death house itself. To have executed them under such circumstances would have been barbaric. The public, if it knew all these facts, would have been better able to understand the decision in the Darcy case and the issue which confronted the Board of Pardons which was essentially different from that which confronted the courts.

The majority of this Committee makes the following statement after acknowledging the fact that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster were confined to the death house for more than 5 years: "The committee further recognized that the duration of confinement was of Darcy's making by the numerous court procedures, which he kept in process, and not of the making of the Commonwealth." What about both Zeitz and Foster? After the year 1950, when their appeals were affirmed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, they did not file or participate in any court procedures whatever. There was never any stay of execution granted by any court in their cases and the Commonwealth was at all times able and legally warranted in executing them. Yet they were kept alive for years thereafter in the death house. There is no warrant in law, in justice, or in humanity in respect of a man sentenced to death by electrocution to keep him alive for years in a death house where he has not chosen this course and then at will or caprice to execute him when the mood strikes executive power.

If there is one single fact that shines like a beacon in this whole case it is that it would have been a shameful, harsh decision that would have sent Foster and Zeitz at that late date to the execution chamber; and if they were to be spared, what reason could be urged why Darcy should be treated differently? The fact that he had exercised his legal rights? The fact that those legal rights were so persuasive that even though not successful they resulted in six of the highest ranking federal judges agreeing that his trial was constitutionally unfair? Surely it will not be pretended that the exercise of rights given to a citizen by the law warrants a penalty that would not otherwise be visited upon him.

8. The Governor was extended an invitation by the committee to appear before them. Under advice of the Attorney General, on the principle of separation of powers, he did not choose to do so. P. 2315

Information was voluntarily submitted to the committee "that the recommendations of the Board of Pardons * * * were received in the Governor's office, Harrisburg, shortly after noon on Saturday, September 29, 1956, were signed between 5:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. by the Governor at the Executive Mansion, and were returned approved to the Board of Pardons from the Governor's office at 6:30 p.m. on the same day."

When the committee sought to subpoena David V. Randall, Secretary to the Governor, and Richard Heagy, Chief Clerk to the Governor, to testify to more ministerial detail as to time the Governor received same and how long they were in his possession, the Attorney General answered the subpoenas for them and advised that under the ruling of Appeal of Hartranft, 85 Pa. 433, they as subordinates of the Governor were not subject to subpoena process relating to matters concerning the Governor.

At the hearing this ruling was challenged by the Chairman as to ministerial acts performed by the Governor. P. 2320

On the question of Executive Immunity, the committee as a whole agrees with the decision in the Hartranft case.

A minority of the committee (Tompkins and Bell), however, wish to point out this immunity is not absolute, nor are the courts unanimous in their views. The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Agnew in the Hartranft case says:

"On no ground of the Constitution, law, public justice, State policy, or sound reason, can I discover any exemption of any officer in the State, high or low, from the common duty all citizens owe to the due administration of justice. With these views, I cannot consent to rob the Judiciary of its Constitutional power, and exalt the executive above the demands of justice and the safety and welfare of the people. I cannot abnegate a duty entrusted to me by the people, and will perform that duty unsullied by dereliction, or obeisance at the shrine of unwarranted power."

9. Darcy and his confederates, having had their death sentences commuted, now become eligible for further commutation for release into society whenever the Pardon Board and the Governor deem fit.

A minority of the Committee (Yosko and Lopresti) simply wish to add that Darcy, Zeitz and Foster have not been freed but are serving a sentence of life imprisonment. There is no justification for the implication that the present or any other Board of Pardons will further commute their sentences thus making them eligible for parole.

Respectfully submitted:

Senator Robert D. Fleming

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman from Cameron gives me proper credit. I sat as a minority Member of this committee, and while I would not hesitate to say that the Attorney General was consulted by me, just as some of the majority consulted some dead people, I do not believe the Attorney General ever made any attempt to incorporate into this report his own remarks.

He transmitted to me some of his ideas and his opinions, but never at any time did he suggest that I incorporate any of his remarks into the report. I was at liberty to exercise my own judgment at all times and I claim the minority report reflects my thinking in the matter.

As to the scoop that was made by a newspaper, all I can say at this point is that I had no part in that particular scoop, because if I had taken part in it, he would have had the correct information which I had at my command. Had I had a part in that, of course, he would have had everything in its proper order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to express the thanks of all the Members of the House to the Select Committee for the diligence and hard work which they exerted in preparing this report and completing this investigation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I want to state that by implication or otherwise I was not referring and had no intention of referring to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, or to any other Member as being responsible for the so-called scoop.

Furthermore, I tried to make plain in my statement that those suggestions which were made by the Attorney General for incorporation in the report were deleted by unanimous consent of the committee and that what appears in the report is the report of the committee members.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I can say from personal knowledge that neither the gentleman from Cambria nor the gentleman from Cameron are in any way even remotely responsible for what is termed the "leak."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish that the gentleman, Mr. Andrews, would also give me clearance of that blame.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I beg the pardon of the gentleman. I will also include him in the statement which I made, that in my personal knowledge he was in no way responsible for the leak.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 800, entitled:

An Act requiring certain records of the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions and of certain authorities and other agencies performing essential governmental functions to be open for examination and inspection by citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing such citizens under certain conditions to make extracts copies photographs or photostats of such records and providing for appeals to the courts of common pleas

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would it not be correct parliamentary practice, when a bill is returned from the Governor for the purpose of amendments, for someone to make a brief statement for the purpose of the record as to what the amendments do?

Mr. Speaker, personally I object to voting on amendments when I have no knowledge concerning them.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, amendments were offered to this bill this morning by the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Varallo. The bill is now in print, Printer's No. 1004, and on file and the Chair places it before the House for final passage.

Mr. ANDREW. That is the explanation?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1700

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1700.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 1700, entitled: "To provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1, 1957 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

HENRY J. PROPERT,
EDWARD J. KESSLER,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

NORMAN WOOD,
ALBERT W. JOHNSON,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this report, signed as it is by just the Republican conferees is, I believe, nevertheless ready to be voted upon by both sides, I hope with approval of everybody.

I feel some statement should be made with respect to the bill, what the bill seeks to accomplish and what the total of the revenue expenditures will be if all the appropriation bills pass that will be before both Houses.

We have at this microphone, all of this Session stated that as far as the Republican party is concerned, we estimated there would be $1.5 billion of revenue for use in this current biennium. While we were debating the appropriation bills the other day, or at least very shortly thereafter, we received word that the revenue estimates for the last biennium were $21 million more than was estimated this Spring, so that, instead of ending the biennium with a deficit of $82 million we would end the biennium with a deficit of $61 million. If you would take the $1.5 billion available to be appropriated, subtract from it the $61 million deficit, there would be available for appropriation the sum of $1.439 billion. That was the sum to which we tried to stay very close.

However, when we finished making the tally in the conference committee, we found that the total of all the bills, not only this general appropriation bill but all the bills we will be asked to vote on this session, will total approximately $1.4042 billion. In other words we have exceeded our estimate figure by around $3 million, however, we are willing to stand on that as a figure one way or the other.

Had we known on the 29th of May there was approximately $21 million more money available because of increased revenue during the last biennium, I am sure we would have halted here in the House, paused and upped some of those appropriations to have equaled that sum. In effect, that is what we have done in House Bill 1700.

When the bill was over in the Senate, they increased the appropriations by some $4.5 million. We have increased appropriations since that time by about $14.5 million. In other words, we have used up the $21 million.

We feel this appropriation bill before us, with the increases in appropriations up and down the line, as you will note upon a perusal of the bill, will fairly and adequately answer the needs of the Commonwealth during the next two years. We have given a great deal of additional moneys to the various mental health programs.

We have, for instance, in the Philadelphia area alone, added almost $3 million to the mental health program. Those hospitals which needed additional money have been materially increased all along the line.

We have added $250,000 more money for education, salaries, and expenses of the Department of Public Instruction, for instance.

We have also written into the bill the sum of money represented by House Bill 183 which I understand is around $31.5 million. That, in its various and several categories, is interspersed in this appropriation bill. So actually the increase of appropriations from the time the appropriation bill left the House is over $60 million.

All up and down the various categories of this performance budget—this is the first time we have had this type of budget—as I say we have tried to do the right thing. We on the Republican side feel that with this document, House Bill 1700, when it passes, becomes the law of Pennsylvania and is put into operation, we can show to the various organizations in the state, show to the people, that we have increased the spending of the Commonwealth by over several hundred million dollars and that in all the various phases of the government no one is being short-changed.

For instance, for child health services in the counties

we have added the $1 million which the Governor asked for in his budget. We have upped the occupational disease appropriation, I believe, $2 million. We have added another $500,000 for the Eastern Psychiatric Clinic. That is on top of a similar sum added in the Senate.

I believe as you study this document you will find that it is a very, very fair instrument. It is something that both Democrats and Republicans can well be proud of. We feel that we have conservatively spent what money will fairly and squarely come into the state coffers. I know we were presented with a possibility of increased revenues and were given a polite invitation to spend money, many more millions than this budget represents, but there is a certain timidity about spending money which you honestly and sincerely do not feel will come into the Commonwealth. Therefore we have tried to be fair, tried to be as accurate as possible on the estimate of revenue which is coming in. We feel this is a splendid job which we have done, and as I say, one that will rebound to the benefit of the entire state.

I ask the Members of the House to vote "aye" for the measure.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform the House concerning the estimated amount of money to be collected from the sales tax and hotel occupancy tax during the 25 month period included in the present biennium?

Mr. JOHNSON. The answer to the gentleman is that in the figures we have before us—that is how we arrived at our $1.5 billion figure—we are estimating that the sales tax during the biennium will bring in $480 million, plus $6 million from the hotel occupancy tax. The reason we did not change the figure, even though there would be a possibility of a 25-month collection period in the biennium is:

While the estimate was it would bring in $20 million a month, we understand the December Christmas rush is the only time it has really brought in that much money; normally brings in from $17 million to $18.5 million. We feel that $486 million for both items would be a pretty fair sum.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman inform the House of the estimate on the corporate net income tax?

Mr. JOHNSON. We estimated it would bring in $330 million in our figures.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the Members will note that this report has been signed only by the two Republican conferees in the Senate and the two Republican conferees in the House. The reason that Senator Dent and I refused to sign this report is because we sincerely believe that conferees of the party in control, the Republican party, are underestimating the amount of money that will be available for appropriation during this present biennium.

The changes which have been made in the last several months in connection with the collection of the sales tax, the reorganization of the Bureau of Revenue, and other factors indicate there will be substantially more revenue coming in this biennium under the present taxes than have been appropriated in this bill.

When this House Bill 1700 was before us before, we offered various amendments and we argued long and vigorously to indicate that the cuts made by the House Appropriations Committee were wrong, they were too deep, they were going to materially affect the programs which have been proposed by the administration and that, therefore, they were simply not right.

The Senate has made some adjustments, and the House Conference Committee has now made some adjustments. I say the main dispute between the conferees has been on the amount of revenue that will be available.

When House Bill 1700 was being passed by this House I stated there would be some Members on this side who rightfully might want to vote against the bill as a protest against the cuts, and I am saying the same thing again tonight. Without going into detail on the matter of how much revenue will be available, I am asking the Members on this side of the House to vote the way they feel about it. If they feel they would be protesting against these cuts, these unwarranted cuts in our opinion, by voting against the bill, then they should do so. On the other hand, since we must have revenue—we must have appropriations in order to conduct the business of the state—this bill must pass. It is the only one which is going to be handed to us, and if this bill does not pass, there will be no money to run the state as soon as the $50 million stop-gap appropriation is exhausted, which will not be too long from now.

You gentlemen have the power and you have exercised it, we think unwisely. We think we will wind up this biennium with a surplus. What it will be, I do not know. But when those various institutions and functions which have not received the amount of money which they say they desperately need to carry on proper programs, when they do not get the money, as they will not under this bill, and they find this state running into a surplus, they are going to be very unhappy and they are going to make you very unhappy.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Minority Leader, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whom to interrogate, the Minority Leader, Mr. Readinger, or the leader of the Philadelphia delegation, Mr. Amarando. But I would like to know, before I vote on this measure, if there is any credence in what is reported in this evening's papers from Philadelphia that a deal has been made on this particular bill for the confirmation by the Senate of two particular individuals, Mr. John F. Byrnes and Mr. James H. Finnegan. To your knowledge, do you know, sir, whether this figures in the agreement of this report?

Mr. READINGER. I have heard of no such deal, not even remotely until you just mentioned it.

Mr. POMEROY. It is reported in this evening's paper, the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Mr. READINGER. I have not read the Bulletin and I say I have no knowledge whatsoever that there was even any talk about a deal. There has certainly been no discussion by the leadership of the House at any time.

Mr. POMEROY. Thank you, sir.

On the question recurring,

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence, bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 468.

An Act amending the act of June 5, 1947 (P. L. 458) entitled as amended "Parking Authority Law" changing powers of parking authorities.

Referred to the Committee on Cities—Counties First—Second and Second Class A.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 634 FROM GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 19, 1957.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 634, Printer's No. 226, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a former Member of this House, the gentleman from Luzerne County, Mr. James McLane, who served from 1938 to 1942.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 847, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 947) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries of certain county officers of counties of the fourth class" increasing the salaries of certain county officers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. It was my understanding the fourth class county bill would be called ahead of the third class county bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman was correct but the Chair understands the signals have been changed.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it was and is now agreeable to me to take up the fourth class salary bill first, which is Senate Bill 847.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to debate the bill after the bill has been agreed to on third reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. After the bill has been agreed to, it would come properly before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understood it was the intention of the gentleman from Cambria, to make a motion.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to debate the bill before I make the motion.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the gentleman will proceed to debate the bill before the bill has been agreed to on third reading.

The Chair hears no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is the fourth class county bill. I come from a fourth class county and I am opposed to this bill. What I say concerning the measure lies to the serious.

Mr. Speaker, perhaps we in this Legislature have committed many sins but we have done nothing to deserve being plunged into this witch's brew of political frustration at this time.

My opposition to these bills is the fact that they are not realistic. There is no reason why there should be any team work as far as the office of district attorney and county commissioners are concerned, no reason why they should forever travel as a team. There isn't any reason why if you raise one office, say the controller, who has an important function, the register of wills, the clerk of the courts and several others should travel along as a team.

The clerk of courts is a ministerial office. Some of the other offices are ministerial offices. A controller is an executive, an administrator; he deals with policy. There isn't any reason in the world why a clerk of courts, who is simply a clerk, should travel along with a county controller.

If we are going to revise, or raise our schedule of salaries in the various counties, we should make a modern appraisal of the duties the various officers perform, and reward them in accordance with the importance of their function and the work that they do.

There was a time when the sheriff was the most important office, perhaps next to the district attorney, in a county. Whether the sheriff has any other duties now other than serving processes, I would not know.

This schedule is unrealistic. It is time we made a real appraisal, and ceased coupling various offices having no proper relation, requiring that if you raise one you must raise all of them. It is the wrong theory. Till we give the proper appraisal, proper rating, to the work these various officers do, we have no justification expending the money back home by increasing the salaries of some county officers who are now adequately paid.

I would not say that the district attorneys in some counties do not deserve an increase in salary. I say the controller is underpaid, as compared with the ministerial posts. Because I am in such thorough disagreement with the schedule, because it takes revision, it needs to be brought up to the modern times, I therefore, Mr. Speaker, am moving that this bill be recommitted to the Committee from which it came, and I want a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Counties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, first I want to clear the point that the motion made on this particular bill does not apply to the class of county which I represent, but it is my understanding that the series of bills beginning with 846 are a package covering all classes of counties.

First, on the motion to recommit, I would like to know from the Members of this House if it is the intention to recommit other bills should this motion prevail, may I interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, should the motion prevail that the gentleman from Cambria has made dealing with Senate Bill 847, would it be his intention, or the intention or the intention of any of the other Members he knows of, to recommit bills relating to the other classes of counties to the same committee?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is the only motion to recommit that I will make. What motions other Members of the House may make is something that is within their own breasts. I have no knowledge as to what future procedure there will be. I have not discussed with any Member of this House whether other motions will or will not be made. If the motions to send back other bills to committee are made, they will be made, I hope, by Members of the majority party.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Am I permitted, on the motion to recommit Senate Bill 847, to speak in a rather wide range covering other bills?

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is Senate Bill 847, Printer's No. 321.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, am I permitted to speak in any other way except dealing with the motion to recommit?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman must confine himself to the motion before the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria to recommit Senate Bill 847, places me in a rather peculiar position to oppose the motion to recommit, not coming from the class of county with which the Senate bill deals, and on which the motion to recommit has been made.

On the motion to recommit Senate Bill 847, it is my belief that the package, or series of bills, will then be broken, should the recommittal be successful. I am having difficulty remaining within that latitude.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman is doing rather well.

Mr. McCANN. I would sincerely request that the Members consider carefully the situation on this motion to recommit with regard to other bills that may follow, and other motions that may be made by other members in this House tonight.

Should this motion to recommit be successful, this would be one bill that would drop from within a series of bills that are a part of the motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I am having a difficult time with the exparliamentarian looking me right in the eye, but I would like to remain on the motion to recommit.

If the motion to recommit is successful, and the bill is sent back to committee, I feel confident that other motions will be made in the same pattern. Should the motion not be successful, we will have an opportunity to vote on this bill, as well as other bills in the same category, dealing with other classes of counties in which other Members are deeply interested.

Therefore, I would request the Members to carefully consider the position in which I am placed, and that we oppose the gentleman's motion to recommit Senate Bill 847.

Let us defeat this motion so that we may be in a position to move to other bills that may deal with similar subjects that are a part of this motion to recommit.

I would like to state that I believe he has out-manuevered me by being able to speak first and making the motion. I was not thinking clearly when I granted him the right to speak first on this bill.

Therefore, I oppose this motion and request that we defeat the motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Greene evidently cherishes the theory that in order to prevent the people from Cambria County from saving $20 or $40 or $60 thousand dollars a year he must needs keep the door open so he can tax people in his county $10 to $15 thousand more. But, the matter is still that of recommitting this particular bill.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I come from a fourth class county and I oppose this recommittal motion.

I feel that the proper appraisal was made when these increases were arrived at, and I feel that the increases are deserved.

I hope the Members of this House will defeat this recommittal motion, and give us an opportunity to tell them the part our officials are playing in the developing of our county, which is a fourth class county. I am sure that is true of other fourth class counties in this Commonwealth.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, after that rather eloquent ring-around-the-rosy talk by my friend from Greene, Mr. McCann, it is sort of hard to get up here and talk long, and I do not want to do that.

I rise to oppose Mr. Andrew's motion to recommit. I would like to point out to the Members of the House that a vote for recommittal amounts to a vote against the raise, and a vote the other way amounts to a vote for the raise.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think the lateness of the hour has the gentleman confused in his last statement.

I rise to oppose this motion, and I do not hesitate to do so because I come from a third class county and not a fourth. I am as much interested in all the classes of counties as I am in fourth class counties. Inasmuch as one of the bills which we have on the calendar tonight deals with third class counties, and because I believe that there should be some adjustment in these salaries, whatever the class of county, I think we should vote down this motion to recommit Senate Bill 847.

There is no doubt at all that recommittal of a bill at this time in this session will kill the bill. I do not agree with the gentleman from Clarion when he says that a vote against recommittal is a vote for the increase in this bill; it does not follow. But it does follow that the bill will be as dead as a doornail if it is recommitted now.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ADAMS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, lines 4 and 5, by striking out both of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof "eight thousand six hundred dollars ($8,600)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, lines 6 and 7, by striking out "nine" in line 7, all of line 7 and inserting in lieu thereof "eight thousand one hundred fifty dollars ($8,150)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 9, by striking out all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof "seven thousand nine hundred dollars ($7,900)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 11, by striking out "eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500)" and inserting in lieu thereof "seven thousand nine hundred dollars ($7,900)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, lines 17 and 18, by striking out both of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof "six thousand four hundred fifty dollars ($6,450)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 20, by striking out "eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500)" and inserting in lieu thereof "seven thousand nine hundred dollars ($7,900)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 2, by striking out all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof "seven thousand two hundred fifty dollars ($7,250)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, lines 4 and 5, by striking out all of line 4 and "dollars ($9200)" in line 5 and inserting in lieu thereof "eight thousand six hundred dollars ($8,600)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, lines 8 and 9, by striking out "six thou-" in line 8, all of line 9 and inserting in lieu thereof "five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, lines 10 and 11, by striking out "nine hundred fifty dollars ($950)" and inserting in lieu thereof "eight hundred fifty dollars ($850)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 14, by striking out all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof "seven thousand nine hundred dollars ($7,900)".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, explain what these amendments do?

Mr. ADAMS. What these amendments do is cut in half the proposed increase in Senate Bill 847. Do you want me to go over them item by item?

The SPEAKER. The question was for the gentleman to explain the amendments. The Chair feels that a general explanation is in order rather than item by item. Is the gentleman from Berks satisfied with the explanation?

Mr. READINGER. No, I would like him to take the figure of the present law and indicate, office by office, what he is reducing it to.

Mr. ADAMS. Just a minute until I pick up the bill.

Mr. READINGER. Are we on Senate Bill 847?

Mr. ADAMS. 847. You see, Mr. Readinger, I do not have a desk as convenient as you do.

Mr. READINGER. I appreciate that. I will be glad to lend you mine.

Mr. ADAMS. Just move out and I will take you up.

Mr. READINGER. Come over any time you wish.

Mr. ADAMS. On page 2, lines 3, 4 and 5, at the present time the district attorney receives $8,000 a year, and the bill as it came from the Senate calls for $9,200. In my amendment, it sets it at $8,600, which is a 50 percent increase.

The next one is sheriff, lines 6 and 7. The sheriff presently receives $7,300. The proposed increase would put it to $9,000 and my amendments put it at $8,150.

The next one on lines 8 and 9, the prothonotary, now receives $7,300. The proposed increase is $8,500 and my amendment would put it to $7,900.

The next one, the clerk of courts, presently receives $7,300 and would receive, under this proposed bill, $8,500, and these amendments call for $7,900.

The next one, clerk of orphans court, presently receives $5,600. There is no change in that one.

The next one, lines 16 and 17, register of wills an ex-officio officer of the orphans court, presently gets $5,300; proposed $7,600; my amendments, $6,450.

The next one, lines 19 and 20, recorder of deeds, presently calls for $7,300; proposed $8,500, amended to $7,900.

Next page (3) lines 1 and 2, county treasurer, presently receives $6,200 a year; the Senate Bill proposes $8,500; this amendment calls for $7,250.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to interrupt the gentleman but I am satisfied now with the type of amendments that are being offered, but I do wish the gentleman would send me a copy of the amendments to other bills as he introduces them so that I will not have to spend the time of the House asking these questions. I will then know and the other Members will know, if they care to look at the bill and compute them themselves as we go on, so we will not spend all this time. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. ADAMS. The gentleman is welcome. I will see that he receives a copy of each.

Mr. SMITH. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ADAMS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SMITH. What class township do you come from, Mr. Adams?

Mr. ADAMS. Berks.

Mr. SMITH. What class?

Mr. ADAMS. Third.

Mr. SMITH. Third class. Do these amendments concern a fourth class county?

Mr. ADAMS. That is correct.

Mr. SMITH. What do you base those figures on? How do you arrive at them? Do you have experience in a fourth class county?

Mr. ADAMS. You mean the proposed amendments? I just cut in half the amounts set forth in the amendments that the Senate proposed.

Mr. SMITH. Beg pardon?

Mr. ADAMS. These amendments cut in half the increases proposed by the Senate.

Mr. SMITH. How did you arrive at the figures? What did you base them on?

Mr. ADAMS. We took the difference between the present salary and the proposed one and divided by two.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think that is enough of that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair agrees.

Mr. SMITH. Thank you. I certainly do not think it is very good business to arrive at figures like that. As I stated before, I come from a fourth class county, and I think these amendments are way out of line. No thought was given to them at all. They just divided them by two and that was it. If that is the way to negotiate, then I have something to learn about negotiating.

I believe that very careful consideration should be given to something like this, and I believe that careful consideration was given when these salaries were arrived at.

I come from a fourth class county of 180,000 people. I might say that both Republicans and Democrats are office holders in that county. I know that they are underpaid. They have not received an increase, if my figures are right, since 1951. We all know the cost of living has gone up, and for anybody to sit down, after men spend the time to arrive at a figure in order to reach a fair and just increase, and somebody who does not know anything about it at all decides to divide it by two, is really history.

Now I have no axe to grind with anybody. There are possibly some sour grapes; there are possibly some who ran for office and were defeated and they are jealous, or had a quarrel with somebody who is now in office. I think matters initiated on those grounds should be disregarded. I think when we sit down and try to arrive at a fair and just salary for anybody, regardless of who they are, we should do it in a businesslike way. As I said before, when I get the opportunity to explain to you why I am doing these things, and point out to you what our county officials are doing, I am sure you will agree with me. I therefore ask you all to vote down these amendments.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments suggested by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Rather than arbitrarily dividing the figure by two, I think these figures have been arrived at in the first place by comparing them with the other help in the offices under these office holders who receive presently nearly as much as the office holders themselves, and the chief deputies in these offices do not have to maintain the risk and necessary expense of the office.

Furthermore, none of these present incumbent office holders will benefit from these proposed increases. We all know that it requires a new election and new office holders to benefit.

Finally, these schedules were set up with a well deserved increase in mind because of the time that elapsed since the last increase was granted. They are fair and therefore I ask the Members on both sides of the aisle to defeat the amendments.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Smith, is an officer of his local union. He should know something about negotiating and compromise. I think he does.

As an attorney, it is very common practice in our profession to negotiate and compromise. If I, as an attorney, represent a man who claims that Smith owes him $2,000, and Smith very vehemently denies that he owes my client anything, the other attorney and I generally will be very happy if we can work out a compromise whereby Smith pays my client $1,000. Now, in that situation neither party is happy. The plaintiff thinks he should have gotten $1,000 more and the defendant thinks he paid $1,000 too much.

But in all good compromises, generally neither party is too happy with it. Now I am from a second class county and these bills do not affect us, but some of our friends on both sides of this House are very much for these bills; some of our friends on both sides of this House are very much against these bills. Neither group is going to be entirely satisfied with a compromise that calls for 50 percent of the proposed increase, but because neither group will be entirely happy with it, I think it is a good compromise and I urge the Members of this House to support the amendment offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in the position of having to support these amendments also.

I do so, not because I think they have been thoughtfully devised or that any consideration has been given to the different details of these various bills, but I feel sure that if these amendments do not go into this bill and similar amendments into the other bills—and I am going to point out in connection with the third class county bill why the amendments are not, in my opinion, the best type of amendments—I very much fear that these bills are going to die. Since I am of the opinion that there should be a reasonable increase, which this proposed amendment does not set forth, in my opinion, I am urging the Members to support the amendments.

Mr. LAFORE. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, I am in complete agreement that on these legislative matters accord is only reached after compromise, but as I scrutinize the bill as it came from the Senate, I see substantial reductions have already taken place and I believe the compromise has likewise taken place prior to our acting on it.

I ask both sides of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I want to say the same thing. I was going to say the same thing. I believe there has already been a compromise made.

I am rather disappointed to hear Mr. Agnew say that he feels the amendments are O. K. at a 50 percent reduction. I do not think it is fair. I think it is a very poor compromise, and would lead me to believe that when somebody reaches a compromise like that I hope it is not the sentiment on that side of the House, and I do not believe it is a good compromise. I am sure that the majority over there does not feel that a 50 percent reduction is a compromise for which we should settle.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the proposal of a compromise at this late hour is not in good faith, because we all know we are working in the closing moments of this Session. If amendments are permitted in this bill at the present time, it is nothing but a move to send it back into conference so that the bill will probably be defeated. For that reason, I am opposing the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. ADAMS and AGNEW, and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GARLOCK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GARLOCK. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot said here in the last few months about holding the line on taxes, no new taxes I believe the gentleman agrees with that, is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right. We have tried to live within that policy this Session.

Mr. GARLOCK. You still maintain that policy?

Mr. JOHNSON. As far as the Republica party is concerned, we are maintaining that policy.

I might further answer the gentleman, as far as these bills are concerned, they have been thrashed out in our respective caucuses and there is no party delineation on principle with respect to these bills. We felt each Member was on his own.

Mr. GARLOCK. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, we have listened to a lot of debate as to taxes and were told that there were going to be no additional taxes levied on the people of this Commonwealth.

Now then, we have a series of bills before us which are an attempt to levy new taxes upon the people of this Commonwealth, and while we are denying them the services which a lot of people are entitled to, and a lot of people in this Commonwealth deserve; a lot of people are going to be denied mental health and a lot of people in the school system are going to be denied items, we are here about to vote on bills which are taxation bills. I, for one, will not go along with a bill like this while we deny the people of this Commonwealth the services which they are justly entitled to.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the reason for this motion is that we will entertain a motion to adjourn before 12:00 o'clock with the understanding that we reassemble for another legislative day after 12:00, at a time to be fixed by the Speaker. I therefore made that motion.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if the bill will be called up tomorrow?

The SPEAKER. The bill will be called up immediately upon reconvening, at 12:01.

Mr. SMITH. Thank you.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak upon the motion and I would like to add to the motion that the Members figure this fourth class county bill out and find out for themselves what additional amount of revenue would be needed in regard to the additional rate of the salaries of these fourth class county offices.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield and put that question when we are debating the bill?

Mr. ROVANSEK. I will do that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. May I interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know as to whether the next legislative day will be the last day?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is the earnest intention.

Mr. PETROSKY. It is pertinent to the question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, that is a matter which will have to be decided by this House and by no individual.

Mr. PETROSKY. A further question, Mr. Speaker.

In the following legislative day, in event that amendments would prevail on any of the ensuing bills, then those bills would necessarily need an additional day for final passage, would they not?

Mr. JOHNSON. No. That is not correct. They could be amended, printed and acted upon on the same day.

Mr. PETROSKY. Within the same day?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct.

Mr. PETROSKY. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

SENATE

THURSDAY, June 20, 1957

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Our Dear Lord and God, as we look back over a long, difficult road, and when we have come to the end and to the turning in that road, we pray that Thou wilt bless whatever good we have accomplished and forgive what we have done amiss.

As we return to our homes, we go in the spirit of amity of heart, though it gives us inward pain, but still united heart in heart we hope to meet again. In the Master's Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. HAYS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, while we are on the topic of the Legislative Journal, it dawned upon me that I committed a great sin. I deprived my colleagues of a very fine speech which I was about to deliver during the session. The speech deals with slum clearance in my District. Since I did not deliver the speech, in order to avoid taking too much time, I ask that this statement be printed in the Journal.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, requests that his prepared statement be made a part of the Journal, rather than delivering it this morning. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and the statement will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

STATEMENT OF SENATOR ISRAEL STEIFEL BEFORE THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. President: I bring before you today one of the most urgent problems facing the citizens of Pennsylvania—indeed one of the most urgent problems facing the nation. This is the problem of urban blight—the foremost enemy of our cities—the many-faceted monster which threatens strangulation of our cities unless it is checked.

For the first time in our history, we have become a predominately urban nation. Two-thirds of us live in large cities. Nine out of ten wage earners make their living in cities. Our cities have become swollen with the influ of newcomers. Antiquated streets and buildings, built to accommodate a much smaller population, are bursting at the seams with their new burdens. Overcrowding, the flight of those who can afford it to the suburbs, and outmoded facilities are leaving our cities in a state of decay. One alarming fact that all the big cities are having to face is that, while their populations have grown, the average urban family income has not—and this in spite of the rising wage scale. Each year more and more of the prosperous move out to the suburbs or the country, and more and more low-income families move into town.

The cities are in a squeeze—they must provide more places for people to live and at the same time more parks and malls and pleasant spaces in order to keep their more prosperous citizens. It can be done. There is a lot of unused and badly used land in every city. But it is a staggering job. We have an opportunity, gentlemen, to arrest the forces of decay and to make urban progress mean something other than slow strangulation. The solution is costly but possible.

My own city of Philadelphia and my own constituents of the fifth district are faced seriously with this problem. They are doing something about it, but they need help. Spreading blight has created in Philadelphia a seemingly inextricable web of problems. Decay in many fine old neighborhoods has wrought its toll in terms of reduced property values there, the resulting loss of tax revenue to the City, higher costs of City services, and the incalculable costs in terms of human welfare.

One has only to walk down North 11th Street in Philadelphia to know what I am talking about. Once-fine homes are falling apart—the victims of too high maintenance costs and overcrowding. The street is congested with the milling crowds who live 5 and 6 to a room in these houses and have no place in which to get away from the squalor except the more squalid street. One has only to look at the costs of police, fire and health protection for such sub-standard areas, and compare the costs of these services with their tax returns, to know that slums are hideously costly in every way. A recent survey of slum areas in Philadelphia showed that those areas provided 6% of the tax dollar, but accounted for 45% of city expenditures. The areas contained 25% of the population, but 65% of all arrests and 46% of juvenile arrests took place there.

But Philadelphia has not given up in the face of these seemingly insurmountable problems. Far from it! Philadelphia has embarked on a program of urban renewal which has other cities in the nation gasping at her courage and prowess. The tremendous task of rescuing the city from blight has led to a tremendous effort, which has made Philadelphia a nationally-recognized leader in the fight against urban decay.

To restore the health of the City, Philadelphia has tried various approaches and, in the process, has already a splendid record of accomplishment. I am particularly proud of the extensive work which has been done in my own district. The magnificent Penn-Towne housing project, a combination of clearance and rehabilitation, was the first completed redevelopment project in the entire country. At Penn-Towne, the new housing project and rehabilitated buildings provide decent and sanitary housing for 149 families. Mention should be made here that the Penn Towne project grew out of a spark provided by the community itself—the Society of Friends' nationally famous self-help project.

The extensive Southwest Temple project is transforming an intensely overcrowded badly blighted section into a pleasant, convenient neighborhood in which to live. The Harrison Public Housing Project—containing 300 family units in a 15 story building, 188 additional units in row houses and a well-designed community building—is now occupied. Improvement of the Harrison Elementary School playground has begun and construction of a new junior high school, State-subsidized middle-income housing, and an extension to a laundry are scheduled for this year.

Construction in the North Allen Redevelopment Area has also begun. The area will include a small convenience shopping center and a medical center. Redevelopers have been selected, and negotiations are underway for construction of two 12-story apartment buildings with 248 dwelling units and 114 row houses. In addition, three recreation areas will be constructed and parking places provided. A program of voluntary rehabilitation for part of the area is under study.

Redevelopment and slum clearance are being supplemented by numerous other tools. An intensive "leadership" program for voluntary rehabilitation of properties is being carried on in another part of the East Poplar section. This program is designed to test out the potentialities for improvement through a partnership of the City and its citizens. The City makes available to the residents of the area its technical, legal, and service resources. The residents in turn devote their time, concern, and home improvement resources to pulling their neighborhood back to quality and stability. Together, these citizens and their government are learning how to make a mutually-supporting fight against blight.

Nearby, a major fire check program is going on. Elsewhere, concentrated enforcement of the City's Housing Code is under way.

Philadelphia has accomplished much already. But one of the greatest accomplishments has been the knowledge accumulated of how to wage the battle most effectively. The City is now ready to use this experience in a total program of treatment from beginning to end—from the symptoms to the worst state of the disease. This program aims at prevention of blight as well as cure. Conservation of salvagable areas is as important as restoration and rehabilitation, for, unchecked, urban blight spreads faster than any program can cope with it. Citizens who once despaired of saving their city now have renewed hope that the job can be done. An alert administration and vigorous citizen organizations are using all the tools at their command in a coordinated program to bring about a total renewal effort. The City has recognized that a piece-meal approach is not enough. No longer is Philadelphia planning a patch of work here, a piece of activity there. The city has planned a continuing program providing a sure reprieve from decay within the foreseeable future.

Let me outline for you briefly what our City has done to develop such a program.

The staffs of the Philadelphia City Planning Commission and the Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority studied in considerable detail the entire central portion of the city which contained blight at all stages and degrees. They worked out estimates of what was needed for sections in various stages of decay throughout the area. These and other agencies, under the overall guidance of the City's Development Coordinator, reviewed the City's operating resources and determined the role which each agency could play in a total program.

The City Council and the Cabinet examined the City's financial status and competing needs for City funds. They stepped up the rate of cash allocation to renewal work in the 6-year Capital Program and agreed to adjust future Capital Programs to meet the needs of the renewal program as it developed. Convinced of the import of this dynamic program, Philadelphia has allocated every dollar to it which it can possibly muster.

Recognizing urban renewal as the most important program of the City, the administration arrived at agreement on a policy approach which called for focusing all types of resources in the "conservation" areas of beginning blight, for tying some resources in with institutional and business efforts, and for allocating certain other types of resources to provide a minimum program in areas which cannot be treated immediately.

The new "conservation" program, designed to eliminate the forces which create slums in good neighborhoods, will emphasize the participation of people living and working in such areas. Here all the tools of government—including Federal as well as local money—will be brought together in support of citizen action in a coordinated effort which will be of great benefit to the City and its people. On the one hand, the growth of new slums will be prevented, saving millions of tax dollars. On the other, the conditions of living in homes, on blocks, and in whole neighborhoods can be improved insofar as residents are willing to take advantage of the City and Federal programs that will be offered for their assistance.

Having worked out a policy and a program, the City administration is now establishing priorities for applying this policy approach and have, in the past few weeks, selected the most suitable places to begin the program. Starting with those areas, they are now in the process of refining a schedule which would tag every blighted area in the city with a definite program in a specific year. If this schedule could be followed, we would expect to have completed work in many of the areas and at least started work in all within the next 20 years.

I think you can see even from this necessarily cursory outline of the Philadelphia Urban Renewal Program, that the City has faced the overwhelming challenge of urban decay with vigor and imagination. They have done a magnificent job of organizing all the resources at their command to restore the city as a vital urban center. But they can't go it alone. The carefully wrought plans for the future will be so much wasted effort unless money is provided to carry out the program.

Federal funds are of course basic to the effort. And Philadelphia played a key role in the recent action to prevent a major cut-back of Federal funds for this program. But local funds are also basic—to do our share and thereby attract the matching Federal funds. The City cannot provide these local funds alone. I am asking, you gentlemen, for State funds to help the City of Philadelphia to save itself. Five million dollars and matching Federal funds would enable the City to carry forth its scheduled program.

This amount if granted now will save the State many more millions in the future. It will save the City from backsliding into a sea of blight which would have its repercussions on the whole southeast section of Pennsylvania. This money can be used to obtain additional funds from the Federal government for urban renewal. Can we let our most urgent domestic problem, the problem of urban renewal, fail for lack of funds? I am confident that you will agree, we cannot.

HOUSE BILL No. 1697 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table House Bill No. 1697, Printer's No. 978.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1697, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain homes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

AMENDMENTS TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table the amendments which were offered to this bill yesterday by Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 2 of the title, by inserting after "homes": "and for the establishment of diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics and treatment centers in general hospitals and for aid to mental health clinics and guidance centers"; Amend the bill, page 5, by inserting after line 8: "Section 2 The sum of two million seven hundred thirty thousand one hundred thirty-five dollars ($2,730,135) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Welfare to be used for the establishment of diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics and treatment centers in general hospitals and for aid to mental health clinics and guidance centers."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION TO ADOPT AMENDMENTS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the amendments just read by the Clerk.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe the committee which has worked on this legislation, this budget, has done a good job under the circumstances. I think it has done as excellent a job as can be expected.

I feel the committee has provided a sum of money which, in their opinion, was all we could afford for the diagnostic clinic purposes. That has been provided in the amount of almost $1,000,000. To open the budget now and try to get another $2,730,135, which is called for in these amendments for this purpose, would be impossible.

I feel the die has been cast. Perhaps there are those who will use this against the majority party by saying we did not provide sufficient money. That might be the issue next year. I understand throughout the State we are going to be accused of being the party which neglected this thing and that thing and the other thing, and it will all be laid at our doorstep wherever someone feels they did not get all they should have gotten or wanted to get. The Republican Party will be blamed for the fact they did not get it.

That die has been cast. I think it was again reiterated last night by ex-President Truman, and I can see the handwriting on the wall. I can almost write next year's campaign at the present time. However, there is no use of us going into all of that now. I feel we have provided all that is necessary and all that we can afford for this particular purpose. Therefore, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I think in view of the fact that the amendments were submitted last night, and comments were made, it would be well if we set the record straight so that there can be no misunderstanding as to what is provided in the budget for the purpose set forth in the proposed amendments.

I would like to read some figures and I will refer to page numbers in House Bill No. 1700.

"Diagnostic Clinics and Treatment Centers," page 73, line 17. Up until April 30, 1957, the Department of Welfare spent, in twenty-three months, $46,053. The last version of House Bill No. 1700 provides, for this same purpose, $150,000.

On page 74, lines 1 to 4, there is provision for local mental health and guidance clinics. The Department of Welfare uses several different kinds of terminology for this particular service. In one sheet it will be called the development of local and preventive services; in others it will be called local mental health and guidance clinics. For the preceding biennium, a total of $551,500 was spent for this purpose. In House Bill No. 1700, we are providing two sums; one in the amount of $550,000 for existing clinics, and another in the amount of $100,000 for new clinics that might be established. In addition to these two sums, which total $650,000, Federal-aid to the extent of $302,964 is available.

Reimbursement to counties for boarded out mental patients—and some juvenile delinquents I believe are included in that—is found on page 74, lines 8 to 14. The actual expenditures to April 30, for twenty-three months by the Department of Welfare, were $766,031. In House Bill No. 1700, $1,600,000 is provided.

If we keep in mind that part of that expenditure of reimbursement to counties goes to the Philadelphia Mental Health Center in Philadelphia, we should add to that figure the $2,000,000 which is provided in House Bill No. 1700 on page 74, lines 12 to 18.

Beyond that, the Secretary of Welfare last year transferred 174 Philadelphia wards, children, to the Elwyn Training School and put the expense upon the State. That expense was normally borne by the County of Philadelphia. We have increased the Governor's request for the Elwyn Training School by $600,000 in order to provide for that purpose. Therefore, if we summarize this, we find that in the last biennium for these items, the total expenditures were $1,363,000, roughly, and the appropriation calls for $2,400,000, plus a separate $2,000,000 for the Philadelphia mental health services and, in addition to that, $600,000 for Elwyn Training School, an amount that was formerly paid by the County of Philadelphia.

I am sure, Mr. President, that the funds in the budget are adequate and that these amendments are not at all necessary.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there is very little need in going through the whole argument again as to whether enough money has been provided because that has been the basis of the discussions up until now. However, I think it only fair to note that the $2,000,000 provided for Philadelphia has no part in this particular discussion because the cuts made in the Philadelphia general area, which are to be replaced by this $2,000,000 that has been given to the Philadelphia General Hospital for mental health purposes, are over and above the amount asked for by the Governor.

The Governor had asked for two separate items, totaling $2,352,000, of which $2,000,000 was provided. However, the Philadelphia delegation felt that it would better serve its purpose, if that is all they were getting, to appropriate the money directly to the Philadelphia General Hospital, rather than having the Philadelphia General Hospital sending to the Elwyn Training School and other places, patients they could not afford to keep.

I admit the money for the Elwyn Training School is required for the purposes stated by the gentleman from Lancaster and the amount of money added to the Elwyn School should be accepted by the Governor, because it is a replacement of funds to that private school which is taking care of State wards. It should not be considered anything but a legitimate cost of government. However, for the purpose which we are discussing the amendments the Governor asked for $5,990,000. Five million nine hundred ninety thousand dollars was considered by the Department to be the bare minimum required to maintain the services covered by these amendments. You will note that is a reduction from over $8,000,000 which the Department requested from the Governor in its original budget request. The Governor's office, trying to tailor it udget to the moneys available, cut it from $8,742,000 to $5,990,000 in order to balance the then known revenues of the Commonwealth. However, the cut is now from $5,990,000 to $2,400,000. This additional $2,700,000 would keep the clinics which are now in operation, plus those which are in the process of being formed, for a period of twenty-four months.

The error in judgment of those who tailored this budget is that they failed to realize these clinics were not in operation for twenty-four months of the previous administration, because the Legislature only authorized the money for the Department of Welfare as of May 1956. Therefore, the only work that had been done on the development of the clinics had been the preliminary work of establishment of sites and locations, as well as trying to attempt to create a staff. The real money that was spent was spent after May 1956. Taking that into consideration in continuing the clinics, the amount required is a minimum base, without the addition of any other clinics other than those which are in the process of being formed, would have been $5,990,000. Therefore, these amendments were offered.

I want it clearly understood, and Senator Kessler will agree, that in our negotiations we have attempted to restore some kind of a figure to this particular field. We could not get up as high as we asked, but we have reached some kind of an agreement that if we received three million seven hundred forty some thousand dollars, we would have sufficient moneys, on a minimum basis, to last throughout the biennium if they reduced their expenditures somewhat and created no new clinics. The only warning I give you—and there is nothing we can do about the vote—is that if these clinics are maintained at the present rate of spending, we will run out of money in this particular field. What the Governor will do about that or what the Administration can do legally, I do not know.

I stated my opinion last night and for fear of having a Special Session on this item, the amendments were offered to eliminate the danger of a Special Session. That is the only reason. In addition to that, the Governor stated yesterday that this is one of the number one items in this budget in which he is vitally interested. The Governor believes in it sincerely. He believes that it is a preventive type of medicine and, in the end, it will redound to the benefit of the State by reduced costs in future years.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we object to these amendments.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PAYING TRIBUTE TO SENATOR EDWARD B. WATSON

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we have just heard probably what is the last report of the Executive Nominations Committee, which has been headed by an outstanding Member of the Senate, Senator Watson. He has done a very fine job during this Session of the Legislature in going through the intricate maneuvering which is attendant to making reports from the Executive Nominations Committee, and then seeing to it that we go into the right type of Executive Session and that the nominations are properly confirmed.

I want to take this opportunity of paying tribute to the work which has been done by Senator Watson. I feel that I voice the sentiments of all my colleagues in that regard. If I do, I would like to have the Members of the Senate who feel likewise join me in giving a little applause to Senator Watson.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 1118 AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House insists on its non-concurrence in Senate amendments to House Bill No. 1118, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code" approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103) increasing the expense allowance for delegates to meetings of the State Association of Township Supervisors.

and has appointed Messrs. WILT, JOHNSON and SNYDER as a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (if the Senate shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 1118 AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do insist upon its amendments to House Bill No. 1118, and that a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate be appointed.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Messrs. WATKINS, WATSON and SARRAF as a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate to confer with a similar committee of the House (already appointed) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to House Bill No. 1118.

HOUSE BILL No. 800, ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS, RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call from the table House Bill No. 800, Printer's No. 831, on concurrence in House amendments, recalled from the Governor.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 800, entitled:

An Act requiring all state, county, township, municipal and school district records and those of all boards, commissions, and authorities created by the Commonwealth or any political subdivisions shall during regular hours, be open for inspections by any citizen of Pennsylvania; authorizing such citizens under certain conditions to make exact copies, photographs or photostats of such records and providing penalties.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 800, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to House Bill No. 800, recalled from the Governor.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, last week when this bill went through the Senate, I believe I was the only one who voted against it. However, because of the House amendments, I am going to vote in favor of it today.

Mr. President, I understand that this bill has the support of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and that similar bills are being introduced in many of the Legislatures throughout the Country. I can understand and appreciate, as well as anyone, that in a democracy, the people must have available to them full information about governmental agencies. I have always been opposed to secrecy on the part of government operations, whereby the taxpayers cannot know how their government is being operated.

I believe the bill is a good bill, in essence, since it does remove the veil of secrecy from a lot of governmental operations. However, last week the bill, in the form in which we voted upon it, I thought was a little too broad for this reason. In Pennsylvania, a good many of our municipalities have local wage and income taxes. I thought the bill was so broad that it would compel municipalities to disclose an individual or a firm's income tax records. I believe that a man's tax records should not be made available to anyone who comes into the tax collector's office and asks to see a copy of his return.

Also, from a businessman's standpoint, a very capable accountant could take a tax return and probably divulge some business secrets, as a result of studying it. I think he could probably work out unit costs and the markup or percentage of profit on certain items and whatnot.

Therefore, Mr. President, those are my reasons for voting against the bill last week. The form in which it appeared at that time was too broad and would have required the local authorities to divulge information of a very personal nature, which had nothing to do with the operation of government. The bill, in its amended form, I believe, is much narrower and restricts the information which must be made available to the public, to vouchers, receipts, papers, contracts and whatnot dealing directly with the operation of government.

I think this is now a good bill and I will, therefore, vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Barr, Berger, Blass, Camiel, Chapman, Dent, Derk, DiSilvestro, Donolow, Ehrgood, Elliott, Flack, Fleming. MRS. CHARLES S. HENDRICKS, OF BLAIR COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I note in the audience this morning one of my constituents, the wife of Doctor Charles S. Hendricks of Altoona, whom I would like to present to you and the Members of the Senate.
The PRESIDENT. Will Mrs. Hendricks please rise? On behalf of all the Members of the Senate, we are very happy to welcome you here today. We hope you enjoy your visit with us on our last day of the Session.

COMMENDING MR. JOHN W. GABRIEL, SERGEANT-AT-ARMS, AND MRS. MARY E. KUNKLE, LIBRARY CLERK

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, one usually gets in trouble when he singles out certain individuals for special attention and special honor. However, I am going to take that chance. I want to point out to the President, and the Members of the Senate, a fact which they already know by observaion and that is that we have one fellow who is on our staff who has done a wonderful job, not only this Session but every Session he has been here with us and has helped us in the work of the Legislature. He is constantly on the job and it does not make any difference whether it is Sunday morning, Friday night or Saturday afternoon. This gentleman is always willing to do more than his share of the work. I refer to a young man from Lancaster County. His name is John Gabriel. I think we all owe him a great deal of gratitude for the work he has done to help us.

Also, I want to point out to you and the other Members another employee of the Senate who is on the job morning, noon and night. I do not know how she does it, and she always looks fresh the next morning even though she stays out until two or three o'clock helping us in the work of the Legislature. I refer to our good friend, Mrs. Kunkle, who is always up there ready to help us every minute of the day.
Please help me give these folks a little applause.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of having lunch.
The PRESIDENT. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR AND MRS. MARTIN L. MURRAY

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it certainly is my honor and privilege today to make a few remarks about the twentieth wedding anniversary of one of the distinguished Members of this Senate. I am speaking of Senator Martin L. Murray and his beautiful wife, Catherine, who were married twenty years ago today. That is two decades of marital bliss.
The PRESIDENT. Will Mrs. Murray please rise?
Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it is my understanding that the Murrays have two beautiful children and we, the Members of the Senate, are honored to have them here. We feel that Senator Murray will be, and is now, one of the most outstanding freshmen in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.
The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.
Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I have had it in mind for a couple of months to make a motion. I have the consent of Senator Mahany and Senator Pechan to second the motion. However, I have not fully decided whether I am going to make this motion. I may make it before the Session is over. It will be something like this: I move that the picture which was taken in this Senate a month or two ago be destroyed and that another picture be taken on this floor so that Senator Van Sant would appear in the picture with his whiskers.
Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to make an amendment to the Senator's motion. I would like to have the picture retaken because I look like "H" on the picture at present.
Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, did Senator McGinnis make the motion or is he just considering it?
Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I am just thinking about it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I should like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to Senator Diehm, and the other Members of the Senate, who went together and collected money and bought me a beautiful hat which I can wear at the Macungie Centennial during the week of June 23 to June 30, 1957. I would like to show you gentlemen the beautiful hat I will have the privilege of wearing on that occasion. Thank you very much.

Again, my sincere appreciation, gentlemen. I do not know who contributed, but I appreciate it very much. Thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, after seeing the distinguished gentleman from my neighboring county of Lehigh, Senator Van Sant, with that hat on, it gave me a thought. He looks so much like Abraham Lincoln that perhaps we should take up a collection for his transportation to Hollywood so he can have a film test to impersonate "Honest Abe."

COMMENDING SENATE EMPLOYEES

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I have seen the dove fly around the Senate, I have heard beautiful songs and I have heard many wonderful speeches complimenting the Members of the Senate and some of the great political leaders of the State of Pennsylvania. However, it has just been called to my attention—it is not altogether my thought—that we have certainly overlooked the finest group of people with which any Senator could have the privilege of working. I am speaking of the head of our reporting department, Miss Patricia L. Sayer, and her employees, the employees of Charles Lathero's department and every member, including the great Senator, Senator Diehm, and his department. There are many other members I will not try to call by name.

I do want to say to all of you that we deeply appreciate the interest you have had in us, and the many times that you have tolerated our tempers and our thinking when we were, perhaps, not too clear and we were abrupt to you. We want you to know we love all of you and we appreciate what you have done for us. The pleasure we have had working with all of you will be a lasting memory. I say that on behalf of the Republican side and my colleagues on the other side, as well.

I certainly do not want to forget my friend, Al Letzler, who is Secretary of the Senate. I think, too, I should go on up to the Lieutenant-Governor. You have already had so many nice things said about you, and I do not know whether we should consider you in this group. You are not an employee; you are an elected official and I understand that you might be my opponent. I do not know.

The PRESIDENT. I thought we decided that issue yesterday. I made a donation to your campaign.

Mr. WATKINS. I shall say to you, Mr. Governor, that I shall reciprocate in a like amount to your campaign.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you.

Mr. WATKINS. I am hoping to get Senator Taylor as my manager.

We are not going to include you, but we will include some of the members of your staff who have also co-operated and worked with us. We want to thank them, too.

Bless all of you. The Lord willing, I hope all of us here will be able to see you at the next Session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, after reading in the newspaper of the endorsement which the distinguished Senator received, the thought entered my mind that perhaps he might be just kidding along a little bit. However, you know, after I read that endorsement in the newspaper, he came over on this side and shook everyone's hand, he made nice speeches and I am convinced now, after this last speech, that the gentleman from Delaware County is sincere in his endeavors to be a candidate for Governor of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, whoever is the gubernatorial candidate, and if he wears a size seven and one-quarter, when he goes into Lebanon County and Lancaster County, he may borrow my hat.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I think I overheard the great leader of Dauphin County and my friend, who I am happy to say is my friend, say he was with Mayor Ziegler and he was supporting him. I certainly think it would not be Senator Taylor if he did not support him. However, perhaps we can do a little dealing, too.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Watkins, have you checked this matter with John McClure?

Mr. WATKINS. Senator Barr, yes, I have checked it with John McClure. In fact, it was his checking which put me in a position to say I was a candidate.

Mr. BARR. I would say that is pretty powerful backing.

Mr. WATKINS. I would say it is, too.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. Senator Barr, you and I both know that Senator McClure and my friend, Dave Lawrence, are good friends and buddies. Perhaps, on my behalf, you could talk to Dave, and if I can help you, I will talk to John. Say a nice word out there for me. I am not known very well in Pittsburgh.

Mr. BARR. Are you trying to make a deal right on the floor?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I am not trying to make a deal on the floor. However, you will find that in my county where I come from, I am known as "Honest Bob" and my life is an open book. I want to be friendly with everyone. I will give a little and take a little. You know what I mean.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Watkins, are you for good government?

Mr. WATKINS. I stand for super-good government. I believe in going just a little further than good government. I think good government in my platform will be super-good government. It will be a little different than what we have been getting, Mr. President.

Senator, do you wish to further interrogate me?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, instead of all these nice words, I would rather he would give me a tip on a good horse.

Mr. WATKINS. We will not discuss that.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, inasmuch as Delaware County has become so prominent in this State, I am glad to know that the southeastern part of Pennsylvania is being recognized.

Last night, I sat here through appropriations and I think half of the appropriations went down to Philadelphia and neighboring counties. For several weeks I have heard discussions here that the one neighbor, Philadelphia, and the other neighbors, the adjoining counties, were quarreling. I know our Saviour was asked one time what a man had to do to be saved. He said, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

I have driven through the neighboring counties of Philadelphia, and I was amazed that I saw nothing but estates, beautiful mansions, acres around every home, and I did not see a lot. I stopped at a gasoline station and I asked the attendant, "Where do these people who own these marvelous estates get the money to own them and keep them up?" The gasoline station attendant said, "They all have a wonderful business down in Philadelphia."

I like the name "Philadelphia." I like the way it sounds. It has another name, "The City of Brotherly Love." However the nicest name Philadelphia has is, "Philadelphia the Cradle of Liberty." If I had my way, Mr. President, I would enlarge that cradle and let the neighbors, the adjoining counties, creep into that cradle and nestle there forever.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I know that I should not again approach this microphone. I know I should stay away from it. However, I want to concur with my friend, Senator McGinnis, about our lovely county with the mansions and everything. He traveled the wrong route going to Philadelphia. He should have gone through Chester and he would not have seen many mansions on the back road.

I want to concur in his statement about the "City of Brotherly Love." I love everyone in Philadelphia, and I love the city and everything in it. However, there is one thing I have never been able to learn to love. I love the Liberty Bell, surely, and I love the beautiful parks, but I have never been able to digest that wage tax on non-residents. Therefore, I have never been able to really say to you that I would ever do that. I will say this, and I speak for the people of Delaware County. We love the "City of Brotherly Love" so much that I cannot express it in words. However, we do not like to pay that old wage tax.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator does speak like a candidate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that Barney McGinnis, in praising Philadelphia and building up its virtues, had something else in mind which helps a great deal to build up the great prestige, beauty and prosperity of the city of Philadelphia. Many times he has said to me that one of the greatest attractions of the city of Philadelphia is the fact that it is so darn close to the Garden State Race Track.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not know whether we are going to adjourn today because, as yet, I have not heard Senator McGinnis make his speech on "the ugliest word in the English language." I would request that he give that speech to us now.

REMARKS BY SENATOR BERNARD B. McGINNIS

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, every Session since I have been here, I have been requested to make a speech which I made to a jury in Pittsburgh in the Federal Court. I blame this on Senator Walker from Allegheny County, who was the leader at that time. I think he started this. Just now, our Democratic State Chairman asked me to make that speech.

During prohibition, there were thirty men indicted in Pittsburgh in the Federal Court. They called it the alcohol raid. I defended two young men who worked in a garage one block from where I lived. We pled the case for four weeks. There were twelve lawyers and they spoke to the jury for three days. Half of the jury was asleep and I decided that I had to do something to wake them up. I stood before the jury, leaned over and I said, "Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, do you know the ugliest word in the English language? You do not have your dictionaries here, but when you go to your homes, I want you to get the dictionary and search it from cover to cover to find the ugliest word in the English language." They were all awake, especially the women.

I said, "I am going to tell you now. It is the word 'suspicion.' Suspicion. It has caused brothers, almost at the end of the road, to separate forever. It has caused husband and wife who have raised a family, when one or the other became suspicious, to go to the divorce court and separate forever. It has caused neighbors who have helped each other in sadness and in happiness to become enemies. It has caused most of the wars throughout this world.

"All they have against these two young men whom I defend here today is suspicion."

Then I sat down. They were the only two acquitted.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE, Mr. President, in going over the Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 1700, there seems to be a little deviation in the language in regard to the appropriation of $1,000,000 for child care services in the various counties. I have discussed this with Senator Kessler.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler, in order that if there is any question as to the allocation of these funds, we can clearly spell out of the legislative intent of the act and the appropriation.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, I refer you to page 73 of the Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 1700, commencing with line 14. It reads as follows:

"For the purpose of reimbursing counties for delinquent child care services performed by counties or paid for by counties to voluntary service agencies."

Senator Kessler, it was my understanding that, as a matter of fact, the money has been spent throughout the counties for the care of delinquent, neglected and indigent children in our counties and that it also has been allocated to our child welfare services, which is a part of the Federal functions. For the purpose of the record and the legislative intent, would you make a statement as to what this $1,000,000 is to be used for?

Mr. KESSLER. I will be very happy to do so, Senator Lane. The appropriation to which you refer on page 73 of the Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 1700 corresponds to the item on page 157 of the Governor's Budget, under "Children's Services—Reimbursements to Counties and Non-Sectarian Agencies." The purpose of this program, according to this item in the budget, is to:

"Administer State and Federal funds to reimburse counties for delinquent child-care services and for their purchase of care from voluntary services. The Federal Social Security Act of 1935 provides that this grant is to pay the cost of district, county or local child welfare services in predominantly rural areas and to encourage and assist community child welfare organizations. State and Federal contributions are dependent upon whether the county meets maximum or minimum eligibility requirements."

There is a provision in the Governor's budget of $1,000,000. We have, in House Bill No. 1700, provided a similar amount. In addition to that, the Department of Welfare will receive from the Federal Government, for distribution to the counties, $524,000. It is my understanding that the Federal contribution to the Department of Welfare for distribution to the counties will be made without regard to any matching funds. It is based on a certain formula of one mill for a certain valuation of property. I cannot tell you the exact valuation. That is the fund, I think, which has been used in the past two years and will be used again for the purpose here described.

Mr. LANE. Senator Kessler, would you state, for the record, that this money can be spent by the counties on the care of neglected, delinquent and indigent children of the various counties?

Mr. KESSLER. I would assume that it could be. However, it may have to be done through the local child welfare groups.

Mr. LANE. That is agreed?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, it has to be done that way.

Mr. LANE. The point I want to make is this. In case there is a question in the ensuing biennium by any department, I want to make it clear that this money is not to be spent only for delinquent children, because you probably know that delinquent children, generally speaking, are under the supervision of the juvenile courts of our various counties; whereas, the neglected and indigent children are under the supervision of the county government and their arm of government, which is the child welfare services or the local social services. Is that understood?

Mr. KESSLER. That is understood, Senator Lane. Furthermore, the Federal grant can be used by the county for those purposes regardless of whether the State matches that money or not.

Mr. LANE. Then you are saying that we are going to receive, in addition to this $1,000,000, $524,000 of Federal funds to be used for child care in the various counties?

Mr. KESSLER. That is right.

Mr. LANE. Without any matching feature whatsoever?

Mr. KESSLER. That is right.

Mr. LANE. I wish to thank the gentleman.

HONORABLE MONTGOMERY F. CROWE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I see in our midst one of our beloved former colleagues, Senator Montgomery F. Crowe. I would like to have you welcome him to the Senate again so that we may all say "hello" to our old friend, monty.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to welcome the former Senator. We are sorry he came on the last day and could not spend more time with us. However, we are glad he is here.

HUMOROUS PRESENTATION TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, when gifts were given out here over the period of the last few weeks, there was one which perhaps should have been given to you which would have made your job perhaps a little more interesting and, at least, we would have been assured that at the proper time, you would have been able to bang the gavel. Had you had this gift this Session, when Senator Dent rose and hypnotized us with his long speeches, we could have all been here when he finally finished and had the last word, and we could have recognized one of the other Senators to carry on from there. Since we have not given you one to date and because you might return some time again to preside, I want to present you with this little gift.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you. It is just one day too late. It is very much appreciated, Senator Mahany. Shall I turn it on when Senator Dent finishes his speeches?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, you do not need that alarm clock. Presenting you with that alarm clock, for the obvious reason of having you at attention when I finish my speeches, as Senator Mahany put it, reminds me of the time I was speaking and, as usual, I kept on going, having a lot of things to say. You know, you can take care of the body in about fifteen minutes, but it takes a lot longer than that to save the soul. Therefore, I am always trying to save the souls of my Republican colleagues and I have to talk a long time.

On this particular night I was speaking, I kept on going and I finally noticed the audience was getting fidgety. In order to excuse myself, I fumbled in my pockets and looked at my wrist. I said, "If I talked too long, you will have to excuse me because I do not have my watch with me."

Some wise guy, probably a Republican, in the rear of the room, stood up and said, "Mister, it is too late for a watch. What you need is a calendar."

HOUSE BILL No. 1121 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table House Bill No. 1121, Printer's No. 1013, on concurrence in House amendments, recalled from the Governor.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, both present and absent, I would like to say on this final day of our long Legislative Session that I, as the leader on this side, have a few things for which to be grateful.

I am grateful that the membership of my Caucus has supported me in every instance. Many times I have been compelled to make decisions that caused, sometimes, consternation, most of the time surprise and, on occasion, apprehension. Regardless of what decision was made, and no matter how serious it appeared, before condemning my actions, they supported me and then afterwards questioned what I had done. However, in every instance, I had their full support. No leader can ask for any more than that.

I know my counterpart on the other side, Senator Mahany, has had just as many trying moments as I have had. There are times when those who support you demand a more vigorous action than they are getting and there are others who demand that you become more genteel. Somewhere in between, you try to draw a line from which you operate.

I suppose it has been a long, long time since I was first elected Floor Leader on this side. I have had dreams of being in the majority; not so much for the glory, but on certain occasions when we were being roughed up, it was more in the hope that I could return in kind. However, tonight there are no hard feelings, even when Senator Mahany accuses me of talking too long and saying too much. I would have objected if he had said I had talked too long and said too little.

I am grateful, too, that the majority has, upon occasion, risen to its responsibilities and recognized that the Governorship of this State is a very important office and that regardless of whether a Democrat or a Republican holds that office, the office itself commands and demands a certain respect and should hold a certain dignity.

We labor hard and we labor long. We are very critical. However, that is the essence of representative government. We are not all scholars and we are not all smart but, by the same token, neither are we all dumb nor are we, in any sense of the word, anything other than good representatives of the people. Each, in our small way, contributes to this kind of a government. There are governments that have started out on the basis of being perfections and they have all fallen by the wayside, because perfection cannot be attained by dictation. It can only be attained by study, by honest effort and by honesty of purpose.

Democrats and Republicans, alike, have one thing in common. They want to give good government. We have different views of what constitutes good government. It is like the two missionaries who had spent the better part of their lifetimes teaching the heathens the way of the Lord in China. They were both retired and coming home. One was of one faith and the other of another faith. As they stood in the stern of the ship watching the receding shoreline of China passing slowly over the horizon, one turned to the other and he said, "Father, we have spent better than a lifetime in service here in this heathen country, teaching the heathens the way of the Lord." The other turned to him and he said, "Yes, Reverend, you in your way, myself in his."

That is the way it is with us. I believe we are right. I think the philosophy of the Democratic Party is right. I honestly and sincerely believe that the quarrels we experienced have had the interests of the people at heart. You believe the same thing. You believe it in your way, and we believe it in ours. I think there has been a great record written in this Session. I believe that record is on behalf of the people as the Democratic Party sees it. You may see it another way. That, of course, is what makes the two parties.

I have lived here myself better than a lifetime, and I have been associated with some fine men. Senator Taylor and I have not seen eye to eye on many occasions.

Oftentimes, I have been accused of being too friendly with him, and I suppose he gets the same report from his people. However, I do not believe that is true. No man can be too friendly with another man, with another human being. Senator Taylor and I have had one understanding over the years. He knows I am a Democrat; I know he is a Republican. I do not ask any quarter and I do not give any quarter. He does not ask any and he does not give any. One thing we do. We respect each other's word and we do not lie to each other or make any legislative agreements which we do not keep. For that, I am again grateful.

I am grateful, too, to my counterpart on the other side, who, smilingly, can stick a knife deeper into me and twist it harder than most people can get away with, but I know when he does it, he always washes the knife after he takes it out. We are personal friends and we have been. I understand he is going to leave the Senate of Pennsylvania of his own volition. I say to Senator Mahany, when you leave the Senate of Pennsylvania, you will be depriving this State of services which it needs badly.

I am sorry that you are the Majority Leader. I think you would make one of the finest Minority Leaders that could be elected in the State of Pennsylvania.

To my old fighting pal, Senator Kessler, I hope that you, Ed, have not taken anything personal over the years. I cannot agree with your philosophy and you cannot agree with mine, but I do believe that you honestly believe in the things for which you fight. I heard you say last night that if they had left us alone, we could have agreed on this budget. You said that I had you talked into it. Next time we have another quarrel. I am going to ask Senator Taylor to name only one Republican to the Conference Committee and we will get a very fine budget because it will be the kind of a budget I would like.

To my own colleagues on this side, those of you who are running for election next year, Godspeed and good hunting.

Now my boss at the moment is in very poor physical shape because when he gets mad, he shakes both fists. The other night he started to shake his fist and all of a sudden his finger started to hurt. Senator Barr, I will say that as a Senator, as a friend and as a State Chairman under trying conditions, you have maintained a great sense of balance.

Whatever record is written in this Session of the Legislature, good or bad, belongs to the Senators and to the Members of the Legislature. No one else can claim either credit or take the blame. Whatever things we have done for the good of the people can be laid at our front door. Whatever faults that have been committed or errors in judgment, can be placed at the same resting place. Whatever this Session has done, good or bad, is our sole responsibility. The legislative branch of government is an entity of its own, both under the Constitution and under the democracy we live in. We are the legislators and for the past twenty-two years, I have devoted every ounce of my strength and energy to elevating the legislative branch to the place in the triumvirate of government to which it rightfully belongs. So long as I am a Member of this Body, and so long as I live as a fellow Senator on this floor, whatever I can do to raise the sights of this General Assembly to where it will be equally respected in the public print, in the public mind and in the public heart to the counterparts of the triumvirate, the judicial and the administrative, I will devote my time to that.

As I go down the line, I will remember one thing; that to me, a man is a man regardless of his political affiliation.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES THE SENATE IS READY TO ADJOURN SINE DIE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present a committee on behalf of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The committee on behalf of the Senate will approach the rostrum.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have the honor to report that the committee, appointed on behalf of the Senate by the President pro tempore to wait upon the House of Representatives and inform them that the Senate is ready to adjourn sine die, has performed that duty and has notified the House of Representatives that the Senate is prepared to adjourn sine die.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair accepts the report of the committee, and discharges the committee with the thanks of the Senate.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE GOVERNOR THE SENATE IS READY TO ADJOURN SINE DIE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present a committee on behalf of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Sergeant-at-Arms will escort the committee to the bar of the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the committee appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate which was requested to notify the Governor that we are about to adjourn sine die has performed that duty.

I want to, also, say that in my conversation with the Governor, I said that he was probably happy that we were going home. I also predicted he would call us back before he retired from the Governorship.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair accepts the report of the committee, and discharges the committee with the thanks of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have made so many farewell speeches that I do not expect to make another one. I am a bit like Romeo when He said: "Good night, good night. Parting is such sweet sorrow that I should say good night until it be morrow."

I am not going to try to reply in kind to Senator Dent or to tell him that the admiration which he has for me is mutual. I would say to him, and hope with him, that our friendship will last our natural lives.

I want to thank all of the Republican Senators who worked so well with me and were so loyal. They were fine group of men, and I do not think George Leader will ever have a finer group of fellows to work with or a more loyal crew.

I want to say to all of the Senators, both Democratic and Republican, that it has been a pleasure to work with you and to know you. I hope our friendship will last for many, many years to come.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I think it was twenty-three years ago that I went down to the Penn-Harris Hotel and John Dent was there. He told me he was afraid to come up to the Capitol. He saw the dome and the lights.

I have heard that he came out of a factory. I have heard different stories; that he went up to the sixth grade and some people say he went to the eighth grade. I do not know which is the truth. However, John Dent came into the House of Representatives. They tell me he was the worst speaker who was ever in the House. He came over here and, for a time, he was horrible. Today this young man from the factories—I do not care whether he went to the sixth grade or the eighth grade—is the most able Senator who ever led our side in this Senate.

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn sine die.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. This being the day and hour fixed by Concurrent Resolution for the final adjournment, and the hour of 11:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, having arrived, I hereby declare the 142nd Regular Session of the Senate of Pennsylvania adjourned sine die.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, June 20, 1957

The House met at 12:01 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Harry R. McInroy, Tioga County, Member of the House, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, in this early morning hour we come to Thee for wisdom and strength, wisdom to know what Thou wouldst have us do and say in these last hours of this session and the strength to do Thy will. Help us to overcome our physical weakness and carry on the work of this great Commonwealth to a successful conclusion in this session. Watch over us as we journey to our homes and be with each one of us in the remaining days of our lives. Make them happy, successful and fruitful in Thy service. Amen.

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to question a member of the Conference Committee in regard to this Senate Bill 446. I would like to ask him one question. Not a Democrat Member. I prefer to ask a Republican Member, if there are no objections.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny inform me as to what the effect of the Conference Committee Report amounts to as far as the admissions tax is concerned.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, it was kept to five percent.

Mr. TOLL. A reduction of half?

Mr. VAUGHAN. We cut it in half, that is right. The effective date is July 1, 1958.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the report of the Committee of Conference was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Johnson.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 847, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 947) entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries of certain county officers of counties of the fourth class" increasing the salaries of certain county officers.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, since the brains and the strength of the majority seems committed to the crazy salary schedules carried in these bills, who am I to disagree with them? I shall support this measure and all the others.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, when I was in school, at the end of each semester, we picked the team of All American so and so's from the instructors. I want to be the first to apply for that job, as captain of the team here. For some reason or other, all of the bills to which I cannot subscribe seem to get on the calendar in the closing days of this session.

I personally believe that every public servant should be paid and paid well. I also believe that the servant would be worthy of his hire.

During the political campaign last fall, some of the members on both sides of this House heard me say on different occasions, that I was running on a pledge of economy. I for one propose to carry out that pledge here tonight. I personally will not vote to place an additional burden of more than $20,000 on the people of York County for the purpose of raising the salaries of a few row office holders. We never have, and I do not think we ever shall have, a shortage of capable candidates for office in any of the counties that I have ever heard of. We certainly have never had a shortage in our place.

To show you how inconsistent we are becoming in this House, just a very few hours ago this House extended the time by which some of the counties could establish uniform assessment laws. I have heard several Representatives in this House, representing the various counties, say it had not been done because there was not sufficient money available. A few hours later we took $100,000 out of the Game Fund to help subsidize some of these so-called poor counties, because they cannot survive on the taxing power they have at the present time. A week or two ago we took a similar sum, I do not know the exact sum, but we are going to take a large sum from the Department of Forests and Waters for a similar purpose.

Now that, ladies and gentlemen of this House, if I know anything, is being very inconsistent.

In connection with the shortage of candidates, I suppose all of you have observed, during the last few days in this House, that there have been people walking up and down the aisles talking to the various Representatives. Quite a few of them have had their arms in slings. We have the same condition in York County every time there is an election. We must go out and twist the arms of people to get them to run. I assume that the same condition exists in every other county in the Commonwealth.

To review just what our people in York County are getting, this applies to all fourth class counties, we have had a little of it, but I am going to take just a few more minutes to tell you what the people in York County and every other fourth class county are getting at the present time. The district attorney is getting $8,000; the sheriff is getting $7,300; prothonotary $7,300; clerk of the courts $7,300; register of wills $5,300; which is a very misleading figure as all of you people know. Clerk of the courts in my county is a very good job and everybody fights to get it. It is by all odds the best job in the courthouse. The recorder of deeds receives $7,300; county treasurer $6,200; the commissioners $8,000; coroner, here is a ridiculous figure, the coroner is now getting $4,500 and it is proposed in this bill that he is to receive $6,500. In addition to that he has all the fees that he gets. Sometimes I wonder how silly we can get, when they talk about raising these salaries.

The jury commissioner—you people who are familiar with courthouse procedure know the terrific burden that is on jury commissioners. Well, it is only a very slight increase there, but it is $750 to $950. The comptroller gets $7,300.

As I stated previously, I for one will not saddle the people in York County with another tax burden and that is exactly what is going to happen if we pass this bill. Make no mistake about it, it is not only these people who are going to be raised, who are mentioned in this bill, but if we raise the office holders, certainly the people under them have a perfect right to come in and ask for additional increases. I for one, as I have stated previously, will not vote to put this additional burden on the people back home, and you people who think that it is politically expedient to do that, go ahead and do it, I, for one, will not do it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the county I come from is now a third class county and I do not intend to vote against this bill, but I would like to give you a few figures to show you what you are really doing when you pass this bill, if you do.

In 1951 the salaries of these offices were changed, effective the beginning of 1952, and I would like to give you the amounts they were receiving up to that time and then compare it with what you are giving them in this bill.

The district attorney up to the beginning of 1952 got a salary of $6,600; this bill would raise him to $9,200, nearly a third increase. The sheriff at that time got $6,600, this would raise him to $9,000. Understand there were raises given in 1951 in the amounts you see in this bill, but I am trying to point out to you the big jump in a five-year period that these office holders are to be given under this bill. The prothonotary at that time was getting $6,000; he jumps to $8,500. I will not go through them all, but coroner of a fourth class county in 1952 got a salary of $3,000; this bill would jump him to $6,500, more than 100 percent increase in the last five years. I say I do not think it is reasonable, but since it is not the class of county I am representing I will abide by the wisdom of the fourth class county Representatives in voting. When it come to third class counties, I am going to point out the reasons why I am going to vote for that bill, because similar changes have been made.

In all the debate so far, I have not found out and nobody has mentioned who was the architect who has devised this system of increases. What is the rationale behind it? Is it supposed to be based on cost of living? Are they comparing them with people in private industry? Just what was the reason for these various increases? Why is the coroner in all of these classes of counties being jumped so terrifically? I forget what the fees are in the third class county, but that is the reason I said a while ago when Mr. Adams offered his amendments, that I thought the amendments should prevail because it was going half way and, of course, we will be back here in two years and if we have not given them a sufficient increase more adjustments can be made then.

I would like somebody who knows to get on this floor and tell me how these various increases were figured out. Is there an association of these elected county officials who sit down with each other and say, "Now Joe you ought to have so much; Jim you ought to have so much," and then they compromise among themselves and they come up with a plan? Is that the way the plan was devised? I would like to know.

I say, I am going to vote for this bill but I am not going to vote for the third class county bill unless it is amended.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, a group of men representing these row offices met here in Harrisburg many times and tried to arrive at a fair figure due to the increased cost of living. That is how the thing started. I am sure many hours were spent to reach a fair figure.

I was glad to hear Mr. Johnson say that they had thrashed the thing out and one of the other gentlemen over there pointed out that it was a compromise. They are not getting what they set out to get. This is a compromise. I am sure we do not want to deny these people a decent living and I might say to Mr. Readinger, when you set out to compare figures, I just wonder what the budget of this Commonwealth was in 1951 in comparison to today's budget of $1.5 billion?

There is no question, we might say, that we do have inflation, I do not know, but I do know that this bill has been pretty well gone over. As I said before, it was a compromise, and I am satisfied that the men who looked this bill over and compromised did a good job and I am willing to abide by their decision. I ask the Members of this House to abide by their decision. They must have known what they were doing when they cut the original bill and they must have thought they were entitled to that for a decent living.

I would like to ask every Member of this House to see to it that they do get a decent living and that their standards are brought up to date.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have sat here for many hours during this Session listening to debates of various kinds. Some of it to me was very tiresome. I think I have been a very good listener, but I think the time has come when I will have to express myself or I may explode.

It is difficult for me to follow the thinking of some people in this House. For example, my Minority Leader has pointed out some of the inequities in this bill, nevertheless he is willing to vote for it and help to place an additional burden on the taxpayers in our county.

The statement has been made by Mr. Smith, that these men have an organization and an association which works together to arrive at a fair figure. I disagree with that statement, that they have arrived at a fair figure. I would like to have Mr. Smith or anybody else show me where there is any equality in this group of salaries.

I do not question the fact that maybe some of them are deserving of a raise, but I do not approve of the system they have used in ganging up on us with a package of bills that applies all over the state and expect us to accept it and pass on it.

It has come in here on the last day of the Session and there is no time to consider and work the thing out properly. I would like to say I am in hearty agreement with what the gentleman from York has said here. I am one of those people who talked economy during the campaign and I did it sincerely. I feel just that way.

That is one of the reasons I say it has been so difficult for me to follow what has gone on here. I have seen increases in places where they are certainly unjustified before today and during this Session.

I resent the idea of any group coming before this body with a demand of this kind. It is unfair. It is unjust. I cannot see how anybody here can support it.

I have heard discussed here on various occasions talk about equal pay for equal work. It certainly does not apply to this bill.

Another thing that has been mentioned but seems to be overlooked by some people is that in addition to some of these salaries there are quite nice fees provided, which they do not want us to think about.

Until such time as this can be worked out on an equitable basis, my conscience would never let me vote for these bills. I would not be following the principle of my own thinking or the promises I made to the people who sent me here. I hope that more of you Members here will think of it in the same way.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I represent a seventh class county and I think I am qualified to speak on that. I had hoped these compromise bills might go through because I think officers in the county deserve a raise.

However, if this bill goes through, it is going to place an extremely heavy tax burden on this county. As you all know our counties have been increasing their taxes almost yearly. Your school taxes and borough taxes have been piling up. You will have to pay for re-assessment programs. In the future it appears that school taxes are going to continue to climb, year after year, for quite a period of time to come.

They tell me that these people got together and decided what would be equitable salaries. I have yet to hear anybody say anybody was interested in what that county could afford to pay their officers. I was informed some time ago by my county commissioners that our county could not afford it.

Another question I would like to ask, which I do not expect to have answered, is why did not these people who figured this out let us hear about this and about these bills sometime ago? Were these bills deliberately held off until the closing days of the session so that they could be rammed through?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I heard some pleas for the poor people who have to live on salaries of $7300 a year. That is the average present salary, approximately, for this fourth class county setup. I wish we were talking about the third because that is mine, but they are very similar.

We have people not only here at the state level working, as Mr. Goodling pointed out the other day, for $2700 a year. We have people working for those figures in other counties, including our own, not only at the public level, public office holders in the lower ranks, but in certain types of business. There are plenty of people in my county that are living on $3,000 to $4,000 a year and there are some that are living on less.

How in the world can any Representative go home and reconcile the $7300 figure with people who are living on half that sum, some a little more than half and some less than half? I think that it is time that we give the people back home a little more consideration on taxes. They are being taxed left and right and every way they turn.

We offered these people half a loaf but it seems that there were some that were too greedy to take half a loaf. They do not want to settle for anything less than a whole loaf.

So I say let us hold to the figures for a while until an increase in these salaries is warranted. They know what they are getting right now, so we are not going to need any complicated formula to figure it out.

Mr. FARABAUGH, Mr. Speaker, I would just like to make one brief statement. I hoped that the members who are in this House who are not affected by these bills will not help to place a burden on our taxpayers that they cannot afford.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, did you ever have a shortage of candidate in Beaver County for your row offices?

Mr. SMITH. I saw the time when there was only one ticket.

Mr. GOODLING. I beg your pardon, I did not get that.

Mr. SMITH. I saw the time in Beaver County when there was only one ticket. One man for each office.

Mr. GOODLING. How long ago did that occur?

Mr. SMITH. Oh, six years ago, my partner tells me.

Mr. GOODLING. All I can say to that is you must have had a terrific political organization back there if that was the case.

Mr. SMITH. That's the nice part.

Mr. GOODLING. Do your candidates know what they are to receive before they run for office?

Mr. SMITH. I beg the gentleman's pardon.

Mr. GOODLING. Do your candidates know what they are to receive before they run for office?

Mr. SMITH. Yes, I think they do; the same as we did when we ran.

Mr. GOODLING. Do they apparently seem to be satisfied with what they are to receive?

Mr. SMITH. Just as satisfied as we are.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, whose responsibility do you think it is to set salaries for these people back home in the row offices?

Mr. SMITH. Well now, if you want my honest opinion, I believe that all these issues should be settled at home. However this is one that can't be settled at home. It is up to us to settle it. The only way that we can settle it is to sit down with the men who are after an increase and talk the thing over with them, and then after they leave we can look the thing over again, as was done in this case, and change the figures to suit us. Then it is looked over again to make sure that that is what we want, and then we say, here is what we are going to give you.

I think it is a case of sitting down and working the thing out with everybody concerned.

Mr. GOODLING. In your previous statement Mr. Speaker, you said they compromised. Who is they?

Mr. SMITH. I do not know who compromised on the bill. As I understand it, when I first saw the bill the salaries for commissioners, we will take them for example, called for $10,000, and the last time I saw the bill as to our particular county, it called, I believe, for $9,200.

I am sure the men who originated this proposition had nothing to do with that compromise and it was a case that they were just to take it or leave it.

We are the ones here on the Hill who decide. Whoever decided this I do not know.

Mr. GOODLING. One other question, Mr. Speaker. This is not exactly on this particular subject but I think it is very important.

What is the average salary of the school teachers in Beaver County?

Mr. SMITH. I cannot tell you that, but I would like to say this, I think my figures will still stand out.

Mr. GOODLING. Is it required to have more preparation to become a school teacher or to become a row office holder?

Mr. SMITH. I do not care to answer that. I really do not know what a school teacher does and I was never a county official.

What I am trying to do is to take the figures that the county officials representing all the counties sat down and worked up and then gave to us here on the Hill. Then we reduced them to where we thought they should be. That is the bill that is before us now. I think we should pass it and give those people an increase in the cost of living so that they can live and be happy.

Mr. GOODLING. That is all. Thank you.

Just one closing statement. Again, I say this might not be on this particular bill but I think it is very pertinent. There are a lot of school teachers all over Pennsylvania that thought they deserved an increase this year.

We had a policy here that we were not going to have any additional taxes this year. We realize and everybody realizes that in order to give school teachers additional increases in salaries it would have been necessary to increase taxes.

If you people can go home and face your school teachers with the salaries they are getting at the present time, and then vote to give some of your office holders $9,200 and $9,500, it is all right with me. I personally will not go home and face them on that basis.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 729

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses on Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 729.

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" changing the provisions relating to the limitations on size of certain vehicles.

REPORT OF INVESTIGATION OF DELAWARE RIVER JOINT TOLL BRIDGE COMMISSION

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to present the report of the committee investigating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

I also have the testimony which was taken at the hearings conducted by the committee. I ask that the report be spread upon the record and copies be made available to the Members.

The SPEAKER. Copies will be made available for the Members and submission of the report will be noted in the Journal of the House and printed in full in the appendix.

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE ACTIVITIES OF DELAWARE RIVER JOINT TOLL BRIDGE COMMISSION

In the House of Representatives, June 20, 1957.

Mr. Speaker:

On July 19, 1955, there was introduced in the House of Representatives Resolution 106, Serial No. 102, by Representatives Reibman, Gaffney, Pacchioli, Bucchin, Yetter, Jr. and Brennan, which, when finally adopted on July 27, 1955, called for the appointment of a committee composed of three members of the House appointed by the Speaker and two members appointed by the Governor, one of whom should be the Attorney General, for the purpose of studying all phases of the operation, administration, financial policies and laws under which the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission is and has been functioning.

The following persons were appointed to serve on the Committee:

House Members:	Governor's Appointees:
Van D. Yetter, Jr.	The Attorney General
A. Patrick Brennan	Joseph J. Yosko,
August Metz, Jr.	Chairman

Thereafter, a House bill asked for $25,000 to cover the expenses of the investigation. This amount was voted in the House, but was reduced to $13,000 by the Senate.

After several organizational meetings, your committee toured facilities of the Commission located along the Delaware River and, beginning on February 20, 1956, held numerous executive and public hearings at Morrisville, Delaware Water Gap, Milford, Easton and Harrisburg. All hearings, except one on October 18, 1956, were held during the period the General Assembly was in session. Your committee ceased to operate after being advised that its authority to function ended with the adjournment of the Legislature.

As a result, the committee could not inquire into other phases of the operation of the Commission, including employment of numerous attorneys and fees paid to them, purchases of land, materials and supplies by negotiation instead of bid, and the audit of the administration and other funds under the jurisdiction of the bond trustees, etc.

The hearings held by your committee resulted in a transcript of testimony aggregating approximately 2,500 pages. Moreover, your committee received into evidence some 14,000 photostatic copies of records of the Commission. The transcript of testimony and the exhibits are, of course, available for public inspection.

I. Legislative History

In 1913, by joint action of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, there was created a Joint Commission to acquire toll bridges over the Delaware River.

Subsequently, New Jersey (Chapter 215, P. L. 1934) and Pennsylvania (the act of June 25, 1931 P. L. 1352), with the concurrence of the Congress (49 Stat. 1051) entered into a compact creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission. This compact provided for the administration, operation and maintenance of bridges under the jurisdiction of the Joint Commission and for the construction of additional bridge facilities across the Delaware River.

The compact has been amended several times, but the primary purpose of the Commission remains: the establishment and maintenance of bridge communications for the benefit of the people of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and for the increase of their commerce and prosperity.

The Commission comprises ten members, five from each state. Three of the Pennsylvania members hold seats on the Commission by virtue of their state offices, viz., the Auditor General, the State Treasurer and the Secretary of Highways.

II. Investigation

Your committee was materially assisted by having made available to it a confidential report of the Attorney General dated February 11, 1956, analyzing the operation and administration of the Commission. In proceeding with its investigation, your committee used this report as a guide for its inquiry. It must be stated that the testimony and other evidence received by your committee substantiates the accuracy of the Attorney General's report in every material respect. A copy of this report is appended hereto and made a part of this report.

A. Operation

The Commission at present operates ten "free" bridges and five toll bridges over the Delaware River within its jurisdiction, extending from Trenton-Morrisville northwardly to Milford-Montague—a distance of approximately one hundred twenty miles.

The ten free bridges are maintained solely from funds appropriated to the Commission by Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

From July 1, 1949, to June 30, 1956, the amounts appropriated and the actual cost to each state for the operation of the free bridges was as follows:

Free Bridges Budgets and Expenditures

Fiscal Year	Budget	Expended
7/1/49-6/30/50	428,021.09	$411,473.07
7/1/50-6/30/51	508,616.62	411,056.44
7/1/51-6/30/52	397,392.49	391,616.25
7/1/52-6/30/53	441,907.84	387,355.99
7/1/53-6/30/54	400,524.00	376,435.95
7/1/54-6/30/55	418,086.00	383,958.88
7/1/55-6/30/56	411,732.00	329,169.07

Actual Cost

Receipts	N. J.	Penna.
$ 6,834.02	$202,396.32	$202,242.73
12,508.95	199,313.07	199,234.42

14,944.52	171,162.03	171,052.63
7,065.59	190,159.08	190,131.08
6,027.00	187,323.49	183,085.46
5,422.15	189,280.86	189,255.87
5,878.00	161,645.54	161,645.53

As to the toll bridges, funds for their construction were originally obtained by the sale of bonds which, under the terms of the compact, are to be paid for from tolls. The total present investment in the toll bridges, as shown by a listing of Capital Assets is $31,822,367.88. From 1950 to 1956, the Commission budget and the actual cost of operating the five toll bridges was as follows:

Toll Bridges Budgets and Expenditures

Year	Budget	Expended
1950	$ 228,000.00	$ 202,209.32
1951	230,000.00	228,297.40
1952	363,867.25	277,879.88
1953	764,884.63	596,782.34
1954	1,280,989.63	1,162,222.29
1955	1,624,612.78	1,246,799.48
1956	1,285,079.38	982,094.24

The very substantial reduction in the budget of the Commission and its actual expenditure since the inception of the legislative inquiry by your committee is readily apparent from an examination of the above table. Testimony received by your committee indicates that these very substantial actual savings have been accomplished without any decrease in the services rendered to the people by the commission or in the efficiency of the Commission's operation.

B. Administration

1. Personnel. Approximately 300 persons were, at the time of investigation, employed on a full-time basis to carry on the business of the Commission. The evidence produced before the committee indicates that many of the subordinate sections, particularly at the main administration building at Morrisville, were overstaffed. For example, in the Engineering and Planning Section, the Commission employed a Chief Engineer, an Assistant Engineer, a Junior Assistant Engineer and an Architect. During the same period, the Bridge Unit of the entire Pennsylvania Department of Highways, responsible for the erection and maintenance of thousands of all types of bridges throughout the Commonwealth, employed only seven engineers. Further, it appears that the responsibility of the Commission's Engineering Section was largely limited to maintenance problems; in the construction of new facilities, consulting engineers were retained by the Commission and received fees in excess of $2,225,000.00.

In addition to overstaffing, it also appears that certain jobs of doubtful value to the proper functioning of the Bridge System were created. For example, the Commission employed a full-time housekeeper who, in addition to supervising the work of the janitresses at the Administration Building, devoted a large portion of her time to the preparation and serving of daily luncheons to top-ranking administrative officers of the Commission and their personal guests. The food served at these luncheons was purchased and paid for by the Commission and prepared in a large, well-equipped executive kitchen—one of four such kitchens at the Administration Building. The kitchen equipment included an electric stove, refrigerator, modern sink and cabinets, large quantities of cooking utensils, fine china, silver and glassware. The other kitchens are similarly stocked with countermeasures of lesser value.

Moreover, the Commission entirely detached from regular service several toll-takers who acted as chauffeurs for members of the Commission and administrative officers. These chauffeurs received annual allowances to cover the purchase of ordinary street clothing.

2. Financial Policies and Procedures. The compact contemplated that the Commissioners themselves would be a sufficient check upon the expenditures of money in that it required majority action on the part of the five Commissioners from each state before any program of the Commission could be carried into execution. However, as has already been noted, three of the Pennsylvania Commissioners hold seats on the Commission by virtue of their State offices. Evidence before your committee clearly indicates that the Bridge Commission established an internal governmental structure of its own without any of the safeguards of the responsibilities necessarily owed to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Your committee found that the system ordained by the Legislature for insuring responsible administration of the Commission—that is, making the State Treasurer, the Auditor General and the Secretary of Highways ex officio members of the Commission—completely broke down or never properly functioned.

It is obvious that appointed and elected officials of the Commonwealth who serve additionally as ex officio members of boards, commissions and authorities encounter serious and substantial difficulties in discharging their dual and often multiple responsibilities of office as they would wish to do. Your committee believes it is unreasonable to expect a State Treasurer, an Auditor General or a Secretary of Highways faithfully to discharge the duties of those important State offices and, at the same time, effective to participate in the direction of the affairs of more than a dozen boards, commissions and authorities. The sheer physical burden of attending the regular meetings of such organizations presents the State official with almost insurmountable obstacles, both of time and human endurance. Your committee finds that the acquiring of even a general knowledge of the policies and affairs of boards and commissions is perhaps asking too much of a State official. And yet, membership on these boards, commissions and authorities for State officials is statutorily required. We believe that, absent corrective legislation, the situation can be ameliorated by having the State official designate a deputy to serve in his stead on ex officio boards, commissions and authorities. This course is clearly contemplated and authorized by the provisions of The Administrative Code of 1929.

As a result of the inability of the ex officio members adequately to oversee the affairs of the Bridge Commission, the Commission became a one-man operation. The Commission Chairman, for all practical purposes, became the Commission, in that his decisions and judgment on expenditures was final. It is true that at times the full Commission ratified the acts of the Chairman at the Commission meetings. However, the evidence before your committee indicates that such ratification was in the nature of rubber stamp approval by reason of the fact that the Commissioners were not given detailed information concerning the expenditures approved by the Chairman.

In fact, certain members of the Commission testified that the full Commission was never given detailed information concerning expenditures for salaries, trips, expenses, purchases and other expenditures for social functions made or approved by the Chairman.

The committee recognizes the domination by the Commission by Alexander Miller from the time he became Chairman. Miller "moved in" on the Commission. There is no doubt, as witness after witness testified, that what was done was done because Mr. Miller either "ordered" or Mr. Miller "approved." Miller's signature appears on the lavish expense accounts; Miller hands out hundred dollar tips and charges them to the Commission; Miller indulges in lavish expenditures; Miller dominates, controls and directs the Commission in all its functions, including the reprehensible ones.

Specifically, the evidence before this committee indicates that the Chairman established an Executive Committee consisting of himself and two other Commissioners; that the Executive Committee voted itself salaries without the knowledge or approval of other members of the Commission. It should be noted that as to the Chairman, this salary was in addition to a large expense account. Over a three-year period, such salaries and expenses were as follows:

Salaries and Expenses
Paid to Members of the Executive Committee
Name	Year	Traveling Expense	Salary	Sub-Total	Total
Alexander R. Miller Chairman	1953	15,342.62	11,700.00	27,042.62	$61,292.58
	1954	14,419.34	6,000.00	20,419.34

Member	1953	4,166.60	4,166.60	11,666.48
	1954	4,999.92	4,999.92
	1955	2,499.96	2,499.96
R. Champan Carver Member	1953	4,500.00	4,500.00	11,250.00
	1954	4,500.00	4,500.00
	1955	2,250.00	2,250.00
Total					$84,209.06

The Commission has instituted suit to recover the amounts of the above unauthorized salaries.

There may be given here a few examples of expenditures of questionable propriety made or approved by the Chairman of the Commission:

(1) The purchase of expensive Oriental rugs; custom made desks, chairs, tables, couches, lamps and other furnishings; specially designed Lenox china; silverware and crystal ware; expensive ornaments, including gold cigarette lighters, ashtrays, desk sets and clocks; special equipment, including television sets, Hi-Fi record players; wrought iron porch furniture for use on a specially constructed sun deck at the Administrative Building, and other incidental purchases such as an air-conditioned Cadillac; magazines, newspapers and records. The above are but a few of the lavish furnishings at the Administration Building at Morrisville. This building, costing in excess of $1,000,000 to build, consists of several suites of executive offices and one of the most expensive board rooms to be found in any governmental agency. The evidence indicates that the Commission did not make use of these facilities but, instead, held a number of its meetings at large hotels at additional cost.

(2) Expenditures for purported business trips, meetings of the Commission and conventions at Phoenix, Arizona; Las Vegas, Nevada; San Francisco, California; McAllen, Texas; and Atlantic City, New Jersey.

(3) Payment from Commission funds for parties and entertainment of members and employees of the Commission and for guests of the Chairman of the Commission.

(4) Approval of large undocumented and unitemized expense accounts for members and employees of the Commission and salaries for certain members of the Commission.

(5) Expenditure of large sums of money for the maintenance of a legislative lobby in Harrisburg, including suite of rooms at $35 per day and large sums expended for food and liquor.

(6) Expenditures for the Delaware Water Gap Bridge opening including a lavish party complete with $12.00 dinners, champagne, Powers models and expensive mementos. The total cost of this affair was in excess of $6,000.

Further, the entire structure of salaries paid to employees of the Commission was extravagant. A number of lower echelon personnel, such as toll collectors and maintenance men were paid salaries comparable to those received by persons occupying similar positions; however, a considerable number of personnel, especially at the administrative level, were paid salaries far in excess of those paid to comparable persons with the same or even greater responsibilities. For example:

Comparative Salaries

Position	Commonwealth Pays (Range)	Commission Paid 1955
Controller	$6,300 to $10,300	$20,000
Chief Engineer ...	to 14,500	25,000
Personal Director .	to 7,000	18,000
(250 people)
Deputy Controller.	6,300 to 10,300	15,000
Auditor	6,990 to 8,352	10,500
Asst. Chief
Engineer	8,500 to 10,200	11,500
Sr. Asst.
Engineer	7,000 to 8,300	19,500

Evidence before your committee indicates that the full commission was not informed specifically as to the salary to be paid any particular individual. Again, it appears that such salaries were fixed by the Chairman and included in the budget presented to the full Commission on a lump sum basis.

The breakdown of the budget presented to the full Commission was (for most of the years considered) inadequate and misleading.

The investigation by your committee revealed that, unlike every form of government, the Commission operated without any system of checks and balances. In addition to the supposed safeguards set up by the compact, the system was designed to function with certain outside agencies representing the interests of the bondholders. However, such agencies did not perform in accordance with presupposed or preconceived ideas. That is to say, for example, the consulting engineers, the auditors and trustees disclaimed liability or responsibility for the propriety of expenditures beyond the determination that sufficient funds were available within the budgetary limitations previously approved by the Commission.

As a result of the inherent weaknesses in the system established by the Commission to govern its operations, there existed the opportunity for unbridled waste and extravagance, numerous examples of which have already been pointed out. It will not be amiss, however, to describe briefly one other important area considered by your committee involving the handling of the Commission's insurance policies.

Insurance policies for the Commission were written directly between the insurance company and the Commission without the intervention or assistance of an insurance agent or broker. The function of an insurance broker is to advise the insured as to its proper insurance coverage. This advice the Bridge Commission never received and because of the omission, the Commission was overinsured in some instances and underinsured in others. This fact is particularly disturbing because Alexander Miller, in private life, is an insurance broker.

Insurance rates are approved by the State Insurance Department and the rates include agents' and brokers' commissions. Where no agent or broker is employed the insurance company retains the unearned commission subject to allocation by the insured to agents and brokers. In the case of the Bridge Commission these unearned commissions were allocated to insurance agents designated by the chairman. In one instance, an allocation of over $5,000 was made to a member of the Pennsylvania Senate who performed absolutely no compensable service for the Bridge Commission in exchange for the allocation.

Consider the abuses that were perpetrated on the people of Pennsylvania. Because it had no expert insurance advice, the Commission purchased more insurance than it needed and often received less coverage than was necessary. And yet, the fees ordinarily due insurance experts for their advice still had to be paid. Since by law the Commission could not recoup the unearned insurance commissions, the Chairman of the Bridge Commission was able to give what can only be characterized as windfalls to his favorite insurance brokers. This is but another example of the Commission's paying for something it should have but never received.

Your committee uncovered a series of vouchers showing the payment of Commission funds to one Nony Brandt of Philadelphia for alleged stenographic services. An attempt to inquire into the reasons behind these payments to Mrs. Brandt by subpoenaing her as a witness was frustrated when the subpoena-servers were unable to locate Mrs. Brandt. However, your committee learned from other sources that Mrs. Brandt is a well-known strip-tease dancer in the Philadelphia area. Moreover, one former member of the Commission is now under indictment on charges growing out of the payments to Mrs. Brandt.

As a result of the evidence brought out in the legislative committee's investigation, changes have already been made by the newly reorganized commission in its operations.

George L. Feaster, a former New Jersey deputy attorney general attached to the New Jersey Highways Department, assumed office June 1, 1956 as executive director of the Commission. Acting under orders from the new Commission he proceeded at once to eliminate inefficient administration, excessive salaries, unnecessary employment of personnel and waste.

Some of the reforms and changes effected include:

(1) Change of meeting places of the Commission from expensive hotels in Philadelphia and Atlantic City to monthly sessions at stated times at the headquarters at Morrisville.

(2) Excess property acquired by the old Commission, including a building and site which was designed for a country meeting place and hunting lodge, was sold or ordered to be sold.

(3) Concentration on buying outstanding bridge bonds in order to retire them and make the bridges toll-free at the earliest possible time.

(4) Lavish furnishings of a roof garden on the roof of the administration building and other excess office furniture, motion picture equipment, uniforms, expensive automobiles, etc., were sold or ordered to be sold.

(5) Three of the four kitchens in the administration building were closed off.

(6) An expensive and unnecessary teletype system rental was eliminated and numerous telephones were removed.

(7) Magazine subscriptions were cancelled.

(8) Billboard advertising was eliminated.

(9) A consulting engineering firm which was hired on a $40,000 a year yearly retainer was replaced by one equally competent for $12,000 a year.

(10) Excessive personnel were either discharged or resigned. Salaries of those who were retained were adjusted, some downward.

(11) Under rules adopted by the new Commission, the chairman cannot now serve permanently. He is elected for one year and the chairmanship must rotate among members from Pennsylvania and New Jersey annually.

(12) The press, which previously had been barred from all meetings, is now permitted to attend all meetings and all records are made available to all news-dispersing media.

(13) The number of employes on the Free Bridges' payroll was reduced from 100 to 53.

(14) The toll bridge personnel was cut from 219 to 152.

(15) Savings on the annual operation of Free Bridges were estimated as high as $150,000.

(16) Toll bridge operation costs reveal a reduction of almost $400,000 in 1957 from a 1956 operating budget of $1,285,079.

(17) The new Commission's activities in purchasing outstanding bonds has resulted in the retirement of almost $5,000,000 worth to date.

(18) Huge cash balances carried in the various banks have been reduced from an average of $700,000 to about $300,000. The difference has been invested in U.S. Government securities.

(19) Instead of the Commission Chairman placing insurance, this function is performed by two competent and qualified insurance brokers—one representing New Jersey and other Pennsylvania.

The committee is satisfied, after numerous checks on the operation of the Commission, and reports received from that body that the lavish spending, the waste, extravagance and inefficiency of the old administration of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Committee has ended.

It may be well to note here that three former members (Alexander Miller, Leslie Brown and R. Champman Carver) and one former employee (Robert A. Haney) of the Commission are now under indictment in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on charges of conspiracy and misdemeanors in office.

In view of the reforms instituted and the new rules and regulations under which the commission now operates, we do not think it is imperative that this committee offer any recommendations.

However, a copy of this report is being forwarded to members of the General Assembly and the staff of the Joint State Government Commission for study relative to the following:

1. The programs and procedures relating to insurance coverage of all agencies of the State Government, the several municipalities, school districts and all bodies corporate and politic.

2. The desirability of continuing ex officio membership on boards, commissions and authorities with particular reference to providing for legislative representation on such bodies.

3. The desirability of giving the Governor of Pennsylvania authority to veto the actions of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission. New Jersey has already approved an amendment to the Commission Compact along these lines which, to become effective, would have to be ratified by Pennsylvania and by the Congress.

4. The desirability and need for enacting an administrative code governing the internal operation of all boards, commissions and authorities. Such a code would prescribe uniform purchasing procedures, employment practices, financing arrangements, budgetary controls, meeting agenda and other related matters.

In conclusion, your committee wishes formally to acknowledge the cooperation and material assistance it received in connection with its investigation and hearings from the Pennsylvania Department of Justice, the Pennsylvania State Police, the office of the Attorney General of New Jersey and the many witnesses who testified before your committee.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH J. YOSKO, Chairman
THOMAS McBRIDE,
PATRICK A. BRENNAN,

AUGUST METZ, JR.,
VAN D. YETTER.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform the House how the motion he has made came to be agreed upon? Are you speaking individually or at the request of some organization?

Mr. DOWN. As a proponent of the bill, I am speaking individually.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman clarify his statement please?

Mr. DOWN. As a proponent and an advocate of the bill we have capitulated.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAPANO. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, are we going to vote on these bills separately or are we going to vote them as a package?

The SPEAKER. They must be voted on separately.

Mr. CAPANO. Is it possible to vote on them as a package?

The SPEAKER. They cannot be voted on as a package. They must be voted on as individual bills.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped this would not get started until I brought my papers back from upstairs, but nevertheless it is under way. I want to state as an individual Member that personally I do not think the bill should be recommitted. I would like to see increases given to these offices in one form or another. That is a personal position and not the Democrat party position.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have inserted in the record that as we recommitted the package from Senate Bill 846, Printer's No. 322, to Senate Bill 856, Printer's No. 328, this recommitment was made at the request of the organizations involved who were behind the bills, so that each person who voted to recommit these bills would clearly understand that they were requested such action to be taken by this House on this date. I would like the record to clearly indicate that we are carrying out their wishes.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to propound a question for the record, to which I do not expect any answer.

If these bugs were so soon to be done for,
What in thunder were they ever begun for?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I personally feel that a great injustice has been done to these deserving county officials which we forgot about since 1951.

I hope they have better luck at the next session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ADAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to state for the record that this action concurs with my original plans and thinking.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to propound another question in view of the remarks made by the gentleman from Berks.

Who indeed was the architect of this particular debacle? There seems to be a question as to pride of authorship.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, these amendments have been suggested by the administration. What they would do would be to put Legislators in the conflict of interests bill which is before us. It would forbid any Member of this Legislature, either House or Senate, from performing or agreeing "to perform for compensation fixed or contingent any service in a representative capacity in relation to any matter pending before or involving any agency of the Commonwealth except that any such prohibited person is not so prohibited in relation to any matter of a ministerial nature."

I am offering these amendments, Mr. Speaker, because the administration requested that they be offered, and I do not like them. There have been a lot of lawyers in this Legislature ever since I have been a member, and some of their business involves cases with various agencies of the state. I think they should not be forbidden from such practice. In my 21 years of experience I have yet to get any favor from anybody on either the Republican or Democrat side that was not warranted by the circumstances in a particular case. I got exactly what any other lawyer would get who would have taken the matter up with the state, and no more than that.

So, I am asking that these amendments be defeated.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Minority Leader for the position he has taken on these amendments. Both of us considered them to be an affront to the integrity of the Members of the Legislature, and I ask all of the Members of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I will be very brief. I consider these amendments an attempt to kill the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AMARANDA asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 20 by striking out "elected or".

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 2 by inserting after "service" or any elected officer who is a member ex-officio of any State agency, department, board or commission.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of this House to vote "aye" on these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1118

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. WILT, JOHNSTON and SNIDER.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 828, entitled:

An Act providing for the selection of suitable lands throughout the Commonwealth for the erection thereon of new mental outpatient clinics.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. READINGER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend the title, page 1, line 2 of the title, by inserting after "clinics" providing for establishment of diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics and treatment centers in general hospitals and for aid to mental health clinics and guidance centers and making an appropriation.

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 2, by inserting after "shall" have the authority to.

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "Such lands" and inserting "and shall have the authority to establish diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics and treatment centers in general hospitals and shall aid mental health clinics and guidance centers. Lands selected for mental outpatient clinics."

Amend the bill, page 2, by inserting after line 7

Section 2. The sum of two million seven hundred thirty thousand one hundred thirty-five dollars ($2,730,135) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Welfare to be used for the purposes herein set forth.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Minority Floor Leader to explain briefly just what these amendments do.

The SPEAKER. Will the Gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The bill itself provides for the selection of suitable lands throughout the Commonwealth for the erection thereon of new mental outpatient clinics. It contains no appropriation but states that the Department of Welfare, with the approval of the Governor, shall select suitable lands in the name of the Commonwealth for these outpatient clinics.

These amendments provide for the establishment of diagnostic community and psychiatric clinics and treatment centers in general hospitals, and for aid to mental health clinics and guidance centers. They make an appropriation of $2,730,000 to do this. I do not recall what amount is in the general fund budget, general appropriation bill for this work, if any, but these amendments would set apart money to do the job.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, would there be any way that the money that came from the bill which has passed to do away with the State Hospital in Delaware County could be allocated for these purposes?

Mr. READINGER. Which money?

Mr. AUKER. Money which was unexpended for the hospital to be built in Delaware County?

Mr. READINGER. As I understand it, that was GSA authorization money.

Mr. AUKER. Could there be any of that money used for this purpose?

Mr. READINGER. I do not believe so under the powers given the General State Authority. I do not believe this is one of them.

Mr. AUKER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, we from Delaware County consider this bill a companion bill to Senate Bill 737, which repealed the mental hospital for Delaware County.

This bill as drawn permits the Department of Welfare to acquire land for the purpose of establishing mental outpatient clinics throughout the Commonwealth by the General State Authority. We would ask all of the Members on this side of the House and on both sides of the House to vote down the amendments, first, because, of course, the amendments will kill the bill at this stage of the Session; secondly, the amendments require a direct appropriation of $2,730,000 for this purpose to the Department of Welfare.

We believe that the budget as explained yesterday by the Majority Leader clearly gives an ample amount of money for the purpose of establishing these mental clinics, and we feel the amendments should be voted down at this time and the bill passed as it presently is before the House.

We therefore ask all Members to vote down the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 569, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" changing the name of the State Council of Education creating the State Council of Higher Education as a departmental administrative board in the Department of Public Instruction defining its powers and duties and defining and coordinating functions of the two councils and repealing certain laws inconsistent therewith.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on State Government.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this motion to recommit. Since it is not possible to debate the merits of the bill at this time, I think there is a great deal of misunderstanding about it. If the opponents of this measure want to kill it, let us do it on a vote on the floor. I oppose the motion to recommit.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I also wish to oppose the motion to recommit because this bill is of great importance and has vast public support. I think you should treat a thing of this character very seriously before you support such a motion. I hope that you will oppose the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appear to have it. Whereupon,

A division was called for, one hundred and six members having voted in the affirmative and thirty-seven in the negative the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 603, entitled:

An Act relating to sewerage facilities in realty subdivisions imposing duties on the recorders of deeds and prescribing penalties.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitteed to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 923, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 15, 1955 (P. L. 865) entitled "An act requiring rents and royalties from oil and gas leases of Commonwealth land to be placed in a special fund to be used for conservation recreation dams and flood control . . ." earmarking a certain portion of the fund for the development and construction of Glendale State Park in Cambria County.

On the question?
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides the moneys to complete a project, a recreation park in the northern end of Cambria County, also adjacent to Centre, Clearfield, Blair Counties and, in fact, all central Pennsylvania. The project has already been approved by the Department. The surveys have been made and all the preliminary negotiations have been completed, as I understand. It is a natural site. It is one of the best sites in the state, according to the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters, for such a recreational park.

It is very badly needed in Central Pennsylvania for recreational purposes. The park at Black Moshannon is very much over crowded and the one at Shawnee Park is very much overcrowded and the one between Antes' Fort and Pine Grove Mills is very overcrowded, and this will furnish a relief for those three parks for recreational purposes throughout the central Pennsylvania area.

It is in line with several other bills that have been passed here. They are earmarking these oil and gas funds for recreational purposes and flood control and I certainly urge every Member of the Assembly to vote for the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there is still a lot of business to be done. I do not like these roll calls either on my side or the other side. If they want to stay here awhile longer, they can keep calling for a roll call.

This bill is wrong in principle. If we on the legislative side keep picking away at the funds available for this kind of project, there can be no continuity in planning. It is not necessary for the General Assembly to come "gallumping" to the rescue of Glendale Park. The funds are available, the funds will be spent for Glendale Park, according to the plans of the department.

We have seen a series of pecking away at this special fund and one Member gets away with his little project, and another Member gets away with something else. Then along comes Cambria County passing a bill for the purpose of enabling somebody to get into the act, to get into the position of rescuing, but even though it were necessary to rescue, the principle is wrong. You have a certain fund and if there is to be continuity in a conservation recreation program, the money must be spent according to a plan, and if we peck away, if Members who may have a special interest can divert and earmark, there can be no continuity of planning.

Obviously, my position will be misinterpreted if I voted against this bill, but I intend to vote against it. I do not expect the other Members of the Cambria County delegation to do so, but I say I am voting against it for the reason that it is the wrong principle for my county, your county or any other county to operate a special vantage point and do something that makes it practically impossible for the department responsible to make a long range continuous plan, and I suggest this bill go down.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON SENATE BILL No. 313

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has nonconcurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 313, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372) entitled "The General State Authority Act of 1949" authorizing the purchase of land for use of State teachers' colleges and increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor and allocating the proceeds of the increased borrowing.

And has appointed Messrs. MAHANY, PECHAN and DENT a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 313 and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 313

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. JOHNSON, GIBSON and READINGER.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to congratulate the Majority Leader for an exhibition of magnificent floor leadership in the cause of political bunkum.

The motive back of the sudden interest, Mr. Speaker, is a desire, foolish desire, to place the Governor on the spot if he vetoes the bill.

I anticipate that His Excellency, the Governor, will veto the bill and then announce that the dam will, nevertheless, be built.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" transferring certain departmental administrative boards within the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice and conferring upon the Department of Justice supervisory powers over certain supervised institutions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. This bill will take certain training schools for juveniles from the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare and place them under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice.

Now it seems to me that there are two very salient reasons for opposing this bill. In the first place, the Department of Welfare has operated these training schools for many years and is conversant with them, has the personnel to handle them, knows the operation. For the Department of Justice, on the other hand, this would be completely new to them. They have not made any request for this. To my knowledge, the Department of Welfare has not asked that they be relieved of this burden.

I fail to see any real reason administratively for the passage of this bill.

The second, and I think the more important reason is this, that the juveniles, and it is juveniles that are confined in these schools, have always under our system of penal law been considered apart from ordinary prisoners over juvenile age. For them, we have set up special juvenile courts, they are not handled in regular quarter sessions courts like adults, and we have given them special attention in their training.

To take these training schools from the Department of Welfare and put them under the Department of Justice will, at least to me, indicate a complete change in social attitude toward the confinement of juveniles from what we hoped will be a retraining program to rehabilitate them into a penal system of mere incarceration.

I feel the bill is bad administratively and I think it is bad from the standpoint of society.

I ask the Members of the House to oppose this legislation.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I would like to say, first, that he is mistaken when he says that the Department of Justice and the Bureau of Corrections would assume a completely new duty in taking over these correctional institutions.

The Bureau of Corrections at the present time does handle the adult correctional institutions. The school that will be transferred from the Department of Welfare under this bill are schools for juvenile delinquents, such as the training school at Morganza, the training school at Kislyn and the Pennsylvania Training School for Girls.

The juveniles committed to these institutions are committed by the courts. They are, in most cases, offenders who have frequently violated the law before they get into these schools.

In 1955 jurisdiction over all adult correctional institutions were placed in the Bureau of Corrections, which I understand is doing a very good job.

The same cannot be said for the Department of Welfare. For example, at the present time at Morganza I have been advised that the cost is approximately $14 per day per child, whereas at Huntingdon the cost is $3.89 a day, and at White Hill it is $3.83 per day. I also have been advised that there is an average of 20 escapes a week from Morganza, where over a 7-year period at White

Hill and Huntingdon there only been 14 escapes, or an average of two a year. Furthermore, the population at Morganza should be at the present time approximately 600, but instead it is down to about 200 because of the great reluctance of the courts to commit juveniles to this institution because of the notoriety it has received in the past.

I might also say that Morganza presently is being used as a testing ground by the psychologists who are being trained at state-aid. There are 18 psychologists running this institution of 200 people, even though these are not mental cases. In no instance are these juveniles mental patients. They are there for correction through the process of institutional care.

We believe this is a good bill. I would also like to state that this was one of the recommendations of the Devers Committee which investigated these correctional institutions throughout the state, and the report of the Devers Committee indicated that these institutions should be included in the Bureau of Corrections.

We feel this is a very good bill. It will put these institutions where they should be and I, therefore, request all Members to vote for the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, permitted himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Have the necessary re-adjustments to appropriations been provided for if this change is made?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I cannot answer that question. I would yield to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. He indicates to me that they have been made.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, yields to the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

Mr. WOOD. According to the Administrative Code, we have the power to transfer funds from one department to another if the function is transferred.

Mr. ANDREWS. Under the Administrative Code you say they have the authority. Will there be any bureaus and commissions, or anything of that sort, created by this Legislature that will make it necessary in order to transfer the funds to obtain the consent of that committee or commission or whatever has been created?

Mr. WOOD. I do not quite understand what the gentleman means.

Mr. ANDREWS. Well, we have some legislation relating to the transfer of funds, watch dog committees and all that sort of thing. I am simply inquiring whether proper provision has been made in the budget for this transfer, and if he says they have, that satisfies me.

Mr. WOOD. O. K.

Mr. ANDREWS. In view of the statement made by the gentleman from Lancaster, I think this is a good bill, a move in the right direction. The reason I rose was to inquire whether the Department of Justice would have the funds at its disposal.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware indicated that the school at Morganza contains a number of psychologists. Could the gentleman state whether the purpose of the presence of psychologists at Morganza was for the rehabilitation of the minors?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. The information I have is that the presence of the psychologists there is admittedly partly for serving as a correctional aid, but primarily to give them training for their studies for putting their service in the Department of Welfare.

I might also say that the information I have indicates that some of these psychologists are actually bribing the juveniles out there so they can get enough information to prepare their theses and get enough information for their studies at school. Altogether it is a very bad situation.

Mr. TOLL. Now, Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the efforts made by the Department of Welfare at these institutions is for the purpose of rehabilitating those boys who are sent to the school?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Ostensibly that is true, but we feel that the Bureau of Corrections which has the duty of supervising adult problems should handle this. We feel that the correctional process is a continuing one and in a great many instances at Morganza, for example, 18 and 19-year old boys are included with 10-year old boys. We feel that it is a very bad situation when that is done. We feel that the Bureau of Corrections in the Department of Justice will set up the juvenile section and will separate these different juvenile delinquents so that the correctional process can be properly carried out.

Mr. TOLL. I thank the gentleman.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. VAUGHAN IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 759, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law" making persons discharged for failing to give testimony with respect to membership or affiliation with subversive organizations or movements ineligible for compensation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of Senate Bill 759.

On February 6, 1957, Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, through written advice to John J. Flannery, assistant director of The Pennsylvania State Employment Service, made eligible for unemployment compensation in Pennsylvania any person who loses his employment because of refusal to testify claiming the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Senate Bill 759 will correct the action of Mr. McBride, and will deny the aid and comfort of unemployment compensation to a man if he refuses to testify when asked any question regarding his membership or affiliation with the Communist party or any movement committed to the overthrow of our government by force and violence.

Mr. Walter Reuther, in the United Auto Workers administrative letter of June 3, 1957 (Volume 9, Letter No. 19), entitled "Procedure on Cases Involving UAW members who use the Fifth Amendment" issued the following advice to all local unions:

"Under this constitutional provision (Article VIII, Section 7, of the Constitution of the AFL-CIO) there is no room within the federation or any of its affiliated unions for any person in a position of leadership or responsibility who is a crook, a racketeer, a Communist or a Fascist.

And it is the obligation of every union affiliated with the AFL-CIO to take appropriate steps to ensure that this principle is complied with."

I commend Mr. Reuther for his clear reemphasizing of the American Union Policy.

During debate in this same House on House Bill 600 on May 22, 1957, I was asked the question as to what to do with the wives and children of the communist. I repeat, that perhaps a fellow traveler will call me cold blooded and heartless, but I have a very practical answer based on our country's bitter experience after Korea when the Communists killed the flower of America's youth. You remember the United States provided for the widows and children of these murdered men. Now, my answer: Let Russia feed and clothe those who owe their faith and allegiance to the hammer and sickle.

Shake these traitors off the Unemployment Compensation rolls. Besides, I never saw a hungry communist.

When you talk about wives and children, I am thinking of my own wife and children, I am thinking of the children and wives of my neighbors when I support this bill.

In my district, there is located a NIKE anti-aircraft site, manned by United States Army troops on a 24-hour a day alert. Nearby is an Air Force installation containing air interceptors on 24-hour alert status. They are on guard. On guard against whom? They are on guard against those other fellow travelers who seek the overthrow of our national government. I am talking about the Russian Communist. These are enemies of our country. And these are the same enemies that were given aid and comfort by Tom McBride's ruling of February 6, 1957.

I say, rid the Unemployment Compensation rolls of those who bore from within, and are committed to the overthrow of our government, the followers of the party line, the followers of the butchers of Budapest, the Godless murderers of Poznan, the killers of American youth in Korea, the members of a conspiracy against our country who masquerade as a political party. I hesitate to name these recipients as American Communists since the word "American" means everything worth fighting for and this group of traitors are not worthy of the name "American."

This is not just an unemployment compensation bill. This is an important decision. Ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House, I say that the only party line to be followed in voting on this bill is whether or not you are for the party line or the fellow traveler.

This is an important decision you are going to make today. The question for decision is this, shall we continue to give aid and comfort to the traitors who give their faith and allegiance to Russia or shall we reverse Tom McBride's ruling of February 6, 1957?

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill. I just want to mention something here in this bill which I consider a personal matter.

Answering the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, as far as personal issues are concerned, I have had eight brothers in the service of this great country of ours. One of them is a total cripple. I too, was in the service. I want to say to you that you need not legislate by such a bill. The AFL-CIO is against Communists; the United Mine Workers, in their constitution, strictly prohibit any members who are affiliated with any Communistic organizations. We will weed them out ourselves, we do not need legislation such as this.

Therefore, I ask the Members of this House to vote against this legislation. I think it is wrong. Many of our United Mine Workers cannot speak the language which I am speaking at the present time. Just one little twisted error on their part, which they would not do intentionally, would deny them unemployment compensation.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, with the remarks which I have made, I request that all the Members in this House vote against this bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I briefly interrogate Mr. Bell?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. Very happily, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Bell, in your remarks you made reference to the Fifth Amendment I presume you and I agree that the Fifth Amendment is part of our Constitution which you and I have agreed to uphold, is it not?

Mr. BELL. Yes, Mr. Sherman, and I think you and I agree that it should not be a cloak behind which traitors and spies and enemies of our country can hide.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, your side remarks with reference to cloaks, traitors and all that, no doubt any Member of this House would agree with, but I ask you as to whether or not you agree that the Fifth Amendment which is part of our Constitution should be upheld?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I again repeat that the Fifth Amendment shall not be a cloak behind which traitors and spies shall hide.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a simple answer and then you can have your explanation. You as a lawyer are familiar with the fact that an answer must be given before an explanation is given. I do not prohibit you from an explanation, but do you mind giving an answer, do you or do you not believe that the Fifth Amendment, which you have mentioned in your speech, should be upheld as part of our Constitution?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not getting the answer he wants; he is getting the answer I am giving him.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker . . .

Mr. BELL. Will you yield, Mr. Sherman, I am not finished, and I am not going to be finished until I do make this statement. You want to put words in my mouth, you are not capable of doing it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman please not indulge in personal reflections.

Mr. SHERMAN. Thank you, Mr. Bell. May I make a few brief remarks?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. SHERMAN. Instead of seesawing with reference to an answer, Mr. Speaker, there is no doubt that every Member in this House has agreed to uphold the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Mr. Bell and every Member of this House and every attorney has agreed to that. None of us agrees that traitors or Communists or those advocating subversive interests should use any amendment for that particular purpose. In that, I do say, we are not dealing with upholding the Constitution, that from time to time we shall hide behind any cloak or behind any dagger.

There are certain times when it is proper to go ahead and refuse to give testimony, and we should not whenever anyone states that a party has refused to give testimony that both he, his wife, and members of his family should be denied compensation. It is not the man who refuses to give testimony because he seeks to hide behind any cloak, or dagger or claim of being a Communist. I am sure that is not the matter with which our Attorney General in upholding any particular position. He must have had in mind that he is upholding the Constitution. Both the Attorney General and myself, and I am sure every Member of this House, will agree to uphold the Constitution and at the same time be against any Communist or any communistic tendencies or interests, but we can properly vote for a bill which will provide proper relief and proper compensation to those people who are innocent of any wrong doing.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, this bill is one of a group that whittles away at labor's rights under various guises. This one is under the guise of anti-Communism. We have an unemployment compensation law that is supposed to benefit workers, and if you found another excuse to discredit a worker or provide that he should not get his compensation, this is one of them.

I can say that Attorney General McBride has the respect and support of most of the lawyers of Pennsylvania, of most of the lawyers in the Pennsylvania Bar Association, of most of the lawyers in the Philadelphia Bar Association of which he is the Chancellor, and I think a great many members of the profession would support Attorney General McBride in his courage in deciding that due to the mere fact that a man refuses to answer a question and takes the protection of the Constitution of the United States he should not be denied his right to compensation under our law.

Those of you who read the New York Times a couple of days ago know that in the Watkins case, Chief Justice Warren of the United States Supreme Court wrote the opinion in which he discharged Watkins on the ground that the questions which were asked of Watkins were not relevant.

How can you say that this bill in the manner in which it is drawn would confine the question to the relevancy of the problem? For instance, it says here on line 10, that "because he refused to testify before a lawfully constituted body or court when asked any question regarding his membership in or affiliations with the Communist Party or any" subversive organization. Any question. Is the question which he is asked relevant? Is the question which he is asked pertinent? Does the body which is questioning him have the authority to question him? Those are problems which go into the situation before you can say that the man is guilty. Due to hysteria, we were getting to a point, before this past week, where a man was guilty by mere accusation, where no evidence has to be presented. The mere fact that he chose not to answer a question, he was automatically considered guilty and he should not be given compensation for unemployment.

It seems to me that the Supreme Court has at last calmed down the hysteria which existed in the country and has come to a sound basis, the kind of sound basis that Attorney General McBride has ruled should prevail in this type of case and in other cases of this nature. If the questions are not pertinent, if the questions are not relevant, if the body does not have the authority the man should not be made to answer. We have certain civil rights and Attorney General McBride is a champion of civil rights, and I certainly support him in his position.

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Speaker, if there were some way that we could deprive the person who pleads the Fifth Amendment from unemployment compensation, without at the same time penalizing his wife and children who need the money, then I think most of us would probably be in favor of this bill.

Mr. Bell suggests that Communist Russia take up a fund and take care of these people. That suggestion, of course, is ridiculous, untenable and unfeasible. He knows very well that these people will simply be taken from the unemployment compensation rolls and placed on the public relief rolls.

We have been hearing, through this entire session, a long song and dance from the Republicans about "hold the line on taxes." I think we should hold the line on the taxpayer, that the taxpayer should not be required to support these people. They should be supported, under the law, by the unemployment compensation benefits to which they are entitled.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I have one brief remark.

We have some members of this House who classify themselves as labor experts. I have in my hands the words of a man whom I respect as a labor expert, Mr. Walter Reuther. I wish to read what he says:

Under this Constitutional provision there is no room within the Federation or any of its affiliated unions for any person in a position of leadership or responsibility who is a crook, a racketeer, a Communist or a Fascist, and it is the obligation of every union affiliated with the AFL-CIO to take appropriate steps to insure that this principle is complied with."

If Mr. Reuther, a man who is respected throughout the world for what he has done in organized labor, makes that statement, it is good enough for me. On the basis of that statement, if the AFL-CIO unions care to fire people for claiming the Fifth Amendment because of being a Communist, I say keep them off the Unemployment Compensation rolls.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I intend to support this bill, but I want it understood that my position has not been influenced by the utterances of any amateur McCarthy.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I am particularly concerned about whether I understood the gentleman's remarks on this bill.

Does the gentleman say that if there were a "no" vote on this bill that the Members voting "no" would be following the Communist party line?

Mr. BELL. No, Mr. Speaker, I had said that I did not think there was a party line involved here other than it might be the party line of the fellow traveler.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, when the total vote has been announced I would like to have unanimous consent to make a few remarks in connection with my vote on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Did the gentleman state he wants to be recognized after the vote is announced?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Well, I do not know when the proper time would be, either before or after, but I do want to be recognized.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be recognized after the announcement has been made.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on the last roll call (Senate Bill No. 759) I voted "no" and I desire to explain to the membership the reason for that vote, very briefly.

First of all, I want it understood that I hold no brief for communists or fellow travelers. I believe there is no one in this House who has a more intense feeling against their activities in the past, present, and probably in the future, than I have.

However, I cannot be a hypocrite. I must fulfill my sworn duty. It is my opinion this bill is unconstitutional for the reason that it seeks to deny a civil privilege, a right as a citizen, simply because that citizen has exercised a constitutional right.

I think the bill is unconstitutional, and therefore I feel it is my sworn duty to vote against it even though were it in my power to destroy communism I would be in the forefront in the battle.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 762, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 7, 1952 (P. L. 1844) entitled "An act fixing the fees and mileage of the coroner in counties of the fourth class" fixing the fees and mileage of the coroner in counties of the fifth class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think we should say to the membership that this bill has no relation to the package of salary raises and fee raises for the row officers, that have been recommitted. This bill, according to the Chairman of the Committee on Counties, should pass this Session.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—7

Boles,	Heavey,	Mihm,	Sherman,
Breth,	Magee,	Monroe,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 909, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) entitled "The Third Class City Code" giving council the power to regulate boxing and wrestling exhibitions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, I do not feel that Senate Bill 909 is a good bill. I do not feel that the local public officials should be mixed up in boxing or wrestling. I do not feel you can expect local officials to be in a position to understand boxing and wrestling which is, in my opinion, in a field of its own.

I think probably we would open the door for an unhealthy situation if this bill were enacted into law.

There are a number of reasons why I think boxing and wrestling are down today, that they are at low ebb. Number one, television. People will not go out and watch the fighters of mediocre class, and to the small clubs, when they can stay at home and watch a better class of fighters on television.

Then there is another thing—so-called good times, a time of prosperity such as we are now enjoying. You cannot get young men who have the potentialities of being groomed into good fighters to take up boxing today, because they can earn more money working at some trade or in a factory.

Those are some of the reasons I feel this is a bad bill. I do not think that giving the powers to these city councils to regulate and control boxing and wrestling is going to remedy the situation at all.

I would like to make a motion that we recommit this bill to the committee from which it came.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—Third Class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DeLONG. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill for the following reasons. I have the highest regard for our Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. It has done a swell job. But as most of us here know, boxing and wrestling in our third class cities has already died a fast death.

I think this bill will help revive it for certain reasons. First of all, a lot of our younger boys who are taking to amateur boxing and wrestling today would under this bill, have a chance to get out and show their wares. It would help to a certain extent to eliminate juvenile delinquency.

Secondly, under this bill which is a "may bill," city councils in third class cities could take this on and regulate the shows under the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

Third, I would say it would also help to increase some of the taxes and revenues from the local standpoint.

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask both sides of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that Senate Bill 909 is a bad bill. I do not see how any one here could support it.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, if we are going back to the Home Rule Charter with third class cities running their own boxing, I suggest we hold this up until I amend the bill to permit every city in the Commonwealth to run its own boxing shows.

Therefore I ask that this bill be laid on the table until my amendments are drawn up.

MOTION TO LAY BILL IN TABLE

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill be laid on the table until amendments are prepared.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit House Bill 909?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of my Democrat colleague from Berks County, an exboxer from a third class city. I think he has the best interests of the sport at heart. I call upon the Members to support him.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, for a number of years I have been very much interested in amateur boxers. In fact I have managed several teams of amateur boxers in the Golden Gloves of Pittsburgh.

This is definitely a bad bill, in every sense of the term bad. It will do nothing but confuse and hinder the promoters of amateur boxing.

Therefore, I ask you all to recommit this bill.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I will concur with the gentleman from Berks as a former little bit of a wrestler. I would like to have a roll call on recommitment.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman insist upon a roll call?

Mr. ROVANSEK. No, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit?

It was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

And has appointed Messrs. WATKINS, WATSON and SARRAF a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the difference between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. READINGER.

An Act authorizing James Little and Susie Little his wife citizens of the Borough of Aliquippa Beaver County Pennsylvania to bring suit in the court of common pleas of Beaver County Pennsylvania against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 97

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 97.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 97, entitled: An Act to define and prohibit unauthorized interception divulgence or use of telephone and telegraph communications providing criminal penalties and civil damages including attorney's fees for the violation thereof and limiting the admissibility of evidence

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

WILLIAM Z. SCOTT,
C. ARTHUR BLASS,
HARRY E. SEYLER,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

ALLEN M. GIBSON,
ADAM T. BOWER,
LOUIS J. AMARANDO,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AGNEW. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, was a motion made by the gentleman from Warren that this House adopt the report of the Conference Committee?

The SPEAKER. That is the question before the House.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I rise to debate that question.

Just briefly, so that everybody has firmly in mind the question before the House, the Senate passed a bill outlawing wire tapping completely. The House adopted a version of the bill which outlawed wire tapping but which permitted the law enforcement agency, under supervision of the court upon cause shown, to use the wire tap for the apprehension of criminals.

On May 9 this bill was exhaustively debated in this House, both as to the Toll amendments which would have restored the House version of the bill to substantially the form which now appears before this House, which amendments were soundly trounced, and the bill itself. A 70 percent majority of the Members of this House voted for the House version of the bill, permitting the law enforcement arm under court supervision to use a limited wire tap for the apprehension of criminals. Now, for reasons which are well known to almost every Member of this House but which shall not be made public, at least by me, in this forum, our House conferees agreed substantially to the Senate version of the bill outlawing wire tapping completely.

The only argument which I have heard from proponents in the Senate or ADA version of the wire tap bill, which we have before us now, is that with a limited use of wire tap by the law enforcement agency, a crooked cop or a dishonest judge could blackmail a dishonest citizen. That argument with all due respect to those who make it, is an argument of those who have lost faith in our democratic governmental processes. Just because an occasional banker embezzles, we do not think all bankers are crooks, and just because an occasional cop, or an occasional district attorney, or an occasional judge is not all he should be, is no reason why we should label the entire law enforcement arm of our various governmental units as not trustworthy.

Some of my friends are those who are behind this attempt to adopt the ADA version of the bill. I always like to be for my friends but this is one instance where the principle is so important that considerations of political expediency or other expediency are not now relevant.

I think this Commonwealth should have a wire tap bill. I believe it is important. But I believe that bill should be the version as it passed this House. What with the recent judicial pronouncements from Washington, and legislative proposals such as this, the criminals and subversives are walking the streets laughing at the rest of us. Do not deprive the law enforcement arm of every fair means of convicting those who commit crimes upon our society. I do not know why the ADA bee is buzzing in the Senate bonnet. I think it is a strange place for it to be buzzing.

I ask the Members of this House to defeat this request to adopt the Senate version of the wire tap bill.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of Mr. Agnew.

I was chairman of the committee out of which this bill came. We had hearings on the subject, opinion was not united, but the majority of the committee brought the House version of the bill out on the floor and we were sustained by a large vote.

Now the bill is returned to the condition in which it would have been had Mr. Toll's amendments prevailed. I feel now as I did during the debate on the floor, that with our crime rate constantly rising this is no time to take away from our law enforcement officers one of the weapons which they are united in feeling is most valuable in their efforts to root out crime.

I urge the House against the adoption of this report.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I hate to disagree with my colleagues on this side. I agreed with them when the bill was before the House, I supported the amendments we inserted in the House; I felt it was a better bill. However, I am afraid they evade the question. The question now is whether we shall have any regulation on wire tapping in this Commonwealth, or whether we shall not.

I submit that wire tapping is at best, a vicious, dirty business. It should be regulated in this Commonwealth. When this General Assembly reconvenes 18 months from now, I trust it will reinsert the amendments the House put in to authorize law enforcement officers to tap, under court supervision. In the interim, I believe it is to the interests of all the people of this Commonwealth that we regulate this business. Therefore I ask that we support the conference committee report.

I do not know much about the ADA but I do know that the PBA, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, supports the bill as it now is.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I concur with my colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Donaldson.

This bugaboo about the district attorneys and police officers needing this right to eavesdrop upon conversations is ridiculous.

I will give you some of my experience of years in the district attorney's office in Allegheny County. Many times they say they need the right to eavesdrop in order to ferret out the so-called vicious numbers racket. Anybody who knows about the operation of this business is aware that the police departments in any community in the state of Pennsylvania can ferret out that business in 24 hours.

The purpose of this bill is sound. We feel just like Mr. Donaldson that the Bar Association is slightly more conservative than the ADA, and we are going to become conservative this time and ask you to give us a bill which we think is the right bill. Should time prove that this experiment is wrong, those of us who are reelected can modify the bill.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, and in answer to the last two speakers, I feel it should be pointed out that if we vote against the adoption of this report, and if the report is not adopted, then the law will be the same as it is today. In other words, there will be no law against wire tapping. I will admit that would be an unpleasant situation. But I still feel we have gotten along with things the way they are since the invention of the telephone, and that the problem involved in wire tapping is of comparatively limited application in the counties of this state, taking place really only in our large metropolitan areas. I think we would be better off with the law the way it is today and has been for all these years, than we would with what many of us consider to be a poor wire tapping bill.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

To my mind there is a big principle involved here and that is whether or not, when this House votes so overwhelmingly in support of a bill and it passes this House, the conferees should stand by and support that vote until the very bitter end.

That is why I am asking the membership of this House to vote against concurrence. Let's stand by our position on the bill as we voted and passed it. That is what should prevail.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, we are not setting a precedent here this morning if we defeat this conference report. We defeated one the last Session of the General Assembly and the speaker had a little something to do with it.

I think this is bad legislation in its present form, and I ask for the defeat of this report.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, just very briefly. First, I would like to ask the membership on both sides of the House to support the adoption of the report of the conference committee. I would also like to mention that this bill passed the Senate 48-2, and while it is true the House version of this bill was adopted by a substantial vote, a great many of the people, I think, were influenced by the idea that it was a so-called ADA bill.

As to the parentage of the bill, I am not in the position to know, but I do know that a great many in the Senate—48 to 2—did support the bill. I also know that a great many people on this side of the House are in favor of the adoption of the report. We have the Pennsylvania Bar Association's support and recommendation for the adoption of the report which would ban wire tapping.

I have in my hand a letter from the Philadelphia Bar Association, and a great deal of supporting evidence over the country which would make a lengthy debate to get into, which I think at this point is not necessary.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge that the membership on both sides of the House support the adoption of the conference committee report.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I have heard several remarks about the Pennsylvania Bar Association being back of this. I do not know when that motion was passed. My bar association was never polled and never took a vote on it.

I venture to say that most of the county bars in this state never had a chance to vote on this. I would like to know where that thing came from.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, the matter came up at the January meeting in Pittsburgh. There was not what I call an adequate representation at that meeting. The bar association passed the motion in favor of the present bill that is on the calendar, by a very close vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. AUKER, AGNEW and ISAACS. The roll was verified and was as follows:

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Senate together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am indebted to the gentleman from Fulton, Mr. Garlock, for the sinewy arms of the Pennsylvania farmer.

At any rate, Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry that this House Bill 931 had to be, I think, laid upon the table because it involves a subject that Mr. Rigby and I have fought for in this session in an endeavor to provide an agency that would look into the problem of the people who are not provided for otherwise, that is, those people who are aging. We have 20 percent of our Pennsylvanians in that class, some of whom are called "aged workers"—there have been groups studying their problems—but there are many aged people who are not workers, and they certainly need some attention.

The two provisions that apply are Section 3, paragraph 1, to Maintain a continuous study analysis and interpretation of all information," and to "Serve as the central permanent agency for the coordination of programs and services for the older residents."

New Jersey has already established such a commission and obtained valuable material which aids the aged residents. I hope that perhaps in the next Session we will be able to iron out the differences between the two legislative bodies which constitute the General Assembly, in an effort to provide some type of organization that might help the aged along in this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRENNAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

This bill provides that such necessary personal protective devices as are required to protect the health and morals of persons, and providing industrial safety, shall be provided by the employer free of any charge upon the employee.

This would not excessively add to manufacturing costs. Many employers do not provide such certain devices at no cost to the employee.

There seems to be no sound reason why an employee should be required to pay for any such protective devices. In fact, when the worker is required to pay for any such safety devices, it amounts to a penalty cost attendant to the respective job.

By requiring all employees to so provide such safety devices at no cost to the employees would remove any advantages cost-wise which any given employer may now have over another.

Really we are talking about protection to life and limb, and the costs should be uniform as they apply to respective jobs. The employer who wants to, and presently does, supply certain such safety devices free should not be placed at a cost disadvantage. Any such inequities as presently exist should be eliminated. This legislation would do just that.

RESOLUTION

DISCHARGING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 875

Mr. BRENNAN offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 20, 1957.

Resolved, that the Committee on Labor Relations be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 875, Title: "An Act amending the act of May 18, 1937 (P. L. 654), entitled as amended "An Act to provide for the safety and to protect the health and morals of persons while employed; * * * requiring employers to furnish personal protective devices free of charge."

Said bill having been referred to the Committee on Labor Relations, on March 19, 1957.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BRENNAN and TOLL and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there will eventually be made a motion for a sine die resolution. What I will say now will be what I would have said if I were to speak when that motion is presented.

When the record of this session of the General Assembly is written, I believe that there will be grounds to say this closing day has been our finest hour.

Mr. Speaker, only those who have been here for years can appreciate the differences between this day and similar times in days gone by. We have, it is true, a Speaker on the rostrum, but instead of having a scant half dozen keeping watch in the late hours of night and the early hours of morning, the Members gone, dispersed, we have here a quorum; not only a quorum but a fine representation. And we have one other thing that gladdens my heart. I have today seen on a number of occasions controversial questions discussed objectively.

As you know, I have sometimes complained because matters that were not political in any sense were decided in the House along party lines, that all of those on one side of the aisle were supposed to vote one way and all of those on the other side of the aisle were supposed to vote some other way. I have seen Members on the majority side today arise, take one point of view; Members on the majority side arise and take another point of view, and Members on this side divide the same way according to their views concerning the question at issue. It is a matter of regret that there have been too few occasions upon which we have addressed ourselves objectively in the consideration of the measures that face us. We have done that this morning.

Never in my memory have I seen a more dignified, a more worthy closing of the General State Assembly than we have witnessed today. It is a tribute to the leadership of our Speaker, a tribute to the leadership of the majority, that this end has been achieved, and a tribute to the Members themselves.

I do not know by what magic of persuasion it has been possible to keep these hours, these Members, but you can be proud that you have participated in a closing unequalled in the history of the last 40 years of this General Assembly.

So much for that. You will be presented with a sine die resolution. That sine die resolution will pass and I will have the privilege of voting against it. I am not in favor of turning over the conduct of affairs entirely to substitute governors while we are away. I do not believe a legislative body should ever assassinate its power to legislate.

I do not believe we should be constantly in session, but I do believe that we should be in a position of readiness to serve, that we should be in a position if things arise that do not meet our view, we can be re-assembled at the call of the Chair in this House and by the President pro tem of the Senate. To abdicate the legislative power is to emphasize the powers of the executive.

I asked this morning about a matter of funds. Well, under the Administrative Code, the funds can be transferred. And we have in many instances given departments blank checks. We talked in the beginning of the session about a budget which would detail expenditures, so much for this bureau, so much for that bureau, so much for some other bureau. Because we have not sufficiently fortified our departments with technical help we have not presented such a budget. We have given the departments blank checks.

We talk about watch dog committees. A watch dog committee does not amount to a row of beans unless when that watch dog barks the master can be summoned to the scene. I say the day should have long ended when we give blank checks to departments and are not in a position to come back here if we do not like the way the money is being spent.

But perhaps the fact that we have this dignified closing forgives our other sins. We leave. His Excellency, the Governor, says he does not like this and he tosses it out. He has an item vetoed on the budget. Well, I think we ought to be in a position in 30 days to come back here and see whether we liked what the Governor has done. His Excellency, the Governor, cannot pass personally upon all the matters that may come before him. He will be advised by this bureau chief, by this departmental head, and takes their advice, and there are many of them whose advice I would not take. But we are going to die.

We say to these Lieutenant Governors, who have so much to say at this time, these assistant governors, "All right, we are going home, you run it, and then when we come back, when we assemble, we will find a lot of fault with what you did. We will point out how you did this wrong and how you should have done something else." We will use what they did for partisan purposes. Well, if we had been on the job, we could have made them perform according to the Legislative will. Anyway I have seen them come and go up there, but I have never seen a better, abler, fairer Speaker of this House.

I would be greatly remiss if I did not pay my tribute to the Majority Leader. I, at various times, tried to irritate him to the point where he would say something harsh or vicious to me so I could kick him back; he just wouldn't. He disarmed me with a smile, and I think the way you have responded to his leadership is a tribute to the qualities of the man.

He is sometimes wrong politically, in my judgment, but his natural reactions, his natural judgment, his instinctive acts are almost invariably in accordance with the moral aspects of the situation. He is an honest man, he is an earnest man, he has been a successful "Floor Leaderskipper".

I want to say that I have never seen, and I am speaking not just because I like the fellow, but I have never seen a man come through a difficult situation, with the differences I know you must have had in your caucuses because you had so many new Members as well as we have.

I want to say a word to the new Members. You come down here and you regard—you are supposed to regard—us on this side of the House as some sort of devils whom you must repel at every turn of the road. After you have been down here a few times you will find there are men on this side of the aisle with whom you will like to work, and who, perchance in the days to come, with whom you will be compelled to work.

Anyway, I perhaps have spoken too long, but there are no paper wads flying, there are no books being hurled, we are considering legislation in orderly fashion, Mr. Speaker, and it is a supreme achievement.

The SPEAKER. The Chair certainly wishes to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, for his delightful words.

May I say to you that whatever service I might have performed for this House, it has been one of love, one that I have enjoyed doing so very much. Certainly we have had our political differences during the months, but in my heart, so far as friendship in this House is concerned, there is no such thing as a Republican or a Democrat. We are all Members of the House of Representatives, and in my mind we are all friends. It has been a real pleasure for me to have served as your Speaker, and it has been an extremely difficult job to have followed a gentleman like the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

May I once again express my sincere thanks and appreciation to every Member of this House for having elected me to this position and giving me the wonderful loyalty and cooperation you have given during the past five and one-half months.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will reply a little later.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JIM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, since we began this Session, and from May 7th, 1957, I have had two objectives in my mind.

Number one, to vote on all issues brought before the House. This I believe when we adjourn sine die, I will have accomplished. That is, I have been present here in the House and voted on all issues during the Session of 1957.

Number two, a Resolution, the story of Fort Ligonier, and bicentennial celebration to be held September 21 to September 27, 1958. On the Resolution I needed help and support on the history of frontier days in western Pennsylvania. For the record I will give a copy of the Resolution, I will not read it. I appeal to the Members for consideration of my Resolution, so when I leave today I will have given my full service to the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman and the resolution will be noted upon the record.

RESOLUTION NO. 99

In the House of Representatives, 7th May, 1957.

On September 4, 1758 work was begun on a fortified camp named Fort Ligonier. The fort was destined to serve a vital purpose in our history as the "Key to the West." Although severely attacked by the French and Indians one month after work on its construction started, all attacks were repulsed and it was never taken by the enemy. The fort served as a place of refuge for settlers through the Indian wars, and along with Fort Pitt, was the only stronghold that did not fall during the Pontiac wars of 1763. After serving through seven colorful and eventful years, the fort was officially abandoned in 1765.

On February 4, 1947, the architect Charles M. Stotz was commissioned by the Fort Ligonier Memorial Foundation to supervise a project to establish, as far as possible, the exact location and layout of Fort Ligonier. An accurate topographical survey was made in 1951 and the workings, drawings, and specifications for the reconstruction project were completed in early 1953.

Several months ago, the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier became officially registered as a nonprofit organization, incorporated for the purpose of recalling, through proper celebration, the valiant exploits of our pioneer ancestors two hundred years ago as they inscribed the name of Pennsylvania and Westmoreland County high on the pillar of eternal fame. An untiring effort on the part of the association has been made toward the success of the celebration to be held from September 21 to September 27, 1958; therefore be it

Resolved; That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier for the great work they have done toward reflecting well-earned glory upon the State of Pennsylvania and Ligonier Valley as forerunners of freedom; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. A. H. Sweeney, President of the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed

An Act amending the act of June 24 1937 (P. L. 2051) entitled "Public Assistance Law" changing definition of dependent children and enlarging the category of relatives of dependent children eligible for assistance

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS and WYND. RESOLUTION No. 149.

In the House of Representatives, June 20, 1957.

Many inequalities now exist in the compensation of the various county officers throughout the Commonwealth. The compensation of certain positions which require advanced training and knowledge, coupled with long hours of hard work and vast responsibility are grossly inadequate, while it appears that the compensation of certain other positions may be excessive.

Inequalities also exist between the same or similar offices in counties of the various classes. It is entirely possible that circumstances may warrant higher compensation to some county officers in smaller counties than for persons filling the same offices in more populous counties.

The remunerative benefits which are offered for these positions also very often determine the calibre of the person who will seek to fill such an office.

Excessive pay for little work and inadequate pay for more difficult tasks also lead to criticism and demoralization; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough investigation of the salaries and other compensation of all county officers, with a view toward removing the inequalities which now exist, and to study and determine the best means of making the remuneration commensurate with the duties of each such office; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 843

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1957.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 843, Printer's No. 341, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 25 1937 (P. L. 808) entitled 'An Act providing for the use of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon as an institution for the reception care maintenance detention employment and training of defective delinquents authorizing the preparation and equipment (including necessary construction) of the institution for such purposes either by the Department of Property and Supplies or the General State Authority and authorizing the necessary leases or conveyances for this purpose changing the name of the Board of Trustees of Pennsylvania Industrial School providing for the commitment and transfer of such persons to such institution and discharge therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on the aforesaid board of trustees the Department of Welfare and courts and imposing certain charges on counties' changing the provisions relating to payment of costs of maintenance of persons committed from certain counties."

This bill provides that in cases of persons committed to the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents from counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth class, the costs incident to the maintenance of such persons shall be borne by the county of residence for any period of detention exceeding two years.

I am of the opinion that the proposal is discriminatory and would lead to multiple administrative problems in that the Department of Justice would have to have proof of residence in order to determine the county to be billed.

Further, I am informed that very few inmates would be affected since only 6% of the prisoners in all State penal and correctional institutions are committed from a county other than the county of residence.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the House Appropriations Committee Chairman, Mr. Wood.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman to refer to page 73 of House Bill 1700, the general appropriation bill. On line 14, the words appear as follows: "For the purpose of reimbursing counties for delinquent child care, services performed by counties, or paid for by counties to voluntary service agencies, $1 million."

I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is the intent of that section, that appropriation, that the money be used to reimburse counties for the moneys they spend in general for child welfare services, whether it be for delinquent children alone or other children such as neglected and indigent children cared for by these agencies?

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, it is the intention that it is for all child care services. We followed the language very closely that was in the Governor's budget. To make it clearer, I would say that we intended to put it all in child care services.

Mr. READINGER. So if a county welfare agency or a voluntary service agency dealing with a county under some kind of a contract, would take care of a neglected child or an indigent child which child was not delinquent, that would be covered, by intent at least by the appropriation?

Mr. WOOD. That was the intention.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. JOHNSON from the Committee on Rules reported as committed House Resolution No. 149.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 149

Mr. Johnson asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 20, 1957.

Many inequalities now exist in the compensation of the various county officers throughout the Commonwealth. The compensation of certain positions which require advanced training and knowledge, coupled with long hours of hard work and vast responsibility are grossly inadequate, while it appears that the compensation of certain other positions may be excessive.

Inequalities also exist between the same or similar offices in counties of the various classes. It is entirely possible that circumstances may warrant higher compensation to some county officers in smaller counties than for persons filling the same offices in more populous counties.

The remunerative benefits which are offered for these positions also very often determine the calibre of the person who will seek to fill such an office.

Excessive pay for little work and inadequate pay for more difficult tasks also lead to criticism and demoralization; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough investigation of the salaries and other compensation of all county officers, with a view toward removing the inequalities which now exist, and to study and determine the best means of making the remuneration commensurate with the duties of each such office; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 776, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Tax Act" excluding from the tax the sale or use of supplies and materials to be used in a contract with a municipal authority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion to recommit. If I may, I should like to say a few words.

While acting as Chairman of Ways and Means, this bill was considered to be a fair bill, affecting 70 communities in the County of Allegheny.

I think the bill should be voted on by the full membership of this House.

Therefore, I oppose the motion to recommit.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Post, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Post, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POST. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Luzerne advise us why he believes this bill should be recommitment?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, we have sat here for the past six months and talked about holding the line on expenditures, and I believe it goes without saying when you hold the line on expenditures you should also do it as far as the income side of the ledger is concerned.

This is an outright $300,000 or better give-away on the sales tax collections. Since we do not exempt churches, hospitals, schools or any other non-profit institutions or organizations, I cannot see why we should exempt an authority in Pittsburgh, or Allegheny County or any other part of the state.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, are not authorities exempt under the sales tax?

Mr. POST. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well then, what is the distinction between the Allegheny County Sewer Authority and the other authorities in the state which get the benefit?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this contract made with the Allegheny authority group contained a provision that the sales tax was to be paid. It is spelled out in the original contract of the agency.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman know that was an inadvertence on the part of the parties who drew up the agreement?

Mr. POST. I do not believe that if people make mistakes they should continuously run back to this Legislature and expect us to straighten out the things they do wrong. I think this is special legislation. I cannot see why we should exempt any one after making their mistakes.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Post.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose this motion to recommit. The information I received is that it will not be a loss of $300,000 to the Allegheny County Sewer Authority, but a loss of perhaps $900,000.

Merely because there is a clause in the contract we should have omitted, which would have saved the sales tax, there is no reason why this worth-while authority—and generally I do not care for authorities—should be penalized in the sum of $900,000.

Mr. Post admits that other authorities are exempt, so why should the people of Allegheny County have to add $900,000 to the cost of construction by the authority.

This is not a give-away. This is merely asking to be placed upon the same plane as other authorities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. KELLER IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the acting Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know definitely from either Mr. Strausser or the Majority Leader, whether or not authorities were exempt under the sales tax law we passed in 1956? Mr. Goldstein has just said they were and I frankly do not know, but I do not believe he is correct. I do not think authorities were exempt. Could somebody clarify that for me?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, authorities as such I think are exempt from purchases made. However, this deals with a contract, and this bill deserves more consideration than we can give it on a recommitment motion.

If the Chair will permit me to do so, I would like to discuss the bill in full. However, if I am ruled out of order that is another thing.

This bill actually suspends one contract for a period of fifteen days only; it opens the door for fifteen days and the door is again closed.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I still do not believe authorities are exempt as other institutions are. I think it is extremely important to find out. If I recall the sales tax act correctly, what it said was that political subdivisions were exempt, and certain other types of institutions. But I do not believe in 1956 authorities were exempt.

Does the gentleman actually know one way or the other?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I am pretty certain that authorities are exempt in the case of purchases made by the authorities. However in the case of the award of a contract, they are not.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman further.

Is not it correct that this bill was introduced solely for the sake of an authority in Allegheny County?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I would not admit that. However, this is the only instance I know of. Any other authority that was caught in a like circumstance could qualify and file within the fifteen day period, and would also come under this act.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Well, Mr. Speaker, this bill says that where there was a contract entered into prior to the effective date of the sales tax, between a person who would otherwise be subject to the tax and a municipal authority, he may be exempt from the burden of paying that tax if within fifteen days after the effective date of this act he notifies the Department of Revenue.

Is not that correct? Isn't that what this bill says?

Mr. STRAUSSER. That is right.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Now, Mr. Speaker, was there not a procedure whereby people who were subject to the sales tax ordinarily, but who had entered into a contract prior to its effective date, could have filed an exemption certificate of some sort with the Department of Revenue and been exempted from this tax?

Mr. STRAUSSER. That is right, Mr. Speaker. Any contract entered into and signed prior to the effective date of the act, March 7, 1956, on application to the Department of Revenue was granted an exemption certificate. This contract was awarded prior to that date.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, then my question would be, why did not this authority avail itself of the same privilege that authorities, let's say in my county or other counties, could have availed themselves of?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, the act provides that any lump sum contract not subject to change, entered into prior to the effective date of the act, would be exempt.

However, because of the act of one person, or a few persons, by sending out an addendum on this particular project, with the idea of keeping the bids as low as possible, opened themselves to an escalator clause, as it were. This addendum was sent out in good faith. It was understood, at least by the persons who sent the addendum out, that the sales tax, if enacted, would not apply to municipalities. Hence this addendum was sent out to all bidders advising them not to figure any contemplated increase for sales tax on this project.

Because this addendum was sent out, as I said before, that is now construed as an escalator clause in the contract.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure I understood all the gentleman had to say, but my point simply is this: How is this authority in a different position from, let us say, any other authority, apart from the fact that maybe their legal advice was not as good as some of the others?

Mr. STRAUSSER. The only difference is, Mr. Speaker, the fact that this addendum was sent out under date of December 2, 1956. It should not have been sent out.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Well, I frankly do not understand that.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Well let me explain a little further. When a contractor is bidding on a job, an architect sends out plans and specifications for that job. During the progress of the bidding on the job, there are errors discovered, maybe in the specifications, or plans.

The architect or engineer will then send out bulletins, or addendums as they call them, correcting any errors found in the plans or specifications during the bidding period. This addendum was sent out during the bidding period, and inadvertently to what the solicitor, or whoever was responsible for sending it out, tried to do, instead of saving the people of these 70 municipalities thousands of dollars he put them in a position where they are now going to have to pay the sales tax through their sewer assessments.

If this addendum had not been sent out, this project would have come under the provisions of the act and would have been exempt because of the fact it was awarded prior to March 7, 1956.

The only difference between this contract and every other contract that was awarded prior to that date, is this addendum I referred to, which was issued December 2, 1956.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, what did the addendum say? It is still not clear to me.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Here is a copy of the addendum, dated December 7, 1955, Addendum No. 7. This was sent out to all bidders:

Gentlemen: All contracts are amended as follows: State taxes; the authority will pay to the contractors as additional compensation the amount of any Commonwealth of Pennsylvania excise or sales tax payable by and actually paid by the contractor for or on account of any materials or equipment incorporated in the work, upon submission to the authority of proof of payment thereof.

The contractor shall cooperate with the authority in obtaining exemption from such taxes. Bidders should disregard such taxes in calculating their bids.

That was the addendum.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Well, Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to prolong this forever. I frankly cannot understand how the addendum made them liable for taxes.

It is my understanding of the procedure, under the sales tax clause or the clause of the sales tax act to which this bill is an amendment, that if you entered into a contract before the effective date of the act, and applied to the Department within so many days following the effective tive date of the act, you could be relieved of the sales tax. Now that may not be entirely correct, but that is my understanding.

I think this authority in Pittsburgh is actually in the same position as any other authority in the state. I do not think the tax burden which falls upon the people of Pittsburgh should necessarily be borne by the general fund, which means by the taxpayers all over Pennsylvania.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, the facts are that an exemption certificate was first granted in this case, and then later revoked due to the fact that this addendum was mailed out. In the opinion of the Revenue Department this was considered as an escalator clause.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Thank you, Mr. Strausser. All I have to say in conclusion is, I still think this is special legislation and I would urge the Members to vote for this motion to recommit.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I still believe the entire membership of this House should have the privilege of voting on this bill.

I have probably gone out of bounds on the objection to the motion to recommit, but I think this bill deserves consideration and if a fuller explanation is necessary I will be glad to try to furnish it.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak against this motion to recommit also, because this is just an added burden on the people of Pittsburgh and, as you know, we passed a bill here in the past week to add three-quarters of a mill to the taxes in the city of Pittsburgh to take care of our school taxes there. So, at least give this bill the chance and the right it deserves here on this floor of the House. I ask both sides of the House to vote against this motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The nays appear to have it. Whereupon,

A division was called for, sixty-five Members having voted in the affirmative and seventy-two in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, it seems there is quite a bit of confusion about the intent of this bill. This bill is intended simply to open the doors on municipal authorities for 15 days only, with the idea that this particular authority, and any other that might be in similar circumstances—however I do not know of any—can, in that time, file for an exemption certificate to do away with the sales tax on this particular project.

The sales tax act definitely stipulates that any contract, any firm bid contract entered into prior to March 7, the effective date of the act, would be exempt upon application to the Secretary of the Department of Revenue. Many contracts were under way and awarded prior to that date, and not completed, so contractors made application to the Department of Revenue for such exemption certificates, and they were granted.

In this case, the certificate was granted, but then this addendum came to light, which the department considered an escalator clause in the contract, and the exemption certificate was then recalled or revoked.

Now this we all know, to the users of any sewer system, especially in these authorities, the assessment is prorated on the total cost of the job. This particular job runs about $80 million. You have 70 municipalities in the County of Allegheny affected by this act. The tax actually amounts to approximately $900,000. In effect these people who will use the sewerage facilities will be paying for a sales tax which should not have been applied against this particular project.

We on the committee consider it a very fair bill. Because of the fact that this addendum threw it into an escalator contract, we certainly—and I do not think any of us, even the people in Columbia County—would not want to see the people of Allegheny County pay through the nose for an error made by the solicitor or whoever was responsible for issuing this addendum. I ask that the members of this House vote for this bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to point out only one item. The information I received is that the sales tax in all years totals $900,000. The money has not been paid in the state treasury. The money is being withheld pending the passage of this act. As Mr. Strausser has clearly pointed out, had the attorneys or the parties in charge of the agreement drawn up the proper contracts, we would not be facing this problem today.

We are not asking for anything except the right thing. I have heard some remarks saying we are giving something to Allegheny County. We are not giving anything to Allegheny County. If any other county would come around with a matter of a public nature where an error has been made, I would be glad to support them, too.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to oppose the bill for some of the reasons I stated earlier.

It has finally penetrated my dense brain what the gentleman means by an escalator clause. I suppose he meant simply that before the contract became final, prior to the effective date of the act, there was a clause in there about passing along taxes to the ultimate purchaser. Hence I presume, under the sales tax regulations, those taxes would have to be passed along even though the contract was entered into prior to the effective date of the act.

However, I wish to point out that the solicitors for the authority and the solicitors for the contractor both approved of this contract. I want to point out also that I still feel they were in no different shape or position from any other authority of similar nature in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It has been admitted, on this floor, which was some news to me, that $900,000 is involved in the general fund over this matter. I frankly see no reason why a special exception should be made for the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure of the chronology of some of these dates. As I heard these facts, this addition to the contract was made in December of 1955, at which time there was some doubt, and considerable doubt, as to whether a clause would be put into the sales tax, if passed, to protect bidders who had firm contracts.

Whatever the reasons were that the clause was added to this contract with the authority, it apparently was put in to assure bidders that they would not get stuck with the tax. In the meantime legislation was passed protecting bona fide bidders from being unduly imposed upon by the imposition of a tax which they had not considered when they bid.

I would not consider this a give-away. As has been pointed out here, if the authority people had been on their toes and had removed this section of their contract before the effective date of this act, there would not be any question about not owing this money. The state would never get the money. So, I say we are not giving away anything. I think the state would be unduly enriched by somebody's oversight in this case, and that it is money the state is not entitled to, any more than it is entitled to get the money from any other bidder who was in compliance with the terms of the sales tax act and had put a clause in saying, "This is a firm bid and there is no passing on of any taxes to be added later by the state." I think we should vote for this bill.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to thank the Minority Leader. He has expressed the very same thing I had in mind.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I still contend that I cannot see why the other counties of the state of Pennsylvania should have to share in the loss of that $900,000. I am sorry I was in error before when I said $300,000, I did not realize it was $900,000.

I think this is class legislation and I think the burden of responsibility for payment of the tax should be put where it belongs. We in the other counties have to share ours if we have any local authorities, or anything else. We have to share our own responsibility and pay our own bills, and I think that is the way it should be with Allegheny or any other county. I wish the House would vote down this legislation, and I request a slow roll call.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, when this sales tax was in progress, I had the good fortune to represent a number of contractors who had contracts that were pending before the date the sales tax became effective. My friend Scott over there knows about it. The idea was that the contractors would be given an extra 90 days of opportunity to become exempt upon the filing of their application. I think the act gave them the opportunity until June 15, 1956.

Here you have an outfit that had a contract in 1955. There were any number of Pennsylvania contractors who were given an exemption because in good faith they negotiated without the sales tax on their contracts. Now, why in the name of God would you feel the Allegheny County Authority, who for some reason put this escalator clause in, should not get the exemption which you afforded to every other contractor in Pennsylvania? It does not seem just. Particularly where it is an authority, they try to keep the cost down.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I will be very brief. Each session of the General Assembly we pass acts which extend the period of time during which municipal liens may be filed by the various municipalities. We do that, quite obviously, so that errors by the municipalities in failing to file the liens on time will not penalize the municipalities. This is exactly the same type of procedure.

The authority was in error in that a sales tax would be passed which might apply to public works. That is the only error. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should not be unjustly enriched to the tune of nearly $1 million, and the taxpayers of Allegheny County penalized to that amount because of a technical error. We should all support this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, God save the Commonwealth if this General Assembly ceases to be a court in which it is possible to cure the mistakes made by lawyers. I cannot remember a session of the General Assembly when we have not been asked to do something to save the people in a particular community from a mistake made by someone learned in the law.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman again, when did that addendum go out on that contract?

Mr. STRAUSSER. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. When did that bid for construction go out on this contract?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Bids were received on December 6th to December 20th, 1955.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The bids were received?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Yes. Contracts—

Mr. TOMPKINS. Of 1955? The bids were received in December of 1955, is that right?

Mr. STRAUSSER. That is right, and contracts awarded and signed on February 18th, 1956.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Awarded and signed on February 18th, 1956?

Mr. STRAUSSER. That is right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That was about a month prior to the time the sales tax act became effective, is that not right?

Mr. STRAUSSER. The effective date was March 7th, 1956. That is right, or approximately.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Was this a firm contract then, that was let and entered into prior to the effective date of that act?

Mr. STRAUSSER. It was.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then what brings about this question here?

Mr. STRAUSSER. The addendum that was sent out to the bidders.

Mr. TOMPKINS. When was that addendum sent out?

Mr. STRAUSSER. On December 2nd, 1955.

Mr. TOMPKINS. December 2nd, 1955?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And that addendum said who would have to assume the responsibility?

Mr. STRAUSSER. The addendum, in effect, told the bidders not to include any contemplated sales tax, and that if the sales tax became effective the contractor would be reimbursed for any sales tax applied to this authority; the contractor would be reimbursed for the cost of the sales tax.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And that contract was completed prior to the time the sales tax became effective?

Mr. STRAUSSER. That is right. The contract was signed prior to the effective date of the sales tax.

Mr. TOMPKINS. After this contract was entered into, and after the sales tax went into effect did the Attorney General make any ruling which affected this or any other type of contract of this nature?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Not to my knowledge. I probably did not understand the question. Will you repeat the question, please?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have missed part of the debate on this bill and I think we need a little information. It will take probably half an hour to get it. I therefore will move to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar, not for the purpose of burying the bill, but in order to give us an opportunity to get you the information you would like in the bill. I therefore make that motion.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be temporarily placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I want to pay tribute to the Speaker and to the statesman-like attitude of the gentlemen of the majority to permit House Bill 931 to go through. I am sure the people of the state, 20 percent of them, the aged, will greatly appreciate the work a committee of this kind can do in solving their problems.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1264

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 20, 1957.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1264, Printer's No. 459, entitled "An Act amending the act of June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242) entitled 'An act relating to roads streets highways and bridges amending revising consolidating and changing the laws administered by the Secretary of Highways and by the Department of Highways relating thereto' requiring the department to designate or lay out detours over the shortest available route on existing public highways."

This bill would amend Section 423 of the State Highway Law by requiring the Department of Highways, when any State highway is closed, to lay out necessary detours over the shortest available routes on existing public highways, whether State or local.

The net effect of this bill would be to make the shortest possible distance the controlling factor in the laying out of detours. By so doing this bill would require the Department of Highways to overlook other factors which are equally important, factors such as the volume of traffic to be carried on the detour, the carrying capacity of the detour, and the ease of travel. It is perfectly apparent that in many instances it will be far less difficult for traffic to pass over a longer detour where travelling time can be reduced and safety increased. The laying out of detours requires that there be flexibility in the Department in choosing proper routes for the travelling public.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

ROWLAND B. MAHANY,
ALBERT R. PECHAN,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

ALBERT W. JOHNSON,
ALLEN M. GIBSON,
ALBERT S. READINGER,
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk briefly on the Report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 313, Printer's No. 488.

I am a little bit discouraged over the way the teachers colleges have been treated over the years since 1949 by the General State Authority under the successive administrations of former Governor Duff, former Governor John Fine and the present Governor (Reference to Governor stricken from record). Mr. George Michael Leader.

I would like to say in referring to page 7 of this bill, line 2, "(b) to purchase land for use of State teachers' colleges"—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman suspend? The gentleman knows, as an experienced Member of this Legislature, he is not permitted to make personal reflections in his debate to the Governor or anyone else. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the Report of the Committee of Conference, on Senate Bill 313.

Mr. VARNER. I will strike that, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The remarks will be stricken from the record.

Mr. VARNER. I would just like to say, Mr. Speaker that I just hope this money, which amounts to $50 million—I just hope the teachers' colleges throughout the Commonwealth are given a fair break, as they deserve to be given under this bill.

I noticed in line 2, page 7, we are allocating $1 million to purchase land for the use of state teachers' colleges, and I would only ask that the General State Authority, some of whose members are in this Hall tonight, use this money which is available now, for the purchase of that land.

Two years ago we passed a bill, and I have not seen any action at all at the state teachers' college in my home town of Clarion, and I think it is time some action be shown. We need action at the state teachers' colleges all over the state on new dormitories and new buildings.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the Minority Leader, Mr. Readinger of Berks County, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I observe in this Conference Report that $10 million has been added. Will the gentleman from Berks tell us where the $10 million is going to go?

Mr. READINGER. It will go as specified in the bill, to such projects as may be approved by the authority, and to purchase land for the use of state teachers' colleges. I believe the figure is $25.5 million; in the earlier bill it was $15.5 million. Exactly which projects will be approved is something I cannot begin to answer. There are many requests, and urgent requests, being made by the state for various buildings and other undertakings under the General State Authority Act.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, then the position is that after we pass this bill increasing it to $50 million, the Members of the Legislature have no idea, other than faith in the General State Authority, as to how the money will be spent?

Mr. READINGER. I would answer the gentleman by saying the use of this money must be restricted to the authority given by the General State Authority Act of 1949, as it has been amended since; that includes use for state teachers' colleges and many other uses. There have been buildings, dormitories and other buildings, built by the General State Authority.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I notice under paragraph (b) that $1 million is specifically earmarked for the purchase of land for state teachers' colleges. Why was not all of the other purposes earmarked?

Mr. READINGER. I would say the answer to that is, at the present moment the Legislature is not in a position to say which are the most urgently needed projects. There is a priorities committee which combs through the state's requests, marks certain recommendations to the board, and usually those recommendations for allocating the money to projects are accepted and followed. But I say, at this moment I do not believe the Legislature itself is in a position to say which are the most necessary projects.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, how many Members are on the General State Authority?

Mr. READINGER. Twelve.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That is all, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. Speaker, I have always had a hesitancy about authorities. I know it is expedient, and that the Supreme Court has declared constitutional what we in law school were taught was unconstitutional. The GSA initials are supposed to mean the General State Authority; to me they mean General Surrender Authority, the surrender of the power of the Legislature as to the manner in which this money shall be spent. I believe if there are worthwhile projects, and we are beseeched by individuals and by institutions and various people for worthwhile projects, that we as Members of the Legislature should have some control over the manner in which this money is spent. We believe that the collective thinking of the 50 Senators and the 210 Representatives is just as sound as that of the members of the General State Authority. We have surrendered our authority to a small group and therefore I shall vote against this bill.

Mr. READINGER. In answer to the gentleman's argument, I would like to say this. In all of my experience with the General State Authority, and my knowledge of its functions, it has been one of the most nonpolitical and nonpolitically influenced organizations this state has ever had. If we were to follow the gentleman's line of argument, and spell out in all these General State Authority bills the specific projects to which all of the money is to be allocated, I greatly fear we would get into the old political log rolling. John Smith would offer a certain project because it was in his district and he would say, "I'll vote for that, and I'll vote for somebody else's project if he will vote for mine." That is one of the things we wanted to avoid, and I think it has been avoided. I think the administrations as they came along have honestly and sincerely tried to put before the General State Authority their most urgent needs, and those are the things that have been taken care of to the extent of the capacity of the Authority. I think we would get into many vices if we adopted the thinking of the gentleman.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if it is logical to designate under sub-paragraph (b) $1 million for state teachers' colleges for land, then it is just as logical to also classify other projects. I am not saying you have to earmark item by item, but I say we have the right to know when $100 million or $50 million is being designated; we should know whether it is going to go for the building of an air conditioned building for the legislators, or whether it is going to go for aid to state universities for the advancement of their institutions, or whether it is going to go for certain buildings.

I say there should be certain guideposts by which the state authority should be governed. There are no guideposts whatsoever. I still insist it is an absolute surrender of our authority.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, today in connection with the debate on the General State Authority, in caucus and elsewhere, the question was asked, what is the Authority doing for the mentally retarded children of the state? I feel that a word of explanation should be made with respect to that program.

As you know, there is an institution for the mentally retarded about to be opened at Selinsgrove. It is a 1,100-bed institution. The bids are out now for the equipment to equip this particular institution, so it should open in the not-too-far-distant future. That will take care of 1,100 cases.

In addition to that, the General State Authority had provided for four new institutions for the mentally retarded, and if my memory serves me right, they will accommodate approximately 2,500 extra beds. The money has already been provided for those institutions and the equipment will come out of the increases which we have made. These institutions are still in the program stage, because the authority wants to get the very, very latest thinking on that type of program. So the architects have not started designing the buildings because, as I say, we want to do the very, very best for those poor unfortunate souls. Therefore, I would say in the not-too-far-distant future this Commonwealth, through the General State Authority, will have done a very fine job in this previously neglected field.

I am asking the Members to vote for this Conference Report.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Readinger, please?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Readinger, is it true that in this bill we are not giving the General State Authority one dime, that all we are doing is giving them the right to borrow this money?

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Thank you.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fiscal situation in this biennium—commitments have been made by our party—I think the extension of this borrowing power of the General State Authority at this time is ill-advised and unwise. It is true it is only an authorization to borrow money, but the debt service on the loans must be financed out of the General Fund.

I ask, Mr. Speaker, for a slow roll call on the question of whether or not the report will be adopted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to make an announcement.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1421.

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 720) entitled "City State Highway Law" changing or deleting certain routes and adding certain new routes.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading on said bill was reconsidered in the House and the bill amended, in which amendments the Senate has concurred.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the last item of business having been taken care of, I want to give sort of a review of the session, as I see it.

As I have previously said, during the past summer I attended a convention consisting of Legislators from several states in the Union. I attended the panel, as I have stated here before, on the question of raising the level of the esteem the public has for the various General Assemblies of the several states. I was amazed at the apparent low esteem that was reported in which we are held nation-wide. Many, many things were pointed out to show why we were not held in higher regard by the people of our own states.

I made up my mind if I came back here and was in a position of leadership, I would try to do something to help Pennsylvania.

One of the things we started out with this session was, we got down to work very rapidly. We had a calendar almost the very week we came here. I grant you they were merely bills setting up constitutional amendments, but it was work we could do.

We set up our committee system early, we organized, we were ready to do business. We worked during the entire month of January and only took off one week for the Farm Show. We have worked continuously every week since that time except for the Easter recess. And as you know, in the last month we have been here four and five days, and practically every night.

We have worked hard because we want the people to know we are down here doing the job. That is one of the ways in which to raise the level of the esteem which the people have for us, the servants of the people.

One of the remarkable things about this session has been the excellent attendance we have had. It is exemplified by the attendance here tonight. I think it is amazing that on the closing night of the session, we have practically everybody who could possibly be here in his seat. On the Majority side we had 106 this afternoon in our caucus, and we knew that several were not in attendance but were in town. That I think bespeaks well for this Session of the General Assembly. It has been well attended by every Member. I think the people back home should be proud of us.

I think the way the Speaker has so promptly started each session, and maintained dignity and decorum in the House is another outstanding achievement as far as raising the level of the esteem which the people have for us.

In our House caucus, I have repeatedly said to our Majority practically what I am saying here tonight, "Let's all stick together. Let's show the people of Pennsylvania that we can govern, that we have the ability to govern, that we can stick together as a party, presenting a united front." I am proud to say tonight, we have done that very thing. When we have all been together we have never missed a party issue, hardly ever missed a vote on anything that we, as a party, stood for. I think that is an outstanding achievement and I think it bespeaks well to the people of Pennsylvania that we have, as a majority, lived up to what we said, that we want to be the party of responsibility.

I think another achievement of this Session is the remarkable cooperation between the minority and the majority parties. On our Closing Night Ceremony I mentioned how amiable, kind and just, you might say, the Minority Leader is, and how well we have gotten along up at the rostrum marking the calendar, how we would show deference to each other and to each side of the House in any reasonable request on either side. I think that is something which this Session will be noted for, the very fine amiable way in which the two parties have gotten along together.

I think when the history of this Session is written, you will find there has been a minimum of acrimonious debate.

We on the Republican side, whenever we thought we should, have set forth our party's principles, and I think the minority has done the same. I think you have done an excellent job in setting forth your side of the story and I think we have done a good job in setting forth ours. I think the issue, so far as the people are concerned, is very, very clear cut. We have, both sides, something to go before the people on. After all, we stand before the bar of public opinion.

Another thing that has been outstanding in this session, as I see it, is the cooperation between this House and the Senate. We have been in wonderful agreement with the leaders of the Senate and they have cooperated with us in a very, very remarkable way. While many thought the downfall of the Session could be a big split between the House and Senate it did not occur. The House and Senate were never closer than they are at the present time, and I think this not only speaks well for our party, but for this Session of the General Assembly; that we have gotten along so well, two Chambers that are naturally jealous of each other, jealous of our different prerogatives, yet we all went to work together to have this very, very successful Session.

I appreciate what Mr. Andrews said today. I think he is, of course, a very grand gentleman and is our elder statesman. We all perk up when he stands up to say something because we know it is worth listening to. He has left a remarkable impression on this General Assembly for many, many years to come.

On the closing night ceremony I inadvertently neglected mentioning, of all people, the Majority Whip. I had made a note to mention my good friend, Allen Gibson, and the remarkable job he has done as Whip during this session, and I completely overlooked it. I have tried this Session to make the job of the Majority Whip a really functional job. I have tried to make him a real part of the majority leadership, and he has responded remarkably well. He has taken over a difficult job and you all know that he has done his task with the greatest amount of dispatch.

We are about to depart to our several homes. We have had a wonderful Session. We on the Republican side think we have made a great record. I am not going to go into the political phase of it, but as we all depart, all I can do is wish you Godspeed. Thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my purpose tonight to render a critical analysis of this session, or to state any opinions as to whether it has been a fruitful Session or a good Session. I think that should be left to the next campaign. But I do want to take this last opportunity to pay tribute to the Members on the minority side of the House for the devotion they have shown to their work during this session.

I would like to pay tribute to the Minority Whip, whose assistance and advice has always been helpful. I would like to pay tribute to the many Members on this side of the House who in one way or another have made my work a lot easier and perhaps more efficient.

I would like to pay tribute to the executive branch of the government. Throughout the entire session whenever information was needed, or assistance or advice on various matters, they have been more than willing and energetic in rendering that service to us.

I would like to pay tribute to the majority Members for their attention to their work and to the many courtesies they extended to us in the course of debate and in the course of our work here.

I do not know whether or not this will be the last time I will ever address you. It might be, and I hope it is, for the reasons that are quite well known by this time, but I would like to say in parting that if I am successful in the fall election, and I am privileged to become a judge of Berks County, I want all of you to come to my induction. Not only that, I would like you to stop to see me whenever you are in Reading, and I assure I will give you as much time as I can if you come before me officially.

Seriously, being in this Legislature for 21 years has been a wonderful experience. I have never looked upon service in this House as a stepping stone to any other office. I think this is a career in itself. You men, just as I have been privileged to be close to the people, to speak for them and to translate their hopes and their ideas into legislation under the law. In that I think we have all been highly privileged to serve our people and, in my opinion, we have all done the best job we possibly could.

I would like to say God bless all of you, too.

Mr. JOHNSON offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 19, 1957.

The House of Representatives is indeed fortunate in having among its members a fine choral group.

The Legislative Chorus, comprised of members from both sides of the political fence has honored us with its renditions of stirring songs at the Memorial Day Observance and at the closing day ceremonies.

It has been a pleasure to listen to the voices of Dominick E. Cioffi, Paul A. DeLong, Dr. Clyde R. Dengler, Jules Filo, George A. Goodling, Harry S. Gramlich, Joseph A. Ide, Philip Lopresti, Wendell H. Miller, Harry A. Naugle, Louis Rovanssek, William A. Steckel, and Leroy A. Weidner as they presented us with a few moments of relaxation, therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its heart-warmed thanks and appreciation to the Legislative Chorus for a job well done.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON SENATE

In the House of Representatives, June 20, 1957.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a committee to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is ready to adjourn sine die, Messrs. GIBSON, LIPPINCOTT and McCANN.

REASONS FOR VOTE ON ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. WORLEY filed the following reasons for his vote on the sine die resolution:

I am voting against this sine die adjournment resolution. We are paid to continuously perform legislative duties, and I do not think we should surrender all our rights to the executive branch of this government.

We would not give up our legislative power if we would recess instead of adjourn sine die. This would cause the Chief Executive to be more responsible to the General Assembly of this Commonwealth and to the people of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DALRYMPLE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to extend to the House the greetings as given to me the following day, on Wednesday on behalf of the young man who spoke before this House.

He wanted me to convey these greetings to the Chair and to the House of Representatives which gave him such a good hearing. He represents the youth of the nation from the united pilgrimage throughout this land. The committee that sponsored him through the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania wanted me to extend these greetings and thanks to the House and to the Chair for hearing him on that day.

The SPEAKER. The Chair can assure the gentleman it was a rare privilege for the Members of this House to hear the young man, and is sure you could tell the Members appreciated his remarks by the rapt attention during his speech.

Whereas the well-being of the Commonwealth's educational system requires the services of competent dedicated men and women and

Whereas reports indicate that it has become increasingly difficult to attract and retain such persons in the service of our educational institutions and

Whereas it has come to the attention of the General Assembly that questionable circumstances surround the removal of Mr. James G. Morgan as President of Mansfield State Teachers College in Tioga County and

Whereas these circumstances have created dissension within the Board of Trustees of Mansfield State Teachers College as well as promoting public resentment to the extent that confidence in the administration of the Department of Public Instruction has been seriously undermined be it therefore

Resolved (the Senate concurring) that the Department of Justice conduct a complete investigation of all activity in connection with the removal of Mr. James G. Morgan as President and the appointment of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgerber and be it further

Resolved that the Governor withhold approval of Dr. Lewis W. Rathgerber until such time as he has fully studied this situation for the purpose of taking remedial action if found necessary.
